"With the three-cent silver piece, it was different. When first coined, the country had nothing in the shape of a coin between the huge copper cents and half cents and the silver half dime. The small coin was hailed as a issue also.

"Strange as it may seem, it was not provided for by a coinage act, but by an act revising the postal rates. This law lowered the cost for transmitting the unit of weight for letters from five to three cents. It was deemed advisable by congress thereupon to issue a coin of corresponding denomination. The coin was of great utility, and circulated freely until the advent of the nickel."

STORIES OF NAPOLEON.

The imperial treasures had been kept at Orleans. After the abdication the provisional government, under the influence of Talleyrand, house. W. B. Perry has planted more the most notorious self-seeker in trees. Charley Rogers is erecting a France, was more concerned about these treasures than about the future of the nation. A decree of practical confiscation was drawn up and a force of men under M. Dudon was sent from that could be found.

Napoleon's personal treasury had at one time contained about 114,000,000 francs. Of this amount more than 100,000,000 francs had been used to equip the army of France for its final struggle with monarchial Europe. The remnant was seized as per programme by Talleyrand's minions. They took perhaps 400,000 francs' worth of snuff boxes and rings, a good part of Napoleon's wardrobe, and even his embroidered pocket handkerchiefs. There wasn't anything modest about M. Talleyrand. The Russian officers refused to interfere with this pillage, although appealed to.

The loss of this money only occaleon. The loss of his wife and child made him like a caged lion at Elba, and, in his opinion, fully justified his dramatic return to France.

ON A CHERRY STONE.

A Talented Convict Carves His Petitio for a Pardon.

Gesa Berger, the actor and news paper man, has a picture in caligraphy that has a remarkable history. It is in size thirty by forty-two inches, and is the work of Joseph Loew, the most noted counterfeiter that the Austrian government ever knew.

When an application is made for a pardon in Austria the red tape policy of that country compels the applicant to address the emperor with titles. Emperor Ferdinand had about forty titles. Loew engraved all of these names, together with his petition for a pardon, on a cherry stone.

The letters were so fine that it required the aid of a powerful microscope to decipher them. One day when the emperor visited the prison Loew in person presented a cherry stone to the emperor and told him what it contained. The emperor made an examination and was so amazed at the work that he gave him an uncon ditional pardon. Not only did he pardon him, but gave him a position as a all of them. Also, fine residence and lots at detective to trail down counterfeiters. different prices. Cail on or address Loew was a well-informed man in all the arts and rascalities of counterfeit- auls ers, and in less than two years after his pardon he ran to earth almost every counterfeiter in Austria, and died a few years ago covered with detective honors. The picture, although made fifty years ago, is in a remarkable state of preservation.

Hindu Occupations.

The Hindus are curiously frank in specifying their occupations for the census reports. Among the accounts many of them give of their trades they designate themselves as debtors, living on loans, men of secret resources -or plainly thieves, village thieves or robbers. Others more modestly call themselves guests, visitors, story-tellers from house to house, dependents on relatives, supported by their son-in-law, or idlers; and one is without work because he is silly. Among the more serious occupations are declarer of oracles, cleaner of eyes, sorcerer, foreteller of storms and hail, player of the tomtom, or player, barber, doctor according to the Greek method, servant of a candidate, marriage broker of young domestics, marriage broker of his own daughters for money, etc.
