Goldwater Backers Deny Candidate Harmed by Events

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Goldwater for president camp is shrugging off claims that its candidate has been badly hurt by political shifts caused by the death of President Kennedy.

It is preparing to drive ahead even though its candidate, Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, has shied away from any comment of a political nature since President Johnson replaced Kennedy in the White House. Goldwater has not declared himself a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination.

Goldwater backers answer questions as to whether their candidate has been weakened with arguments of their own, such as:

—He still has far more national convention delegates in sight than any potential rival.

—Goldwater has a large corps of dedicated followers ready to ring doorbells and raise money with more zeal than any campaign organizations which might be built for other possible candidates.

—Although Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York is an announced contender, the opposition to Goldwater still has not agreed on a candidate.

Assuming that Johnson will be the 1964 Democratic nominee the Goldwater partisans are ready to admit that they are playing in a new ball game but they are not ready to abandon

Peace Corps Tests Scheduled Dec. 7

Placement tests for Peace Corps volunteers will be held Saturday, Dec. 7, at the U. S. post offices in Grants Pass and Medford. In Medford they will be held in Room 210.

This is the last opportunity volunteers will have to qualify for the spring training programs. The non-competitive aptitude tests will begin at 8:30 a.m.

For most applicants the test will take about 1½ hours. Those who claim a knowledge of Spanish or French will be asked to take an additional one hour language achievement test.

To become a volunteer, an applicant must not only take the test but submit a Peace Corps questionnaire. Those who have not done so will be asked to complete one immediately after the testing.

To qualify to take the test applicants must be American citizens at least 18 years old. Married couples are eligible if both qualify and have no dependents under 18.

Doro-Weut Ethiopian Chicken With Hot Sauce

The ancient empire of Ethiopia attained its independence long before the creation of any of the modern states of Africa. It is one of the few African countries that has a recorded history. Ethiopia is generally fertile, predominantly agricultural and pastoral, however, the country's inadequate transport system makes crop growing largely one for local consumption. Chicken is one of their staple foods, and according to representatives to the United Nations, this is one of their most favored of numerous ways of preparation.

2½ pound fryer, cut as for frying

3 cups boiling water

Juice of 1 lemon

1 teaspoon salt

6 medium-size onions, chopped

4 tablespoons fat

2 tablespoons chili powder

2 tablespoons tomato paste

4 tablespoons red wine

½ teaspoon ginger

½ teaspoon black pepper

6 hard-cooked eggs

Wash chicken thoroughly.

Cover with boiling water. Add lemon juice and salt. Cover and simmer for 10 minutes. Remove chicken and drain.

Brown onions lightly in fat.

Stir to avoid burning. When brown add one cup hot chicken

broth, chili powder, and tomato paste. Blend well and simmer for five minutes. Add red wine, ginger, pepper, and a second cup of hot broth. Place the chicken in this sauce and simmer until chicken is tender, 30 to 40 minutes.

Add six hard-cooked eggs

about three minutes before serving. Pierce each egg several times to permit sauce to penetrate egg. Serve hot with dry rice or Ethiopian bread.

Cottage cheese is an excellent accompaniment; its mildness

offsets strong flavor of hot sauce. Recipe makes four to six servings.

Broil or Bake

Stuffed Tomatoes

Among fresh vegetables, only potatoes, lettuce, cabbage and onions surpass tomatoes in eating popularity. Among canned foods, only corn and peas surpass tomatoes in consumer demand, and when we include tomato juice and other processed tomato products, tomatoes are

'way out in front.

Tomatoes stuffed with corned beef hash or canned chili can come or with a seafood mixture and baked, provide a fine main course.

Cut out core from stem end of firm tomatoes. Cut in halves.

Make criss-cross cuts on top surface of each. Dot with butter and sprinkle with salt, pepper

and onion salt.

Broil under moderate heat for 10 minutes or until tomatoes are

Airline President Dies in California

SAN FRANCISCO—Theodore R. Mitchell, 56, president and board member of Pacific Airlines, died Nov. 29, in San Francisco.

He was an early private contractor with the U. S. Government for the carriage of mail. A native of Logan, Utah, Mitchell devoted 37 years to the transportation of people by air. He had been recognized as an authority on the problems of local airlines service and was an advocate of scheduled airline transportation for smaller communities which have demonstrated a need for such service.

Mitchell joined Southwest Airways Co., the predecessor of Pacific Airlines in 1941 and was elected president in June, 1962.

Survivors include his wife and three sons.

Funeral services were held Monday in San Carlos.

7 myths about car care— and some real facts that can save you trouble

MYTH #1: If your engine is knocking enough to do damage, you'll hear it.

FACT: One of the worst kinds of knock occurs at high speeds and may be all but inaudible because of normal road and engine noises. Yet it can pound away at pistons and lead to costly repair bills. Shell scientists sometimes use stethoscopes to help detect this insidious knock. Alkylate, one of Super Shell's 9 working ingredients, helps control this high-speed knock in your engine.

MYTH #2: You should turn off your engine to cool it when you're stuck in traffic on a hot day.

FACT: When you switch off the engine, you shut off your fan and cooling system. Heat builds up under the hood. Gasoline may vaporize in your fuel line, choke off your fuel supply and leave you high and dry when you try to start again. A better way to do it: shift into neutral and increase idling speed occasionally. You'll turn the engine fan faster and speed up the flow of coolant.

MYTH #3: Octane number is a measurement of a gasoline's power.

FACT: Octane number is a measurement of a gasoline's ability to resist harmful engine knock. The higher the octane number, the better the knock resistance. Super Shell gasoline has a high octane number. It also contains 3 special ingredients to fight all kinds of engine knock. Try a tankful, and listen.

MYTH #4: Discolored motor oil is worn out and should always be replaced.

FACT: Most of today's premium motor oils start looking dark and discolored right away. That's because they're working—holding tiny dirt particles in suspension so they can't build up on critical engine parts. When should you change? The American Petroleum Institute recommends every 60 days in summer, every 30 days in winter.

Should you let some air out of your tires for hot weather traveling? Many motorists think so. To find out why they're wrong, read below.

MYTH #5: You should break in a new car at low speeds.

FACT: You'll do your new car a favor by heading for the open highway and driving at the legal speed limit for a while. Fifty or sixty miles an hour won't hurt a bit. Driving over a range of speeds helps condition your engine—helps precisely fitted engine parts seat themselves evenly for a longer engine life.

MYTH #6: You should let some air out of your tires when traveling on a hot day.

FACT: Today's tires are built to take the extra pressure that builds up during hot weather driving. So don't deflate them—or you may find them very low when they cool off. Do get your Shell dealer to check all tires, including spare, before you start a long trip. Proper pressure will decrease chances of tire trouble and help tires last longer.

MYTH #7: All gasolines are alike.

FACT: Gasolines actually differ in many ways. In weight, for instance. One
