FRIDAY, AUGUST 6, 1897.

Company E of the Eighth Regiment of the New York National Guard has sent thirty-two men mounted on wheels for an eight days' trip on Long Island. The men wore their regular blue army blouses and campaign hats, with crash knickerbockers and black stockings. Each man carried a puncher strapped on top of his handle bar, and his rifle was strapped lengthwise along the wheel, with the muzzle pointing to the front. The soldiers carried their haversacks, canteens, and tin cups swung over their shoulders. Each man's accoutrements weighed sixty-five pounds. The company will conduct a series of experiments to prove the efficiency of a bicycle corps.

Ex-Senator James R. Doolittle of Wisconsin died at Providence, R. I., July 27th, aged 82. Mr. Doolittle was one of the seven patriotic republican senators who voted against the impeachment of President Johnson and saved his party from committing an act that in the light of history would now be considered a crime. Andrew Johnson was the leader of his party in Tennessee, and his loyalty during the rebellion served to make the Union sentiment strong in that state. He probably did as much as any man to save the Union.

Nansen's, Hall's, Kane's and all the other Arctic expeditions have brought back information showing that the wind rushes into the polar basin from the south, but that none flows out. That being the case, Andree's plans will miscarry. All things favorable he will arrive at the pole, but may never get out during the summer season, because of the lack of the current, which he expected would carry him over and back to civilization.

Forest Fires.

For the information of all concerned, attention is called to the following act of Congress, approved February 24, 1897, entitled "An act to prevent forest fires on the public domain."

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That any person who shall wilfully or maliciously set on fire, or cause to be set on fire, any timber, underbrush, or grass upon the public domain, or shall carelessly or negligently leave or suffer fire to burn unattended near any timber or other inflammable material, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction thereof in any district court of the United States having jurisdiction of the same, shall be fined in a sum not more than five thousand dollars or be imprisoned for a term of not more than two years, or both.

Sec. 2. That any person who shall build a camp fire, or other fire, in or near any forest, timber, or other inflammable material upon the public domain, shall, before breaking camp or leaving said fire, totally extinguish the same. Any person failing to do so shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction thereof in any district court of the United States having jurisdiction of the same, shall be fined in a sum not more than one thousand dollars, or be imprisoned for a term of not more than one year, or both.

Sec. 3. That in all cases arising under this act the fines collected shall be paid into the public-school fund of the county in which the lands where the offense was committed are situate.

Approved, February 24, 1897.

Letter from C. J. Hayes.

In Camp Near Fossil, Or., July 31.—Editor GLACIER: Through the medium of your paper we wish to say to our friends that we are alive. Our transition from downy beds to Mother Earth (as bed springs), and from tables of luxury to the menu of camp, was not so pleasant, yet, as good soldiers, we can adapt ourselves to the surroundings. We have already completed the examination of one contract and are now on our way to others in Grant county. Scott Boorman, E. W. Udell and your humble servant are looking hale and hearty. We are nearly over our colds incident to the change of sleeping apartments; have become thoroughly alkali'd, and are now ready for the next. Were we looking for scenery we need go no further, and we have concluded people need not go to Europe for scenic beauty. Northwest and south of Condon there are hills, yes, mountains, gorges, defiles, etc., that are grand. I cannot look upon them without awe and wonder. You may call them the work of God or Nature; no matter, they are there, and logically establish a grand first cause; yet we are told we have just begun our sight seeing. The weather is warm days and cool nights. We see thousands of head of cattle feeding upon the hills and wonder what they find to eat. Horses are to be seen upon the highest peaks, fat and sleek. Sheep are now in the mountains, being herded. Cattle are being sold here to be taken to Montana and Dakota. What a wonderful country! What a grand state is our adopted state of Oregon!

C. J. HAYES.

Mr. D. C. Ireland, publisher of the Moro (Sherman county) Observer, is registered at the Perkins. He intends to pass next winter at Washington during the congressional session. "Personal" in Monday's Oregonian.

