SOCIETIES.

Canby Post, No. 10, G. A. R., meets at Odd Fellow's Hall, first Saturday of each month at 2 o'clock P. M. All G. A. R. members invited to attend. C. J. HAYES, Adjutant.

BRIEF LOCAL MATTERS.

T. C. Dallas has apple-box nails. Tin cans and wax strings at Dallas's. G. H. Palmer is building a neat wood house. C. E. Markham has four-weeks old pigs for sale. S. E. Bartness is agent for the Bridal Veil Lumber Company.

Get your horse and mule jewelry at Pierce's new harness shop. I on Morse is authorized agent for all newspapers and periodicals. Dr. G. E. Sanders at the Mt. Hood hotel October 17th and 18th.

Frank G. Miller has leased the Joe Morton ranch for another year. When in need of hay, flour, feed and grain, inquire at the Racket Store.

Agent for all leading magazines and newspapers. M. H. NICKELSEN. The Pacific Farmer says Dr. Cardwell will realize nearly four cents a pound net for an Eastern shipment of Hungarian prunes.

Thursday next, the U. B. conference meets at Hood River, when there will be ministers and others from all parts of the state in attendance. Mr. E. Locke is building a first-class fruit house, something that will keep his apples till spring, when they always sell for a good price.

It might be well for parties who require the services of Dr. Sanders to make arrangements beforehand, as his time is pretty well occupied. Dr. Morgan has bought the Coe house, that Rev. J. L. Hershner had just moved into, and he will be obliged to tear up and move again.

When you want any fruit boxes go to the Hood River Box Factory. They also keep all kinds of rough and dressed lumber. Grain rolled any day.

The gang of men replacing the rails on the railroad had got below Locke's place Thursday, and are laying the track at about the rate of one mile a day.

A stimulant is often needed to nourish and strengthen the roots and to keep the hair a natural color. Hall's Hair Renewer is the best tonic for the hair.

If you wish to fence your farm or door yard, go to the Hood River Box factory and see their samples. They are agents for the East Portland Fence Works.

Divine service will be conducted at the Congregational church next Sunday at 11 a. m. Dr. T. L. Elliot will preach at this service if his health will permit.

Lottie, the eight-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Frizzell, died at Cascade Locks Sunday, after a brief illness. Mrs. Frizzell is a sister of D. L. Cates.

A. B. Billings, stepfather of W. S. Gribble of Mt. Hood, has taken a claim south of Arthur Disbrow, and his family from Mackburg, Oregon, this week to his claim.

Rev. A. Bronaest will look after the building of a Catholic church in Cascade Locks. He has two lots there, one of which cost him $100, and the other was donated.

W. R. Winans killed four bears near his place, at the forks of Hood river, Monday of last week. This was pretty good for one day, and it wasn't a good day either for bears.

Saturday and Monday of each week will be our grinding days during the fall and winter. Our "Whole Wheat Graham" is for sale at the stores as usual. HARRISON BROS.

J. N. Rankin returned Wednesday night from Portland, where he purchased a ferry boat, to run by gasoline, which will arrive here in a few days and be in operation between Hood River and White Salmon.

W. H. Hastings, wanted in The Dalles, charged with obtaining money under false pretenses, was arrested on the afternoon train Monday by Constable Olinger, and taken by him that night to The Dalles and landed in jail.

H. F. Davidson has again heard from the carload of fruit he shipped to St. Louis. It seems the car was broken into before its arrival and some of the fruit taken, and the commission house that received it is trying to collect from the railroad company, with a fair prospect of doing so. Mr. Davidson thinks now the shippers will realize more than they at first expected.

The past year the American farmers lost on an average $5 per acre on every acre of wheat produced. "What fools these farmers be!" But what shall be said of the fruit grower who spends time and money cultivating vacancies in his orchard? Count up your dead trees and vacancies and leave your order with H. C. Bateham. He makes a specialty of refilling old orchards.

A lady in this valley received three sacks of carpet rags in balls, for weaving. She opened two of the sacks and didn't find the chain that should have accompanied them. After waiting for a couple of months for the chain to come, she came to town to make inquiries about it, and was told that it was sent in the sacks. She went home and found it in the third sack, which had remained unopened.

Mr. M. Willis and the parties who went with him to the hop fields of Yakima returned home Monday. They had pleasant weather on the way, but the nights were cool, and in some places frost and ice were encountered. The party, men, women and children, averaged a dollar a day while at work. They saw a good deal of new homey had a pleasant outing, and came home with more money than they started with. Luther Miller, Joe Frazier, Dick Galligan and Frank Evans were among the young men who staid with Mr. Willis to the end and returned with him.

The Dalles had quite a scare Sunday. The roof of the Cosmopolitan hotel was discovered to be on fire, caused by sparks from a passing locomotive. The fire company attached its hose to a water plug near at hand, when it was found the water would not reach the place. The firemen climbed to the roof of the building and put out the fire. Great alarm was felt for awhile, as the wind was from the east, and if the building had burned, the whole city would have been exposed to the fury of the flames.

