About two weeks ago Mr. Webber's house caught fire and burned to the ground. His son, who is still quite ill, was unable to get out of the house without assistance, and it is thought that Mr. Webber overworked himself at the fire.

While working in the factory one day last week Will Mellinger got the elbow of his right arm in too close proximity to the saw and received a very severe cut. The doctor says he thinks the arm can be saved without being seriously impaired, although it may be stiffened up a little in the elbow joint. We are sorry to learn of Will's misfortune. At this time of year a young man like Mr. Mellinger can ill afford to be idle.

Leopold Dupont, of Valley, and his mother, were passengers to Portland last Friday and Leopold visited a little town up the valley called Sherwood. Just what his intentions are we do not know, but surmise that something is going to happen soon in which Leopold will be a prominent actor. It would be well, boys, to keep your eyes open and the cow bells ready for action. LATER—We learn that Leopold was married last Friday.

The steam schooner Nome City came near turning turtle at Rainier last Sunday. She had taken on 900,000 feet of lumber in Portland, and a large quantity of cedar poles at Rainier. Shortly after she reached the channel on the way out the ship listed about 15 degrees and was run ashore, and with the aid of ropes the vessel was righted and a portion of her cargo removed. A number of passengers for San Francisco were aboard but were not frightened in the least.

He leaves a wife and seven children to mourn his demise. The funeral service was conducted under the auspices of the Maccabees, in which order Mr. Jones carried $1000 insurance. He was also insured in the Grange.

There is some talk of Muckle's putting in a logging road from their mill site up Milton creek and out to their timber back of Warren. If they should do this and build a mill on the site where the old one was, things would look different in St. Helens. If he should do this, he will put in a spur from the Northern Pacific, running out from the Gilmore crossing, a half mile north of St. Helens.

I do not see many advertisements of merchants in the REGISTER, especially those of St. Helens and Houlton. It is said the cause of this is the REGISTER's successful fight against the grafters and ring rule in Columbia county. It is self evident that these merchants cannot afford to allow that impression to prevail. If they do, then it is time for the REGISTER's friends to organize and withhold their patronage from them. I for one do not care to spend my money with a storekeeper who allows his politics to stand between him and business. Advertise in the REGISTER and you will get trade from some who are now going to Portland to do their trading.

My stock is large and you can save money by trading with me. H. MORGUS.

John Shenick, 220 South Peoria street, Chicago. "Two years ago during a political campaign I caught a cold after being overheated, which irritated my throat and I was finally compelled to stop, as I could not speak aloud.
