

Hood River Glacier.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 25, 1906.

There is a great demand abroad this year for American apples, owing to the failure of the crop across the water. The steamship companies say that the season's shipments exceed those of any corresponding period in the past, and that space has been engaged for two months ahead. So heavy are the shipments promised for November and December that many of the companies expect to get as high as $1 a barrel for consignments by the fast liners, reaching their destination in time for the holiday trade. Up to last week, 602,780 barrels of American apples had been exported, as compared with 35,181 barrels for the same period last year. The fruit is so plentiful in the Eastern states that many of the growers have sent their entire crop to the seaboard for export. Prices prevailing in Europe at present promise a fair return to the shippers, even after the unusually high freight rates are paid. Snow apples, worth $1.50 a barrel in New York, sell for double the price in Liverpool and London. Holland pippins and fall pippins also are in great demand, although they are plentiful in New York at $1.20 a barrel. Large crab apples, which always have been popular in Europe, have netted shippers a good profit this season. The best fruit of this variety sold in London for $5 and $6 a barrel. Gravenstein apples also brought fancy prices. The strong demand for American apples in Europe this season will prevent their being brought from the Eastern states to the Pacific coast in great quantities, and prices here may be expected to remain good all winter.

Somebody is doing some tall lying in regard to the political situation these days. The men in charge of both the great parties are claiming every day that their respective candidates are sure winners. Those of us who are not privileged to see the returns that come to headquarters from canvassers in the field had better not wager too much on the word of these leaders. They know there is a large class of voters who like to vote for the winning candidate, and therefore make the best showing possible for their ticket. No one knows what the outcome of the election will be. Party lines have undergone considerable change in many of the larger states since the national conventions, and where no elections have since been held there is no basis for form estimates as to how these states will go. The men in charge of the campaign on both sides may have a pretty fair idea by this time how the elections will go, but the rest of us will know more after November 3d.

The people of Dufur are agitating the question of a railroad to that part of Wasco county. They should have a railroad, and it should be built from Dufur, passing up the valley of Fifteen-mile, thence crossing over to the valley of Hood River, down our fruitful valley to the mouth of the river, crossing the Columbia at this point, thence up the valley of the White Salmon to Thompson's Falls, thence across the country, passing through the fertile Camas Prairie to Goldendale. A railroad over this route would open up a wonderfully productive country and be a paying investment from the start. The country, we believe, would offer less obstacles to its construction than to a road winding around the hills from Dufur to The Dalles, or up the valley of the Klickitat from Lyle to Goldendale.

Wheat is selling in Portland at 78 cents per bushel for Willamette valley and 75 cents for Walla Walla. August 1st the price was 47 cents for valley and 2 cents higher for Walla Walla. It is expected by many that the price will go to one dollar before the end of the year. The crop that will be exported from the port of Portland is estimated will amount to 15,000,000 to 18,000,000 bushels. The advance in price is caused by a shortage of crops in Europe and elsewhere. Spain, India and Austria are already buying wheat of America, and South Africa will have to follow suit. Argentina has a poor crop, India has none for export, Austria's crop is a failure, and even Russia's is so far below the average as to be regarded as a failure. Everything seems to favor the wheat growers of the United States this year.

The locks at the Cascades will be opened for the passage of steamboats some time between the 1st and 15th of November. The Commercial Club of The Dalles will celebrate the event in proper manner.

The Moro Observer has entered upon its ninth volume. It has closed the account system and hereafter will not be sent to subscribers outside Sherman county unless paid for in advance.

Franklin Notes.
Work at the planer has been temporarily suspended on account of the bursting of the supply pipe to the engine, last Monday. The governor wheel of the engine flew off, which caused the steam to rush unchecked to the steam chest, the pressure being so great as to burst the supply pipe and send the steam chest flying through the roof of the engine house. Charley Miller was near the engine house at the time of the accident, and hearing the escaping steam, rushed in to turn it off, but turned the valve in the wrong direction. Claude Coppel appeared on the scene by this time, but seeing the condition of affairs, jumped behind the engine just in time to save himself from being hit by the steam chest as the supply pipe exploded.

Willie Ellis sustained a severe cut in the hand one day last week. He was sharpening a hoe with a file, when the file slipped and his hand was thrown against the sharp edge of the hoe, cutting an ugly gash in the palm.

Mr. S. C. Smith has moved his family onto the Fred Howe place, and Fred Howe and family now occupy the house in town vacated by Mr. Smith. Mr. Howe and Mr. Smith recently traded properties.

Rev. Moys, pastor of the M. E. church at Belmont, was given a pleasant donation party last Friday night. A goodly number of the people of the neighborhood, both young and old, gathered at the parsonage and enjoyed games and a good social chat, after which the ladies served refreshments.

The Wilkinson boys have rented a small piece of land of Mr. Scott Goorman, and are planting the same to strawberries.

