When the Eyes Stink.

Inflammation of the conjunctiva or membrane, which shields the front of the eyeball from the air and takes the rub of the eyelids, is indicated by the glued state of the eyes in the morning, and more especially by their bloodshot condition, the vessels being bright red in color and winding about in great irregularity, with no discernible order or plan.—Hall's Journal of Health.

A Thankless Profession.

Widower—Doctor, your bill is something outrageous. Here you have just doctored my poor wife to death and now you bring in a bill like this.

Doctor—That's just what I expected, you fellows always kick. I don't believe that there's a bit of gratitude left in this world.

"SWEET SIXTEEN"—AN EXQUISITE CALENDAR.

Hood's calendar, which is always 1000 for with food and pleasure, has made its appearance for the year 1894, and is in many respects more beautiful than ever. The heart is that of a lovely girl just "sweet sixteen," lithographed in delicate and natural colors. Besides being a thing of beauty, the calendar is specially valuable for the general information presented. The figures are plainly printed in pleasing and harmonious colors, and the effect is a whole that is most satisfactory. The calendar can be obtained, or stamps for one or two, by sending six (6) cents in stamps for one and ten (10) cents for two to C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass. In addition to over eight millions of these calendars are printed or printed to supply the immense demand. This seems a simple statement, but its meaning is almost beyond human conception. The calendar used for the upper portion of this number of calendars would cover nearly fifty-two (52) acres of ground, and the lower portion, if printed on the paper, if cut in one continuous strip of the same width as the page, would be over eight thousand (8,000) miles long.

These calendars are issued by the proprietors of Hood's Sarsaparilla, the well-known medicine which has gained such renown by its wonderful cures in Scrofula, Rheumatism, Salt Rheum, and all the other diseases which are caused or aggravated by impure blood, such as scrofula, salt rheum, eczema, rheumatism, etc. As a preventive of disease, and a cure for the diseases mentioned, it is entirely unique, the business having grown from a small trade unit, to the present time the great industry in which it has a capacity for fifty thousand (50,000) bottles a day, and is the largest building in the world devoted to the manufacture of a medicine. The sales of Hood's Sarsaparilla in all sections of the country are enormous. The proprietors have never claimed that it cured every ailment, but they show by thousands of testimonials that Hood's Sarsaparilla purifies and cures those diseases caused by impure blood, and that it restores the vitality of the system after a stage of that dreaded malady and restores the eyes to their natural state.

The fact that a medicine is exercised in the preparation of this medicine and that nothing has ever been claimed for it except as warranted by previous cures has much to do with the confidence felt by the public in its curative powers. The motto of the proprietors is, "It is not what we say, but what Hood's Sarsaparilla does, that tells the story, and it is what Hood's Sarsaparilla has done, as shown by the published statements of persons whom it has cured, that has placed it at the head in the field of medicine in the present day."

SECURITY DEMANDED FOR MEALS.

Odd Ways That Lovers Have for Paying for Theater Suppers.

The restaurant was crowded. At the table on the younger man's right sat a tall, straight haired young man with glasses, and his companion was a girl of eighteen, who seemed to be in the last stages of consumption. She was hollow eyed and hollow cheeked, and she was pale faced; the writer supposed she had come for a glass of wine to give her strength to get home.

The young man's order was very simple. All he wanted was a cup of coffee and a roll. The young woman took the menu and read it over twice in a cool and deliberate way, and then ordered fried oysters, coffee, rolls, cake, and potatoes, cold turkey and four or five other things—a hearty meal for a laboring man.

"That's a queer thing," said the reporter to the manager, who had taken a seat beside him.

"Not a bit queer," he answered. "In fact, it is what might be expected. Out of my dozen couples who come in here after the theater for lunch at least ten of the females will eat twice as much as their escorts. They come to make a regular meal, and it's astonishing how much they can get away with. I honestly believe that most of them go without their 6 o'clock dinner in order to get up a good appetite at this time."

"Does a large woman eat more than a little one?"

"No, sir; the reverse is the case. Look over there at that third table at the right. There's a girl who doesn't weigh much over 100 pounds, and you can see what a spread she's ordered. There's food enough to make a longshoreman a good meal, and you can see how uneasy her young man is."

"Why?"

"Because he's got to be close figuring whether he's got enough cash to pay the bill. These young fellows you see in here are mostly salary men, working on from fifteen to twenty-five dollars per week. These lunch bills on top of their theater tickets and coupe bills sometimes pinch them very close. The girl doesn't know this, or if she does she doesn't care."

"Then it sometimes happens that the young man can't square up with your cashier?"

"It happens every night. I expect the cashier could show us two or three watches and a dozen pins and rings waiting to be redeemed. But that's private, you know."

"Then you don't raise a row if the young man can't pay?"

"Far from it. There's a case at the desk now."

A Terrible Thing in a Battle.

The house committee on naval affairs for some days has had under consideration a bill providing for the addition to the navy of a novel craft.

The feature of the design is found in an enormous submarine gun carried at the bow below the water line. The projectors feel that they have now a practicable means to lead to drive an enormous shell loaded with an explosive charge of gunpowder or gun cotton into the hull of any ironclad afloat and explode it in the very vitals of the ship.

According to the design submitted to the committee and explained by General Berdan, a hydraulic buffer projects from the bow of the vessel. This is so adjusted that it will stop the boat a distance of eight feet from the enemy's ship without injury to the boat. At this short range the buffer automatically discharges the submarine gun directly at the hull of the ship, and lodges within it a shell carrying a sufficient charge of 450 pounds of powder, bursting to blow down every bottom in the ship and wreck the bottom.—Cincinnati Commercial Gazette.

