THE MIDWINTER EXPOSITION.

[Weekly Circular Letter-No. 9.]

PUBLISHED EVERY SATURDAY MORNING BY The semi-official opening of the Callfornia Midwinter International Exposition took place on the 1st of January, according to the original announcement. Owing to the delay caused in shipping foreign exhibits from Chicago, it was understood, of course, that everything would not be in readiness on that date, but the buildings were completed, a great many of the concessional features were in full operation, and the Exposition was practically started on the road Barber Shop to success.

The date when the opening ceremonies will take place has not yet been definitely fixed. It will probably be about the 15th or 20th of this month. It will depend largely upon the rapidity with which exhibits arrive and are installed. All the buildings are ready, and a great many exhibits are now being arranged, but it will be fully the middle of the month before every thing will be in readiness.

The event of the day, however, will be a luau, or native feast, to which the officials of the fair, the municipal officers, the press, and others will be invited. Guests will sit on mats and eat from a table a foot and a half from the ground. Roast pig and baked dog, cooked in ti leaves, broiled devil fish, and a large number of other Indian fish also cooked in leaves, native fruits and, of course, poi" with every course, will be some of the items of the menu. It will require about a week of prepartion to properly get up a luan, and cooks and provisions are to be specially imported from the Hawaiian Islands for this event, minutes notice in and he replied: "I'll do it. I shall be watchin out, and I think I can give yo' plenty of time to get

"There will be shooting of course?" "Oh, certainly. The boys would feel that they had slighted me if there wasn't a row." "What do the women folks do when the shooting begins?"

"Sit right down on the floor till it's all over. Don't be a bit oneasy. I'll give yo' plenty of warnin."

There was only one fiddler, and he was also the caller. His calls puzzled me at first, but no one else appeared to mind it as he drawled:

"Right and left on the head, and Bill Taylor don't want to drop that revolver on the floor! Balance four and half prom-enade, and Jim Henderson has a knife in his boot leg! Ladies change, and Luke Williams is aching to pick a furse with Tom Bebee! All balance to pardners, and when the shootin begins please remember that the fiddler never takes sides!"

We had been dancing about an hour, and everybody seemed to be thoroughly good natured and at peace with all mankind, when the farmer beckoned to me and whispered:

"I said I'd give yo' five minutes warnin, but I'm two minutes behind time! Break fer the barn!"

I broke, but was not over 30 feet from the door when the shooting began. It last-ed about five minutes, and I cautionaly returned to the house to hear the fiddler calling in the same old monotonous voice:

"Take partners for Virginia reel, and don't make such a furse over three men wounded! First lady and gent forward and back, and Bill Taylor has gone after a doc-tor! Forward again and sasha, and somebody attend to that gal in hysterics! Swing with the right-now with the left, and if this isn't the most successful dance of the season then you folks needn't pay me a cent."-Detroit Free Press.

"All right. Now, suppose a woman is in a big hall and she wants to get out."

"Without walking?" "No, she's willing to walk." "All right. Go on.

"Well, we'll say that there are a lot of other people in that hall who want to leave at the same time." "Yes."

"And they come trooping along behind this woman, several hundred strong, all making for the same door."

"Yes." "And the door is quite a narrow one." "Yes. Go on." "Well, what will the woman do when

At a meeting of the Portland Taxpayers' Committee of 100 the first step to-ward abolishing the Port of Portland Commission was taken. The commission was created several years ago by the Oregon Legislature, and was given power to create a twenty-five-foot channel from Portland to the sea. Bonds aggregating 500,000 were issued, and the Columbia and Willamette were improved so that a great portion of Oregon and Washington reaped the benefit of the improvements. The commission lately has been spending money in making a new channel at Snag Island in the Columbia at an outlay of a large sum, while it is claimed the old channel could be improved at a much less cost. There have been received by the chief of the Department of Publicity and Promotion a great many queries in regard to editorial courtesies which are to be extended during the Exposition. Some of the querists seem to fancy that the Exposition will, in some way, arrange for railway transportation for visiting editors. This, however, is not the case. The Exposition management has nothing to do with transportation, but every editorial visitor to San Francisco, upon presentation of credentials to the Department of Publicity and Promotion, will be provided with a pass to the Expositom during the term of his stay in San Francisco. Visiting editors may rest assured, therefore, that they will be taken care of in this regard, and that any other courtesy which it is possible for the Exposition management to ex-

Geologist Newell of the survey said in an interview: "It does not appear probable that even 10 per cent of the land now owned by the government can ever be irrigated. In fact, there is not a sufficient supply of water to bring under cultivation arid land equal to that which has passed into the hands of individuals and corporations. These are, however, localities where thousands of acres can be profitably irrigated by the construction of dams and irrigating canals."

Secretary Carlisle has received from Attorney-General Olney an opinion in which he holds that the Chinese exclusion act and prior acts regarding the Chinese permit Chinese laborers coming or going to countries other than the United States to pass in transit to the country of destination through the United States. This question was submitted to the Attorney-General some time ago by Secretary Carlisle, for the reason that it is alleged that a number of Chinamen while in transit stop off at points in this country and thereby gain admission in violation of the law. Many Chi-nese laborers, too, it is said, who land at San Francisco from China, destined for Cuba, return to this country by way of Key West, Fla, or by points on the Mexican border, holding certificates as 'merchants" fraudulently obtained. It was to stop these avenues that the Treasury Department consulted the Attorney-General, hoping that his opinion would be that the law could be so con-strued as to prevent Chinese laborers from passing through the United States. The Attorney-General has not been able to gratify the department by carrying stockholders
