HOOD RIVER, OR. MAY 6, 1893.

THE SCHOOL QUESTION.

The school meeting for the purpose of voting upon the question of bonding the district, and building a school house takes place at the school house next Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The condition that confronts us is 140 pupils, with room for only 100, in the present building, and before another year it is safe to say, we will have 50 pupils that room will have to be provided for. We must either put an addition on the present building, at a cost of probably $1500, rent a room, or build. We need, or will need within a year not less than four rooms, hence if an addition is made to the present building it will necessarily have to double the seating room of the present building. In view of all these circumstances, the erection of a new building seems to be the proper, and only solution. As regards the location there is no opinion, a practical unanimity of opinion that the summit of the hill, the level ground, is the proper place. It is the only place where perfect playgrounds can be had, it is convenient to those outside of the town limits, as well as those within them, and unless adopted will cause the division of the district. We can raise by bonding $4,500.00 and this with the money received from the sale of the old site, will give us a good four-room building furnished. The bonds run ten years, after which time, ten years are given in which all must be paid. Every tax payer in the district should be present, to the end that the matter may be thoroughly discussed, and the question of school building settled.

THE GOOD GRAY POET.

James Whitcomb Riley says, he can find no poetry in Walt Whitman's writings. Mr. Riley voices the sentiments of every sane man, and woman too, in America, save and except perhaps a few bean-fed fanatics of Boston, who pad out their mentalities with brown bread and Browning, and delight in literature blue-blooded to variety. Whitman wrote such villainous prose, that to make it printable, it had to be classed as poetry. His writings never arise above peevishness, except it be to fall over the summit into senility. He wades through the English language like a hog through a flower patch, and drives his half masticated mouthings through two hundred pages that could easily be placed on one, and ruin that. His, so called, poetry is devoid of sense or rhythm and is only forced into notoriety, by the binocular dilettanti of the hub, who go seeking after strange gods. They have found something in Whitman that even their four-eyed gaze cannot penetrate, and hence fall down and worship, like any other superstitious race, the thing they cannot understand.

THE EXPOSITION OPENED.

The world's fair was opened Monday, President Cleveland touching the button that started the machinery. It is estimated that fully 200,000 people witnessed the opening ceremonies. The intricacy of the electric machinery which started the lifeless engines into activity, can hardly be realized. As the button was pressed the mighty engines started, flags were unfurled from every building, hundreds of fountains shot their limpid waters 70 feet into the air, and the grand exposition taking the breath of life, blown into its nostrils leaped into active being.

Chicago distinguished itself as it was generally supposed it would, by doubling hotel and restaurant charges, the day the exposition opened. The American people will not stand and deliver at the behest of Chicago, and unless visitors to the fair can escape palpable jobbery in the shape of extortionate charges, the big goose that is to lay the golden egg for Chicago business people, will not materialize. Chicago has dealt in hogs so long, that her citizens have absorbed most of the gentle porcine instincts.

The Geary law went into effect yesterday, and it is safe to say that not one per cent of the Chinese have registered. The question is to be argued before the supreme court next Wednesday. Until some decision is reached nothing will be done towards deporting the Chinese. Six hundred and twelve arrived in Portland Tuesday from Victoria. Of course they all claimed to be merchants, but the examination of their certificates only permitted four to land out of 418 examined. Of this number 121 are held for further examination. 278 being rejected absolutely.

The Mississippi is on a rampage, and promises to do an immense amount of damage before it subsides. The Ohio is also rising rapidly, and all the streams of the northern Mississippi states are at unprecedented stages. In Ohio the cold weather and continuous rains have ruined the wheat crop. In Texas a cloud burst washed away 35 miles of railroad track.

It is not only possible but quite probable that by the 1st of August the round trip rate to Chicago from the Pacific coast will be as low as $50.00.

TWO OFFENCES.

Judge Bellinger, Tuesday had fourteen persons charged with selling liquor to Indians up for trial. All pleaded guilty, and were fined five dollars each. The judge stated that he would make this fine light because all of the persons had been in jail some time, but gave notice that should any of them be brought before him again, they would get the full penalty of the law. It is sincerely to be hoped that the farce of fining prisoners guilty of this offense $10, which was a particular hobby of the late Judge Deady's, will be discontinued. Either some punishment should be inflicted on the law ignored. As it has been under Deady's regime, prisoners that cost $300 to convict were fined $10. Another thing we would call his honor's attention to, is that nearly every man who sells liquor to an Indian, also violates the revenue laws in selling without a license, and there is no reason why the lower offense should be chosen in dealing out punishment.

"That the world's fair is an epitome of the progress of civilization was emphasized when Mrs. Potter Palmer, president of the board of lady managers, stepped out from among the throng of well-dress women gathered in the assembly-room of the woman's building, and bravely drove the last nail into that historic structure, the first of the kind ever built in connection with any international exposition."

Great is Potter Palmer! Great is Mrs. Potter Palmer! and passing great, the reporter who created the above item. It is startling news indeed, that Mrs. P. Palmer stepped out from a crowd of "well dressed" women, and affords all of us a feeling of relief to know that the wife of the president of the great exposition does not associate with poorly dressed ladies. And then to think of the bravery and fortitude the lady showed in driving a nail warm thrills of admiration at her heroism, play hide and seek up and down ones spinal column with cold chills of doubt, but if 'tis true, it would have well been worth the price of a tie pass, to see the well dressed heroine, belabor that nail, and vicinity, with a fac-simile of George Washington's hatchet.

