

Hood River Glacier.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 23, 1896.

The members of the U. S. forestry commission, who have been inspecting the Cascade reservation, returned Monday from Cloud Cap Inn and left on the afternoon train for Portland. The commission consists of Gen. Abbott, retired, of the U. S. engineer corps; Prof. Hague of the geological survey; Prof. Brewer of Harvard; Prof. Sargent of Yale. The party was joined here by Prof. L. C. Henderson, who accompanied them to Portland. General Abbott passed through this country in 1855, coming up from California with Col. Williams' expedition. The commissioners were of the opinion that the reservation would be perpetuated, with some modifications in the boundary lines, whereby some portions now included will be thrown out and other sections of country taken in. General Abbott informed us that it was very important to Hood River valley that sheep be kept from ranging on the headwaters of Hood river if we wish to protect our water supply.

The populist state central committee met in Portland last Tuesday and submitted terms of fusion to the democrats, which were accepted. It was agreed that the electors on both the populist and democratic tickets should be withdrawn and two populists, one silver democrat and one silver republican selected in their stead. All the electors, if elected, are to vote for Bryan and Watson. This means that the democracy of Oregon have completely surrendered their organization to the populists. If it should happen that the Indianapolis convention fails to make a nomination, a democrat in Oregon cannot vote the democratic ticket next November.

The annual meeting of the Oregon Press Association was held in Astoria last Friday. The officers elected for the following year were: President, A. W. Patterson, Heppner; first vice president, E. L. E. White, Portland; second vice president, D. M. C. Gault, Hillsboro; secretary, A. Tozier, Portland; treasurer, Charles Nickell, Jacksonville; sergeant at arms, C. C. Doughty, Dallas; historian, George H. Himes, Portland. Miss Michell, who represented the Times-Mountaineer at the meeting, was elected an alternate delegate to the national convention of editors.

The town of Antelope contemplates putting on metropolitan airs and will apply to the September term of the county court to incorporate the town under the legislative act of February, 1893. Antelope now pays into Wasco county's treasury $1,200 a year for saloon licenses, which, when the town is incorporated, will be paid into the town treasury. There are 52 legal voters within the proposed town limits and a population of about 170 inhabitants.

Mr. Harry, who was chairman of the national democratic committee when Cleveland was elected four years ago, is spoken of as the possible candidate for president of the national democrats.

"Honest" John Wanamaker is a candidate for U. S. senator in Pennsylvania.

A Pleasant Trip to Mt. Hood.

Editor GLACIER: Wednesday morning, August 12th, at 6 a. m., in company with Prof. Henderson and Mr. Mitchell, we started for Mt. Hood. Arriving at the toll gate at 10 a. m., we stopped to rest and feed. There we found a very pleasant place to camp, nice cool shade and pure cold water. We left the bridge at 12 m., and arrived at Cloud Cap Inn about five o'clock, and I must say that a nicer mountain road I never saw. We went into camp on the old camping ground below the Inn, beneath the grand alpine fir and pine and beside an ice-cold stream of water. It was not long until we sat down to supper, and I can safely say the way the food disappeared that there was not one of our number sick. After supper we were invited to visit the Inn. There we found a very pleasant party of Portland people. Among them was Dr. Dixon, the gentleman who got lost a few evenings before. In coming down from Cooper's spur he followed a canyon too far and darkness set in and the doctor wandered all night. A searching party was sent out but the doctor succeeded in finding himself not far from the toll bridge, about 12 miles from the Inn. After spending a very pleasant hour at the Inn and learning that a party was to start the next morning at 7 to ascend the mountain we went to camp. Mr. Mitchell being an old camp veteran we allowed him to build the fire, and I must say the way he illuminated that mountain, it was wonderful. But one soon found out why he built such a fire, for about ten million buffalo grubs were there to camp with us, and we had to either sit close to the fire or keep up a wonderful gymnastic movement to keep the pesky things from roasting us.

