PORTLAND MARKET.

A Resume of the Condition of Its Different Departments.

With the fruit dealers the amount of business done was much in excess of the first part of the week. The glutted condition of the market is for the present over with. Watermelons drag heavily. The quantity of peaches in the market is very small, and prices are correspondingly stiff. Grapes are in over supply, are hard to dispose of. Pears and plums are plentiful, and meet with only fair sale. Vegetable market is well supplied sale. Vegetable market is well supplied with every variety, especially potatoes and cabbage, the latter being a drug in the market. The amount of oats on hand is larger than at any previous time, and a decline is anticipated. No change is noted in the market for dairy produce. Eggs are higher. Butter is a little easier, receipts of Oregon being on the increase. In other lines of wholesale trade there is no particular change as regards the amount of business done. Quotations on staple articles remain the same, and no change is likely to take place until the regular fall business commences.

Trading is very quiet, and there is lit-tle change to be noted in the general condition of the local market. The export demand is good, but holders ask prices that are away above an export basis and business is consequently checked. Foreign markets are dull, but not quotably any lower.
