

Hood River Glacier.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 15, 1895.

The prospects now for the ditch of the Valley Improvement company being built are bright. The substantial subscriptions which have rolled up on the list being circulated by the committee of the company, during two and one-half days, have aggregated $5000, besides the subscriptions of the original seven incorporators, and all hands feel much encouraged by the way in which the people holding land along the route, have given right of way so freely. The sequel to the whole scheme is that the people will build the ditch during the winter months, while they cannot earn money otherwise, and will be as well off financially as if it had not been done, besides having the ditch their own, instead of some foreigner continually drawing money for water rent out of the valley. Space will not permit of a publication of the list of names this week, but it will be done later, as several who will subscribe have not yet been seen by the committee. The proposition of right of way is practically settled. The lumber deal is made, and before our next issue the mill will be moved to the head of the ditch and, if the weather permits, will be cutting lumber.

If the republicans of the second district want a man in congress who is in full accord with his party on national questions, and in every way competent to fill the office, they should nominate Mr. John Michell of The Dalles. Mr. Michell has labored long for his party as an editorial writer, is a protectionist of the McKinley school, sound on the money question, a gentleman and a scholar, and would fit the office of congressman better than any man we know of in the republican party of Eastern Oregon.

The American Agriculturist figures out a crop of 66,256,000 barrels of apples this year, or about a barrel for every man, woman and child in the country. The apple crop of the six states of Ohio, New York, Pennsylvania, Missouri, Illinois and Michigan is nearly as large as that of all the rest of the country, territories included.

As long ago as 1824, Germany had an apple considered superior to any other, called the "Borsdorfer." It was sent to London in the shape California wraps her oranges, every apple in a single wrapper, and they brought fabulous prices.

The prospects are good for the national republican convention next year coming to San Francisco.

Frankton Notes.

[Written by the pupils of Frankton school.] Prof. J. T. Neff went to The Dalles on Wednesday's noon train to act with the board of examiners at the county examination of teachers, consequently our school had a three-days' vacation this week.

M. Willis is building a wood shed. A man and wife and two children are expected to move into W. B. Perry's house, now occupied by Mr. Reiner and family, after Mr. Reiner moves his family to Eastern Washington. The family lately arrived from Nebraska, coming all the way in an old fashioned "prairie schooner," and were on the road since the 27th of May.

Mr. E. D. Calkins and Frank Caddy were engaged last week in sowing grain on the farm of Chas. Rogers, which they have rented. Two Frankton citizens climbed to the top of the high mountain east of town and north of where The Dalles wagon road turns east, last Sunday afternoon. They report that a fine bird's-eye view of the surrounding country can be had from there. Even the country as far to the northeast as the Simcoe mountains is plainly visible. Another high mountain hid the view to the east. As the sun was shining brightly in the west, a good view of our valley could not be obtained.

Mr. Wm. Tillett, while in The Dalles recently, purchased an organ. Prof. F. H. Isenberg and G. O. Rich paid a visit to our school Tuesday.

Belmont Notes.

BELMONT, Nov. 12.—Mr. Frazier of Portland was visiting relatives here last week. Misses Mellie and Ethel Rigby will spend the winter months in Belmont, which will make a pleasant addition to Belmont society. Mrs. Somerville of Lexington, Neb., met with a serious accident a few weeks ago, while returning from church in company with her son, Wm. Somerville, and family. The horses taking fright at a passing train, shied and upset the carriage, resulting in the fracture of her right arm in two places. The other occupants of the carriage escaped with a few bruises.

Last Friday evening a party of young folks met at the home of Mrs. Rich for a surprise to Miss Margaret Frazier and Mr. George Rich. Every one enjoyed themselves very much, and the time to say "Good night" came too quickly. Those present were: Misses Margaret Frazier, Bess Isenberg, Mellie and Ethel Rigby, Edith Eastman, Ella Isenberg, Edith Potter, Theresa Morse, Pearl and Lollie Templeton, and Messrs. George Rich, Will Isenberg, Joe Frazier, Dave Gibbons, Howard Isenberg, Charles Castner, Charles Wallace, Marshall Isenberg, Walter Isenberg, Ralph Savage. REME.