After sitting around the fire and chatting for an hour, some one proposed turning in right here. The question then arose, shall we sleep on the tent or under it? The professor moved that we sleep on it. The question was put and carried, so we pitched it low and crawled on top. We were not long in getting to the snoring point, and got along finely till after midnight, when one of our number became dissatisfied about something and left his bed and associates and wandered into the darkness. Now, there was an ice-cold stream of water within 20 feet of our camp. Well—something happened right there. I woke up with an ice-cold vertigin, or something, lying tight against me. One's first thought on such an occasion is snakes but this was no snake. No, no! We succeeded in getting him warmed, and all went well till morning.

We arose early, ate a hearty breakfast and left camp at 6 a. m. for Cooper's spur. I cannot describe the beauty of this climb. One must take the trip to appreciate the grand scenery. We reached the top of the spur at nine a. m., and waited there till the mountain climbers came up. Prof. Henderson, wishing to make a collection of plants, went to work, while Mr. Mitchell and myself watched the party start up the snow-clad peak. We watched them about an hour and then started for camp, passing the professor on our way down. Not unlike boys we rolled rock down onto the glaciers for a while. On our way to camp we found a lot of conching sleds, and Mr. Mitchell proposed trying his luck at boy play that evening, to which I consented to help. So about 4 p. m. we left the professor sleeping and started for the snow, got our sleds, and on the 13th day of August we actually enjoyed ourselves coasting as only boys can.

Next morning we arose early, ate breakfast and started for home, finding it delightfully pleasant coming down. We again camped at the bridge for dinner. There we found the Miss Grahams keeping hotel and Mr. Oscar Straubman and family camped. On our way from there, and near Mr. Booth's place, we killed a rattle snake. The next place of importance was Mr. Booth's orchard. Mr. Mitchell being an old army forager, in company with Mr. Booth, succeeded in getting a bucketful of fine peaches, which we all enjoyed. We arrived home at 6 p. m., dusty and tired, but well pleased with the trip, and if spared will go again. J. F. ARMOR.

Sleep Ordered from the Reserve.

Special Agent Dixon, who has been at Mt. Hood, notifying sheepmen and other stockmen to take their stock off the Cascade reservation, returned from there Monday on his way to Oregon City. He was two weeks on the mountain and found 20 bands, containing probably 40,000 sheep. He notified all stockmen to take their sheep off the reserve, and most of them are complying with his orders as fast as they can conveniently do so. At the head of Mill creek, from where the city of The Dalles is supplied with water, the sheep have eaten up every green thing within reach and even browse the young firs. The country presents a most desolate appearance. Thickets of underbrush have been browsed till they present the appearance of having been swept by fire, and where once was grassy slopes now barren and dusty hillsides appear. If citizens of The Dalles could view the source of their water supply, where thousands of sheep have been crossing and recrossing Mill creek, the sight and smell of that locality would give their drinking water a flavor of sheep that could be detected in every swallow. Mr. Dixon posted the following notice, printed on muslin, at points where he thought it would do the most good:

Department of the Interior,
General Land Office,
Washington, D. C., April 14, 1896.
Public notice is hereby given that these lands are set apart and reserved as a forest reservation, by proclamation of the president of the United States, under authority of the act of congress of March 3, 1891.

This reservation is made for the benefit of the adjoining communities, being created to maintain a permanent supply of water for irrigation and of wood for local use by a rational protection of the timber thereon. All persons are hereby warned not to settle upon, occupy or use any of these lands for agricultural, prospecting, mining or other business purposes; nor to cut, remove or use any of the timber, grass or other natural product thereof, except under such regulations as may be hereafter prescribed.

No person shall start or kindle or allow to be started or kindled, any fire in the timber, grass or undergrowth on these lands, or commit any other waste thereon; and the driving, feeding, grazing, pasturing or herding of cattle, sheep or other live stock within this reservation, is strictly prohibited.

Bona fide settlers having properly initiated their claims prior to the withdrawal of the lands for said reservation, and actual owners of lands within the reserve, may pass to and from their claims or property, but will not be allowed to occupy or use lands within the reservation outside of their claims, nor to use, damage or destroy any timber or other natural product of such lands.

