HOOD RIVER, OR. APRIL 29, 1893.

WHOSE OX IS GORED?

Mr. Stonehead, representing the Oregonian, was here Tuesday soliciting subscriptions to the "Hand Book of Oregon," which is being gotten up by that paper. The idea is to give every locality brief mention, and if paid for at the rate of $50 a page, an extended mention as desired. The book is to contain 1,000 pages and sells for $8. The Oregonian has a damage suit on its hands for calling a scheme similar to its own, only applying to persons instead of places, a fraud. Hence we give it this opportunity to recoup.

Governor Penney and State Treasurer Metcalf are again traveling over Eastern Oregon, hunting for a location for the branch insane asylum. The Dalles has, in our opinion, many points in its favor, and with a square deal, we believe, will be selected. As a town it has had hard luck for the past few years, and while its citizens are wide awake, the city seems to have lost all energy. If it could slip up on this insane asylum and capture it, we believe it would infuse new life into the place and give it courage to tackle something else. We hope sincerely that the governor and treasurer will locate the asylum on Chenoweth creek, and we hope so because we believe it to be the best site, everything considered, in the state.

There are some things in modern journalism that are becoming monotonous, and this thing of running the cuts from the patent medicine advertisements among the reading matter and passing them off for distinguished personages, is one of them. We can put up with Dr. Van Monsieur's mug doing service for the great Columbus, although the mutton-chop whiskers are somewhat like the Dr., a case of malpractice; and can pass by Dr. Powell-Reeves doing duty as Ponce de Leon. The springing of "yours for health, Lydia E. Pinkham," as the bride of a German princelet is what jars us off the perch.

Southern Oregon is having a genuine mining boom, the center of which is very properly located at Central Point. Reports of individuals cleaning up from $300 to $1000 a day are numerous; but still it must be recollected that this is only "some individuals." By the time this report travels 1000 miles further one cipher will be added to the figures, as perhaps one or two have already been added in the journey here.

Two distinct cyclones, a water spout and a terrible hail storm swept over Oklahoma Wednesday. The most damage was done at the town of Norman, where thirty-one people were killed. From reports made Thursday it is known that sixty-two persons were killed and an immense amount of damage done to buildings. The list of injured will run up into the hundreds.

Judge Bennett of The Dalles is in Washington urging the claims of J. L. Story for register of The Dalles land office, and, it is said, is seeking the position of U. S. district attorney for himself. Should he be successful, The Dalles will be "fairly in it."

The small-fruit crop in the Palouse country is said to be a total failure. It is estimated that this will entail a financial loss of $125,000.

AN ACTUAL RAISE.
EDITOR GLACIER: An article headed "Reduced Rates" in issue of the 23d is clearly a mistake. Last year the rate to Helena, Butte City, Anaconda and some other points in Montana was $4 per 100 pounds, while this year the local agent of the Pacific Express Co. informs me it is only $3.25 per 100 pounds to these points and remains the same as last year to Salt Lake City, namely, $3.00 per 100 pounds. An apparent reduction. Let us investigate: Last year and years before they were billed at 25 pounds to the crate at a $4 rate, being $1 per crate, and 75 cents at a $3 rate. This year they propose to weigh all crates and bill at actual weight. The lightest Portland crate weighs 7 pounds, making a well-filled crate weigh 31 pounds, which, at a $3.25 rate, is $1.00, or the same price as last year. Now, the $3 rate mentioned above, this year will be $3 cents per crate, which last year was 75 cents—an increase of 18 cents per crate. It is a raise in rates on all points where the rate is not lowered 75 cents on $4, which means the same rate as before. If some of the heavier crates are used it is a raise all along the line. This is too much like the populist finance puzzle in being thin.
CORREKT.

"World's Fair Travelers Will Have It."
The public demand through service when traveling. It is old-fashioned to change cars. On the through solid vestibule trains of the Chicago, Union Pacific and Northwestern Line, from or to Chicago, Omaha and intermediate points, there is no change. This is the finest and fastest road.

W. C. Stranahan has opened his stand on Oak street, and will keep a stock of fine candies, fruits and cigars; and during the summer will serve ice cream and lemonade. Besides this he will carry a fine line of fishing tackle.

EXCEEDINGLY EMBARRASSING.

