

Hood River Glacier.

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 13, 1895.

The city of Louisville completely surrendered to the Grand Army during the encampment there this week. The "Johnnies" welcomed the "Yanks" in true southern style and extended the hospitalities of the city to the time peaceful invading army. In the parade Wednesday, when 50,000 old veterans were in line, the ex-confederates cheered themselves hoarse in demonstrating their welcome. Henry Waterson, editor of the Courier-Journal, made the speech of welcome at a grand banquet, in which he said: "Comrades, for under the star-spangled flag of the Union, all who truly love it are comrades, in the name of the city and state I bid you the heartiest welcome. All that is wanted in this grand land of ours is for the people—the plain people as Lincoln called them—to realize, from Maine to Texas, from Florida to Oregon, that there is nothing whatever to divide them. They are the same people. This monstrosity out of which came the foolishness of secession out of the way, the nation having actually had its new birth of freedom, what but ignorance and prejudice is to hinder the stalwart American in Minnesota from taking the hand of the stalwart American in Georgia and calling him brother? Both came from a common origin, good old Anglo-Saxon and Scotch-Irish stock, and are welded together by common interest and a common destiny; none of one bone, flesh of one flesh, in national aspiration and fellowship. God made this continent for us and consecrated it to freedom. The transfiguration of nature, not less than the transfiguration of blood, clearly indicates the will of God. Who dares to dispute his awful word?" General Lawler responded, and in the course of his remarks said: "Comrades, Ladies, Gentlemen, Everybody here in Louisville: I want to say to you that I accept your welcome. Not for myself alone, but in the name of 200,000 Grand Army men. You have given us a royal welcome, and I want to tell you that we appreciate it. You are doing more than you promised, and everybody fully appreciates it. Our expectations have more than been realized; the greetings you have given us are far more elaborate than we would have believed."

Returns on recent fruit shipments are beginning to come to hand. As might have been expected, owing to the fullness of crops, summer fruit everywhere it is raised, prices are not ruling high. Hood River Gravenstein apples of the best quality, shipped this year to Portland, realized very little above the cost of picking, packing, boxing and hauling to the depot. This excellent apple might be more profitable here if we could ship in carload lots to the mining states east of us. Winter apples and strawberries will continue to be our main dependence, and it seems hardly worth while to plant any other kinds of fruit for shipment.

The GLACIER has received, through the courtesy of Mr. Charles Meserve of the Oregon City Enterprise, an illustrated pamphlet descriptive of Oregon City and its great waterfall, manufactories and public buildings. This historic old city seems to be just waking to the possibilities of its greatness. With its magnificent water power it is destined to be a great manufacturing center.

Fair Notes.

White Salmon horticulturists are taking measures to be fully represented at our approaching fair. The finest lot of apples the writer ever saw was raised by Capt. Cooke last year at White Salmon. Let Hood River look well to her laurels.

Mr. S. R. Husbands of Mosier gives us some encouragement that Mrs. Husbands will send to us for exhibitions some of her beautiful floral treasures. Mr. Wheeler will exhibit several varieties of sorghum, some of which seem well adapted to our soil.

Premium lists will be ready next week, and the secretary, H. C. Bateham, will then attend to entries for competition, which can be made by mail or in person. All exhibits must be sent in not later than Thursday, October 3d.

Admission fee is only 25 cents for gentlemen for both days. Ladies and children free. All gate receipts will be devoted to payment of current expenses and purchase of premiums.

The fair will have great educational value in the comparison of varieties. There is no mistake more common or more serious than planting wrong varieties of fruit trees.

SUPERINTENDENT.

Council Proceedings.

The common council met on last Tuesday evening, there being a full board present.

The fire and water committee recommended that proposals be asked for to furnish a supply of water for Hood River, and presented a form of notice for advertising.

The report was accepted and the notice was ordered published in the Hood River GLACIER and to be posted at the post office and at the recorder's office. Committee on streets and public property reported that they did not think it practical to lay sewers at present. Report accepted.

Watt asked for a statement of the condition of finances.

