Weather Bureau Call Ignored by Sandman

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Many people have told me that when they wake up in the wee hours they often start to worry about something and have trouble getting back to sleep.

I dare say, however, that very few ever contracted insomnia from worrying about the taxidermy business, as I did a night or two ago.

I fell out of the arms of Morpheus about 3 a.m. and, as is my custom, got out of bed and called the weather bureau. I find that listening to a recorded weather forecast will drift me back to dreamland faster than a glass of warm milk.

Only I... time it didn't work. When I returned to my pillow and tried to re-establish contact with the sandman, it suddenly occurred to me that many years had gone by since I last saw a stuffed owl.

Teacher Faces Bargaining Unit

RED BANK, N. J. (UPI)—History teacher Thomas M. Perry taught his senior class about the labor movement so well that he found himself facing their organized bargaining unit Thursday.

Thomas teaches at Red Bank High School and describes himself as a "fairly tough and demanding teacher."

That could be the reason the 31 members of the class showed up Thursday organized as "United Slaveworkers, Local 211." Some even carried placards which said "Boss Unfair."

The students presented Thomas with a seven-point petition including demands for a writers' cramp break, more regard for the fact that students have other subjects, an end to excessive homework, a shorter term paper and more time to do it.

Thomas went along with the practical lesson in labor negotiations and sat down with the negotiating committee.

After deliberating, he granted one of the demands to give students more time to complete their term papers. The papers, however, will still have to be at least 5,000 words long.

The Family Council

Editor's note: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, three editors and a women's editor. Each article is a summary of a family disagreement presented to the council. The council deals with problems, major and minor, encountered by guidance counselors and social workers. Edited by Mrs. Alma Drury. Copyright by General Features Corp.

Mr. H. L. — This is a new visit the children of his former marriage.

Md. H. L. — This is a new start for me. I want to enjoy it fully.

Mrs. H. L. — I married a widower of 60 a few weeks ago. He has three children from his former marriage and I thought I'd become part of a large warm family circle. I have no one of my own nearby. Instead, my husband informs me he's not interested in them and they are not interested in him. They seem to be lovely people. I hope I won't be blamed for this estrangement. I don't like it.

Mr. H. L. — I was alone for five years and needed the companionship of my children desperately. Even though they'd been closer to their mother than to me they were all I had left and I sought them out. But they rebuffed me. Whenever I called I seemed in the way, they were just going out or their dinner guests were just arriving. They got along fine without me and vice versa.

The Council: If life were just an endurance test, Mr. L., to see how much we can get along without, we'd all run up long lists of "dispensables" but short