Perplexity of a Polite Man Who Lost His Equilibrium in a Street Car.
I took them for a newly married couple. Certainly if she had been married very long she would have known better.

They got on a south bound Clark street car at Goethe street. She was slender and graceful, and had large, fetching dark eyes. He was extremely polite. He helped her on the car very tenderly, and after riding two blocks he jumped up the instant a very fleshy old lady entered the car and offered her his seat with a low bow—a sure indication that he was just married and doing it for effect.

Then he hung on a strap and bent down and kept up the conversation, which seemed largely made up of irrelevant remarks and highly irrelevant glances. Presently he discovered that he could stoop lower if he let go the strap.

He had just availed himself of this discovery when the train swooped around the curve at Illinois street. He flung up his arms, made one frantic, ineffectual grab for the strap, swayed gracefully half around, and sprawled out the fat old lady's lap as the car stopped. His pink and white cheeks turned scarlet. He scrambled half way to his feet and began, "I beg—".

Just as he was in the act of re-establishing his equilibrium and simultaneously uttering the apology, the car gave the sharp jerk and quick, strong pull of starting. He clutched the incorporal air and went down with the words on his lips—flat, full length on the beastly, maddly floor. It was too bad, but everybody laughed.

Yes, she laughed. She put her slim, black gloved hand, with a film of scented handkerchief in it, up to her mouth and her black eyes danced at him.

He got up, scowled very darkly at the gentleman who had said "Whoop-ee!" as he went down, and washed a patch of mud off his coat sleeve. Then he looked at her laughing eyes. For an instant he tried to look amused; then he straightened his face out severely and went over and looked out of the door.

As he started into the tunnel he looked around. The handkerchief was still at her mouth and her body swayed slightly as from a repressed emotion. A deep, straight line came into his forehead and he stepped a little farther away. Half way through the tunnel he looked around again. The instant she met his eye she dropped the handkerchief to her mouth just in time to suppress a ripple of laughter. He went out on the platform and banged the door behind him.

At Madison street he opened the door and stood stiff as a statue until she walked out. She looked over her shoulder into his face as she passed him, but there was an inexpressible twinkle in her eyes, and he stepped to the ground after her without unbending.—Chicago News.

Hard on Cambridge.
This is a short story that Cambridge people may not find exactly humorous. It is told, however, concerning a bright youngster who lived among them for his nine short summers, and by reason of the cultured atmosphere he breathed and the experimental systems he was brought up on ought either to have been dead or one of their own. But he defied both these fates and in due course received his reward by moving into Boston. Here he at once found congenial companions and no doubt began to contract those unfortunate habits of speech that indirectly led to this tale. One day his papa heard him using language that no nice little boy, especially a university town boy, is supposed to know the meaning of.

"Teddy," said his stern parent, "never say that again; it's swearing, and God will hear you and be very much displeased."
"Well, I'll go down cellar," said the youngster defiantly, "then I guess he can't hear me."
"Yes, he can," insisted the devout man.
"Is he in the attic too?"

"Yes," announced the youngster, with the triumphant air of one who settles the question. "I'll go to Cambridge, for I'm sure he's not there."—Boston Transcript.

Statistics About the Lakes.
The following figures obtained from reliable sources show the mean level of the lake surfaces above the mean tide at New York and their maximum depths, respectively: Lake Ontario, 246.61 feet, 728 feet deep; Lake Erie, 572.86 feet and 210 feet deep; Lake Michigan, 581.23 feet, 879 feet deep; Lake Superior, 601.78 feet, 1,008 feet deep. The deepest water runs very fairly in mid lake throughout the chain.
The area of water surface in square miles according to Crossman's delineation is as follows: Lake Superior, 31,200; Lake Huron, 23,800; Lake Michigan, 22,450; Lake Erie, 9,900; Lake Ontario, 7,210, or a total area of 94,650 square miles.—Maline Record.

How the Peach Was Produced.
That the luscious peach has been derived from the hard shelled almond can no longer be successfully denied. It is said that the peach in its original soil was a virulent poison, and that the Persian warriors brought to Persia some of the seeds and planted them for the purpose of poisoning the points of their arrows so as to render wounds caused by them to be fatal, but a change of climate and soil produced a fruit which is not only luscious, but is esteemed exceedingly healthful.—Chicago Tribune.