Recorder Heald stated that warrants issued amounted to $128.95; income from licenses issued, $48—balance against the town, $78.95. The above includes the costs incurred in incorporating the town, printing ordinances and all expenses to this time.

Ordinance No. 13, enrolled, was read, and Morse moved that it do pass as read. The vote was a tie. For—Bartness, Hartley and Morse; against—Button, Rand and Watt. The mayor cast his vote for the ordinance.

Watt moved that the committee on streets and public property be instructed to ascertain the cost of street lamps and report at next meeting. Carried.

Hartley suggested that the committee also consider the matter of sidewalks.

And Morse thought something should be done with the grade between the depot and the Mt. Hood hotel.

Adjourned.

From Cloud Cap Inn.

August 26th, H. L. Pittock, with his daughters Kate and Helen, F.W. Leadbetter of Portland and H. D. Stratton of Pittsburg, Pa., made the ascent of the mountain. Mr. Pittock was one of the first men to ascend Mt. Hood, having made the ascent in '57, '58 and '59. The first attempt made, his party left Oregon City on the old Walker trail, intending to ascend the north-west corner, but failing in this, started for Hood River, camping at Lost lake on the way. They visited Mr. Coe at Hood River and then went to The Dalles. From there they took the Barlow route and made the ascent from the south side.

Those who made the ascent of the mountain were: August 19th—Miss Voorhees, Woodburn, Or.; Miss Mary Krupke, Portland, 21st—Mrs. Amy Holbrook, Portland, 22d—G. E. Williams, Hood River, 24th—Charles H. Gaylord and wife, W. M. Ladd, Portland, 26th—Kate T. Pittock, Helen L. Pittock, H. L. Pittock and wife, F. W. Leadbetter, Portland; H. D. Stratton, Pittsburg, 27th—Mrs. L. B. Seelye, Lamar Seelye, Jr., Arthur C. Seelye, Portland, September 7th—Mrs. T. S. Lang, Misses Lang, Miss Newman, M. A. Moody, The Dalles; Mrs. H. C. Judd, Hartford, Conn.; Miss Furth, Seattle; E. Y. Judd, Pendleton; Lieut. H. Taylor, Cascade Locks; Mrs. G. H. Flanders, Miss Louise Flanders, J. E. Flanders, W. A. Cumming and wife, Miss Glisan, R. L. Glesan, Portland; Miss Foster, Gardner, Me.; A. S. Whitaker, Philadelphina.

Those who made the ascent of the mountain from here: Miss Voorhees, Miss —, C. H. Gaylord (Mrs. Gaylord did not reach the summit), Laura Seelye and Will Langille, on the 29th.

Belmont Notes.

BELMONT, Sept. 9th.—The showers of the past week have cleared the atmosphere and the mountains are once more discernible.

The Rev. F. L. Johns was returned to his charge at Belmont, where he has been laboring with great success for the past year.

Among the new improvements of this place may be mentioned the house of Joe Frazier on his five-acre tract, where he has been clearing and planting strawberries.

It is reported that Mr. Davenport will move the planer from its present site to the land south of Mr. Rogers, where it would be much more convenient for the people of this vicinity.

Mr. Simon Frazier of Seattle, who was here last week visiting relatives, returned Sunday morning.

The social given at the home of J. A. Wilson last Thursday, for the benefit of the Christian Endeavor of the Christian church, was well attended. Refreshments were served and about $8 was taken in.

Mr. and Mrs. John Smith went last week to visit Mr. Smith's sister at Mosier and returned Saturday.

Rev. Criss Nickelsen preached a very able sermon at the M. E. church Sunday.

Valley Improvement Company.

The Valley Improvement Co. has posted notice of its intention to divert 4,000 inches of water from Hood River for general irrigation and domestic purposes. The headgate of the ditch will be on the east side of Hood river, on the Nesson place, about one mile below the forks. The ditch will follow down the east side a short distance, then cross to the west side. The proposed route is on a higher level than the Smith-LaFrance survey of a few years ago, and the main ditch will run west as far as the John Wilson place, then to the town of Hood River on the north side of Indian creek. Lateral ditches will cover all the territory lying to the east and north of the main ditch. The incorporators of the company are C. A. Bell, L. E. Morse, J. E. Hanna, J. H. Ferguson, H. F. Davidson, P. A. Snyder and C. M. Wolfard. Capital stock, $20,000; 1,000 shares of $20 each.