Any person violating these regulations will be prosecuted for trespass, and will be held responsible pecuniarily for any waste or damage, whether done intentionally or caused by neglect.

All law-abiding citizens are requested to report any cases of trespass upon said forest reserve that may come to their knowledge, and to assist in the prosecution of such trespassers.

S. W. LAMOREUX,
Commissioner.

Two Lives Saved.

Mrs. Phoebe Thomas of Junction City, Ill., was told by her doctors she had consumption and that there was no hope for her, but two bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery completely cured her, and she says it saved her life. Mr. Thos. Eggers, 139 Florida st., San Francisco, suffered from a dreadful cold, approaching consumption, tried without result everything else, then bought one bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery and in two weeks was cured. He is naturally thankful. It is such results of which these are samples, that prove the wonderful efficacy of this medicine in coughs and colds. Free trial bottles at Hood River Pharmacy. Regular size 50c and $1.

Persistent Riding on the Bicycle, it is said, swells the muscles of the foot, thickens the bones, spreads the joints, destroys the contour of the ankle, broadens the heel, and in short, makes a bigger foot.

August 18th, just one week after the hottest day of the season, snow fell in Philadelphia and there was a light frost in portions of Pennsylvania.

Better Times in Sight.

One day last week, Frank Caddy, going from town, met a populist friend who lives not a thousand miles from the state road. "Hello," said pop, as he brought his cynuses to a stop, "what's the news?"

"News? Well, let's see," said Caddy—"did you hear about Bryan's last circular letter?"

"No; I ain't taking no paper now but the GLACIER. Guess I'll have to subscribe for some good populist paper that gives all the news."

"Well, times you know, have been pretty tough," said Caddy; "but they will soon be better. They are going to do away with all gold money."

"Is that so?" said pop. "Well, I'm glad of it. That's good."

"Yes," said Caddy, "and they're going to call in all the silver money."

"How can they do that?" asked pop. "Well, it will be this way: 'You send in a silver dollar and you will get in return two paper dollars and a year's subscription to the Farm, Field and Fireside and a package of garden seeds that will cost a dollar at any store in town. If you send in 50 cents in silver you will receive a paper dollar, the Farm, Field and Fireside 6 months and a can opener. If you send in two bits in silver you will receive the Farm, Field and Fireside 3 months and two can openers and a corkscrew. And if you send 10 cents in—'"

Remont of Pioneers.

Times-Mountaineer.

Friday night the hospitable doors of the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Brooks were thrown open to the old-time friends of Hon. and Mrs. E. D. Jocelyn, now of Colorado Springs, Colorado, pioneers of Oregon. The event was arranged and carried out as a surprise to the visiting pioneers. Among the first arrivals was Mrs. Mary J. Atwell of Cascade Locks, who settled at her present home on the Columbia 44 years ago today (Aug. 23d), and at whose frontier log cabin Mrs. Jocelyn was a guest on March 25, 1856, when the Indians made that famous outbreak that gave Lieut. Phil Sheridan his Oregon war experience. The little river steamer "Mary" had escaped under a storm of bullets from her anchorage near the present site of Stevenson, with barely sufficient fuel to get across the river to Atwell's, where the women and children, including Mrs. Atwell and Mrs. Jocelyn, were taken aboard, and the rails from around the little clearing were thrown aboard the steamer for fuel to last the trip up the river for safety at The Dalles, then a military post. Frontier reminiscences were of course in order and thoroughly enjoyed by all. Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Brooks were the earliest Oregon pioneers present, dating 1850. The Jocelyns, Mrs. Atwell and Mrs. Camilla Donald were of 1852.

M. J. Anderson of Dufur, one of the leading republicans of the county, has come out for Bryan and Sewal.

Montana can boast of the largest apple orchard. The Bitter Root Orchard Co. has 40,000 apple trees planted on 380 acres.

