WAITS AT BERLIN WALL — A little boy named Manfred, who wants to visit his grandmother in East Berlin, waits impatiently as West Berliners line up for border passes. Visits to East Berlin are being allowed for the first time since construction of the Berlin Wall. (UPI)

Fruit-Wine Freeze On Tariffs Asked

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The spokesmen for the California wine industry and West Coast specialty fruit crops pleaded Thursday against any lowering of fruit and wine tariffs.

The Californians and Oregonians testified before the U.S. Tariff Commission, and the Committee urging that present tariffs be maintained.

Don W. McColly, president of the Wine Institute at San Francisco, said the wine industry's domestic market would be jeopardized by proposals to lower tariffs. He urged that U.S. representatives at forthcoming negotiations with the Common Market postpone action on wine tariffs until agreements are worked out to give all wine producers "reasonable access to all markets."

Spokesmen for the cherry, olive and filbert industries made a similar plea against any reduction in tariffs.

Ruby Murder Trial Being Restricted To Paper Journalists

DALLAS (UPI)—News coverage of the Jack Ruby murder trial will be restricted to the pencil and paper journalists—televisioa is barred.

State Dist. Judge Joe B. Brown ruled Thursday that all photography and broadcast instruments would be banned from the courtroom. Millions witnessed on live television the slaying of President Kennedy's accused assassin, Lee Harvey Oswald by Ruby on Nov. 24.

Photography and broadcast coverage also were barred from Monday's scheduled hearing on whether Ruby should be freed on bond.

To Plot Strategy

Melvin Belli, the "King of Torts" from San Francisco, was expected to join six other defense lawyers today to plot strategy for that hearing.

Tom Howard, local attorney for Ruby, said there was a "good chance" the defense would seek a delay in the Feb. 3 trial. He said Belli was scheduled to present a case Jan. 27 in New York, and it may conflict with the opening of Ruby's trial.

Dist. Atty. Henry Wade, wary of charges of "trying the case in newspapers," declined to comment on the case. He said earlier he would seek death in the electric chair for Ruby.

Howard said "this isn't a death penalty case." He said the defense plea for a writ of habeas corpus would charge that Ruby, 52, was held illegally.

Not Bondable

Wade said the murder with malice charge was not bondable under the laws of Texas, because the death penalty was a possible punishment.

Sheriff Bill Decker was asked if special guards would be provided for Ruby during the trial and while making the 19-step movement from jail to Brown's courtroom.

"I can't tell you that," Decker said.

Wade and Decker met Thursday for a short while, but neither would discuss their conversation. It heightened beliefs that maximum security measures would prevail.

Murder Defense Witness Confined

VANCOUVER, B.C. (UPI) — The man expected to be key defense witness in the John Wasylenchuk murder and bank robbery trial to be held in Seattle is recovering from a heart attack here.

Former Royal Canadian Mounted Police Officer Ernest Nuttall is in hospital for treatment of his fourth attack in the past two years.

Nuttall told Wasylenchuk's extradition hearing a month ago that he interviewed the suspect at his Burnaby home half an hour after the 1954 robbery of a Seattle bank.

Nuttall is expected to be in hospital for another month to six weeks.

Somebody Missed Geography Lessons

ROSWELL, N.M. (UPI)—It's happened again. Some easterner played hookey during geography and thinks New Mexico is not one of the United States.

A Roswell woman, Mrs. H.W. Tankersley, placed an order by mail with the Breck's of Boston store.

Her check was returned with the following note:

"We want you to know that we appreciate your order, but we have had to make a strict rule against making shipments to points outside of the United States.

"Please believe that we are sincerely sorry. . ."

Space Appropriations Bill Gets Signature

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson Thursday signed a catch-all appropriations bill containing $5.1 billion for the U.S. space agency.

In a statement Johnson voiced concern, however, about a provision banning any joint U.S.-Soviet moon flight without consent of Congress. He said there was no chance of such a project in the current fiscal year and the restriction was undesirable in principle.

Research Seeking Curb of Lightning Threat To Planes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Aviation Agency (FAA) is backing a major research program aimed at eliminating lightning as a threat to modern airliners.

As a first step, the agency has recommended that all airlines operating jets put static discharge eliminators on the wings of any aircraft lacking such a device. The FAA did not lay down any deadline but said the airlines already have indicated they will comply promptly.

