BRIEF LOCAL MATTERS.

Sweet potatoes at Harrison's.
The Elliot residence is about completed.
Mr. John Kroeger was at The Dalles, Thursday.
Pictures framed to order at the furniture store.
Does S. B. get there? Well I should smile. S. B.
Coffins and undertakers supplies at the furniture store.
Call and see the new school suits for boys at Hanna's.
All kinds of country produce bought and sold at Harrison's.
Circuit court will convene at The Dalles November 9th.
A fine line of gent's furnishing goods just received at Hanna's.
Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Miller arrived home from Portland Tuesday.
Rev. T. L. Eliot came up from Portland Thursday morning.
Professor Birfield of The Dalles visited this neighborhood Thursday.
Hon. E. L. Smith is improving slowly and is expected home next week.
Marvin Hand has closed his little store and moved his stock to Portland.
Mr. M. P. Isenberg will, we understand, build a residence here this fall.
Our school directors are as near alike as three B's—Blowers, Bartness, Button.
Mrs. Stewart departed Wednesday for San Francisco to join her husband there.
Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Heyting of Gilmer, Washington, were here Wednesday.
Sam Ellison is now agent at Bonneville, his place here being taken by A. M. Gulick.
Miss Jenkins and Miss DeHaven of Whatcom, visited Mrs. M. P. Watson during the week.
George Prather will go to East Portland Monday, to take charge of a grocery at that place.
Miss Lillian Richardson was up from the planer Thursday and honored this office with a pleasant call.
Dr. Watt returned from Chicago Friday last, and with his family returned to Olympia early in the week.
Perry & Jones have leased their building and business to O. B. Hartley, who will take possession Monday.
The Indians are bringing in an abundance of fine trout, which weigh from one to three or four pounds each.
The camp-fire to-day should be well attended, and the old boys should have the "whoop up" they called for last week.
M. P. Watson placed a sign on Perry & Jones' building reading "Hydraulic Hams," and then Perry & Jones read it and retired from business.
Dr. Pilkington of Portland and W. P. Watson have bought the old E. L. Smith place, near Frankton. The doctor and his son were here Tuesday.
Mrs. Olier's little girl Lillian has been quite sick for several days. Dr. Rhinehart of The Dalles being called in consultation with Dr. Thomas on the case.
The Grand Lodge K. of P., at its recent session in Portland, declared that manufacturers or dealers in spirituous or malt liquors could not be admitted into the order.
The dance Tuesday night was not as well attended as it might have been, but still there were enough to fill two quadrilles. York and Del Rand furnished the music.
Mr. McInnis of The Dalles was here Wednesday and through the valley for the first time. We judge that he will on this account some day be a citizen of this place.
Rockland, opposite The Dalles, is the best wheat market. The Union Pacific, in trying to run the Regulator off, has agents purchasing the wheat, running the price up to 84 cents.
S. J. La France is having plank walks laid through his yard, which will detract about double the price of the walks from the value of his place, and ten times that from its beauty.
The suit of the riparian owners of Phelps creek against the Oregon Lumber Company promises to be hotly contested and will no doubt go into the Supreme court, whichever way it is decided.
French & McFarland, J. C. Baldwin and N. Harris are all advertised as closing out their stocks preparatory to retiring from business. The Dalles can't stand much more of that kind of thing.
The Third regiment band will be mustered out of the service of the state, Saturday November 7th. All companies of the regiment will assemble at their armories, on that day for inspection.
St. Blaise the celebrated stallion was sold recently at auction for $100,000. The first bid was $50,000 and the second by Charles Reed took the breath away from the opposition and captured the horse. Reed's "raise" was $50,000 cold.

