Recently two meetings have been held in the Congregational church in the interest of Armenian sufferers. Rev. Daniel Staver, who lived five years in Armenia, gave a very interesting address at one of these meetings, while at the other the time was occupied with appropriate and helpful papers upon Turkish persecutions in Armenia. Collections amounting to about $7 were collected; of this sum about $4 was sent to the Armenia relief fund.
W. R. Winans was circulating a petition during the week to the county court asking that body to appropriate $500 for the completion of the road from Tucker's mill to Mt. Hood by way of Winans. The petition received 66 names in the town of Hood River, and will also be circulated in The Dalles. This is the most direct road to Mt. Hood, and it is hoped the commissioners will see the necessity of granting the petition.

Simon S. Hartman of Tunnelton, West Va., has been subject to attacks of colic about once a year, and would have to call a doctor and then suffer for about twelve hours as much as some do when they die. He was taken recently just the same as at other times, and concluded to try Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. He says, "I took one dose of it and it gave me relief in five minutes. That is more than any thing else has done for me." For sale by Williams & Brosius.

H. W. Wait captured a coyote in Dr. Adams' pasture last Sunday. Two of these varmints have been stopping in this pasture of late and foraging on the chickens of the neighboring ranches. Sunday morning, while Mr. Geo. McIntosh and Mr. Wait were milking their cows they saw the coyotes and went after them with their guns. After some sharp maneuvering on the part of the coyotes and the hunters, Mr. Wait succeeded in killing the larger one of the two after the third shot.

The latest in curling irons at the Racket Store.
The Weather.
The weather wise, who predicted during our pleasant weather in February that we would "catch it yet," were happy during the past week. Saturday last was a squally day, with several showers of snow flakes, enough to whiten the ground. Sunday we had a cold east wind, and March came in like a lion. For three days the merciless east wind came driving down the Columbia and made everybody unhappy, except the weather prophets who could say, "I told you so." Wednesday morning the mercury got down to 13 degrees above zero, the coldest for the winter. The cold wave extended all over the Northwest coast. At Walla Walla they had two feet of snow and in the Willamette valley the ground was covered by several inches. The trains east of The Dalles were detained by sand drifting on the track, in one place covering it to the depth of two feet for 800 yards. The weather since Wednesday has moderated, and we may expect spring and wild flowers again in a few days. Fruit men say the fruit is all right.

School Elections.
At the election, Monday, in the town district, C. M. Wolfard was elected director; M. H. Nickelsen was re-elected clerk for the third time. Clerk's report showed 172 children of school age in the district.
In Frankton district, E. Locke was elected director and W. H. Perry re-elected clerk. Number of children of school age, 104. A motion prevailed instructing the directors to divide the time of the terms of school evenly between the first and second grades. This will give the primary department a chance to have a three months' term in the spring, when the weather is good, and the older scholars can go to school for a longer term in the winter months.
In the Crapper district John Miller was elected director and J. Wickham re-elected clerk. The district has 42 children of school age.
In the Barrett district, John Parker was elected director and C. E. Markham clerk. Children of school age in district, 96.

Rich (J) Strike at Goldendale.
HOOD RIVER, March 2, 1896.—Editor GLACIER: That is what they say. "Seventeen dollars a day to the hand" is the report we had at Hood River. So my partner and I got the fever, as both of us have had experience in mining. We put on the wagon bows, threw some bacon, a rusty railroad pick, piece of an old shovel and a milk pan into the wagon beside our blankets, hitched up "Old Barney," familiar to every one in Hood River, and headed for Trail Creek mines, in British Columbia, via Goldendale, expecting to take in those mines as we went along. Our trip was one of sunshine. The roads were fine, and we imagined we were pioneers of the West and that we were passing through a country where the white man had never trod. We poked old Barney along, but he had more sense than we had, for he wanted to turn back or go in at every gate he came to.

