

Hood River Glacier.

FRIDAY, JUNE 26, 1896.

Notes and News.

The Dalles will not celebrate this Fourth.
The Dalles ware houses are crowded with wool. None has been sold yet.
The grain yield in the southern part of Wasco county this year promises to be the heaviest ever harvested.
Dufur will celebrate the Fourth in the good old-fashioned style, with races, games, dancing, noise and music.
It is said that Mayor Penney will appoint Martin Quinn superintendent of the street cleaning department in Portland.
The sheep men in Eastern Oregon are at war among themselves because sheep from one county are herded on the range in another county.
A new daily paper is to be started in Portland. It is to be an evening paper, and will be conducted by the Metropolitan Printing company.
The fishermen's strike at Astoria is off and the fishermen have gone to work again. The militia have returned home after their weeks' picnic.
At the last presidential election there were 18,000,000 men in the United States of voting age, 12,110,639 of whom exercised this sovereign right at the polls.
It has been estimated that the total cost of the republican convention at St. Louis was near $4,000,000, and that the democratic convention at Chicago will cost as much.
The Dalles Chronicle states that a settlement has been effected with the McCoy Ditch laborers for 50 cents on the dollar. This will be accepted by the men in full for their claims.
The old blockhouse at the Cascades is fast disappearing and will soon be only a memory. Capt. Waud took occasion recently to save a relic of it before it is completely destroyed.
The town of Fossil, Gilliam county, is putting on metropolitan airs. W. W. Steiver is building a brick store building and the Odd Fellows will erect a brick hall. The city council has provided for the laying of one mile of side walk this summer.
Miss Cannon of The Dalles, while gathering strawberries on Mill creek Tuesday afternoon, was bitten by a rattlesnake. Remedies at hand were applied and Dr. Hollister summoned to attend the sufferer. Wednesday's Mountaineer stated that the lady was out of danger.
Mr. Schanno returned Friday morning from attending a meeting of the state board of horticulture at Corvallis. He says the members of the board are enthusiastic on all matters of horticulture, and a number of able papers were read on different topics at the meeting. As to the condition of fruit in the Willamette valley, Mr. Schanno says it does not compare at all with what is seen in Eastern Oregon.—Mountaineer.

Hon. J. A. Smith of Gilliam county was in the city today, en route to Portland on business connected with the portage road to connect the Upper and Middle rivers. Mr. Smith says everything connected with the proposed portage is encouraging. The preliminary survey has been made on the north side, and a practicable route has been located. He expects to see perfect arrangements while in Portland that grading can be commenced in a short time, and hopes to see the road in operation in time to move this season's wheat crop.—Mountaineer.

The Yakima Horses Not In It.
The challenge in last week's paper for a horse race from our friend Jackson was accepted on two occasions. The first race being between Jackson's cayuse and the Richardson pony, 200 yards. They were not long in getting away, and when they did, the Richardson pony took the lead and won by 20 feet. The second race was between Jackson's thorough-bred and George Aleck's "Nimrod." They went to the post about 7 p. m. and after scoring for ten minutes they broke to a beautiful start. After a few jumps "Nimrod" went to the front and won as he passed, although the odds were against him with Walker up. H.