Wednesday night Prof. S. E. McClure, who held the chair of chemistry in the state University at Eugene, while descending from the summit of Mt. Rainier, lost his footing and fell 600 feet, being killed instantly. The body was recovered Thursday and was taken to Eugene for burial. Prof. Mc-

Clure was born in Eugene 36 years ago, graduated from the state University in 1883, and after having spent a year at Harvard was elected to a professorship in the University.

Cloud Cap Inn.

The season at Cloud Cap Inn opened earlier than usual this year. Since July 1 there has been a stream of people arriving at the inn from all parts of the United States, and most of them have made the ascent to the summit of the mountain. In Europe people go thousands of miles to see the glorious sunrises and sunsets amidst the snow-capped peaks, and yet the views from the Alpine mountains or anywhere else cannot be grander than that from Cloud Cap Inn.

The inn is a picturesque hostelry, built of silver-fir logs, and rooted securely on the edge of a precipice on the north side of Mt. Hood. It is located a short distance from the perpetual ice and snow of the Elliot glacier. The view from the inn is magnificent. Spread before the eyes is a great panorama, containing the Coast range and Olympic range of mountains, and in the distance and apparently towering above, the St. Helens, Adams and Rainier peaks. The valleys spread between the mountain ranges, water-courses, forests and every feature that enters into the make-up of the state is presented in one sweeping glance. Residents of the coast who take pride in Western scenery would do well to make this trip, so that whenever they come in contact with those who are ready with praise of foreign attractions, the merits of native scenery may be maintained.

The trip to the inn is not hazardous nor fatiguing. If one is inclined to scale the summit, careful arrangements have been made so that no particular danger is incurred. There are none of the trying discomforts that are usual in climbing a mountain of such great height. The inn affords the convenience of a well-ordered hotel. Hot and cold-water baths, sumptuous fare, and all the necessities that are appreciated after a mountain climb are to be had. As would be expected, the air is pure and cool, and the water is like crystal.—Oregonian.

Where's the New Trough?

EDITOR GLACIER: The old dilapidated watering trough near my drug store is a disgrace to Hood River. When the soldiers were here it was almost impossible for them to fill their canteens from a rotten, leaking trough filled with sand, and I heard them cursing the enterprise(?) of Hood River officials. Supervisor Watson promised me long ago to put in a new trough. Long since he said he had a new trough made but lacked a team to haul it up. I offered him the use of my team any day he wanted it, free of charge. That was the last of it. Has the trough really been made? If so, where is it, and has the cost of it been charged up to the taxpayers? Men and good looking women are driving up to the trough every day with teams half famished for water, when all they can do is to lick a little wet sand. I want the public to quit blaming me and place the responsibility where it belongs.

Rev. J. L. Hershner will be at home today and will fill his pulpit on Sunday morning, speaking on the subject, "The Great Christian Endeavor Convention at San Francisco."

After a pleasant two-weeks' stay in Hood River, Miss Florence Champlin and Miss Murray returned to Portland yesterday on the boat.

Mrs. Bert Graham is now book-keeper for Wolfard & Bone.

The mercury went up to 92 in Hood River Tuesday afternoon. At The Dalles it went to 95.

The M. E. quarterly meeting at Belmont next Sunday will be a basket meeting. Everybody invited. Bring your baskets.

The ladies' aid society of the U. B. church will serve ice cream and cake tomorrow (Saturday) afternoon and evening under the oak near the post office.

Col. Hartley went to The Dalles Tuesday to help Mr. Andrews load some cattle for shipment on the cars. Being short a few head, he hired a live horse and went out towards Mosier to purchase enough to make up the carload. While leading a steer with the rope rope got under his horse's tail and the horse commenced to buck and fell with him on a side hill, rolling over Col. Hartley. He was picked up insensible and for two hours was blinded. He came home on the boat next day and has since felt pretty well used up, but is around as usual.