Finally we arrived at Goldendale, on February 25th, at 11 a. m., and pulled up at the neat residence of Mr. and Mrs. Warner, acquaintances of my partner, who received us with a most cordial welcome. Mr. Warner is the leading blacksmith of Goldendale. We were then informed we had arrived at the end of our road, it being impossible to proceed further on account of the snow in the mountains. So we concluded to take in the famous Goldendale mines.
After seeing and testing to our own satisfaction the ore which we could find in town, we visited the office of one of the ablest attorneys and mayor of the city, he being also an acquaintance of my partner. Through his kindness we were shown to the printing office of the Agriculturist, where we were shown one that assayed $72 to the ton, but we are of the opinion that the assay was "salted."
On the 26th, Mr. Brook furnished us with a fine livery turnout, and with his company, Mr. Warner, my partner and myself visited the so-called mines. The first claim was the Red Horse. This mine has been worked for several years and is down to a depth of 70 feet. It shows a fine grade of volcanic grindings, but not the slightest trace of minerals. The next, further up the mountain, being dug here and there, with one shaft 17 feet, which shows cement gravel and soapstone. The next was on the opposite side of the mountain, which is owned by several parties. They have a cut running into the mountain, the deepest place at a depth of 8 feet, and shows cement gravel and volcanic rock (not ore).
While at the mines we were shown the place the sample came from which assayed $72 to the ton. The prospect looked so discouraging we concluded we had seen the "white elephant," and formed our opinion that the assay should have been reported 72 tons to the dollar.
If such rock as that will pay, then Hood River is rich, as there is any quantity of such rock to be found here. The rich specimen Mr. Politer has we did not see, but were told it came from some outside camp. It is true the country is all located, but it was done by the farmers of the valley. Outsiders had not come in yet, and as far as the mines go, they had better stay out. M. F. SLOPER.

Items from Snow-Clad Mt. Hood.
The snow that fell recently was mixed with alkali dust from the prairies of Eastern Oregon, and was blown here by the strong east wind that has been prevailing for the last few days.
Wm. Hess of Canby, Oregon, arrived here the first of this week to spend the summer with his son Sam.
P. F. Fouts went to Portland last week to be examined by the doctors. Mr. Fouts has been in poor health recently, owing to an injury sustained three years ago. The Portland doctors however give him no encouragement.
Work was begun on the Mt. Hood Water Supply Co's ditch, but the recent cold snap has suspended further operations.
W. S. Gribble is down with inflammatory rheumatism and neuralgia.
The annual school meeting passed off very quietly last Monday. Something unusual for this place.
S. M. Baldwin is a free man, the first time in 10 years. At the beginning of the present year A. S. Billings was appointed his successor to the road superintendency, and at the annual school meeting Wm. Rodenhiser was elected his successor to the directorship.
E. W. Gribble and Wm. Cooper are completing quite an extensive contract of slashing for Jas. T. Cooper.
Al Foster has contracted with Tomlinson Bros. to haul 50,000 feet of logs this spring. REPORTER.

The annual school meeting in district No. 6 was held at the usual hour in the district school house, on the first Monday in this month, as required by the school laws of Oregon. Every member of the district was present, accompanied with a smiling face. S. M. Baldwin took the chair, while our old friend and genial clerk, Fredenburg, read off systematically the usual report of the state financially and otherwise of the district. The meeting then proceeded to elect district officers which resulted in the election of Mr. Wm. Rodenhiser director for the term of three years, and the re-election of O. Fredenburg as clerk. The meeting then adjourned and homeward turned, with the glorious thought and happy smile that the accustomed tax, which seems to invade nearly all other districts and means dander and not economy, has not as yet found space or favor, but by judicial and good management smothered in the onset; and we rejoice that we are free from debt or tax.
And while thus fortunate we are further impressed with the belief that our most worthy directors have used fine sense and superior judgment in selecting and securing the services of Miss Josie Hansberry as teacher for the term of three months, commencing on the first Monday in April. Miss Hansberry taught two terms in this district, two years since, and is remembered as one who never shunned her duty as an educator. Loved and respected by her scholars, her advent as teacher will be one grand welcome by all in the district. XXX.

Two Lives Saved.
Mrs. Phoebe Thomas of Junction City, Ill., was told by her doctors she had consumption and that there was no hope for her, but two bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery completely cured her, and she says it saved her life. Mr. Thos. Eggers, 139 Florida st., San Francisco, suffered from a dreadful cold, approaching consumption, tried without result everything else, then bought one bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery and in two weeks was cured. He is naturally thankful. It is such results, of which these are samples, that prove the wonderful efficacy of this medicine in coughs and colds. Free trial bottles at Hood River Pharmacy.
