

'Family-A-Fair' Theme For Christmas Bazaar

"A Family-A-Fair" is theme for the annual Christmas fair and bazaar scheduled by the Second Ward Relief Society of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints set for Friday, December 6 from 6 to 9 p.m. in the church at 643 South Ivy Street.

The public is invited. The event is so planned that the whole family can participate as the theme denotes, Mrs. Bruce Rawlins, work and business director of the society, points out. Mrs. J. L. Pepper and Mrs. Devereil Pugmire are co-chairmen.

A buffet supper will be served from 6 to 9 p.m. Spaghetti, "pigs in blankets," chili and desserts are on the menu.

Handmade gift items, tooled and beaded leather goods, toys, handmade quilts, candies, baked goods and other articles will be on sale.

This Bandbox junior petites design will gladden brightly on special occasions. The coat is made in the princess manner and the dress beneath is made on empire lines. Both are fashioned of Beckendorf's frosted-look broadcloth of Celanese acetate and cotton.

School Districts Fight Progress

THREE CREEK, Idaho (UPI)—They aim to fight progress here in the desert because time is not as precious as in the city. School districts in two counties — Twin Falls and Owyhee — have an agreement that the little one-room Three Creek schoolhouse will remain as it is because there's not another school around for hours.

So the schoolhouse, looking from the distance like a dinky farm in the midst of a vast wasteland of sagebrush and alkali, goes on with its nine pupils.

The school is more than 65 miles from Twin Falls in mid-Idaho and from the other direction is only a bumpy road to the emptiness of northern Nevada.

The school marm is pretty Miss Kathy Bartholomew, 20. This is her first year in the teaching profession.

She lives during the week in a house behind the school and drives to her home in Jerome on weekends.

A single oil heater warms the school. Last winter the lowest temperature was 30 below zero.

Miss Bartholomew says she wouldn't change places with any other teacher in the world. She says she is sure her love of her desolate school is worth it to the children.

When the pupils graduate from the eighth grade, it is necessary for their parents to board them in a bigger town. Sometimes mother and school child move to town and leave father tending his desert cattle chores.

Competition Announced By Portland Orchestra

PORTLAND — A talented Pacific Northwest instrumentalist will be given the chance to appear as soloist with the Portland Symphony Orchestra during its 1964-1965 season as part of his or her first prize in a new musical competition announced this week by conductor Jacques Singer.

Musicians of all ages in Oregon, Washington, and Idaho, are eligible to enter. Judging, by a panel including Dr. Singer, will take place in Portland on April 3 and 4, 1964, on the basis of performance, repertoire, and stage deportment.

Candidates must be prepared to play a group of solo works from the classical, romantic, and modern periods — totaling 60 minutes in performance time — plus one concerto from each of the two following lists: piano "A" list — Beethoven, Brahms, Liszt, Tchaikovsky; "B" list — Prokofiev, Bartok, Hindemith, Ravel, Khachaturian; violin, "A" list—Mozart, Paganini, Brahms, Sibelius; "B" list—Prkofieff, Walton, Bartok; Cello: "A" list — Hayden, Dvorak, Saint-saens; "B" list — Bloch, Villa-Lobos, Martinu.

Purpose Explained

Candidates must travel to and from Portland at their own expense under contest regulations. Each performer must present at least 45 minutes of music while here.

Symphony Society president Fred M. Buchwalter said "Our purpose is to discover and to encourage musical talent in the Northwest, and to offer worthy aspirants the opportunity to perform with a full orchestra of national repute." The 80-member orchestra was recently named 17th in the nation in box office support.

First prize will be $250 and the solo appearance a year later. Second prize will be $50. Third and fourth prizes will be honorable mentions.

Application blanks may be obtained by writing to the Portland Symphony Society, 425 Park Building, Portland 5, Oregon. Mr. Buchwalter adds that the Society reserves the right to eliminate a solo appearance with the orchestra as part of the first prize if no candidate is deemed worthy of the appearance by Dr. Singer.

Applications must be post-marked not later than midnight, March 13, 1964.

Mother Visits

HORN BROOK — Mrs. Zela Elmore was a holiday guest at the home of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ardon Burns. Also there were the Burns' daughter and her family, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dille and four sons, Yreka.
