The Armory.

Pursuant to call, there was a meeting of the stockholders of the Armory Association at armory hall Tuesday evening, a majority of the stock being represented. There was a unanimous opinion that the building should be pushed to completion, but to cover some technical points it was decided to hold another meeting, which will be in Prather's building at 2 o'clock next Saturday afternoon. Capt. H. C. Coe was elected a director in place of J. B. Hunt, resigned. The meeting next Saturday should, be attended by every stockholder, as business of importance will be transacted. The success of the enterprise is now assured, and by the 4th of July Hood River will be able to boast a building 48x98 feet for public purposes. The fact that the matter has not been killed by outside influence is a hopeful sign that mossbackism is not to rule here any longer, and an indication that hereafter a spirit of progress Mr. M. F. Gen. Bonaparte, then lodging at Rue J W Wallace, A Winaus, F C Sherr, eb. Taitbout, in a house which has since become No. 24, I believe. It stood at the the first floor there were galleries which led to wings looking on the street. My drawing room was lighted with several ing, and we were in the middle of a very animated conversation when we heard a great noise in the street. To the rumbling of carriages was added the galloping of an escort of cavalry.

Enddenly the carriages stopped right before the door of my house. The general turned pale, and I quite believe I did the same. The idea struck us both at the same time that they were coming to arrest us by order of the directory. I blewout the candles and crept stealthily is that we can not keep it going long going on in the street. For some time I was at a loss to make anything out of the tumult, but at last I discovered the somewhat grotesque cause.

very unsafe at night, when the gambling settling in our back grounds with the money that had been used for the bank was collected and placed in cabs, and the banker had been allowed by the police to have his cabs escorted by gendarmes, at his expense, to his home in the Rue de Clichy, or thereabout. That night one reason of the halt, which lasted for about a quarter of an hour. We had a hearty laugh, the general and I, over our panic -very natural though it was when we knew, as we did, the tendencies of the directory and the extreme measures it was capable of taking.-Talleyrand's Memoirs in Century