Letters have been received by Secretary Bateham from the secretary of nurserymen's exhibit at the Salem and Portland exhibitions acknowledging receipt of Hood River fair posters and soliciting exhibits of Hood River fruit. Fifty feet of space has been reserved at the Portland exhibition for the fruit which is to go from here at the close of our fair.

Hood River's Apple Exhibit.

Hood River is going to have a fruit exhibit October 4th and 5th, and it is safe to say that it will be worth going miles to see. Two years ago, for the purpose of getting some exhibits together for the Portland exposition, the fruit growers were invited to bring in specimens of their crops. It was expected that perhaps a couple of dozen samples would be shown, but the result was a surprise. A little notice in the GLACIER had got in its work, and upon the day designated fruit came in such quantities that the committee was swamped. It followed that the big army was utilized to make a display, and five tables, 70 feet long, were piled to overflowing. The Oregon Press Association, which was in session at the time, was invited, came, saw and realized, but individually and collectively expressed their inability to describe the wonders of that exhibit. This was an impromptu affair, yet the apple exhibit was pronounced by experts the finest they had ever seen. This year the fruit growers are preparing for an exhibit that will eclipse anything of the kind ever seen on the coast. There will be all kinds of fruit, but the Justly-famed Hood River apple will be the chief. Every person engaged in fruit growing, or who intends going into the business, should attend the Hood River fair, for every apple, from the original seedling that raised ructions in the garden of Eden down to the Yellow Newtown, Hyde's King of the West, and the most modern crosses and productions will be there to be seen. Go there on the 4th of next month and realize that the half can not be told concerning the apples of that section.

An Editor's Prayer.

Wednesday afternoon and evening this section was treated to one of those timely answers to prayer, a heavenly, health-giving shower-bath, which acted like soothing balm to the contrite heart. Our supplications, which have been unceasing and devout, have at last been answered, and we feel that God is much on our side. Small favors thankfully received, but, lord, about as much more would improve the sheep range wonderfully.

The people of Hood River propose to have a horticultural fair on the 4th and 5th of October. There is no place in Oregon where such a fair could be held with greater success. Hood River fruit has already gained a national reputation for its excellence. The fair will do much to advertise this fact.—Portland Dispatch.

The Dalles Chronicle says: Since July 1, 1894, $78,800.17 of taxes have been collected and turned over to the county treasurer. The amount collected on the delinquent tax rolls of former sheriffs was $11,430.85, and on the sheriff's fee book, $300.02. The remainder, $67,069.30, was taken in on the roll of 1894. The amount of delinquency will be much smaller this year than previously.

The county court adjourned till Sept. 14th. As a sample of what petty justice costs in this county, $1,000 was appropriated for fees in justice courts during the past two months. Justice comes high, but people think they must have it—when they can.—Dalles Chronicle.

Some time before harvest, Mr. Reynolds of Glenwood took sick and went to The Dalles for treatment and has been there ever since, part of the time dangerously ill; while at home his wife, who was taken sick soon after Mr. Reynolds had gone away and has been bed fast most of the time. During this time harvest came on, and no men were left to do the work. In this emergency the courageous daughter, a girl of some 15 years of age, hitched the horses to the machine and cut the entire crop and hired men to put it up.—Klickitat Agriculturalist.

There is more joy in a printing office over one signer who pays in advance and abuses the editor on every occasion than over 90 and 9 who borrow the paper and sing its praises without contributing a cent to keep it out of the poor house.

C. J. Crandall of The Dalles has been appointed city treasurer, to succeed the late I. I. Burget.

The city council of The Dalles has passed an ordinance requiring all minors under the age of 17 to be off the streets by 8 o'clock p. m.
