Help yourself

if you're a suffering woman, with the medicine that's been prepared especially to help you—Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It will do it where others fail. For all the diseases peculiar to the sex—dragging-down pains, displacements, and other weaknesses, it's a positive remedy. It means a new life, and a longer one, for every delicate woman. In every case for which it's recommended, it gives satisfaction. It's guaranteed to do so, or the money is refunded.

It improves digestion, invigorates the system, enriches the blood, dispels aches and pains, produces refreshing sleep, dispels melancholy and nervousness, and builds up both flesh and strength. It is a legitimate medicine—not a beverage. Contains no alcohol to inebriate; no syrup or sugar to sour or ferment in the stomach and cause distress. As peculiar in its marvelous, remedial results as in its composition. Therefore, don't be put off with some worthless compound easily, but dishonestly, recommended to be "just as good."

SUFFERED FROM CANCER THREE YEARS.

Cured in Twenty Minutes.

Last month Mr. Isaac Livesay of Minier came to Peoria to have Dr. Toel remove a cancer from his breast, which had been growing for three years right over the breast bone and measured 2½ by 4 inches. Mr. Livesay, who is 75 years old, was very much prostrated by the pain the cancer caused him, but as soon as the operation was over he declared that all pain had left him. The operation was performed without the loss of a single drop of blood by means of electricity and lasted about twenty minutes. Mr. Livesay returned home on the day he was operated upon.—Call.

Dr. Toel is now located in Portland. The cancer, with hundreds of other cancers and tumors successfully removed by him, can be seen in his office. Dr. Toel studied in Europe, and is the only surgeon in the Northwest who operates by electricity without loss of blood.

Two Ways for Sunday.

"Do you sell hand painted pictures here?" asked a lank woman, in an avenue picture gallery.

"Yes, ma'am, we do," said the obliging picture dealer, rolling his hands a la Lady Macbeth, "any particular style?"

"You bet! Particular style is just what I'm after. Some folks out our way bought a picture here that hung two ways for Sunday. That's the kind I want."

"Two ways for Sunday? I don't think I understand you, ma'am."

"You don't look as if you did. Wall, when they fust got it they hung it up and it was the nicest picture of all out doors. You ever see a real hand painted land escape?"

"Yes."

"On Sunday they turned it up side down, and it was one of them foreign cathedral churches, with fourteen steeples and a religious atmosphere. Now, I want one just like it, for if them stuck up Poppers can have one, I can. Trot it out."

The picture dealer struck a compromise, one that represented her into a concert scene in which she took and an ice palace eminent part, but he said was a close call. [illegible] for her [illegible]

It Does Not Always Rain in New York.

Here are two [illegible] Maine sheriffs. The first was a little Aroostook man, and one day he went with a warrant to arrest a certain farmer. He found him in the field and made known his errand. "All right," said the farmer, a big burly fellow, "I'm ready," and with that he lay down at full length on the ground. "But you don't expect me to carry you, do you?" asked the sheriff. "Certainly; you must take my body, you know." "Can't you wait till I get a team?" "Can't wait," and the upshot was that the sheriff went back without his prisoner. The other sheriff was a Franklin county man, likewise small, but plucky. He was sent to arrest a notorious offender, a 300 pounder, and found him on the hillside. Grinning at the officer, he lay back on the grass, saying, "If you get me you'll have to take me." Quick as a wink the sheriff grabbed the fellow by his feet and started down hill with him as fast as he could go, and the bumping the big man got soon shook all the fun out of him and he begged to be allowed to walk quietly by the side of the sheriff.—New York Sun.

Worthy a Monument.

"Say, undertaker, I want to buy the finest coffin you have."

"Who's dead?"

"Old Aunt Eliza, the colored woman who lived south of town. She was over 115 years of age."

"How did she come to die?"

"Sickness and poverty."

"How is it that so fine a coffin is wanted?"

"Oh, the grateful neighbors contributed to it. You see she never claimed to have been a servant to George Washington."—Nebraska State Journal.

Punishing a Boy.

"Bobby," said his mother sternly, "you go into the back yard and stay there. I'll teach you to open the front gate without permission."

Bobby went into the back yard, and was so quiet and good that at the end of an hour his mother relented and told him that he could play on the sidewalk a little while if he wouldn't go into the street.

"Ma," he said, "can't I play in the back yard a little while longer?"—New York Sun.

In Great Luck.

Friend—Was your uncle's will satisfactory to you, Brown?

Brown—Perfectly so. I'm a lucky dog! He left his entire fortune to an insane asylum.

Friend—You mean that you are an unlucky dog.

Brown—No, I don't; the other relations are going to contest the will, and I'm to be the attorney.—Life.

SPREADING FOR LEAGUES AROUND

The marshy, overflowed lands, sunken lots and half-submerged river banks, which give them birth, the seeds of malaria impregnate the air, and are inhaled at every breath by thousands unprovided with any adequate safeguard against the baneful influence. Yet such exist—potent alike to remedy or to prevent, pure in its constituents, and the professionally recognized substitute for the hateful drug, quinine. Its name is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a family specific and safeguard, foremost not only as an antidote to malaria, but also as a means of permanently removing dyspepsia and relieving constipation, liver complaint, rheumatism, kidney and bladder ailments and nervousness. Among invigorants it takes the first place, and is also a superb appetizer. Use it systematically.

Life drives us till we're out of breath
With striving, begging, giving:
We have to work ourselves to death
That we may get a living.

AN UNDISPUTED TEST OF MERIT.

