

Hood River Glacier.

HOOD RIVER, OR., APRIL 30, 1892.

GRANT'S MONUMENT.

President Harrison, April 27th laid the corner stone of the Grant monument in Riverside Park New York. This day was chosen being the 70th anniversary of Grant's birth. It is not at all probable that work on the monument will be hurried; indeed it will surprise most Americans if the whole does not drop into oblivion again. It would have been more fitting if the remains of the old chief had been buried at West Point and the spot marked by a marble slab provided by the government. It is quite possible that the president in laying the stone, performed a lay like the Phoenix that only hatches once in a century.

The people of Wasco and Sherman counties should cast their vote for Sam Blythe, of Hood River, for the legislature. He is a printer by trade, and if he could submit his election to the trade, would get every vote in Oregon, as he is an honor to the craft.—Portland Dispatch.

Odd Fellows' Picnic.

The celebration by the Odd Fellows Tuesday was a grand affair, needing only a more genial weather clerk to have made the day perfect. The Dalles was well represented, the Regulator being loaded to the limit allowed by law, and a large number were turned away on this account. Arriving here, the time was passed pleasantly until the morning train from Portland arrived, bringing members of the order from Cascade Locks, Latourelle and Bridal Veil. The procession formed on Fourth street at the Odd Fellows' hall, and, preceded by The Dalles brass band, marched to the picnic grounds on the Watson tract, just beyond the old Coe residence, where a platform and benches were in place. It was intended to have the exercises previous to luncheon, but the crowd was hungry and began to separate as soon as the grounds were reached. In consequence the address and exercises were postponed until 1 o'clock. The programme consisted of music by the band, singing by U. B. choir and the Sunday school, prayer by Rev. C. W. Wells. Hon. E. L. Smith made a five minute talk on "fraternity," which received hearty applause, and the very able address by Hon. John Michell, of The Dalles, ended that part of the programme. The crowd repaired to the top of the hill in Fairview, where the base ball game between The Dalles club and a Hood River nine was in progress. We are sorry to say our boys were not "in it," and the game was a draw. The sack race and ladies' races created some amusement, and the football game between the married and single men was a contest that was worth seeing. Each side won a game, the third being unfinished, but was given to the married men who had the best of the game at the time it was stopped. All but about a dozen of The Dalles visitors returned on the Regulator at 5 o'clock. In the evening the dance at the Armory was an enjoyable affair, about sixty couples taking part. The day was the coldest we have had this spring, which detracted generally from its enjoyment, but otherwise it was a perfect success.

Our Business Men.

It is a very good plan, other things being equal to patronize your home merchants and mechanics. This course serves to keep money in circulation at home, and to unite the people in their common interests. Hood River is well supplied with stores and in the columns of the GLACIER you will find the following: M. V. Harrison with a stock of general merchandise, men's furnishing goods, dress goods, groceries, hardware etc. Mr. Harrison last year made a commendable move, by finding a market for fruit and vegetables, taking all offered, which was a great convenience to those having small quantities of produce to sell. He is constantly adding to his stock and will have one of the best equipped stores in the county.

J. E. Hanna, although making a specialty of groceries of which he has a large and well ordered stock, also carries a line of ready made clothing. He also looks out for the vegetable market, and is generally supplied in that line, as well as bananas, oranges and other tropical fruits.

Olinger & Bone have a fine livery stable 50x100 feet, and are prepared to serve their patrons at all hours. Fine teams and buggies, and easy riding hacks for pleasure or fishing parties, are always on tap, and as a horse restaurant theirs cannot be beaten. Besides their livery business they run the stage line to Cloud Cap Inn during the season, and their dray and jobbing teams are always ready to do any work required and on the very shortest notice.

S. E. Bartmess is prepared to furnish anything in his line, and doesn't get mad if you ask for what you want when you don't see it. He carries a large stock of furniture, bed room sets, spring mattresses, lounges etc. Masury's and other paints in all colors, oils, lime hair and building material; moulding and picture frames, the latter of which he makes to order, and he is pleased to order anything if he does not have it.

Drs. Williams & Brosius have a neat little drug store, and will soon require more commodious quarters. Besides drugs, they carry a fine line of perfumes and toilet articles, and a large stock of cigars and smokers' materials. Dr. Brosius is also engaged in his profession and has already a large practice.

Dr. M. D. Morgan, although a new comer, has established a fine practice and is every day becoming more popular. The Dr. is from New Orleans, and after visiting almost the entire coast, picked on Hood River as the prettiest place in which to live, that he had found, and located here regardless of the fact that most of our people are hopelessly healthy.

The Mount Hood hotel managed by that very popular gentleman, George Herbert, provides bed and board for the traveling public, besides its coterie of regular patrons. During the summer it is crowded to its utmost capacity by those who appreciate Hood River's magnificent climate, and during this time it is a safe plan for intending visitors to secure rooms in advance, though George always manages to care for all comers, and that satisfactorily.

J. H. Ferguson, located with J. E. Hanna has a neat selection of gold and silver watches, chains, lockets, charms, rings and other articles in that line. He is a practical jeweler, and ready at all times to do what the doctors can't "repair the ravages of time."

