Legislation To Control Guns Eyed

WASHINGTON (UPI)—In the wake of the assassination of President Kennedy, Congress is coming to grips for the first time with far-reaching gun control legislation.

Senate and House committees are expected to consider bills during the next 10 days to place major restrictions on the sale of firearms throughout the nation.

Individuals still would be able to purchase guns—within limits set down by local and state laws—but not by mail.

The Justice Department recommended Tuesday that interstate shipment of guns be permitted only between manufacturers and licensed dealers.

The department filed its proposals in a report on a Senate bill that has been pending since August. It said the Kennedy assassination indicated an urgent need for broader legislation.

A spokesman for the influential National Rifle Association (NRA) said he was certain the NRA would oppose the Justice Department recommendation.

The NRA had endorsed legislation originally proposed by Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn. Dodd's bill was designed to curb mail order traffic of handguns to juveniles and criminals. Dodd added two amendments to strengthen his bill after Kennedy's death. The surprise Justice Department recommendations were even stronger.

SAME DAY
SANTA MONICA, Calif.
(UPI)—The wife of actor Jim Francisco gave birth Wednesday to a 6-pound, 10-ounce girl—on the same date the couple's first child was born.

Francisco is the star of the television series "Mr. Novak." Both Mrs. Kitty Francisco, daughter of director William Wellman, and her daughter, named Kellie Allen, were reported in good condition at St. John's Hospital.