The Late Frederick Kemp.

EDITOR GLACIER: As I have seen nothing in any of the county papers about the late Mr. Kemp, except a mere mention of his death, permit me to say a few words of tribute in memory of a friend, a neighbor and a Christian.

Frederick Kemp was an Englishman by birth, being born in Hornsea, Yorkshire, England, March 10, 1839, and was over 56 years of age. He came to America in 1855, when only 16 years of age, and after traveling as far west as Illinois, was married in that state, at Erie, in 1863, to Miss Alice Raworth. He came to Oregon in 1870, first settling in the Willamette valley, where he resided a few years. After this he moved to The Dalles, where for many years he worked as a blacksmith in the shops of the O. K. & N. Co., accumulating a small competence, with which, in 1883, he bought land and made the beginning of a home for his family in Hood River valley.

Here he labored and toiled till almost the last day of his life, when on Saturday evening, the 23rd of October, he closed his eyes to rest forever from his work here on earth. Mr. Kemp was a man of many excellent qualities, sober, industrious and honest—one "whose word was as good as his bond," and withal a true Christian.

Added to this, true to his English blood, he had the grit to be a brave man to the end. Though he worked most of the time, he had been suffering considerably the last few months, but none of us knew exactly what the trouble was. Then he had a fall, a week or so before his death, which no doubt hastened the close of his life. Those who saw him after his hurt were impressed with the patient dignity of his pale face, but none guessed that, with the courage of a hero, he was fighting his last fight and was hiding his mortal suffering lest he should divert attention from his wife lying at the point of death.

TROY SHELLEY.

November Proverbs.

As November, so the following March. If November 1st the beech acorn is dry, we will stick behind the stove in winter; but if it is wet, and not light, this winter will not be dry but wet.

If November 11th the geese stand on ice, they will walk in mud at Christmas.

If the leaves of the trees and grapevines do not fall before November 11th, a cold winter may be expected.

Clear autumn, windy weather. If there be ice in November that will bear a duck.

There will be nothing thereafter but sleet and snow.

Flowers in bloom late in autumn indicate a bad winter.

Thunder in November indicates a fertile year to come.

When beech acorns thrive well, and oak trees hang full, a hard winter will follow with much snow.

As November 21st, so the winter. Much fog in autumn, much snow in winter.

After a warm autumn, a long winter. An early winter is surely winter.

When winter does not come early it will continue late.

If November 11th is fair, dry and cold, the cold in winter will not last long.

As on November 25th, foul or fair, so will be the next February.

D. W. Hayes, a well known horse trainer of Western New York, gives the following recipe for getting rid of lice on horses: Half a pint of kerosene to two gallons of water. Wash the horse twice with this, with an interval of two or three days between applications, "and any lice you may find after that I will give a premium for," says Mr. Hayes.

A writer in the American Agriculturist tells the result of spraying in his apple orchard. On five rows sprayed but once he got 75 per cent of perfect fruit, while on the remaining part of the orchard, which he sprayed twice, he got 90 per cent. He used Paris green, one pound to 100 gallons of water. The first spraying was made when the apples were not larger than peas; the next, about a week later.

County Assessor F. H. Wakefield has just finished the assessment roll for 1895. Assisted by Deputy County Clerk C. L. Gilbert, Miss Lang and Miss Ida Wakefield, the assessor has been exceedingly busy during the past few weeks, the force working oftentimes late into the night. The work has every appearance of being thoroughly done; the book is neat and great care has been taken to have accuracy in everything. As Mr. Wakefield says, his assistants have taken great pride in their work and he is sure the taxpayers of the county will feel that everything has been thoroughly done. The amount of taxable property this year is $3,230,969. Last year it was $2,960,151, a gain to the county of over $250,000.—Chronicle.

An exchange remarks: Probably a woman would be a bride to her husband longer if she would continue making company of him. Most women begin to save their jam for visitors when they have been married three months.