The Air Transport Association said voluntary installation will be made as quickly as possible.

Wicks Not on Tips

Static discharge wicks were not on the wing tips of the Pan American World Airways jet that crashed at Elkton, Md., Dec. 8 killing all 81 aboard.

The FAA emphasized that the wicks are designed primarily for reducing electrical interference with radio communications and that there is disagreement among scientists whether they also serve as protection against lightning.

The CAB already has indicated that lightning probably blew up the Pan American 707. It uncovered evidence of a lightning strike on the left wing, also evidence of a fuel-air mixture explosion in the same wing.

February Draft Call To Be for 12,000 Men

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Defense Department's draft call for February is for 12,000 men for the Army, 4,000 less than the quota set for January.

The Pentagon, in announcing the call Thursday, said 21,500 recruits would be needed in February but 9,500 were expected to come from voluntary enlistments.

The December draft quota is 13,000.

The Family Council

Editor's note: The Family Council consists of a judge, psychiatrist, three clergymen, three editors and a women's editor. Each article is a summary of a family disagreement presented to the Council. The Council deals with problems, major and minor, encountered by guidance counselors and social workers. Edited by Mrs. Alma Denny. (Copyright by General Features Corp.)

Mrs. E. C. — I've lived for the day when I could leave him, and it's here!

Wilbur C. — She exaggerates my father's faults. He's not a bad sort at all.

Mrs. E. C. — After 35 years of painful marriage, I think I'm entitled to be free. I want to leave my husband, and go to live with my sister in Oregon. I won't ask for support. I'm a fashion designer and my work is in demand. He was always niggardly about money. In addition, he humiliated me with his philandering. After one of his absences I took him back, at the insistence of my parents. But my only comfort came from my children. Now I'm alone with him.

Wilbur C. — As a child I recall one big blowup between my parents, but they made up and my dad was very quiet and dutiful after that. Looking back, my sister and I realize Mother never really forgave him. At the least provocation she'd drag out the old reproaches. If he came home an hour late, for example, she'd be sarcastic about which lady friend delayed him. He gave up trying to explain. We children are married now. We hope Mother and Dad stay together.

The Council: The man from Mars may well ask this question: A young couple marries, deluged with How-to-Succeed advice, facing a life-span of at least 50 years together with reasonable secure finances. Then why, oh why, does the marriage dash to pieces in a short time? In most cases, alas, we must look to the wife, for the fate of the union lies primarily in her hands, what she can give, how much she can take, and how well. A good marriage is a structure, built day by day, molecule by molecule. Granted Mr. C. was weak, how many of the errors that kill happiness did Mrs. C. commit? Our comment: Will Mrs. C. be better off starting life anew in Oregon? Go there, say we, but don't break up the marriage yet. Having hung on this long, with a tremendous investment of emotion, can there be a little spark of love still burning? You admit it wasn't money. Possibly it was a neurotic enjoyment of the role of martyred wife. Your son sees some right on your husband's side. Maybe fate kept you together hoping that, thinking things over, you'd see it too.

Hillsboro Man Nursery Chairman

SALEM (UPI) —Sam Rich, Hillsboro, has been elected chairman of the newly appointed State Nursery Advisory Committee at the group's organizational meeting here.

Reed Vollstedt, Eugene, was named vice chairman.

Lots were drawn by committee members to determine the length of members' terms. Rich, Vollstedt and Wayne L. Weeks, Salem, drew one year terms.

Two year terms were drawn by James Doty, Portland; J. H. Klupenger, Portland; and Robert Hastings, Harbor. Serving three year terms will be Wayne H. Melott, Forest Grove; Paul Van Allen, Portland and Erwin Fowler, Milton-Freewater.

The committee reviewed sections of the new nursery law passed by the 1963 legislature, and scheduled its next meeting for Jan. 20.

Federal Building Location Decided

WASHINGTON (UPI) —A proposed new federal office building for Portland will be located on a two-block area between SW Jefferson and Madison and 2nd and 4th, Rep. Edith Green, D-Ore., reported Thursday.

She said the city has indicated it would close off SW 3rd St. between Jefferson and Madison for the proposed $15.5 million project.

Government offices now scattered in 13 separate buildings in the city will be consolidated in the new structure. The nearest completion date is about five years away, Mrs. Green said.