A medicine that has been a household remedy for over fifty years and used in that time by more than 150,000,000 persons must have great merit. Such a medicine is found in BRANDRETH'S PILLS. This fact illustrates the value of these pills better than any statement of the proprietors. It will be observed that the dose required to cure is small. One or two pills taken every night for ten or twenty days will cure dyspepsia, costiveness, rheumatism, liver complaint, all female complaints and weaknesses.

BRANDRETH'S PILLS are purely vegetable, absolutely harmless, and safe to take at any time.

Sold in every drug and medicine store, either plain or sugar coated.

Kingley—Why, old man, what makes you look so gloomy? You haven't had a falling out with your wife, have you? Bingo—Worse than that. With our servant girl.

All that we can say as to the merits of Dobbins' Electric Soap pales into nothingness before the story it will tell you itself of its own perfect quality, if you will give it one trial. Don't take imitation. There are lots of them.

Hojack (to his wife)—If you're waking, call me early. Mrs. Hojack—If I'm not waking, I suppose I can call you Tom, as usual.

As a cure for sore throat and coughs "Brown's Bronchial Troches" have been thoroughly tested, and maintain a good reputation.

A FAR HAVEN.

Hoist the sail and bear away!
Of an island I have heard,
Anchored in the star sown deep,
Whither Love has gone astray.
Long ago he heard the roar
Of breakers falling on the sand
Of some unknown Samarcand,
And with no reluctant word
Sailed away
In new meadows, by new seas,
We must seek him with the breeze
Blowing from the gates of sleep.
Listen! we may hear him call
Where goldenrod o'ertops the wall,
Or when the moon across the night

He just wants to have it said that he built the ten story affair and he is ready to quit. I know a ten story affair that was built on the following pattern:

The man had $5,000 cash. He leased a corner in a block and put in his foundation. Then he mortgaged it for $35,000. That was to cover the foundation and three stories. Then he put on a second mortgage of $25,000, and with that the structure was run up three stories higher. Then he placed a third mortgage on the building, which put it under roof. He finished it off and rented every office, and every tenant found himself confronted with a garnishee by the mechanics who had liens.

These mechanics collected the rents of that building until a rich woman came along and bought the whole edifice, including the lease. But the ambitious fellow who had run up the sky scraper had his name on a stone over the entrance, and he seemed to be happy. There is a good deal of that sort of thing going on in the country.—Chicago Tribune.

Electric Lights on Street Cars.

Some interesting experiments were made recently in Bradford, England, on the lighting of street cars by electricity. A car was illuminated by three incandescent lamps of five candle power each. They were fed from three storage batteries placed beneath the seats, capable of supplying current continuously for six hours. The light obtained is described as being about equivalent to that given under the best conditions by the oil lamps at present in use, with, of course, the additional advantages of absence of smell and necessity for trimming.—New York Telegram.

Foreigners Who Receive Pensions.

Ireland has 350 pensioners on the rolls who draw an average of $12 a month, and a single county in England—Lancaster—has fifty pensioners. Thousands of miles away in Australia are enough pensioners to draw nearly $2,000 a year. The Dark Continent has a round dozen pensioners, living principally in Cape Town, South Africa, while Liberia is represented by one lone widow whose husband was freed by the emancipation proclamation, and who died of the injuries he received in fighting the battles of "Massa Linkum."—Youth's Companion.

Proud of His Work.

There is a story told of a French poet who inquired of a friend and flatterer what he thought of his last work. "I have arrived at the fifteenth canto," he replied with enthusiasm, "and think there is nothing more beautiful and harmonious in the language." "Pardon me, there is one thing," said the poet. "Ah, perhaps you mean Chateaubriand's 'Atala?'" "Certainly not. I mean my sixteenth canto."—San Francisco Argonaut.

Chinese Plays.

No manuscript is written of the plays produced at the Chinese theatre. A synopsis of incident is prepared, and the stage manager stands at the entrance and instructs the actors as they go upon the stage in regard to what they are to do, but leaves the entire dialogue for them to extemporize.—Boston Transcript.

An Absolute Necessity.

Mrs. Motherleigh—Dora, my love, was it necessary to spend fifteen minutes in bidding Harry good-night?

Dora (furtively rearranging a rumpled collar)—Yes, mother, it was a clear case of mussed.—Pittsburg Bulletin.

In the year 1200 chimneys were scarcely known in England. Only one was allowed in a religious house, one in a manor house and one in the great hall of a castle or lord's house, but in other houses the smoke found its way out as it could.

Fleet street journalism has increased by leaps and bounds in recent years. In 1846 there were thirty-five newspapers and periodicals published in Fleet street, three of them dailies; in 1890 there were more than 300, and eleven of them dailies.

CENTRALIA, Wash., Feb 10 1891.

Dr. J. Eugene Jordan, Seattle, Wash.—SIR: Having used your Histogenetic Medicines for sciatic rheumatism and found immediate and perfect relief after fifteen years of doctoring, I have great confidence in it, and find several here who would like to use it; therefore, write to know if you would like an agency here, what terms you allow agents, etc. Should like to handle it if satisfactory arrangements could be made. Respectfully,

MRS. W. W. WALTERS.

SEABECK, Wash., May 19, 1890.

I was laid up with rheumatism, and was in as bad a fix apparently as possible. My leg swelled up enormously and bursted. The agony was just about unendurable. When things looked darkest I sent to Dr J. Eugene Jordan for his Histogenetic Medicine, and after taking it six days recovered completely, and am now perfectly well and have had no recurrence of it for a year. THOMAS PIERCE.
