

Beavers Now Seventh, Loyola Still First in Hoop Ratings

NEW YORK (UPI) — Loyola of Chicago, the top-ranked major college basketball power, gets a much-needed shot in its national rankings after Christmas—a hyped schedule.

The unbeaten Ramblers have been losing ground and votes—but not games—steadily since the opening of the season but Monday managed to retain their first-place standing for the fifth consecutive week in the United Press International board of coaches ratings. Loyola hasn't played a ranking team this season. The Ramblers have averaged over 100 points per game in crushing five foes, but only one of the five (Detroit, 4-3) has a winning record and combined the five opponents have lost 22 of 35 games.

Michigan, ranked second, and third-rated Kentucky have taken advantage of rougher schedules to improve their prestige and close within 33 and 55 points, respectively, of Loyola. However, the Ramblers will meet improved competition in the Quaker City Tournament beginning Friday in Philadelphia then tackle several Big Ten and Missouri Valley outfits.

Loyola was ranked first by 22 of the 35 coaches on the UPI board while Michigan and Kentucky received six ballots each. Davidson, rated eighth, received the other first-place rating.

Cincinnati, recovering from its upset by Kansas, mounted a new three-game winning streak and moved back into fourth place. UCLA and Vanderbilt, two of the six unbeaten teams in the top 10, jumped up to fifth and sixth, respectively.

Oregon State whipped Indiana twice last week to climb to seventh just ahead of Davidson. Duke, which lost to Michigan last week fell to ninth and NYU, upset by Wagner, fell to 10th. Both teams have lost twice.

Raiders Place Six Men on UPI's AFL All-Star 1st Teams

By NORMAN MILLER
UPI Sports Writer
NEW YORK (UPI) — Jim Otto of the Oakland Raiders and Ron Mix of the San Diego Chargers, the outstanding offensive line stars developed in the American Football League, today were named to the United Press International AFL All-Star team for the fourth straight year.

Oakland, the most improved team in the league this season, placed six players on the 1963 UPI All-Star squad and the Chargers landed five. The team was selected by 24 writers (three from each AFL city) who covered the season regularly.

Four San Diego players were the most popular vote-getters: Lance Alworth, elusive pass-catcher, polled 23 of a possible 24 votes; Mix and quarterback Tobin Rote each was the choice of 22 writers, while defensive end Earl Faison received 20 votes. The fifth Chargers player selected was fullback Keith Lincoln.

Other Raiders Picked
In addition to Otto, the Oakland players chosen were: Halfback Clem Daniels; pass-catcher Art Powell; middle linebacker Archie Matsos; and defensive backs Fred Williamson and Tom Morrow.

This year's first team also included three players each from the Buffalo Bills and Boston Patriots, who meet next Saturday for the Eastern Division championship; two each from the Houston Oilers and Kansas City Chiefs, and one from the New York Jets. The Denver

Broncos were the only team that did not have a representative.

Rote, the 35-year-old former National League and Canadian League star playing in the AFL for the first time in '63, was at quarterback, with Daniels and Lincoln at the running back spots and Alworth and Powell as wide receivers.

Arbanas at End
Fred Arbanas of Kansas City was at tight end; Mix and Stew Barber of Buffalo at offensive tackles; Bill Shaw of Buffalo and Billy Neighbors of Boston at guards, and Otto at center.

On defense, the first team lined up with Faison and Larry Eisenhauer of Boston at ends; Tom Sestak of Buffalo and Houston Antwine of Boston at tackles; Matsos was flanked at middle linebacker by E. J. Holub of Kansas City and Larry Grantham of New York; Williamson and Tony Banfield of Houston were corner halfbacks, and Morrow and Fred Glick of Houston the safeties.

There were close races at only three positions this year. Grantham won by a single vote over Tom Addison of Boston; Banfield edged rookie defensive back Dick Westmoreland of San Diego by one vote; and at offensive tackle, Barber had two more votes than Deion Danenhauer of Denver and Jim Tyrer of Kansas City.

Former Oregon State back Paul Lowe, who teams with Lincoln in the San Diego running attack, was named to a second team offensive berth.

Gillette's Problem: TV Networks Turn Thumbs Down on Carrying Fights

NEW YORK (UPI) — The principal sponsor of nationally televised fights insisted today it wished the telecasts to continue but admitted no network could be found to carry the bouts after September.

Craig Smith, vice president in charge of advertising for the Gillette Safety Razor Company, said his firm—18-year sponsor of televised boxing—"regretted wholeheartedly" that the American Broadcasting Company would drop the weekly fights in September.

"Our own organization has been so well satisfied with televised boxing as an advertising medium," Smith explained, "that we wish we could form our own network of stations to continue it, but I guess that would be impossible."

Smith stressed that the Gillette company was not dissatisfied with Friday night ratings. He added: "In our opinion the audiences have been very loyal to us and to boxing and we don't like to deprive them of fights in the future."

Asked when the fights would be dropped by ABC, Smith replied: "We have separate contracts with ABC and with the Madison Square Garden Boxing Corporation. It is my recollection that both contracts expire in September."

A spokesman for ABC confirmed that "we have no plans to continue our weekly boxing shows next season."

Simmons & Swenson Hold On to Handicap Golf Lead

Ed Simmons and Chuck Swenson won a total of six points last week and increased their lead in the holiday handicap golf tournament at the Rogue Valley Country Club.

Simmons and Swenson won three points from W. Williams and Bill McVayne and three more from Bob Boyer and Nelson Gallant.

The pacemakers in the tourney now have 20 points.

