Our Wealth in Fertilizer.

Mr. S. B. Crockett, a former resident of Hood River, but now of Kent, Washington, writes as follows in a private letter:

"Our fruit is not very plentiful but of good quality. My little French prunes are the finest I ever saw anywhere, and I believe it is owing to the volcanic elements in the soil here which came along with the glacial flow from the mountains and enriched the country far and wide. As for volcanic soil, I think Hood River is much better off than this part of the world. Few people at Hood River are aware of the fact that there is an inexhaustible supply of fertilizer which can be prepared and delivered on the ground very cheaply, and that is decomposed volcanic rock. It shows in unlimited quantities in the ditch that comes from Ditch creek and could be crushed and pulverized by water power in the winter time and sent down in wooden flumes to the upper settlements, and from there distributed to the lands in flumes or pipes, or even wagons, and with irrigation the land would be made very productive."

Tame Grouse.

Sunday we had the pleasure of visiting Mr. F. R. Absten's place, four miles below town. There is much to be seen and learned in a visit to this fruit farm, but not the least is his flock of tame grouse that feed in his orchards by day and at night seek the shelter of the large fir trees near his house. An old grouse he has named "Coot" comes to the farm every spring with a brood of young, which are fed by the children and become so tame that they will perch on their shoulders and feed from their hands. They will walk into the house and make themselves at home as much as the domestic chickens raised on the place. This year the old grouse has six young, which are now larger than the mother. As they strut along on the green grass under the apple trees they look like turkeys. This shows that the grouse under favorable conditions may grow larger than the ordinary size.

From Belmont.

Saturday last Mrs. Annie Rich gave a delightful afternoon tea in honor of Miss Edith Potter. Croquet was played until time for tea, when all repaired to the spacious dining room, where delicious refreshments were served. Those present were: Edith Potter, Lottie Hodgson, Theresa Morse, Laura Wilson, Maggie Frasier, Lollie Templeton, Pearl Templeton, Lillie Templeton, Josie Hansbury, Emma Shepard, Miss Baldwin, Mrs. William Woodworth, Gerge Rich, M. Isenberg and several other gentlemen.

Tuesday evening, August 28th, Mrs. M. B. Potter gave a farewell party to Miss Lottie Hodgson and brother, who anticipate going to Ritzville, Wash. The grounds surrounding the Potter mansion were illuminated, and the ladies, with their pretty summer dresses, presented a pleasing picture as they indulged in games on the lawn. An organ was placed under a beautiful spreading oak, and here the young people passed the time away singing until refreshments were served. At a late hour "Good night" was said. Those present were: Rev. T. G. Hodgson, Lottie Hodgson, Thomas Hodgson, Emma Harn, Jessie Ingalls, Edith Potter, Josie Hansbury, Pearl Templeton, Lollie Templeton, Lillie Templeton, Laura Wilson, Maggie Frasier, Bess Isenberg, Emma Shepard, Mrs. William Woodworth, Mr. Nealeigh, H. Gallagan, M. Isenberg, George Wilson, George Rich, Ralph Savage, Chas. Miller, C. McFarland, E. McFarland and Laura McFarland.

Fire at Miller Bros.' Place.

Thursday of last week fire caught in the shavings, sawdust and driftwood washed up on the river bottom to the north of Frank Miller's house, on the Joe Morton ranch. Mr. Miller was at work in the field at the time, and seeing the smoke, at first thought his house was burning. He called for help and Mr. Davenport sent him four men from the planer near by. By digging and raking the dry rubbish for a space of about ten feet around the burning driftwood they managed to check the spread of the fire and save the buildings on the place, which would undoubtedly have burned if help had not arrived. The fire burned over several acres of driftwood. Mr. Miller thinks the fire might have started from a shot from some hunter's gun.

Cascade Locks.

Friday of last week a brake on the freight train of the portage road became unmanageable and the train ran down the grade at a rapid rate, scattering freight and wood and making things lively till the cars ran off the track and came to a stop. No one hurt.

George Conlon, a boy 14 years old, accidentally shot himself through the hand Friday. He was sent to a Portland hospital and his hand was taken off at the wrist.

Burglary.

About fifteen razors were taken, among them the private razors of T. C. Dallas, Joe Delk and George Prather. The burglar left only three razors and one pair of neck clippers in the shop. Among the razors left was one belonging to Dr. Watt, who thinks the burglar must have been his friend.

Eminent Visitors.

Newton B. Pierce, special agent of the department of agriculture, division of vegetable pathology, accompanied by Emil Schanno and Secretary Sargent of the state board of horticulture, and Mr. Burpee of Portland, came up from Portland Tuesday evening. They were the guests while here of W. J. Baker, who showed them the valley. Mr. Pierce is stationed at Santa Anna, California, and has been in this state three or four weeks, working his way slowly from Ashland and examining orchards at various points. He is the only United States agent in his line on the coast and has been here five years. He has been following the study of plant diseases, insect pests and kindred subjects for twenty years. He was much pleased with our little valley and said our apple orchards are a wonder, that he never saw finer apples growing on trees, and thought this the natural home for this fruit. He recommends planting the English walnut here, and says it is raised extensively at Santa Anna and is the most profitable industry in that part of the country. Mr. Pierce left Thursday, with Mr. Schanno, for The Dalles.

Mr. Sargent was here with a view of purchasing land for an apple orchard. After visiting every section of the state and every orchard in it worthy of note, he has decided to locate in Hood River.

"For Years,"

Says CARRIE E. STOCKWELL, of Chesterville, N. H.: "I was afflicted with an extremely severe pain in the lower part of the chest. The feeling was as if a ton weight was laid on a spot the size of my hand. During the attacks, the perspiration would stand in drops on my face, and it was agony for me to make sufficient effort even to whisper. They came suddenly, at any hour of the day or night, lasting from thirty minutes to half a day, leaving as suddenly; but, for several days after, I was quite prostrated and sore. Sometimes the attacks were almost daily, then less frequent. After about four years of this suffering, I was taken down with bilious typhoid fever, and when I began to recover, I had the worst attack of my old trouble I ever experienced. At the first of the fever, my mother gave me Ayer's Pills, my doctor recommending them as being better than anything he could prepare. I continued taking these Pills, and so great was the benefit derived that during nearly thirty years I have had but one attack of my former trouble, which yielded readily to the same remedy."