Mr. R. H. Tyler, general agent for the Odd Fellows' National Benevolent Association, was here during the week. He took a trip through the valley and of course was delighted with it.
The pay car passed up Wednesday and made the railroad boys reasonably happy. R. W. Baxter, superintendent, J. P. O'Brien, assistant superintendent, and D. C. Wilson, road master, were on board.
The many friends of Mr. John Stoddard will be pained to learn that he is suffering from a severe attack of Bright's disease. He is in San Francisco for treatment and is but a shadow of his former self.
Mr. and Mrs. James McGuire arrived here from Eugene Tuesday. They have rented rooms of Mr. Hanna and will remain during the winter. If pleased with the country and climate they will build in the spring.
J. H. Babcock, who lives in McKenzie precinct, about 55 miles east of Eugene, was recently examined by physicians and found to be afflicted with leprosy. He was born of American parents in Honolulu 24 years ago.
Mrs. A. R. Middleton has gone to Grant to visit her daughter, Mrs. C. R. Bone, and will probably remain a month or more. Mrs. Bone was here during the week, taking her mother home with her Wednesday morning.
The Supreme court has decided that the act making it an offense to place sawdust in the streams of the state is unconstitutional. This should make no difference to those operating saw mills, as self-interest demands that the fish be preserved.
It is cheaper to go to Portland now than to stay at home. The Baker carries passengers for fifty cents, and furnishes two meals, we understand, free. Notwithstanding these exceedingly low rates, the Regulator carries three-fourths of the passengers.
The Union Pacific has determined to fight the Regulator and is now carrying passengers from The Dalles to Portland by the steamer Baker for 50 cents. The Dalles Chronicle is advertising this out of pure generosity to the company, so that the boat may be well patronized.
We received Saturday a letter from Mrs. Charlotte Hull, stating that she had arrived safely at her father's home, Syracuse, Nebraska. She mentioned the fact that there was an enormous fruit crop there, her father having 500 bushels of apples, which were selling at 25 cents per bushel.
Watch our for sale columns for some of the best real estate bargains in the country. If you want to buy call on us, and if you want to sell, come and see what we can do for you. We advertise all property placed in our hands free of charge, and are so situated as to make the quickest sales. It will cost you nothing unless a sale is made.
M. V. Harrison shipped a car load of apples to Butte, Montana, Wednesday. The apples came from the orchards of Absten, Boorman, Warren and Dr. Barrett. Heretofore all fruit shipments from this place have been in small lots, this being the first car-load shipment that we know of. The immense fruit crop in the East may have a tendency to make a weak market, but we hope this venture may prove profitable.
Last Sunday afternoon we made a brief visit to Mr. Absten's place. His orchards are laden with fruit, all of fine size and flavor, and he pointed to a dozen barrels filled with wine as the product of his blackberry patch. He has a very pretty place, commanding a fine view of the Columbia and the Washington shore, and he has what was more beautiful in our eyes, a fine stream of beautiful spring water with which he can irrigate any portion of his land.

MARRIED.

At Glenwood, Wash., Oct. 18, 1891, by Rev. H. E. Howell, Mr. H. H. Haven and Miss Adell Crooks, all of Glenwood, Klickitat County Washington.

At Goldendale, Wash., October, 16, 1891, by Rev. E. McEvers, Andrew M. Lindsay, and Miss Tiny H. Lindsay. Contracting parties are residents of this place.

Closing out Sale at The Dalles.

I commenced Wednesday September 23rd and shall continue until all is sold, to close out my entire stock of clothing, boots and shoes, hats and caps, and men's furnishing goods, and shall offer them regardless of cost to close. The stock is complete and the best of the kind in the city. Most of the goods are new and the suits of the latest styles. There will be no filling in, or sorting up, but the sale will be positive and continue until everything is sold and disposed of.

J. C. BALDWIN.

MILINERY.

I have opened a line of millinery and fancy goods, in the Coe, building one door west of the Glacier office, and invite the ladies of Hood River and surrounding country to call and see my goods and prices, before purchasing elsewhere. My stock of hats, caps, shapes trimmed, or untrimmed, flowers, feathers, ribbons, velvets, pushes, or ornamental pins, veiling etc., in fact everything kept in a first-class millinery store. My prices will speak far better.

MRS. R. S. HOWELLS.

NOTICE.

From now until Dec. 1st next we will close out our stock at greatly reduced prices, for cash. All parties indebted to us are hereby notified to call and settle before above named date, as a change in the firm name will be made at that time.

BLOWERS & CROWELL

Although the late Duke of Bedford was cremated, when the bearers raised the coffin they found it as heavy as usual, the duke having left instructions that a piece of lead should be put into his coffin with a statement of the cremation, in case, if the coffin were opened centuries hence, there should arise some suspicion concerning his death.

A Broken Leg.