Close behind with 13 are Bob Anderson and Norm Henkleman. They won 10 of 14 points last week, nine from Al Dumas and Vic Milnes and one from Carl Schmidt and E. A. Pearson.

Harry Millette and Howard Scroggin gained 16 points and moved up into third place with a total of 17 by winning 10 from Deane Lambert and Bob Voegtly, four from Chet Hubbard and Ray Johnson and two from Larry Butler and Mahr Reymers. The pair was far down the list last week with just one point.

Floyd Baker and Ivan Harrington, who were second last week, lost two points to Jack Dumas and Dr. G. Cossette but won three from Dick Watson and Glenn Fabrick, to gain a net of one and hold fourth place with 14 points.

In the ball sweepstakes Dec. 21 and 22, Larry Butler took low gross honors with a 75. Hugh Pitts and Dr. N. J. Wilson tied for the low net price with 72.

CHRISTMAS GIFT FOR JACK — It couldn't have been a merrier Christmas for Jack Christiansen, seen above at left. With Vic Morabito, club president, looking on, Christiansen opened a Christmas "gift" and it popped a contract for him to be head coach of the San Francisco Forty-Niners. He signed, Christiansen, who took over the job on an interim basis after the first three games of the season, takes on the job of rebuilding a club that lost 12 games and won only two. But the coach said he thought the club now has the material it needs. "If we can stay away from injuries." (UPI)

REMEMBER — Tis the season to be jolly, bowl with a smile. (on your face).

Bearcats Win In Overtime

By United Press International
Cincinnati may have lost last season's national collegiate basketball championship to Loyola (Ill.), but the Bearcats learned a valuable lesson in defeat.

Loyola tipped Cincinnati in the NCAA tournament final, 60-58, when Vic Rouse plopped in a rebound with one second remaining in an overtime session.

So the Bearcats, the nation's fourth ranked team in the latest United Press International ratings, utilized the identical principle Monday night to defeat Kansas State, 72-70 — only Cincinnati didn't have to go into an overtime period to prove the theory.

George Wilson stretched his 6-foot-8 frame toward the basket in the final second of play and tipped in Ron Bonham's errant jump shot just before the buzzer sounded. The basket gave the Bearcats their sixth victory in seven games this year, and their fourth in a row.

The state of Utah enjoyed a bumper night as all three of its major schools scored impressive victories.

Lindsey-Destroyer Match Attracting Mounting Interest

Matchmaker Elton Owen's Christmas package of four instead of the usual three wrestling matches for his all-star professional card at Medford army Thursday night is drawing an unusual amount of interest.

The interest is being created by the main event which pits The Destroyer against popular Luther Lindsey, burly Negro mat ace. The Destroyer has offered $1,000 to anyone who can break his figure four leg lock and Lindsey says he has already made plans on how he is going to spend the money.

Both men are champion with coast coast champion Nick Bockwinkel and they feel that an impressive victory will force Bockwinkel to put his title on the line in the near future. Lindsey's all-around mat ability and his toughness capabilities if the occasion demands, as it certainly will against The Destroyer, make him a slight favorite but fans are wondering if he will be able to break the figure four leg lock once the hooded mystery man gets it properly applied.

Bockwinkel, whose title is not on the line this week, faces one of his toughest local tests to date when he runs into Maurice "Mad Dog" Vachon, whose utter disregard for the rules has nearly started a couple of riots in the local ring. They meet in the semi-windup.

Borne on Card
Tough Tony Borne, who lost the title to Bockwinkel and wants a return match, goes against fast-stepping Irish Paddy Barrett in the special event.

Opening the card at 8:30 p.m. will be judo-chopping Bing Ki Lee, the clever Chinese flash, who will test newcomer Frenchy Tillet, a tough character from Texas.

Ringside reserved seat tickets are on sale at Lamport's Sporting Goods store and armory doors will open at 7 o'clock Thursday night.

Medford Still 2nd In Journal Poll; Phoenix 5th in A-2

PORTLAND (UPI) — South Eugene and Medford remained one-two this week among the state's A-1 high school basketball teams in the Journal coaches' poll.

Sunset held down third place followed, in order by Tigard, Central Catholic, Sandy, Grant.

Niedermeyer, Beardon Excel In Sunday Shoot

H. Niedermeyer and P. Beardon broke 25 of 25 at 16-yards in action at the Medford Gun Club Sunday. Seventy-five shooters turned out to vie for hams and turkeys or just to practice.

Ed Cox, Gene Hunt, Ray Coleman and Hugh Brown each shot 24 of 25. David Butts had 22 of 25.

In the handicap, M. Simmons shot 24 of 25, while B. Henry, Virgil Bewley and Niedermeyer broke 22 of 25.

The next practice shoot will take place Sunday, Dec. 29.

Tate Named Miami Coach

ATLANTA (UPI) — Christmas came early for Georgia Tech defensive coach Charlie Tate in the form of the head coaching job at the University of Miami.

"This is a great Christmas for me," Tate said Monday night in announcing his acceptance of the job. He will replace Andy Gustafson, who retired after 17 years to be a full-time athletic director at Miami.

a contest in which the lead changed hands 20 times and unbeaten Utah smashed outclassed New Mexico State, 101-72, at Salt Lake City.

In other games All-America center Gary Braddis connected for 24 points as Ohio State raced to an easy 79-62 win over Houston, Oklahoma State clouted Los Angeles State, 92-68, Colorado State downed Washington, 92-63, Florida State defeated South Carolina, 66-57, New Mexico edged Purdue, 63-61, Stanford stopped Kansas, 69-64, Yale topped Tulane, 97-85, and Army beat American U., 100-70.
