Bold, Bad Burglars.
Hood River was visited by a gang of burglars Monday night, and the store of A. S. Blowers & Co. received their attention. A few minutes after 1 o'clock Tuesday morning, Dr. Brosius was awakened by the ringing of the night bell at his drug store. Going to the window and calling, he was unable to get any answer. At the same time he saw a light in Blowers' store, just across the street, and immediately suspected that something was going on there that the owners were not informed of. He roused his brother-in-law, Ed Williams, and closing an inner door so that all light was shut off, they watched out of the bedroom window. In the meanwhile the light in the store had been put out, but when the light in Dr. Brosius' house was shut off, the burglars, evidently thinking he had gone back to bed, again lit up. Then the doctor, leaving Ed to watch, went down through the back yard, climbing over four fences, and called Constable Olinger. They then got Will Yates, one of the firm whom the robbers were patronizing, and also Mr. Ridley. Olinger got a gun from the night operator, and Yates was armed with a shot gun. Coming up Third street, they found the burglars had gotten outside and were under the big oak at the corner of Oak and Third streets. The burglars, all but one, fled up Oak street, but this one had one shoe off and was captured before he could get ready to run. Leaving Yates to hold him, Olinger gave chase to the others, who ran up Oak to Fourth, where Hartley's dogs joined in the chase, but the night being very dark, Olinger was unable to get a glimpse of them. In their flight they dropped a sack of plunder containing seven pairs of pants and a selection of underclothes, shirts, socks, gloves, twenty packages of smoking and about five pounds of plug tobacco. Henry York heard the noise and got out about this time, and leaving him to guard the prisoner at Olinger & Bone's barn, the others made a round of the town and took in the freight trains, but without result. A search of the prisoner brought to light a dozen or more silk handkerchiefs, a collection of pipes and an assortment of skeleton keys. As it was, the burglars got away with over a hundred dollars worth of goods, consisting in part of about a gross of pocket knives, thirty razors, a lot of scissors, four pairs of shoes (all number 7s), and a box of condemned cigars, which Capt. Blowers says "will cause their arrest if they smoke them." The gang had evidently sized up the town, as they tackled the only store in which there is no one sleeping at night. Besides, they opened a window at the factory by the turning lathe and secured a large chisel with which they pried open the doors of the store building. The chisel was found in the morning near Hartley's, where the fellows had fired it at Hartley's dogs. The prisoner was taken to The Dalles, Tuesday, by Constable Olinger, had a preliminary examination before Justice Shultz and was held to await the action of the grand jury.

A Coxey Battle.
The Coxeyites are having a serious time at North Yakima. Wednesday a train was captured by them, and on their refusal to get off, Deputy Marshal Chidester undertook, with the aid of thirteen deputies, to put them off. Being outnumbered, Chidester sent for more deputies, and being reinforced, again undertook to put them off. A row ensued, the Coxeyites attacking a deputy, who was trying to pull one of their number away from a brake. The other deputies came to his aid and twenty shots were fired. Three of the mob were wounded by pistol shots and another had his fingers broken with a club. Two deputies, Chidester and Jolly, were shot, the former through the leg, the latter in the stomach. The Coxeyites numbered 200 and kept possession of the train.

A Republican Orator.
Hon. Roswell G. Horr, ex-congressman from Michigan, and at present chief assistant editor of the New York Tribune, will address the citizens of Wasco County on political questions, at The Dalles Friday, May 25th.

A Million Friends.
A friend in need is a friend indeed, and not less than one million people have found just such a friend in Dr. King's new discovery for consumption, coughs and colds. If you have never used this great cough medicine, one trial will convince you that it has wonderful curative powers in all diseases of throat, chest and lungs. Each bottle is guaranteed to do all that is claimed or money will be refunded. Trial bottles free. Large bottles 50 cents and $1.00 at Hood River Pharmacy.