Last Saturday afternoon, about 1 o'clock, Eva, the three-year-old daughter of Agent Ellison, was lying on the big truck at the depot when one of the Olinger boys in playing pushed the truck in such a manner that one of the wheels ran off the edge of the platform, upsetting the truck, which fell on the child, breaking her right leg above the knee. The Olinger boy tried to catch the truck before it went over, but could not stop it. Mr. and Mrs. Ellison were in Portland at the time, and the other two girls, both children, carried Eva up stairs and put her to bed. They did not realize how badly their little sister was hurt, and so told no one of the accident, but sat up with her until their parents arrived home Monday at 11 o'clock. Dr. Logan, who was on the train, was called and reduced the fracture. The little one is getting on nicely, apparently suffering but little pain, but she will have to remain in bed for at least six weeks, as she is too small to be trusted on crutches. It was fortunate that the child was not killed, as the truck weighs several hundred pounds.

That Ditch.

In our next issue we expect to be able to give the exact facts concerning the proposed irrigating ditch. That it will be built we believe is an assured fact, as other parties stand ready to construct it should the present arrangement fail. We do not believe the present plans will fall through, but that upon the arrival of one or two of the interested parties the matter will be taken hold of at once. The ditch or flume will be constructed, and that, too, in time to be of substantial benefit next year.

Hammond-Whitmore.

Married, at the residence of Mr. C. E. Hammond, of Albion, on October 11th, Mr. Frank S. Hammond, of Albion, to Miss Laura A. Whitmore, of The Dalles, Rev. D. L. Fordney, of Forest Grove, officiating. After the ceremony the company sat down to a luxurious dinner, which was served in excellent style, sufficient to tempt the appetite of the most fastidious. Quite a large number of rich and costly presents were presented to the bride.—Oregonian.

The bride is well known in this city, her parents being among our oldest residents and Mrs. Hammond being born here. She is a highly respected young lady, and her many friends in The Dalles will extend to her their heartiest congratulations.—Times-Montclairer.

The groom was formerly a resident of Hood River and one of its solid men. In fact, Frank was the solidist man in Wasco county, weighing 380 pounds in his stockings and without glasses. The bride, we understand, weighs 284 pounds less than her husband. Thus do extremes meet.

School Election.

The special school election in this district, called to elect a director to fill the unexpired term of Hon. E. L. Smith, resigned, was held last Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Director A. S. Blowers called the meeting to order and stated its objects. Nominations being in order, A. B. Jones nominated F. H. Button, and C. Weld nominated George T. Prather. The ballot showed that Mr. Button was elected and he was so declared. On motion, the meeting adjourned.

NOTICE.

Proposals will be received at the office of the county clerk, at Dalles City, Wasco county, Oregon, until 12 o'clock M. of Wednesday, November 4, 1891, for the keeping and care of the indigent and sick persons of Wasco county who now are or may become a charge on said county, for the year commencing November 11, 1891, and ending November 11, 1892.

Said proposals shall be for the board, lodging, care, medical attendance, medicine, clothing, nursing, washing of clothing, and in case of death, the burial in a decent manner, with all the expense thereof.

Also, the expense of transportation to and from the hospital by this bid to be provided.

Proposals will be received at a pro capita rate per week, and also for the care of all the poor for one year.

Also, for the care of such non-resident paupers as may be committed to the care of the contractor (at a per capita rate per week).

Separate bids will also be received from regularly licensed graduates in medicine for medical attendance on inmates of the jail and such other persons as the court may direct, for the year beginning November 11, 1891.

The court reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

By order of court,
J. B. CROSSEN,
County Clerk.

The Dalles, Or., Oct. 16, 1891.

A CARD.

Having leased our building and business to O. B. Hartley, we desire to return our thanks to the public for generous patronage and to bespeak for Mr. Hartley a continuance of the same.

PERRY & JONES.

NOTICE.

As we have leased our business to Mr. Hartley, we desire to close up our books at once. To this end we ask that those knowing themselves to be indebted to us come forward and settle at once, either by cash or note. Our books must be closed up, and this is the only way in which it can be done.

PERRY & JONES.

Women Should Help Women.

Why do women not leave money for the benefit of women's education? Mrs. Fogg, who recently died in New York and left $200,000 to charities and educational institutions, is one of a number of women who have left large estates to worthy objects within the past few months. But, like all the rest, Mrs.

Fogg leaves all her money to institutions for men. She left $200,000 to Harvard College, and in Cambridge is the Harvard Annex, needing this sum far more than the university, and able to do more good with it.