Rather Ill Timed.
At a recent wedding, at which the bride had retained her "maiden meditation fancy free" a number of years beyond the usual marrying age, the organist most thoughtlessly or most ungraciously played as a prelude to the arrival of the wedding party, "Tis the Last Rose of Summer," thereby causing a visible smile among the listeners.—New York Times.

East Side Items.

EAST SIDE, April 23, 1893.
John Sweeney is making preparations to build a new house this summer.

J. Cox, with wife and family, arrived from Phillipsburg, Kansas, last week. They are stopping at present with his brother, S. H. Cox, and will make Hood River their permanent home.

G. W. White of Sherman county has purchased ten acres of land from Mr. Johnson. He has put up a temporary residence and is now actively engaged with his family in making a home in this garden spot which is "eastward in Eden."

Hans Lage and sons are putting the finishing touches on some seven or eight acres of newly cleared land. This has been an old trick of theirs for a great many springs, and the first thing you know Mr. Lage will be signing for more stumps to conquer.

P. Mohr is another who puts about five fresh acres under the plow every spring, and he is doing it again this year.

Warren Turner and William Jackson have declared their intentions to ruin every stub and grump—grub and stump, I should have said—on their homesteads within three years. As Warren and William are truthful boys, don't be frightened if you see trash of all kinds in the air, something after the manner of an Eastern cyclone.

Two of D. G. Boardman's horses strayed from home one day last week. Mr. Boardman and his son Charles have been searching for them high and low in the country around The Dalles, where they last heard from them; but thus far their search has been fruitless. Hunting stray horse flesh at this busy season of the year would try the patience of a regular old job.

Jerome Wells has rented W. G. Cielland's place for three years. Lawrence Silliman has also rented C. Grod's place for two years.

Road Supervisors Rand and Prather have both been doing some work that is highly commended by all fair minded citizens. The big hill near J. B. Rand's house has lost its steepest pull, and through Mr. Prather's efforts our East Side teamsters can get into town without throwing off half of their load within a stone's throw of the goal. Peg away, bosses, in spite of the kickers, and remember that "As a rule man's a fool. When it's hot he wants it cool; when it's cool he wants it hot; ever wanting what is not."

"MIDNIGHT."

Will make the spring season of 1893, at convenient places throughout the valley and White Salmon Washington. Time and place subject to future appointments.

Description and Pedigree.
"Midnight" is a cash-bred Hambletonian, 5 years old, 18 hands high, 1400 pounds, bred by Shaw's Hambletonian; dam, a Coppers bottom mare. "Midnight" is a good dispositioned horse, a topky driver and quite a trotter for a horse of his size.

"Midnight's" service fee will be $10 for single service, due at time of service, or $15 for the season. Persons breeding by single service and mare falling to catch, can breed by the season for the additional payment of $25. Season to close July 15, 1893.
For terms and other information apply to,
A. L. PHELPS,
Manager.

HOUSE BREEDING.
The Country Gentleman contains a series of interesting articles on this subject, written by an eminent English authority, from which we extract the following enunciation:
There is pleasure in the ownership of a good brood-mare and her young stock, bred on one's own holding, that is felt in very few other kinds of property. The Arab considers, as we do, that the produce takes more after the sire than the dam. They say, "Remember, the mare is but a bag; you will get hold out of it if you have put gold in." Experience confirms the opinion. There have been many cases that could get good stock off almost any mare, but probably there has never been a mare so good as to be able to breed a good foal if put to a really bad horse with hereditary faults such as spavin and roaring, and with bad constitution and formation. We have all seen a good foal get off the most rubbishy and unsound mare, but it is a dangerous experiment to try, and the Arab again is wise with his advice: "Sow seed only in good soil, and never put honey in a dogskin bottle."

YOUNG GENERAL
ROCHAMBEAU
Is a dapple gray, 15 1/2 hands high, weighs 1300 pounds, Liverpool-born, 3 years old on May 30, 1893, is free from all blemishes and diseases and is a fine trail horse, gentle and kind, a good traveler, and is owned by JOHN SWEENEY, OF HOOD RIVER, OR.
Mr. Sweeney will attend at the following places during the present season: At Mr. Lee Turner's, Monday and Tuesday of each week. At Mosler, Friday and Saturday of each week. Terms: For single service, payable in cash, $10.00. By the season, from end of same, $40.00. To insure, payable when same is known, $100.00. In case of failure, service the following season gratis.