Saturday Night's Excursion.
Times-Mountaineer.
Last Saturday evening 64 members of Fern Lodge, D. of H., of this city, boarded the steamer Regulator, and glided down the Columbia to the pleasant little city of Hood River, to enjoy the hospitality of Riverside Lodge. A pleasanter evening for an excursion could not have been chosen. The river was perfectly smooth, not a breath of air stirring, while a cloudless sky above caused the green hills and rocky cliffs along the majestic river to show to their best advantage, presenting a scene of grandeur that any admirer of nature could not but discover a picture painted in nature's richest hues.
The voyage down the river was simply superb. It was one of a "jolly crowd and captain too," with a still jollier crew of passengers, and nothing but merriment prevailed during the hour that required for the trip. The cabin of the boat had been elegantly decorated with evergreens and ferns, and presented such an inviting appearance as to cause all to feel most comfortable.
When the party arrived at Hood River they were met by a delegation from Riverside Lodge, who escorted the visitors to the hall, where the entertainment of the evening was furnished. Lodge was opened in due form, and after disposing of the routine business of the session, under the head of the good of the order, Mrs. E. L. Smith delivered a pleasing address of welcome, which was responded to by Mrs. C. E. Stephens, chief of honor for Fern Lodge. A number of other members afterwards extended pleasant compliments until Chief of Honor, Mrs. Parker, announced that refreshments would be served. And the refreshments were Hood River's choicest strawberries and cream, and such strawberries, big, red, juicy berries, such as are produced at no other place in the world except Hood River. To say they were delicious only half expresses their excellence, for one must eat them to appreciate their quality, words cannot express it. For more than an hour the visitors enjoyed the generosity of the hospitable people of Hood River, but time sped on so rapidly that minutes fled as seconds, and all regretted, when apprised by the shrill whistle of the Regulator, that the homeward journey must be begun. A number of the party had availed themselves of an opportunity to witness an Indian war dance that was progressing at the armory, hence there was some delay in embarking, but when all were once more on board and the Regulator was once more pointed toward The Dalles, a hearty cheer went up for Hood River, and the real glory of the excursion began.

There are times when the most se-date return to childhood, and if anything would cause such a result it is to feed a crowd on Hood River strawberries. In this event it was either the strawberries or the unusual surroundings created an unusual exuberance, and transformed old men and women into children, so that all manner of childish glee prevailed and fun and laughter reigned until The Dalles was reached at 2:30 Sunday morning.

Daylight Robbery.
An Indian stole $25 from W. N. West, the butcher, Sunday morning. Mr. West had taken the silver from his purse and put it in the cash drawer and carelessly laid his purse, which contained $25 in gold, upon the meat counter. He then turned to his desk while Henry McGuire served an Indian to some meat. McGuire laid the meat upon the counter and when the swish picked it up he gathered up the purse with it. Mr. West soon afterwards missed his purse and discovered his loss. Remembering that the Indian was the last customer served, and that no one had been in the shop since, the theft was easily located. Constable Ollinger was notified and he went immediately to the Indian camp south of town and there he found the swish and West's purse and $25. The Indian gave up the money and was taken to The Dalles for trial. He was examined in Justice Davy's court on Wednesday, but the case was considered so trivial to merit keeping the Indian at the county's expense until the meeting of the November term of the circuit court, so he was given his freedom. But the swish was a badly scared Indian all the same.

Outlook for Crops.
The reports which indicate that much fruit is dropping. The injurious effects of the cold rains are now being shown. Peaches, apricots and plums are falling in large quantities. Apples and pears are falling to some extent, and it must now be acknowledged that the fruit has been injured by the April and May weather. The extent of the injury is not known, but crop reporters throughout the state agree that it will be considerable. Cherries are ripening rapidly, and large shipments are being made. A summary of the reports would be: Grain crops favorably affected by the weather; fruit crops, unfavorably affected. The hay crop is unusually heavy and range grass continues good.

Mothers will find Chamberlain's Cough Remedy especially valuable for croup and whooping cough. It will give prompt relief and is safe and pleasant. We have sold it for several years and it has never failed to give perfect satisfaction. G. W. Richards, Duquesne, Pa. Sold by Williams & Brosius, druggists.

The Discovery Saved His Life.
Mr. G. Calloutte, druggist, Beaverville, Ill., says: "To Dr. King's New Discovery I owe my life. Was taken with la grippe and tried all the physicians for miles about, but of no avail and was given up and told I could not live. Having Dr. King's New Discovery in my store, I sent for a bottle and began its use, and from the first dose began to get better, and after using three bottles was up and about again. It is worth its weight in gold. We won't keep store or house without it." Get a free trial at the Hood River Pharmacy.