Hartley & Mercer's butcher shop is centrally located, and gets the patronage not only of Hood River and vicinity, but quite a trade at adjacent rail road points. They are prosperous and happy, and deserve to be.

The Hood River Manufacturing Co., has its shops here, and although but recently established are crowded with orders. This company manufactures everything in the shape of wood work from a cradle to a coffin, on order, and have constantly on hand all kinds of mouldings and seasoned lumber.

Cox & Bishop are prepared to furnish plans and estimates for buildings at any time, and to erect them too. They are carpenters of long experience, thoroughly reliable and have, as they should have, a good business.

Mrs. Howells, Mrs. Hunt and Miss Stilson, each have a millinery store and supply all wants in that line.

Besides these wise people who patronize the columns of the GLACIER, there are several foolish virgins (this is metaphor) whose lamps are unlit. Among these, are two general merchandise stores, a livery stable, blacksmith shop and several carpenters. Good people too, but troubled with lichens, hypochondria, almost azotic, azygous except as to one another, given to pendency, and pyraconthous. They need to be put on ice in the GLACIER.

The Californian Illustrated Magazine for May is a notable number in many respects. It completes the first volume of a magazine which, in six months, has stepped into the ranks of the great monthlies of the day and chronicled a complete and phenomenal success. The number begins a series of articles of especial interest to those who are beginning to think of the summer and vacation time. The glaciers of the Pacific coast is a striking presentation of these wonders, beautifully illustrated for the first time from paintings. The cuts show the birth of a glacier, a crevasse, and the famous Muir glacier from various points.

The National Guard, with twenty illustrations of Gov. Markham, his principal chiefs of staff, and the various companies by Gen. C. C. Allen, is a timely paper. There is shown for the first time the remarkable heliograph map, with signal points from San Diego to Sacramento. As a souvenir to the editors who visit the state this month, there is an article on the Press of San Francisco, made especially interesting by the illustrations of the editors-in-chief, photographed by the Californian artists in their respective editorial rooms. The pictures of Mr. DeYoung, Herst, Frank P. Key, Mr. Bunker, Gen. Backus and Mr. Henzelton are especially good. The Bull Fight is graphically described and illustrated by a lady observer. Captain W. L. Merry, the consul-general from Nicaragua, in a third paper deals with the Nicaragua canal. George Hamlin Fitch, literary editor of the Chronicle, gives a delightful picture of Palm Valley, the paper being illustrated by cuts, showing one of the wonders of the American continent, the famous Palm canyon. The Rev. F. J. Masters takes up the opium traffic in the third series, which the Californian is issuing, in the endeavor to prove that restriction is desirable and needed. The story of the manner in which these pictures were taken is equally remarkable, they being taken by force, the Californian artists and photographers facing a crowd of infuriated coolies in their underground dens, creating a riot of the wildest description, but securing eleven fine negatives. Among other articles of interest is the Napa Soda Springs, the Dry Tortugas, Tennessee, short stories, poems and book reviews, making up the number. Published in San Francisco, $5 per year; 25 cents per copy.

Franklin Notes.

EDITOR GLACIER— There seems to be an air of general thrift pervading this section, much improvement and beautifying of grounds going on. The frost has not damaged anything to speak of yet. The outlook for the strawberry crop for 1893 gives promise of double the present acreage. The work on the grade at "Calkins' Leap" is progressing finely and that piece of road will soon be safe to travel. Work is also progressing on the road at Rogers' mill, and when this is finished it will be the main route of travel for all farmers on Phelps creek. This is a greatly needed improvement, as all travel heretofore has been by way of Belmont.

Idlewilde.

C. J. Hayes was at work during the week platting the land lying between Wanouma and Idlewilde annex. It will be known as Idlewilde. The tract consists of about 65 acres and every lot in it is a beautiful building spot. The ground slopes gently to the railroad, beyond which is the broad Columbia, and then the rugged canyon of White Salmon, and the white dome of Mt. Adams. The soil is a black loam, free from rocks, and a large portion of the tract is in meadow and orchard. There is no prettier townsite on the coast, and the prolific soil and abundant water will allow of the handsomest lawns and a wealth of flowers and shrubbery. There will be a rush for lots as soon as they are on the market, by Hood River people who know the situation. In choosing a lot the greatest trouble is in trying to decide which is the most beautiful, for like choosing a straight stick in the forest, one continually finds something better than his first choice.

Artistic Decorators.

Messrs Kenna & Emerson have finished painting the armory and have done excellent work. The paints and oils were of the best quality and the work shows both taste and skill. Mr. Kenna is a true artist, as the beautiful work in the Harrison and Smith residences attest. Mr. Harrison's house furnished the opportunity for the display of taste, and the harmonious blending of colors shows that Mr. Kenna was capable of rising to the occasion. Such work forms a standard which serves to compel artistic work for others, and hence the work of this firm will raise the standard in all future work in this section.

Does E. B. get there? Well I should smile. S. B.

The undersigned being located near Hood River, wishes to inform parties who may be desirous of having surveying done, that he is a practical surveyor of many years experience, and that work entrusted to him will be performed with dispatch and correctness. He takes pleasure in referring to Mr. A. S. Blowers, (who for years was county commissioner in Minnesota), and for whom he did county work as county surveyor, as to his ability. Parties writing me at Hood will receive prompt attention.
