Mrs. Foote, a first grade teacher at Jewett, left for Washington, D.C., where she had been invited to participate in the Classroom Teachers National Study Conference at NEA headquarters.

She is one of 50 teachers in the United States invited to attend the conference.

Mrs. Foote is vice president and president-elect of the Department of Classroom Teachers of the Oregon Educational Association.

Others who were at the airport to see her off were C. A. Meyer, superintendent of district 6 schools; William Brewster, Jewett principal; Mrs. C. V. ## Rogue River Student Received Kennedy Photo Two Days Before Death

ROGUE RIVER — Miss Dorothy Pierce, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Pierce, West Evans Creek Road, has received an autographed photo of the late John F. Kennedy and his wife Jacqueline.

Miss Pierce received this picture on Wednesday, November 20, just two days before the President's death. She had written to the White House, Washington, D. C., approximately two weeks before and asked for the Kennedys' autographs.

Miss Pierce was an admirer of the late President. While in the fourth grade in 1960 she and her classmates participated in a mock election, which was won by Kennedy.

She is now in the seventh grade at Rogue River Elementary School. Walt Humphrey is her teacher.

The Thomas Pierce family has lived in this vicinity for two years. Miss Pierce has an older sister who is a freshman at Rogue River High School.

Talent Fire District Plans More Improvements

Card File With Number System To Be Compiled

TALENT—Officials and firemen of the Talent Rural Fire Protection District feel a sense of accomplishment, following the arrival of their two new Class A type pumper trucks.

The two trucks ordered in May finally arrived here Nov. 23.

They are identical. Each has a 1,000 gallon water capacity and a 750 gallon per minute pump on the front.

The district's old truck will be used as a supply tanker to furnish extra water for the new trucks while fighting fires.

Gave A Lift

The arrival of the trucks gave both those connected with the fire department and residents of the district a lift, as they offered physical evidence that formation of the district a year ago has resulted in improved fire fighting facilities.

But district officials don't plan to stop at this point. They have further improvements in mind.

One of the most ambitious is a numbering system designed to reduce the amount of time required to get to a fire.

Each house in the district (there are over 2,000 of them) will be assigned a number, to be displayed in front of the home and on the resident's telephone.

After the numbers have been assigned, a person reporting a fire will only need to state the designated number for the building on fire.

In the meantime, district personnel will compile a card file for each of the two trucks. There will be a card for each building in the district.

TRUCKS ARRIVE — The Talent Rural Fire Protection District's two new fire trucks are pictured out in front of the fire station. The truck at left had been fully equipped with all accessories when this photo was taken. Firemen were starting to gear the other one prepared for its accessories.

On one side of the card will be listed the assigned number, the resident's name, address, telephone number, and information about the home and family.

On the other side of the card will be a map showing how to get to the house from the fire station and also depicting what sources of water are available in the vicinity of the fire.

The cards will have to be compiled individually and the maps will have to be drawn by hand, said Fire Chief Wayne Van Blarcom. But he appeared enthusiastic about the prospects.

The fire district has set up headquarters in buildings at the southeast corner of U.S. 99 and Valley View Road. The buildings once were occupied by a firm manufacturing Alpine logs.

The manufacturing plant has been converted into a shelter for the fire trucks. A small log cabin which served as the previous firm's office will be used for fire district board meetings.

MEETING PLACE — The buildings now being leased by the Talent Rural Fire Protection District were once occupied by a firm engaged in the manufacture of Alpine logs. This little log cabin will be used by the firemen for their meetings.

DISPATCHING DESK—Reports of fires in the Talent Rural Fire Protection District are received at this phone inside the fire hall. The district also has radio equipment, as seen in the photo.

Mail Tribune Table Rock Correspondent

Shock, Grief, Outrage. The heading of Eric Allen's editorial in the Nov. 24 Mail Tribune expressed the feeling of most of us, if not all.

We were introduced to Jack Kennedy at a Roosevelt Memorial dinner where Mr. Kennedy had delivered an address. We enjoyed the privilege of shaking hands with him, and conversing for a few moments. Despite his high standing in national and worldly affairs we found him very common place, pleasant and ready and willing to answer our questions. After meeting him and listening to his radio speeches we had no difficulty in choosing him as our candidate for president.

Never in the history of our nation has any one man done so much for his country and the world as John F. Kennedy. One of our favorite programs was when John Kennedy was on Meet the Press. We enjoyed hearing him answer all the questions fired at him. His quick wit and good memory made him the attraction in these programs.

A Lover of Peace

With all his wit and sense of humor, he never used it to embarrass or hurt anyone's feelings. A lover of peace, he did much to establish universal peace throughout the world. Having met him personally and following him in his campaigns and knowing what he stood for caused us to think of him as one of the family. After all, the Kennedy and Nealon families had quite a bit of Irish blood in their veins.

After all he had done toward making this a better world to live in and the high esteem and love people had for him, to learn that he was ambushed and shot down like a sheep killing dog makes one wonder if we are doing our part in teaching our people to show more respect for our officials. Some people began to persecute John Kennedy before he was elected president, telling that if he was elected we would lose our right to vote. After his election there was a drum fire of abuse aimed at him. Everything he started to do was wrong. The test ban treaty, which was a step nearer to peace, was all wrong, and on and on. Some of this was politics coming from members of the other major party, but most of it came from many who call themselves Christians, but who in our language are not even good Americans. They persecuted a man for his church affiliation when our Constitution plainly states that one can worship God according to his own conscience.

So-Called Christians Were Abusive

These so called Christians were more abusive than all the others mailing hundreds of hate sheets to voters and writing communications to our newspapers. Since the assassination we have met several people who think we have gone too far out on this freedom of speech deal. They think it has been used to vilify and lie about just about anyone people don't like. It is easy for a crackpot or someone weak in the upper story, who reads these wild stories and hears this constant abuse of officials, to think the people want to get rid of this man and that he would be quite a hero if he did the job. We heard a party say over a radio line that she knew some people who were plotting to overthrow our government. She should have been made to tell the names of the plotters, but nothing was done about it. The people who did so much criticizing and condemning of the president should be made to realize they have played a part in this terrible crime.

Friends here of John Heberling, minister of the Church of Christ, Medford, were highly pleased with the sermon given Thanksgiving day at the combined Memorial services held at the Baptist church in Medford.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Edgecomb and son Jerry of Redding, Calif. visited relatives here Thanksgiving day. They met their son here. He is attending college at the University of Oregon.

Thought for the day —
Speech is silver; silence is gold.
