In looking over our books we find a large number of subscriptions now due. The paper was placed here September 1, 1887, and consequently the larger portion of our subscriptions fall due on the first of this month. Any one owing us, who desires to do so, can bring us wood for the amount, as it is as good as cash.

W. H. Heath of London, England, was here several days this week, a guest of the Mt. Hood hotel. He made the trip to Cloud Cap, coming from San Francisco for that purpose. He is enthusiastic in his praises of the mountain, also of the Columbia river scenery, and says there is nothing in the Alps like it. He took a great many sketches while here, and left for Portland Wednesday en route for England.

On last Friday, in Justice Weld's court, was tried the suit of S. B. Hartly vs. Olinger & Bone, for damages for the loss of a horse which plaintiff claimed had died from the effects of hard driving on the Mt. Hood road. W. H. Wilson appeared as attorney for plaintiff and C. P. Heald for defendant. A jury was impaneled, which consisted of Jud Ferguson, Wm. Foss, J. W. Morton, C. J. Hayes, L. Henry and J. H. Gerdes. A verdict was found for defendants.

We understand that freight rates from Portland on the steamer Regulator are $2.20 per ton, and hauling the same from the landing costs $1, making in all $3.20 per ton; the last dollar remaining at home, as it goes into the hands of our liveries. Freight per ton on the railroad is 80, besides the cost of drayage. The Regulator Company intend building a warehouse at the landing and a man there to look after goods either received or for shipment, and no doubt they will be well patronized.

Last Tuesday evening Mrs. Harriet L. Adams of Cleveland, Ohio, a lecturer for the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, spoke in the Riverside Congregational church. Her remarks were intended to instruct her audience as to the origin, purpose and workings of the organization, with a view to establishing a Union at this place, and a meeting was called at 3 p. m. next day to effect an organization, but so few were present that nothing was done. On Wednesday evening she lectured in the United Brethren church, subject: "The Goal and how to Reach it." After the lecture, which was very interesting, a W. C. T. U. was formed with eleven active and one honorary members.

The New Steamer.
We were compelled to give our friends of the Regulator a little dig last week for their seeming negligence in failing to make public their passenger and freight rates, but the paper was scarcely off the press when we received a note from S. L. Brooks of The Dalles, agent for the boat, giving rates as fixed to date. Connection with the lower river was made this week. The passenger rates to Portland are fixed at $1.75; round-trip tickets, unlimited, $3. The freight rates, etc., are in the hands of the printer, and will be printed in our columns as soon as received. Flour and like products will be landed here from The Dalles at 7 cents per hundred and in five-ton lots at 6 cents per hundred. The boat is making regular trips to the Locks and is carrying every pound of the local freight.

The "Glacier" on the Right Road.
EDITOR GLACIER:
The GLACIER seems to be getting tired of the domination of the non-irrigating land owner of West Hood River. A hopeful sign. The most of the land owners would rather sell than cultivate, and men wanting to buy land, if they are told that irrigation is necessary to raise a good crop, may purchase somewhere else. Then, can the GLACIER wonder that the land owner does not want the matter agitated?

Hood River valley will raise any crop that can be raised anywhere else in Wasco county without irrigation, and possesses the advantage of being able to irrigate nearly every foot of land in the valley.
The GLACIER is on the right road at last. Courage! Owners of real good land will eventually come to the GLACIER's course, and cultivators will like it better and better all the time.
The writer is not mistaken about the feeling of the cultivator, or he thinks he is not. No matter. The speculator is here only for a short time, anyhow, and always leaves stagnation and distress behind him. The quicker he goes and the less he makes while here the better it will be for those he leaves behind.
C. H. CORUM.

Graded Schools of Wasco.
At the Teachers' Normal Institute held at The Dalles last week in August it was unanimously voted that the schools of Wasco county should be graded.
Mr. P. A. Snyder moved that Superintendent Shelley prepare a graded course of study, but at the request of the latter the motion was amended to read a committee of three, with Mr. Shelley as chairman. We understand that he has appointed as his assistants Prof. Smith and Mr. Snyder.
The committee are to submit their report to the teachers of the county at a meeting held in The Dalles about holiday time for their approval. It was proposed that those pupils who would complete a course in the public schools, and upon passing a creditable examination in the common branches, under the direction of a board of examiners appointed for the purpose, should receive a diploma.
This would not necessarily bar any pupil from further attendance at school, but, better still, there is likely to be a past-graduation course arranged for.
Now, the teachers and schools in Hood River, town and valley, are second to none in the county except perhaps The Dalles, and we give this timely bit of information that pupils may avail themselves of the opportunity and "stamp improvement on the wings of time."

We know of several advanced pupils who can complete the course by the close of the school year, March 1, 1892. So, hoping that this will be a sufficient emulation for close application to study this winter, we remain, sincerely,
YOURS FOR GOOD SCHOOLS.

MARRIED.
Sunday, September 20th, at the residence of the bride's parents, by Rev. F. M. Aunke, E. C. Miller to Miss Clara Frazier.
Both are well and favorably known, and the GLACIER wishes the young couple many happy years.

A fine line of gent's furnishing goods just received at Hanna's.
Now Open.
The stock books of the Hood River Army Association are now open and ready to receive subscriptions for stock. All who wish to take stock will please call at Blowers & Crowell's store immediately as it is necessary to commence operations at once. COMMITTEE.

MILLINERY.
I have opened a line of millinery and fancy goods, in the Coe, building one door west of the GLACIER office, and invite the ladies of Hood River and surrounding country to call and see my goods and prices, before purchasing elsewhere. My stock of hats, caps, shapes trimmed, or untrimmed, flowers, feathers, ribbons, velvets, plushes, ornamental pins, veiling etc., in fact everything kept in a first-class millinery store. My prices will speak far better.