Instructions have been issued by the treasury department to the U. S. marshals not to arrest Chinese who had not registered by May 5th, as required by the Geary law. The law is being tested on constitutional grounds in the supreme court, and will be argued the 10th. Until then the department will take no steps toward arresting and deporting those who have not registered. Should the law be declared constitutional most of the Chinese will be deported, as few have complied with the law.

Rate cutting has commenced on the overland lines, an $80 rate having been fixed by the Trunk line rate commission at New York, the 2nd making the round trip from New York to San Francisco $80. No notice has been received at Pacific coast points as to the reduction, at least as to when rates will go into effect.

The gold in the U. S. treasury is increasing slowly, but steadily, and it is thought the situation will continue to improve. The New York bankers, still hold aloof, but those in Chicago are ready to back the government at any time.

Late advices from Malacca, state that the cholera is raging there, and the steamer Peru, sailing from Japan April 19th reports the disease as having a good foothold there.

NEW FISH LAW.

After the 19th of this month it will be unlawful to "sell, or offer for sale, or have in possession for sale except during the months of September and October, any of the various kinds of trout." From April to November anyone can catch all he can with hook and line, and can give them away, but cannot sell except as above stated.

A revolution has broken out in Cuba that is causing the government great uneasiness. It is probable that before it is settled, there will be great loss of life, and possible that the hold of Spain on the island may be broken.

The election in Spokane, was an overwhelming victory for republicans, the majorities averaging 700.

Hon. L. L. McArthur is in Washington city, and is said to be a candidate for U. S. district attorney.

Latest reports from Hawaii are to the effect that Commissioner Blount is in favor of annexation.

The commissioners for locating the soldier's home have purchased 40 acres near Roseburg, and as soon as the plans have been selected will let the contract for erecting the building which will cost $8,000.00.

The floods in Ohio are doing damage, that will probably reach up to the millions. At Urbana the breaking of a dam flooded the country causing the loss of several lives and untold damage.

The state encampment of the Sons of Veterans met at Oregon city Tuesday.

Caused by Carelessness.

Sunday night Dr. Brosius was called to White Salmon on account of an accident to little May Walton, age about ten years. It seems that the workmen who were building the bridge across the White Salmon, on the Underwood road, left some giant powder caps lying on the rocks near the bridge which were found by the children of the neighborhood who went to the bridge Sunday afternoon. Eight of these caps were found and taken home by them. Little May Walton undertook to dig the fulminate out of the cap with a match, when it exploded, tearing the first joints off the thumb, index and middle fingers of the left hand, and badly lacerating the fingers of the right hand. Her right eye was injured, it is feared so badly that the sight will be destroyed.

Read This and Profit by It.

Ollinger and Bone, proprietors of the Big Red Barn, in addition to their livery and stage business, are handling grain, chop-feed and hay. They are also agents for the Knapp Burrell & Co. machinery. Bain wagons, hacks, buggies, windmills and pumps, Oliver, Chilled and Steel plows; garden cultivators, plows and harrows; and will sell their Mt. Hood coaches, hacks and buggies, now in use, in order to open in the spring with an entire new outfit. Call and price their goods.

"World's Fair Travelers Will Have It."

The public demand through service when traveling. It is old-fashioned to change cars. On the through solid vestibule trains of the Chicago, Union Pacific and Northwestern Line, from or to Chicago, Omaha and intermediate points, there is no change. This is the finest and fastest road.

Out of Sight.

The traveling public are now fully alive to the fact that the Chicago, Union Pacific and Northwestern line offers the very best accommodations to the public from and to Chicago, Omaha and intermediate points, not only during the world's fair, but all the year around.

CARE OF YOUNG COLTS.

This is the time of year when much loss occurs to the farmers in the loss of young foals. A Canadian horse-breeder of much experience says:
Carefully watch your colt for the first ten days, and see that its bowels act properly, as the first ten days are the most critical in a foal's existence. If you can get them over the first ten days they usually require very little attention if the mare is fed judiciously.
The mare should be fed seven or eight times a week before she is due to foal and some time after foal, such as boiled oats, bran, and linseed that has been boiled for twelve hours or longer, so as to loosen the system and provide a generous flow of milk. If from some cause the mare should not have sufficient milk the best substitute is cow's milk, one-fourth water and a tablespoonful of honey to a pint of milk.
Constiveness, diarrhoea, and inflammation are the principal ailments a young foal is subject to. The two first careful treatment will overcome; the last is, in most cases, fatal.
The following are well tried and the best remedies that have come under my notice: Constiveness—Retail injections of lukewarm water every half-hour, or syrup of rhubarb with a few drops linseed oil, dose, tablespoonful. Nothing acts more powerfully than injections, and the advantage is they do no harm.
Diarrhoea should not be stopped suddenly; tablespoonful brandy with teaspoonful of tincture of gentian and two tablespoonfuls lime water in a cupful linseed tea every three hours.
Inflammation—Apply blanket, thickly folded and wrung out in very hot water, to belly; rub the legs well; give teaspoonful laudanum in two ounces of water. Repeat dose in two hours if necessary.
