Heart Specialist Says Fat Is Muscle Energy

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Dr. SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Dr. Jules Hirsch is one heart specialist who has something kind to say for body fat.

Hirsch, associate professor at the Rockefeller Institute in New York, told a heart symposium here that fat is a "storehouse of energy."

Hirsch said doctors too often look on fat as "just so much lard." But, he said, research recently concluded in New York showed fatty acids might be the "real gasoline of the blood, at least for muscle energy."