Literary.
EDITOR GLACIER:
The young folks at the Pine Grove school house have organized a literary club on a new plan. It will be known as the Columbian Educational Club. Each member pays 25 cents at joining and a regular quarterly fee of 15 cents. The proceeds are devoted to the purchase of books. About thirty-five bound volumes, by the best authors, are now in their library and more will be added from time to time.
Debates and literary exercises are the order of the meetings, and none will have an excuse for growing up in ignorance and superstition. The society is composed of nearly thirty members and will meet every two weeks throughout the summer and weekly during the winter.
The question for debate at the next meeting is, "Resolved, That Coxey is a greater man than Grover Cleveland." For once we regret that our doors are closed to all except members, so that those who "hanker for crows" could be present; but we promise to discuss the matter with deliberation, and the verdict will be given to the world in due time.
As a further project for enlarging our library, a basket social will be given Friday eve, May 25th. The ladies will be present with handsome baskets filled with sumptuous lunches, and they (the baskets) will be auctioned to the highest bidder. Lemonade will be there and such literary exercises as will tend to make the evening enjoyable to all who care to come. MEMBER.

Farewell.
We, the members of the Riverside Congregational church, in view of the fact that our pastor, the Rev. Henry F. Gilt, has tendered his resignation with the expressed conviction that it is the course of duty for him and with the hope of our acceptance thereof. Therefore be it

Resolved, That we accept the resignation which severs our relations as pastor and people, though with feelings of heartfelt sadness; while we recognize that for nearly two years of faithful service rendered to this church and people he has been tireless in his efforts to teach us true Christianity and brotherly love; and we feel in accepting his resignation we are bereft of an exceptional leader, approved by God for pastoral instruction and personal friend.
Resolved, That with his family we part most reluctantly, assuring them of our sincere confidence and affection. With the departure of Mrs. Gilt we suffer a loss well nigh irreparable; ever to the front in all good words and works.
Resolved, That in parting with the Rev. Henry F. Gilt and family our kind wishes will ever attend them, and that we hereby recommend them to the church to which they have been called as those worthy of their highest confidence and esteem.
The above resolutions were unanimously adopted by the church.

WATSON, ERWIN & CO.
Dear Sirs:—I have used your Acme Insecticide Compound, and have found it to be the most effective and cheapest remedy for destroying all kinds of pests to which plants and trees are subject. Can recommend it as a first-class article.
Yours Truly,
J. SEULBERGER.

In the year 1893 I used over a ton of Acme Insecticide for the black and brown scale, and this season, I am spraying every tree I have in my orchard. My experience is that the Acme is the best wash that was ever put on the market, as it can be used at any time of the year without injury to the buds or foliage.

COMING BACK.
They say if our beloved dead Should see the old familiar place, Some stranger would be there indeed, And they would find no welcome there.
I cannot tell how it might be In other homes, but this I know— Could my lost darling come to me That she would never find it so.
Ofttimes the flowers have come and gone, Ofttimes the winter winds have blown, Then, while the peaceful rest went on, Then I have learned to live alone.
Have slowly learned from day to day In all life's tasks to bear my part, But whether grave or whether gay, I hide her memory in my heart.
Fond, faithful love has blessed my way And friends are round me, true and tried, They have their places, but hers today Is empty as the day she died.
How would I spring with bated breath, And joy too deep for word or sign, To take my darling home from death, And once again to call her mine!
I dare not dream the blessed dream: It fills my heart with wild unrest; Where yonder cold, white marble gleam She still must slumber—God knows best.
—Sant Juno News Letter.

Where "Vanitie Fair" Was Written.
In 1847 Thackeray went to live in Young street, and once pointing out the boy windowed cottage to an inquiring friend is said to have remarked, "Go down on your knees, you rogue, for here 'Vanitie Fair' was penned, and I will go down with you, for I have a high opinion of that little production myself." Here he also wrote "Esmond," and one of the houses close by in Kensington square has been chosen as the home of Lady Castlewood and Beatrice.

In 1862 Thackeray removed from Onslow square, where "The Newcomes" and "The Virginians" had been composed, to the house he had built himself in Palace green, still remaining in the old court suburb, with its leafy trees and gardens, to which he was so much attached. Here it was that the completion of "Denis Duval" was out short by his lamented death in the following year.—Chambers' Journal.

