

Hood River Glacier.

HOOD RIVER, OR., JAN. 14, 1898.

WE WANT IT.

After mature deliberation we have raised our lightning rod and patiently await the storm after the 4th of March, in hopes the lightning may strike it in the shape of the appointment of register of The Dalles land office. We respectfully suggest in our own favor that since the 8th day of November last we have waxed fat, gaining 22 pounds in that time, on diet such as the country editor usually tackles, which is proof positive that the political pudding is the cause of it. We have grown too large indeed to longer remain a private individual, and must either have an office or have the Oregon legislature incorporate us. We feel that we are competent to fill the office and strong enough to draw the salary, thus reflecting credit on the party and deflecting cash to ourselves—supplying a great need in either case. Besides this it would be a fitting recognition of the newspaper fraternity—the people who put others in office and get nothing themselves; the men who "lead the columns" in political battle, who marshal and drill the forces in time of peace; the men who get all the scars, no cash and a very limited credit. The truth is, the newspaper man is, so to speak, the war horse in time of political battle, the beast of burden between fights, turned out to pick a precarious living on the range, fenced out of the public pasture, and only groomed when it is time for him to stand up and be shot at. These are our claims to recognition, and if we are to be turned down, we ask in all justice to an overworked and underpaid class of party workers that some other newspaper man be given the place.

CASCADE COUNTY.

It is the history of all movements, political or otherwise, that the parties to be benefitted are generally the last to be converted. It is so in the present county division question. The proposition is undoubtedly true that a small, compact county can be run at less proportional expense than a large one. It should be borne in mind that outside of the county judge, school superintendent and stock inspector, all county officers are paid fees, and if they have little work, they have also little pay. The salaries of the officers named would not amount to more than six hundred dollars yearly, and the other officers would be paid by those employing them, except as to criminal business, and in this line the proposed county of Cascade would be at a trifling expense. Another bugbear used to frighten the unthinking is the statement that costly county buildings would be erected at once, and thus taxes increased. Who is to build these costly buildings, and who to order them built? The town of Hood River could not do it, and if done at all it would be by officers elected by the people, and that only when the county is out of debt, and so increased both in wealth and population as to make them necessary. Besides, the object of county division is to lower taxes, not to raise them. More than this, the town of Hood River will guarantee to furnish suitable offices and court room, free of charge to the county, for four years, should she remain the county seat that long. The boundaries of the proposed county are natural ones, and the formation of a county within them is only a question of time. Nature has so shut in this section that but one wagon road crosses the boundary lines of the proposed county, and that is the old Dalles and Sandy wagon road along the Columbia river.

THE PORTAGE ROAD.

Governor Penoyer is opposed to the state building the portage road around the Celilo-Dalles rapids, not because he does not believe it would be of great benefit, but because he thinks the general government should build it. With all due deference to our good governor, for whose opinions we have the greatest respect, we are compelled to view the matter in another light. We do not believe the general government will, for the next few years at least, go into the railroad building business, and if the road is to be built at all, it will have to be done by the state. It should be done, and it should be done this year. Being below the proposed road, we have no direct interest in it other than that of a citizen of the state, desiring to see the people of Eastern Oregon assisted in their laudable desire to make a living.

For a New County.

EDITOR GLACIER: It appears that the east and west sides of Hood river are passing through a season of unrest on account of the question of the division of the county. From what source this disquietude arises I don't think it is hard to conjecture; but what is most surprising, that the opposing element, most of them intelligent and excellent citizens, should allow themselves to be biased and hoodwinked by those who are fishing for their money and their patronage—their money principally; and I think if they would give this matter a thorough investigation they would see through the thin gauze. Let us awaken to the realities of our position, and ask ourselves the question: What do we owe The Dalles that we should any longer pay them tribute? Why should our farmers any longer take their earnings there to enrich the overpaid officers, saying nothing of money paid for traveling expenses, hotel bills and time taken, which means to agriculturist as well as mechanic and merchant, so much cash, according to time lost.

In the ordinary affairs of life, when a young man attains his majority, his great desire is to start house-keeping on his own account, and cruel would be the parent who would put obstacles in his way for mere selfish ends. Now, I would like to ask the question of not only the people of Hood River valley, but of Mosier and Cascade precincts, are we not of age? Have we not attained our majority? Are we not capable of managing our own affairs? Yes, rather, if we could not do better than increase our taxes year after year, and also our county indebtedness, as our guardians at The Dalles have done, and have given us so little in return. Then, I say, let us be bankrupt if we cannot, as it is only a question of time as matters are run now. I think I hear some say, "Oh, it will benefit Hood River if the county seat is there." Admitted, to a certain extent it would benefit Hood River—and Hood River would appreciate it by providing the county building—but not more than it would the balance of the county.

Yesterday a capitalist was here making inquiries respecting our enterprises, and was desirous of investing $25,000; but he said he could not see his way clear unless the county was divided; then he would invest at its county seat. Now, friends, let us set aside all feeling, and each one ask himself the question, Will it benefit me, or can I possibly be worse off? For answer, ask any resident of any county in this state that has been divided, and the answer will be, "I don't want to go back."

Senator Kenna, of West Virginia, died Wednesday morning. He had been sick for some time and his death had been expected at any moment during the past week.

NOTICE.

To all whom it may concern:

Notices hereby given that the Water Supply Company of Hood River Valley, a corporation heretofore duly incorporated under the laws of the State of Oregon, and heretofore doing business in Hood River Precinct, Wasco County, Oregon, has filed in the County Clerk's office of Wasco County, Oregon, and in the office of the Secretary of State at Salem, Oregon, supplementary articles of incorporation, heretofore duly adopted by the stockholders, and duly executed in triplicate by said corporation, through its proper officers and board of directors, and the object of adopting and filing the same is and was to increase the capital stock from $300,000 to $900,000 to better facilitate the carrying out of the original objects and primary purposes of said incorporation, and to more effectively avail itself of the provisions of the Legislative Act Approved February 18th, 1891, the second section of said supplementary articles is as follows: second. The enterprise and business in which the corporation proposes to engage is to appropriate the waters from what is known as "Indian Creek," "Ditch Creek," "Dead Point Creek" and "Green Point Creek" and all creeks being in Wasco County, Oregon, and all tributaries of the west fork of Hood river, (except said "Indian and Ditch Creeks") and to convey said waters by means of ditches, flumes and canals, through or to any point of the dry lands of Hood River Valley, in said Wasco County, for the purpose of renting, selling or distributing the same among all persons whose lands lie adjoining to or are within reach of said flumes, canals and ditches for the purpose of irrigation and supplying water for household and domestic consumption and watering stock upon the dry lands of said Valley, within said Wasco County; to construct a suitable ditch or ditches, canal or canals, flume or flumes, for conveying and utilizing said water, for the purposes aforesaid, to extend the ditch heretofore and now used by said company from where said survey, taps and intersects said "Ditch Creek" and from thence to a point on said "Green Point Creek" from where the waters of said last named creek can be conveyed and used in the ditch aforesaid; and to appropriate necessary and sufficient land for right of way and to do all and every thing and act necessary in carrying out the objects and purposes herein stated. Dated at Hood River, Oregon, December 17, 1892.

THE WATER SUPPLY COMPANY OF HOOD RIVER VALLEY.
H. J. BIRNARD, President.
W. DAVIDSON, Secretary.