All the women's colleges are poor. The schools which give secondary education to women are poorer yet. It is the hardest thing in education to find a school in which a girl can get just as good a fit for college as a boy. This is equally true of art schools for women, of scholarships for post graduate study, and of women's medical schools. They are all woefully poor, far poorer than like schools for men.

Yet the rich women who give and leave large sums are perpetually bestowing it on colleges, schools and institutions for men. This is, we fear, because such bequests and gifts are generally given under the advice of men who are interested, and only interested in institutions for the education of men, while women are as yet but too little interested in the higher education of their own sex.—Philadelphia Press.

Paris Pads in Stationery.

Sealing wax, which has been abandoned for so many years by foreign elegants, has suddenly become fashionable again, and in the windows of great Parisian stationers rows of sealing wax, of all hues and shades, are ranged in tempting order. A meaning is now attached to each color. White sealing wax means a proposal of marriage; black, of course, mourning; violet, condolence; brown or old gold, an invitation to dinner; ruby is used by lovers; crimson is reserved strictly for business letters; green means hope; pale gray, friendship; pink, love; yellow, jealousy; gold and silver, constancy, etc.

Note-paper is to be had in corresponding shades and in all shapes and forms. Mourning paper is now absolutely black, edged with silver, and silver ink is used to write thereon.

A pretty novelty is the flower paper. It is of pale blue, pink, lilac or green, and is powdered all over with buds and petals of flowers in a yet lighter hue. Forget-me-nots or gentianellas on the blue, roses and apple blossoms on the pink, crocuses, violets or twigs of lavender on the lilac, and buttercups and daisies on the green. The envelopes match the paper and are lined with silver. These are the latest Paris fads in stationery.—New York Tribune.

An Interviewer's Opinion of Bernhardt. Mme. Bernhardt is not a very favorable subject for the interviewer, as I have discovered from two experiences with her. She has heard that the province of the interviewer is to ask questions, and when he—poor man!—gives out she remains completely silent. She answers all questions laconically and appears immensely surprised, as she may well do at some of the interrogations with which she has been afflicted. Bernhardt is an artist, however, even when the interviewer is on hand.

When she arrived in New York there were at least twelve newspaper men to meet her with Mr. Abbey. They went on board La Champagne to her stateroom. Sara was made up as carefully as though she were just going for a ride through the Champe Elysees. There was a delicate bloom on her cheeks and a coraline rebus on her lips. One of the interviewers, when he had been told of her sufferings on the sea, said, "Why, madame, you certainly do not look as though you had been ill." This really embarrassed the great and only Bernhardt.—Epoch.

In Public Positions.

All the world knows that the city fathers of Oskaloosa are women. The mayor, Mrs. Lowman, is a very pretty and exceedingly womanly woman, and the mother of a strapping 22-year-old son, who escorts her to and from the city hall. Mrs. Salter, the mayor of Argonia, is administering the affairs of office for the second term. She is described as a nervous little woman, who, during the first year of office, attended to her public and social duties, did the washing, ironing and cooking of her household and increased her family from five to six. Mrs. M. E. Leas, who stamped the state of Kansas in the interest of the Farmers' Alliance, is a sort of female Chamcey Depew and has a strong hold on the affections of her party. She has a good law practice and is perfectly independent. Although one editor was ungrateful enough to refer to her as "a lantern jawed, goggle eyed nightmare," she is rather prepossessing, but slight, pale and delicate looking. However ill she may look her eloquence is robust, and when she gets up to talk men listen to her.—New York World.

London's Female Orchestra.

Miss Eleanor Clausen, musician and orchestra leader, is considered one of the best woman conductors in London. Although born in England, she is of Swedish extraction and comes from a line of musicians. She is 21 years of age, and the members of her Pompadour band, twenty in number, are Guildhall students. Although it is an infant of fourteen months, Miss Clausen is very proud of her orchestra, and very particular about the company it keeps. She refuses all engagements for smoking concerts and stag parties. There are four violins, three drums, two cornets, two clarionets, two cellos, two double basses, two violas, an oboe, a French horn, a trombone and a piano in the orchestra. The most attractive members are a tall, dignified lady drummer and a small blonde girl who plays the 'cello. The musicians dress in pompadour toils, and wear the famous style of hair-dressing heavily powdered.—London Letter.

For any one purchasing ten dollars worth of furniture of me, I will deliver the same at landing free of charge.