Early Exercise For Growing Boys.
I have noticed a tendency to permit children to sit up much later than is good for them; the natural result being a too prevalent fondness for the bed in the morning. If a boy wants to keep himself in prime condition, to grow up strong and vigorous, let him get up in the morning long enough before breakfast to have first 10 minutes of brisk work with a pair of light wooden dumbbells, then his cold bath, and afterward a sharp walk of 15 minutes. Any boy who will follow this plan will discover before many weeks that he is easily superior to his classmates in almost any athletic work he undertakes, while headaches and other ills too common to growing lads will be unknown to him.—Harper's Bazar.

A Careless Shot.
A gun loaded with shot was fired into the carriage of a newly married couple who were returning from church in Cornwell. The shots passed close to the faces of the occupants, and entered the back of the driver. The gun was fired as a sign of rejoicing.—London Tit-Bits.

A Comparison.
Samuel Beazley, the architect, not long before his death wrote so melancholy a letter to a friend that the latter declared, "It was like the first chapter of Jeremiah." "You are mistaken, my dear fellow," retorted Beazley. "It is the last chapter of Samuel."—Exchange.

The Kalnuucks Freed.
The Kalnuucks of Astrakhan, a roving people numbering about 150,000, have at last been freed from serfdom. When the other Russian serfs were freed in 1861, it was considered dangerous to extend the privilege to these people owing to their wildness.—Exchange.

A Fair Warning.
Cook (on the day after her arrival)—Please, mum, I'm a bit fiery at times, and when I'm fiery I'm apt to be a bit roughspoken, but you needn't let that put you about. With a little present you can allus bring me 'round again.—Exchange.

There is no royal road to success any more than there is a royal road to learning. But any intelligent young man who is honest, ambitious, observant, hardworking, patient and healthy is pretty certain to make his mark in business.—Exchange.

A tree which furnishes a most valuable product for the use of man, the camphor tree is found in Japan on the slopes of mountains, and like the cinchona, exhibits much hardihood and ability to adapt itself to climatic conditions.

The method of reasoning pursued by some children may be simple enough, but the results are often disastrous. A book of reminiscences by the teacher of the infant class would undoubtedly prove fatal.

In Ceylon experiments have shown that it is more economical to dry tea leaves by electricity than by the old method, and extensive plants have been erected for that purpose.

Some one says women live longer than men. This is undoubtedly so. We know a charming young actress who was on the stage 40 years ago, and she is only 32 now.

A FRIEND
Speaks through the Boothby (Ma.) Register, of the beneficial results he has received from a regular use of Ayer's Pills. He says: "I was feeling sick and tired and my stomach seemed all out of order. I tried a number of remedies, but none seemed to give me relief until I was induced to try the old reliable Ayer's Pills. I have taken only one box, but I feel like a new man. I think they are the most pleasant and easy to take of anything I ever used, being so fine sugar-coated that even a child will take them. I urge upon all who are in need of a laxative to try Ayer's Pills. They will do good." For all diseases of the Stomach, Liver, and Bowels, take

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.
[Timber Land, Act June 3, 1878.]
United States Land Office, The Dalles, Oregon, March 23, 1894.
Notice is hereby given that in compliance with the provisions of the act of Congress of June 3, 1878, entitled "An act for the sale of timberlands in the States of California, Oregon, Nevada and Washington Territory," James M. Wong, of Hood River, county of Wasco, state of Oregon, has this day filed in this office his sworn statement No. —, for the purchase of lots two, three, four and nine, of section thirty, in township No. one north, range No. nine east, W. M., and will offer proof to show that the land sought is more valuable for its timber and stone than for agricultural purposes, and to establish his claim to said land before the Register and Receiver of this office at The Dalles, Oregon, on Monday, the 11th day of June, 1894.

He names as witnesses: Herbert Ellsworth, Marion Loy, George C. Jones Jr and John Divers, all of Hood River, Oregon.
Any and all persons claiming adversely the above-described lands are requested to file their claims in this office on or before said 11th day of June, 1894.