The west bound passenger train was ditches four miles east of The Dalles Thursday morning. Engineer Morgan was slightly cut on the head and back; Fireman Crofton had one of his ribs broken, and a tramp, who was riding on the blind baggage, suffered a broken arm and dislocated shoulder.

The revival services at the U. B. church are constantly growing in interest and attendance. Rev. Snyder expounds the word of Truth. There will be services Sunday morning at 11 o'clock, also at 3 o'clock, and in the evening at 7 30 o'clock.

Miss Dahl, representing Mrs. M. Le Ballister of The Dalles, will be in Hood River Saturday, October 20th, at Rand & Dent's store, with a nice line of millinery.

The A. O. U. W. will celebrate their thirteenth anniversary on the 8d of November. C. K. Stevens, P. M., who instituted the lodge, will be present.

For sale or trade: One team well bred, 1050, mares, for sale or trade for cordwood. Apply to SAM G. CAMPBELL.

W. P. Watson brought some of his big pears and corn and carrots to the GLACIER office, where they are on exhibition. D. F. Pierce has commenced the building of a residence on his lots on the west half of the Baker block.

S. E. Bartness is making up another car load of lumber. Get your orders in by Tuesday.

A. S. Blowers & Co. Wish to announce to the people of Hood River valley that hereafter their business will be conducted on a cash basis. This change has been decided upon after careful consideration, and we know that we can make it profitable to customers to pay cash and pay for just what they get, and not be compelled to pay a percentage on the poor accounts that every merchant who does business on the credit system loses every year.

We quote the following low prices on a few articles: Flour, 55c per sack; d.g. sugar, 14 lbs $1; kerosene oil, 20c per gal; wheat hay, $10 per ton; men's plow shoes, good, $1.50 per pair; ladies' shoes, $1.25; Boss of the Road overalls, 60c per pair. Other goods at equally low prices for cash or its equivalent.

Hanna & Wolfard Will hereafter sell for cash or produce only. They sell flour at 65c per sack; rolled wheat $15 per ton; No. 1 wheat 40c bushel; No. 2 wheat 35c bush; wheat hay, $10 per ton; clover hay $14 per ton; d. g. sugar, 7c per pound; coal oil, 20c per gal; roast coffee, 25c per lb; green coffee, 25c per pound; rice, 7c per pound; pickles, $1 per 5-gal. keg. They will take produce in exchange for goods and will meet the prices of any house in town.

Seed Wheat. There will be blue-stem seed wheat for sale at Blowers' store next week.

Ladies' Missionary Society. The ladies' missionary society of the Congregational church will give an open meeting on next Sunday evening at 7:30. The subject will be "Home Missions" in Oregon. Among the entertaining features of the meeting will be papers by Mrs. J. H. Dukes and Mrs. J. L. Hershner. Two chants by the choir. Recitations by Miss Aggie Dukes and Miss Fay LaFrance. Recitation, "Our Wonderful House," by seven children. Recitation, "The Lost Chord," by Miss Agnes Dukes, with organ accompaniment. Duet, "The Prayer of the Wanderer," by Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Armor. Dr. Brosius will favor the meeting with a vocal solo, and the Sunday school children will lead in a musical selection. The ladies of the church extend a cordial invitation to the public to attend.

Pleaded Guilty. In Justice Soesbe's court, Monday, in the suit of the state against the Oregon Lumber company, charged with dumping sawdust and shavings into the Columbia river, defendants pleaded guilty and were fined $100 and costs. This is the lowest fine under the law. In imposing it, instructions were given by the court that the offense could not be repeated for the same price. We give below the section from the General Laws of Oregon relating to the offense charged in this case:

Section 8. It shall not be lawful for the proprietor of any saw mill in this state or any employe therein, or any other person, to cast sawdust, planer shavings or other lumber waste made by any lumbering manufacturing concern, or suffer or permit such sawdust, shavings or other lumber waste to be thrown or discharged in any manner into the waters of this state, or the Columbia river, or to deposit the same where high water will take the same into any of the waters of this state, or the Columbia river; and any person or persons violating any of the provisions of this section shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be fined in a sum not less than one hundred dollars nor more than two hundred and fifty dollars.

To Whom It May Concern: The above petition will be presented to the County Court of Wasco county, state of Oregon, for its action thereon, at the next regular term of said court, on Wednesday, the 7th day of November, 1894.