The law and order society organized at Goldendale have elected the following officers: President, Wm. T. Darch; secretary, N. B. Brooks; treasurer, C. E. Morris. Executive committee—Samuel Hornbrook, A. I. Goodfriend, W. R. Dunbar, Joseph Nesbitt and W. C. Burgen.

Mr. Randall, living on the Columbia above Vancouver, picked several boxes of strawberries, November 4th, which he sold for 35 cents a box.

The grand jury found a true bill against Dr. Rothermel, charging him with embezzlement.

The supreme court has decided that benevolent societies and churches must pay taxes on any property they own which is not actually occupied by them.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, salt rheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns, and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Price, 25 cents per box. For sale at the Hood River Pharmacy.

McGinniss Makes a Discovery.

EDITOR GLACIER: I would just like to say to the fruit growers of this section that I have made a great compound discovery, which, if taken advantage of, will be of incalculable benefit to all growers of apples for all time hereafter. The first part of my discovery relates to that wicked little pest, the codlin moth; and the second part to the place designed by Nature for that much abused though very worthy animal, the razor-back hog.

Now, there are some ill-advised people who would sneer at the old razor-back, but I am not one of them. Indeed, there is much about him that is worthy of admiration. And then, too, he is so much like man (at least like some men), being never so happy as when he has his own nose in the pie to the exclusion of all others. He can also lay claim to belonging to the first families of his species. True, he goes to war one side at a time, but then he goes for all he's worth, and he delivers his broadsides with all the energy and address of a man-of-war; and if forced to beat a retreat, does so like a prudent general, with an eye well to his rear, and whenever his enemy is within striking distance, wheels about with the stiffness and precision of a drill sergeant, his bristles to the fore, his forces well in order, and as ready for the fray as when the ball first opened. He has also several other sobriquets besides razor-back—he is known as the land pike, poke digger and with splitter, each of which were no doubt given to him in honor of some one or other of his many accomplishments or personal peculiarities. Now, the razor-back is just as Nature made him, and Nature seldom makes mistakes. The old dame no doubt foresaw that man, as he advanced in civilization, would (like the bird in its evolution from the serpent) require a change of food; that he would take to growing fruits; that insect pests would follow; that man would not yet have attained to sufficient development, mental or moral, to protect the little feathered songsters that feed on insects injurious to fruits. So she made the razor-back, and set him to digging, poking and otherwise foraging a precarious existence until such time as man should require his services in the orchard; intending, no doubt, to put him on the retired list as soon as man became sufficiently civilized to quit killing the birds.

Who that has ever seen his hogship back in God's country, chasing and scrambling after every chance acorn or hickory nut that happened to fall, will doubt for a moment his ability to keep tab on every wormy apple that falls; or who that has ever seen him, head downward in a three-foot hole, trying to dig out a poke root as big as a man's body, could deny his ability to cope successfully with the root-grawing moles and worms of our orchards, as well as to keep the ground thoroughly cultivated, and thus again keep up with the calculations of the codlin moth with regard to his hibernating quarters for the winter, until the moth gives up the fight in disgust and seeks a more healthy and congenial climate for his future field of operations? But man, in his ambition to improve on the works of his Creator, has well nigh improved the noble old razor-back out of existence, and his degenerate descendant, the modern hog, is but an indifferent substitute for the purposes above mentioned. The shortening of his snout has tended to blunt his keen sensibilities, and the puffing of his sides and rounding of his back has not only dulled his alert intellect, but has made of him a lazy, indolent creature, lacking much of the courage, energy and ability of his illustrious ancestor. But then the hog is not to blame for his degeneracy, for an over amount of luxury and indulgence has a precisely similar effect on a certain biped called man.

O. D. Taylor Heard From.

Word has been received here that Rev. O. D. Taylor, projector of the Grand Dalles and other numerous schemes in this vicinity, has been held on bonds of $8000 at Saginaw, Mich., to answer to a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses. The charge on which he is held rose out of certain transactions he had with parties in Michigan in connection with lands located in this vicinity. Our informant did not know at what date Mr. Taylor's case would be investigated by the Saginaw grand jury.—Mountaineer.