Glads to Get Rid of Him.

A few days ago Governor Buchanan was called upon to exercise executive clemency in a very peculiar case. The person concerned was a man held in jail at Jackson till he should produce a $300 fine. He had been there over a year without having any signs of liquidating with the commonwealth, and it is probable he would have remained a prisoner for the next fifty years if payment had been waited for. The county court, recognizing him as an incubus to the amount of forty cents a day, passed a resolution asking the governor "for the Lord's sake" to forgive that little $300 and let the man get out and earn his own living. The trial judge and the attorney general and the members of the jury all appeared on the petition sent up in accordance with the resolution, but not a single friend of the prisoner was among the signers.—Nashville American.

Made Her Left Handed by a Blow.

Three years ago a young lady of Fall River, Mass., was hit upon the left side of her head by a falling sign as she was walking along a street in Boston. This was followed by brain fever. After some weeks she was as well in mind and body as ever, but from a right handed person she had become so left handed that she could neither cut, sew nor write with her right hand, but found it easy to do all these things with her left. Her right hand was just about as useful as her left had been before she was hurt. What is strange is that, with so recent a change in the use of her hands, she never makes an awkward motion and is as graceful in the use of her left hand as if she had been born left handed.—Boston Post.

A Greedy Mountain Lion's Fate.

Dr. French, a seventy-year-old resident of Alamo, killed a mountain lion one day last week at the Tule ranch in the pineries. The lion had crawled into a pigpen through a small hole, and after feasting on two shots was too big to get out through the hole. Thus he was an easy prey to the doctor, who gave him a hypodermic injection of birdshot in order to see him in person. He performed to the entire satisfaction of his tormentor. The doctor administered a 44-caliber pill, which put him to sleep. The animal had immense claws, and measured six feet from tip to tip.—San Diego Sun.

A Great Famine Predicted.

A prophet in Athens, Ga., predicts that the crop yield this year throughout this country will be the largest ever known, but that beginning with 1893, and for two years thereafter, there will be the greatest famine the world has ever known. During that time rain shall cease to fall, and the streams of the country will all dry up, vegetation will no longer exist, and all animals will surely die. At the beginning of the famine the land will be infested with all sorts of vermin, and the living will suffer untold tortures.

An Australian Agricultural Paper

makes note of an immense increase in the number of sheep in Australia in the last two or three years, and of the enormous development of the grazing capabilities of the country. The estimated number of sheep in Australia in 1892 is 60,000,000, against 31,000,000 in 1884.

The number of monarchies in Europe was increased by one during the past year, the duchy of Luxembourg having become a sovereign state by the death of the queen of Holland.

A gold brick was recently shipped to San Francisco from Yuma, Cal., the value of which was estimated at between $50,000 and $90,000. It weighed a little over 340 pounds.

Fireproof Materials.

At the Berlin exhibition of means and contrivances for the prevention of accidents in industries and otherwise, prizes were awarded for the following processes for fireproofing, respectively diminishing the combustibility of tissues, curtain materials and theatrical scenery: For light tissues, sixteen pounds ammonium sulphate, five pounds ammonium carbonate, four pounds borax, six pounds boric acid, four pounds starch, or one pound dextrine, or one pound gelatine, and twenty-five gallons water, mixed together, heated to 80 degs. Fahrenheit, and the material impregnated with the mixture, centrifugated and dried, and then ironed as usual. One quart of the mixture, costing to impregnate three or four yards of material.

For curtain materials, theatrical decorations, wood and furniture are mixed with so much floated chalk as to give the mass consistency. It is then heated to 125 to 150 degs. Fahrenheit, and the material given one or two coats of it by means of a brush. A pound of it, consisting about eight-tenths of a cent, is sufficient to cover five square rods.—Berlin Letter.

No Debt.

It is not merely pain that people dread in sickness. Many a man will bear the pain unflinchingly who utterly breaks down in view of the heavy expense involved, often increased by his being incapacitated for work and thus deprived of his income.

To such persons ALL-LOCK'S PLEASANT are an unbreakable boon. They are within the reach of every one. They are genuine, too. Notwithstanding the innumerable counterfeits and imitations it is always easy for anybody to make sure of getting the real thing at a low price.

Any one suffering from weakness of the chest, throat, stomach, kidneys, liver or from lame back will find them a cheap and sure remedy.

BRANDRETT'S PILLS are a good corrective.

"WHERE DIRT GATHERS, THERE ARE GREAT SAVING RESULTS FROM THE USE OF SAFOLIO"

WHEN WAR IS DECLARED

Against a man's happiness by his stomach, the enemy may be pacified and brought speedily and easily to terms. That potent regulator of digestion, Hottel's Stomach Bitters, disciplines the rebellious organ thoroughly. Indigestion arises from weakness of the stomach, and the food in it, for want of the power to digest, decomposes and acidifies, giving rise to heartburn, flatulence and pain, besides a multitude of symptoms both changed and unperplexing. But peace soon reigns when the great stomachic is resorted to and used with persistence. Dyspepsia gives rise to morbid decomposition of mind, and even sleeplessness and hypochondria in chronic cases. To the complete dismissal of these Bitters is fully adequate. Liver complaint, constipation, debility, rheumatism and malaria are completely subdued by this genial medicine.