Handy to have an Uncle. How a Young Man Got Himself Out of a Disagreeable Scrap. A young man employed at the courthouse found himself in an embarrassing position the other night, says the Cincinnati Times-Star. He had an engagement to take a couple of young ladies to one of the suburban resorts, and in donning his best suit forgot his pocketbook, which peacefully reposed in his every-day clothes. When he boarded a street car and the conductor demanded fare he became painfully aware of his unpleasant situation. He managed to find a dime and a street car ticket in his clothes and this afforded temporary relief. But the young ladies were new acquaintances and he could not well explain the situation and secure a temporary loan. Besides young ladies hardly ever carry pocket-books for such emergencies. And he in vain looked around for a friend who would accommodate him. When the post office was reached a novel idea struck him. "We'll take another car here," he said. "I promised to mail two important letters for my sister, and she'll never forgive me if I neglect the matter." So he got off the car and the young man dashed into the post office and on to the nearest pawnshop. He carried a gold watch and soon had a loan on it, borrowing a cheaper watch to wear until he redeemed his own timepiece. Then he hurried back, and as the young ladies were patiently waiting he did not tell them about any trouble to get stamps. The young ladies thanked him for a very pleasant evening on their return, but they will not know everything until they read this. The watch was, of course, redeemed the next day.

Too Fat to Walk. Sitting as a profess'n would seem a novelty, but that is a profession followed by a man in Indianapolis. His name is Harry Jer'gs. He weighs three hundred and fifty pounds and his good nature is in proportion to his superabundance of flesh. So fat is he, says the Indianapolis Sentinel, that walking is almost out of the question, but he manages to go from place to place where he serves as his profession. He has several customers. They are men who conduct offices, but who employ no clerks, and in order to keep their offices open while they go to lunch or other meals, employ Jennings to occupy a chair and attend to business which may "drop in" during their absence. One of these offices has a telephone, and Jennings takes a seat at the telephone where he will not have to stir during the hour he is on duty. His great pleasure is to sit in a reverse position in a chair with his chin resting on the back. He will sit this way for hours without hardly moving. He draws a pension for obesity.

BEAVER FARMING.

A Unique and Thriving Industry of North Dakota.

The Animals Obtained from Trappers and Confined in Ponds Where They Multiply Very Rapidly—How They Are Spatched.

The industry and sagacity of the beaver have often been commented upon. But those qualities have not prevented this animal from being looked upon as a fair object of capture, says the New York Ledger. Its fur is valuable, and, therefore, it is much sought after by trappers. Still, it may surprise some people to know that in one part of this country, at least, there are men who raise beavers for the market, just as they might do corn or cattle. It is in McLean county, N. D., that beaver farming is largely carried on. The soil is very poor and is not adapted, as are other parts of the state, to wheat growing. The Missouri river runs along the western border of the county, and numerous streams flow into it from among the hills to the north and east. Cottonwoods and elm trees grow on the banks of these streams, and it is there where the beaver farms are situated. A man who intends to start this industry purchases, say, ten acres of land through which a stream runs. A dam is built at a point where the stream is narrow and the banks are steep. All that is needed is to fell a few trees across the bed of the stream and fill in with dirt and stones. This holds the water back so that two or three acres of land are flooded, thus forming a pond. The next thing to be done is to erect a fence of wire netting, from two to three feet high, along the banks of the stream and around the pond, inclosing all the trees that can possibly be taken in.

Generally a colony of from twelve to sixteen beavers is put on the farm. They are, of course, obtained from trappers. The dam is placed in the pond in the spring and soon become accustomed to their surroundings. In a few days they begin to build their huts of mud and sticks and to show their wood-chopping abilities on the trees. There is no return from the outlay the first year, but by the fall of the second year the colony has largely increased in number and the farmer looks forward to having a regular income. It is on the last day of October or on the first day of November that the harvest, so to speak, begins. First the ponds are drawn off by means of floodgates that are covered with wire netting to prevent the animals from slipping through. The houses of the beavers are thus left exposed, and the farmer goes from one to the other, tapping on them with a club. Beavers are readily frightened, and the noise causes them to run out. They can only move slowly and are soon caught and dispatched. The beavers which formed the original colony are spared, and then the floodgates are closed and the pond is filled again. The beaver skins are dried, prepared and taken to market, the fur being used in the manufacture of coats and capes and trimming garments for women. A good deal of beaver fur goes to China, where it is made into shoes for women who can afford the luxury.

A Bright Lad,

Ten years of age, but who declines to give his name to the public, makes this authorized, confidential statement to us: "When I was one year old, my mamma died of consumption. The doctor said that I, too, would soon die, and all our neighbors thought that even if I did not die, I would never be able to walk, because I was so weak and puny. A gathering formed and broke under my arm. I hurt my finger and it gathered and threw out pieces of bone. If I hurt myself so as to break the skin, it was sure to become a running sore. I had to take lots of medicine, but nothing has done me so much good as Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It has made me well and strong." T. D. M., Norcatur, Kans.

TO FRUIT-GROWERS. It is very essential that those who have fruit to ship advise us of the kind and quantity they will have to ship as far ahead as possible. The markets are not hunting the fruit, but the fruit must hunt the market this fall. Fine fruit can be sold at a profitable figure if properly handled. Poor fruit must be kept at home, or somebody will lose money. Come and see us at our office near the depot. We will not ship your fruit if we can't make you some money. Regular office hours, Wednesday and Saturday afternoons. H. F. DAVIDSON, Secretary Hood River Fruit Growers' Union.