The Money Question.
HOOD RIVER, Oct. 19, 1906.—Editor GLACIER: In your last issue I observe that one of "our friends the enemy" takes exceptions to a former communication of mine through the GLACIER columns. Evidently he is seeking light on these matters, and I believe that one more operation will remove the scales from his eyes.

He finds fault with my authority—the San Francisco Call. He of course does not know that the Call recently changed ownership and has ever since steadily opposed the fallacies of free silver; so nothing is gained by quoting what was said under its former ownership. The Examiner, by the way, which my friend accepts as gospel, is owned by a son of the late Senator Hearst. The estate which he has fallen heir to has been appraised at $9,000,000, of which some $9,000,000 are in silver mines. The same man also owns the New York Journal, another vociferous silver sheet. It is evident that the Examiner knows all too well "where it is at."

He proves to us that silver is not exactly free yet. His authorities in this, and at the time given, are no doubt reliable. The treasury department did right when it refused to allow both silver and the notes which represented it to be in circulation at the same time. If my friend doubts the ability of the government to supply him with silver at present, even with the mints closed against it, let him send in his good money. When he makes inquiries at the express office for the returns I would advise him to have along a wheelbarrow.

We will allow that the majority of voters differ honestly on the free coinage of silver. The silver masses naturally resent being called anarchists and tools of the silver miners. Likewise the grand army of voters that will elect McKinley in November refuse to be known as dupes of Wall and Lombard streets. There is a "golden mean" to this whole business.

While we are a mighty nation we do not constitute the whole earth. We must not forget that there is a well-rooted civilization across the Atlantic. We borrow money over there and are glad to get it. We traffic with them to enormous amounts. Is it not absurd to say that our monetary system can be radically different from theirs? Plainly, international agreement is the only solution to the matter. The popular demand for such agreement is so strong in this country, as well as among several other nations, a trial is almost sure to come in the near future. At the same time there are many honest men who have grave doubts whether an international fiat can make silver a favorite and permanent legal tender at the ratio of 16 to 1. For this country to attempt free coinage alone in the face of the whole civilized world, with whom we trade and to whom we are largely indebted, seems like an absurd proposition, and it is little wonder that sound-money men are sometimes tempted to say that our opponents are ready to risk a disastrous panic for the sake of winning and for the emoluments of office. GOLDSTANDARD.

Antelope Gerald.
That was a long, tiresome undertaking for Mr. F. N. Spicer when he packed a young lady on his back for a distance of four miles down Mt. Hood on August 24th, but now that Miss Killingsworth has about entirely recovered from her painful accident, and everything has turned out well, Mr. Spicer cannot believe but that things could have been a whole lot worse. After this task on Mt. Hood had been completed, Mr. Killingsworth, the young lady's father, wanted to pay Mr. Spicer for his trouble and pains, but the latter would accept nothing. So this week there arrived in Mr. Spicer's mail a plush case containing a beautiful gold watch, valued at probably $150. It is a hunting case watch, with a large diamond set in the back, and the inscription, "F. N. S., Aug. 24, 1896, Faye," on the face. On the inside case is an engraving of Mt. Hood, with appropriate inscriptions. It was a present from Mr. Killingsworth, and Mr. Spicer values it very highly. The watch will be a family keepsake.

A man of foreign birth, over the age of 21, who has declared his intentions to become a citizen of the United States at least 12 months prior to Nov. 3, 1896, is entitled to vote for presidential electors, and can vote in any county of the state in which he has resided for six months.

The feelings of the farmers who see the price of wheat bounding up after it is nearly all in the hands of the dealers can only be expressed in unprintable language.—St. Louis Republic.

Brooks, dealer in boots, shoes, etc., No. 18 Main street.

Marvelous Results.
From a letter written by Rev. J. Gundersman of Dimondale, Mich., we are permitted to make this extract: "I have no hesitation in recommending Dr. King's New Discovery, as the results were almost marvelous in the case of my wife. While I was pastor of the Baptist church at Rives Junction she was brought down with pneumonia succeeding in grippe. Terrible paroxysms of coughing would last hours with little interruption, and it seemed as if she could not survive them. A friend recommended Dr. King's New Discovery; it was quick in its work and highly satisfactory in results." Trial bottles free at the Hood River Pharmacy; regular size 50c and $1.

Electric Bitters.
Electric Bitters is a medicine suited for any season, but perhaps more generally needed when the languid, exhausted feeling prevails, when the liver is torpid and sluggish and the need of a tonic and alterative is felt. A prompt use of this medicine has often averted long and perhaps fatal bilious fevers. No medicine will act more surely in counteracting and freeing the system from the malarial poison. Headache, indigestion, constipation, dizziness yield to Electric Bitters. Fifty cents and one dollar a bottle at Hood River Pharmacy.

If your children are subject to croup, watch for the first symptoms of the disease—hoarseness. If Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is given as soon as the child becomes hoarse it will prevent the attack. Even after the croup cough has appeared the attack can always be prevented by giving this remedy. It is also invaluable for colds and whooping cough. For sale by Williams & Brostus, druggists.
