

Christmas Will Be Quiet, Religious Day Inside Vatican

By WILLIAM SUNDERLAND
United Press International
VATICAN CITY (UPI)—Christmas Eve, 1963, was a grim holiday for Italy.

The Vatican, in the heart of Rome, also was suffering, despite its World War II neutrality. There wasn't enough food and there was even less cheer.

Giovanni Battista Montini was a Monsignor with the Vatican Secretariat of State and, as was his custom, he had invited some friends to hear midnight Mass and then eat with him.

After Mass, he told them ruefully: "I'm sorry, but it was impossible to get the necessary food. This may be out of order, but have a bottle of champagne I've been saving and I suggest we drink it together."

Peace On Earth

One of the toasts that night was simple: "To peace on Earth and goodwill to all men."

Twenty-two years later, Montini also will have the traditional post-midnight dinner in the Vatican. But this time he is Pope Paul VI.

This will be his first Christmas as Pope, but those close to him believe he will spend the day as he has in the past. Naturally, the emphasis will be on the religious.

Christmas for the Pope begins three days before Dec. 25. When he makes his traditional Christmas address. This year it probably will deal with peace. It will be broadcast around the world by Vatican Radio.

On Christmas Eve, Pope Paul will say midnight Mass in St. Peter's Basilica and afterward, as is the Italian custom, probably will dine with close friends — normally Vatican prelates.

Turkey Certain

There is almost certain to be turkey on the table for Christmas dinner, although chances are it will be boiled instead of roasted. A salad, maybe a vegetable or two, and a glass of wine — not more — will make up the rest of the dinner.

All the pontiffs meals are prepared by nuns specially charged with the job. As each Pope is elected he decides which nuns he wants to run the kitchen and in many cases they come from the home area of the pontiff.

The late Pope John XXIII had the Poor Sisters of Bergamo, near his birthplace, running the kitchen and the present pontiff relies on the Sisters of St. Mary the Child. They come from near Montini's north Italian birthplace.

For desert there is the traditional Italian Christmas cake called "Panettone," which is pound cake. It is made by several large firms in Milan, where Montini served as archbishop until he was elected pontiff.

Naturally, a number of the firms send dozens of the cakes to him every Christmas. The Pope keeps one and then has the others distributed to various orphanages and other such institutions.

A bottle of Italian spumante, a sort of sweet champagne, also is traditional although Pope Paul probably will take only a sip or two himself.

During Christmas morning and most of the day, the Pope will often go to his private chapel to pray. At mid-day he will appear at his window overlooking St. Peter's Square to give his blessing and possibly make a few remarks.

Otherwise, Christmas is a quiet, religious day inside the Vatican.

Eddie Fisher Plans Trip To Mexico

PUERTO VALLARTA, Mexico (UPI)—Eddie Fisher is coming here this weekend, perhaps to seek the divorce that would open the way for Richard Burton to marry Elizabeth Taylor, it was reported today.

Judge Arcadio Estrada Quintones, who granted a divorce to Burton's wife Sybil earlier this week, said Fisher is expected "sometime between Saturday and Monday." He would not say whether the singer plans to file for a "quickie" divorce from Miss Taylor.

(In Hollywood Wednesday, Fisher said of his marriage to Miss Taylor, "I would like to be out of this thing—whatever it is—as soon as possible." But Fisher insisted he had no plans for a trip to Mexico.

Earlier Sinatra Kidnap Tries Told

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Two earlier attempts to kidnap Frank Sinatra Jr. and the near-success of the crime were related today by a cellmate of one of the three suspected kidnapers.

"Once in Arizona, we just missed connections," John William Irwin, 42, was quoted as telling Robert Dale Howard, 27, Lakewood, Calif., before his transfer here Tuesday from San Diego, Calif., jail.

Irwin also was quoted as telling Howard that the two younger suspects, Barry Worthington Keenan and Joseph Clyde Amster, both 21, spirited Sinatra Jr. through roadblocks in the Lake Tahoe area where the youth was kidnaped Dec. 5.