Wood was selling for $3 per cord at Rufus last week.

Tuesday morning the sheriff of Klickitat county arrested Messrs Egan, Bradford and Zeigler, at White Salmon, for cutting and moving the fence from the property of C. D. Moore. It seems the fence was put across the private road used by the parties, through Mr. Moore's, and as the latter refused to give them a way out they cut down the fence, and went through Moore's land on the old road. The sheriff read the warrant to them and they came up under arrest in charge of themselves, last night, and went on to Goldendale this morning.—Mountaineer.

Hon. E. O. McCoy and C. R. Bone of the C. C. Co. at Grant, have been doing a little detective work. They missed 54 sacks of Klickitat wheat from the levee on the Oregon side, and traced it to a ranch near Hay Stack road occupied by Bunnell Bros. Not wishing a disturbance in the neighborhood over such a trifle as stealing a boat load or two of wheat, the Bunnells concluded to pay for the wheat, and the expenses of hunting it up, and use it for seed.—Moro Observer.

Marvelous Results.

From a letter written by Rev. J. Gunderman of Dimondale, Mich., we are permitted to make this extract: "I have no hesitation in recommending Dr. King's New Discovery, as the results were almost marvelous in the case of my wife. While I was pastor of the Baptist church at Rives Junction she was brought down with pneumonia succeeding a gripper. Terrible paroxysms of coughing would last hours with little interruption, and it seemed as if she could not survive them. A friend recommended Dr. King's New Discovery; it was quick in its work and highly satisfactory in results." Trial bottles free at the Hood River Pharmacy; regular size 50c and $1.

Ordinance No. 14.

An Ordinance entitled "An Ordinance Providing for Town Elections."

Be it ordained by the Common Council of the town of Hood River: Section 1. All the territory embraced within the corporate limits of the town of Hood River shall be considered as one ward, and shall have but one voting or polling place for each general election of the town.

Sec. 2. At its regular meeting in November of each year, the common council shall designate the place for holding the annual election, and shall appoint three judges and two clerks of election, who shall serve without compensation.

Sec. 3. The recorder, under the direction of the council, shall give two weeks' notice of each general election by posting a notice in not less than three conspicuous places within the corporate limits, which notice shall contain a list of the officers to be elected thereat; the place for holding the election, and the names of the judges and clerks appointed to conduct the same.

Sec. 4. All candidates or nominees for any office shall file, or cause to be filed, with the recorder, not less than five days prior to the day of election, a certificate of nomination, signed by not less than five qualified electors of the town. Prior to the day of election, the recorder shall prepare the ballots and cause them to be printed as required by the general election laws of the state of Oregon, and shall provide one ballot box, the ballots, stationery sheets, stationary and other articles necessary for conducting said election according to the laws of Oregon, and shall deliver the same to the judges of election at the time of opening the polls for election.

Sec. 5. It shall be the duty of the marshal to secure the use of the place designated by the council for a polling place, and shall cause the same to be suitably provided for election, according to the laws of Oregon.

Sec. 6. The returns of the election shall be filed with the recorder immediately after they shall have been completed; the common council shall canvass the returns of the election at its next meeting thereafter. A written statement of the canvass shall be made and signed by the mayor and recorder and filed with the recorder, which must contain the whole number of votes given at each election; the number given for each candidate for office, and the names of persons elected, and to what office, as determined by a majority of the council. The persons receiving, respectively, the highest number of votes for the several offices to be filled, shall be declared duly elected to such offices. Provided, that in case of a tie between candidates, or of candidates receiving an equal number of votes, the council shall determine the same according to the general election laws of the state of Oregon.

Sec. 7. Immediately after the completion of the canvass, the recorder must make and sign a certificate of election for each person declared thereby to be elected, and deliver the same to him on demand.

Passed the Common Council of the town of Hood River the 13th day of November, 1895, and approved by me this 13th day of November, 1895.

C. M. WOLFARD, Mayor.

Attest: C. P. HEALD, Recorder.
