Pope Considering India Trip in Fall

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—Pope Paul VI, who will travel to the Holy Land next month, is considering a trip to India next fall to attend an important Roman Catholic conference, Vatican sources said today.

Reports from New Delhi Tuesday said the Indian government was issuing a formal invitation to the pontiff to visit that country.

Reliable sources first said 10 days ago that the Pope might go to Bombay for the opening of the Eucharistic Congress there Nov. 28, 1964, if everything went well on his Holy Land pilgrimage Jan. 4-6.

The pontiff was not expected to make any public statement on an Indian visit until after the Holy Land tour, according to the sources.

A Eucharistic Congress is a solemn gathering of Catholic clergy and laymen from all over the world. The Pope is usually represented by a delegate, who presides.

Child Receives Reprieve From Total Blindness

DURHAM, N.C. (UPI)—Blonde little Vicki Wray won a second Christmas and a reprieve from total blindness Tuesday. But her parents received the greatest gift—hope.

Doctors at the Duke University Medical Center said there was a slight possibility the two-year-old girl may not have to undergo an operation for the removal of her remaining eye.

Vicki's left eye has been subjected to high intensity radiation and chemical agents in an effort to stop the spread of cancer, which cost her right eye last July.

Doctors did promise the girl's father, Robert Wray, a $30-a-week textile worker from Bolling Green, S.C., they would not perform the operation, if it is necessary, until after Christmas.

The Wray family, including nine children ranging in age from 14 years to one month, celebrated Christmas prematurely last Monday when it was believed Vicki would be blind on Christmas. The little girl's expressed wish was to see a gaily-decorated Christmas tree.

Dr. Wray said he was responding to a number of speaking invitations received during the last several months.

Book on Kennedy Assassination Grows in Demand

NEW YORK (UPI)—Production of the United Press International - American Heritage hard cover book on the assassination of President Kennedy was placed on an around-the-clock basis Tuesday with a first press run of three-quarters of a million copies.

Forms for the 144-page illustrated volume were locked up this week, and the printing started at two plants.

Two binderies, with a total capacity for handling 60,000 copies a day, will begin shipping orders to UPI subscribers shortly after the first of the year. All copies are scheduled to be shipped in the first week of January.

Flood of Orders
When the joint project was announced on Dec. 2, plans were made for a press run of 250,000. A flood of orders by UPI subscribing newspapers and broadcasters for resale to readers and listeners increased the run to 750,000.

The book, "Four Days — The Historical Record of the Death of President Kennedy," contains 130 photographs, including 14 in color. All of the photos and text were selected from thousands of pictures and words produced by UPI cameramen and writers, beginning on Nov. 22 when Kennedy was killed in Dallas, Tex., and ending on Nov. 25 when he was buried in Arlington National Cemetery.

Stahley Thompson, vice president in charge of production for American Heritage, said preparation of the copy for the presses was completed in 15 days, a remarkably short time for a book of such quality and permanence.

Railroad Porters Reach Agreement

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A railroad labor dispute that threatened to disrupt train service over the Christmas holidays was averted today when the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters, AFL-CIO, and the carriers reached agreement on three major issues.

Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz announced that representatives of both sides had reached agreement in the dispute, which stretched back to 1961.

Assistant Labor Secretary James J. Reynolds said three principal issues were at stake—the porters' monthly work schedule, job protection, and wages. About 2,000 porters employed by Pullman, the New York Central, the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific, and the Soo Line were involved.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

TWO BRICKLAYERS, writes Jerry Shane, were working on a building. A sidewalk superintendent paused to ask precisely what they were building. The more stolid bricklayer replied, "I don't know and I don't care. All I do is slap this crummy mortar on these crummy bricks and pile them up in a crummy line." But the second and more imaginative bricklayer enthused, "I'm helping to build a great cathedral with a beautiful spire that will point straight up to Heaven!" So the second man was fired because they were building a garage.

Jackie Gleason dropped in at a summer resort in the Catskills where business was so phenomenal that the management turned away a young unmarried doctor.

Roseburg Youth's Death Described By Companions

KATMANDU, Nepal (UPI)—Two companions today told how David Wyatt, 20, of Roseburg, Ore., was killed Dec. 4 in a 500-foot fall while crossing Tashi Lapcha pass in Central Nepal.

Steve McCarthy and Gary Payne, both students at Reed College in Portland, Ore., said they and Wyatt, a Chicago University student, had organized a private scientific expedition to the foot of Mt. Everest to collect specimen of beetles and butterflies for the Smithsonian Institution in Washington, D.C., and the Chicago Museum of Natural History.

"We had finished trekking around the village of Namche-bazar at the foot of Mt. Everest and were returning to Katmandu through the Retwalling Mountains," Payne said.

Suddenly Slipped
"While crossing 20,000-foot high Tashi Lapcha pass, David suddenly slipped 500 feet to his death."

They said the accident occurred far west of the Everest mountain range in the Eastern Nepal Himalayas.

They said they complied with Nepalese government orders not to climb any mountain peaks since they were considered a non-climbing scientific team.

In Roseburg, Ore., the youths' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Wyatt, got a telegram from Payne and McCarthy Tuesday telling them of the tragedy.

Wyatt was reported buried at the site of the fall.