Jonathan Burne, jr., has resigned as secretary of the republican state central committee. O. N. Denny succeeds him as secretary.

Richard G. Closter, an old citizen of The Dalles, attempted suicide by shooting, August 21st. His most intimate friends could assign no reason.

The association championship race, the most important contest of the tournament, was won by The Dalles team at the fireman's tournament held in Astoria last week; time, 1:23 2-5. The Dalles has been selected as the place for holding the next fireman's tournament.

Times are living up at the Locks. The contractors have begun dredging at the upper end of the canal, and have put 40 stonecutters at work. The recent high water uncovered a fine quarry of granite on the bank of the river just north of the stone shed, which is being prepared for the inner walls of the canal.—Mountaineer.

Surveyor-General John C. Arnold died at his residence in Portland, Monday. Mr. Arnold came to Oregon in 1853, when only one year of age, and has resided in the state continuously since that time. He assumed the duties of surveyor-general of the state in September, 1894, having been appointed to that office by President Cleveland.

The Daily Dispatch is the title of a new morning daily paper which will be started in The Dalles during the first week of September. Mr. J. G. Miller will be editor and proprietor. The paper will be independent in politics. The plant will be the material of the old Sun office, now in Goldendale, and will be removed to The Dalles. It is the intention to take the Associated-Press dispatches.—Chronicle.

Old People.

Who require medicine to regulate the bowels and kidneys, will find the true remedy in Electric Bitters. This medicine does not stimulate and contains no whisky nor other intoxicant, but acts as a tonic and alterative. It acts mildly on stomach and bowels, adding strength and giving tone to the organs, thereby aiding Nature in the performance of the functions. Electric Bitters is an excellent appetizer and aids digestion. Old people find it just exactly what they need. Price 50c and $1 per bottle at Hood River Pharmacy.

Since 1878 there have been nine epidemics of dysentery in different parts of the country in which Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy was used with perfect success. Dysentery, when epidemic, is almost as severe and dangerous as Asiatic cholera. Heretofore the best efforts of the most skilled physicians have failed to check its ravages. This remedy, however, has cured the most malignant cases, both of children and adults, and under the most trying conditions, which proves it to be the best medicine in the world for bowel complaints. For sale by Williams & Brosius, druggists.

Hon. Geo. P. Frank, ex-mayor of Portland, died at his cottage at Long Beach, Saturday night, after a protracted illness. His death was not unexpected and was due to stomach trouble.

Belmont Notes.

Smoke is plentiful and ditch water scarce. Elton Haydon is home from the gold fields, loaded down with experience. The farmers are now busy cutting corn. Mr. Rogers is clearing a piece of ground for Mr. Savage. George and Lee Wilson are preparing ground for strawberries. Mr. Jas. F. Richardson is home from the harvest fields, and says he wants no more of that country. Mr. Newcomb's new house is completed. Mr. Tillett is busy collecting and soliciting. School begins in district No. 2, Sept. 7th, with J. T. Neff and Bess Isenberg as teachers. Mr. and Mrs. Mason and daughter, Joy, are stopping at the Armour house. Mr. Mason has purchased 80 acres on the East Side, known as the Little tract, and will have ten acres cleared immediately to plant in orchard. Mr. Isenberg has sold to Dave Gibbons part of the Peter Plum place, and Dave will begin raising strawberries. Mr. Jos. Purser is setting a lot of strawberry plants, but has lost a good many on account of no water. We hope the directors will get a move on them and keep the water running these dog days. Jerry.

Frightful Accident.

The three-year-old boy of Mr. Lauterbach, who keeps the store at White Salmon, was killed in a runaway at that place Wednesday. Mr. Lauterbach was driving down the grade to Rankin's landing with a load of lumber and had his two children with him on the wagon. The lumber pitched forward onto the horses, when they became unmanageable and started on a run down the hill. All three were thrown from the wagon; the little boy fell under the wheels and was crushed to death. The little girl escaped unhurt. Mr. Lauterbach was badly bruised but received no serious injury.