Jas. Ellison, night operator at Bonville, was in Hood River during the week.

The infant child of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Raud got hold of some concentrated lye on Wednesday, and it was thought for a while it had swallowed some of the lye, but it was found that only the child's lips were burned.

Rev. John Evans, pastor of the M. E. church at Dufur, was in Hood River Thursday, visiting Rev. Rigby and family.

Rev. J. W. Rigby's horse was killed on the railroad track, near the ice house, Wednesday night.

Mrs. W. H. Perry went to Portland Monday, taking with her her two grand children, who have been making quite an extended visit with Mrs. Perry.

Miss Rhoda Duval Failing, who has been visiting Miss Henrietta Elliot, returned to her home in Portland Monday.

E. C. Mooney takes the place of H. Henn while the latter is on his vacation. J. M. Hayden is night operator.

A Kansas Philosopher on Pork.

El Dorado Republican.

No man who lives on meat was ever known to lick his wife or ask for a divorce. Adam got into a row, right off, because he had no hog meat, butter, or black bass, Napoleon lost Waterloo because the allied force had bacon for breakfast the morning of the fight. The French had vegetable soup. The South had to give in at Appomattox because they were out of meat. No war can be successfully waged without hog meat.

Americans are the most frisky people on the earth, because they eat the most hog meat.

Ingalls would have gone back to the Senate had he not lived on oatmeal, baked apples, and blind robins.

A vegetable diet woman is as cold and clammy and unlovable as a turnip. If you wish to put roses in the cheeks of your girls, vitality in their every motion, and brains in their heads, feed them meat.

If you want your boy to get a job and hold it, go to the front and amount to something, give him bacon grease, ham fat or tallow, three times a day.

The world is full of cranks who are always getting up some new fad about hay soup or corn fodder tea.

The stewards in the Methodist church at Albertsville, Ala., finding their church revenues insufficient, have levied an annual tax of $10 on each tobacco-chewing member of the congregation. The plan is said to work admirably and to bring in a goodly revenue.

A little girl named Madeline Teas of Kansas City was combing her hair with a celluloid comb when it burst into flame and severely burned her hand.

Mrs. Nora L. Byron, postmistress of Middlefield, Mass., is under arrest charged with opening letters. She was recently married and opened letters to see what the neighbors were saying about her.

A few hogs are needed on every fruit farm to eat up unmarketable fruit. Every little prune, every scabby prune, every "frog," should be saved for hog feed instead of being sent to the market. It has been shown by C. E. Hoskins and others that it pays to dry all these inferior prunes and inferior fruit of all kinds for hog feed if there is more of it than can be utilized in that way while fresh. The meat of hogs grown on a mixed diet of clover, skim-milk, cull fruit, potatoes, etc., is incomparably better than that of hogs fed on corn alone.—Rural Northwest.

Did you notice how pure and white Soap Foam washing powder looks? Fine timothy hay sold on the streets of Portland last week as low as $8 a ton. The Pacific Farmer says the increased yields reported from second crops and the cutting of grain for hay, which insures about an average tonnage, is one of the principal causes for this drop.

Don't nauseate your stomach with teas and bitter herbs, but regulate your liver and sick headache by using those famous little pills known as DeWitt's Little Early Risers. Williams & Brosius. The editor of the Fossil Journal killed a rattlesnake in his back yard, where his two-year-old child was at play. Rattlesnakes are plentiful in Gilliam county this year and gave the Journal several good items for its last issue.

"They don't make much fuss about it." We are speaking of DeWitt's Little Early Risers, the famous little pills for constipation, biliousness and all stomach and liver troubles. They never gripe. Williams & Brosius.

When the clergyman in a marriage ceremony at Binghamton, N. Y., asked the bridegroom if he was willing to take the young lady for his wife, he scratched his head and said: "Yes, I'm willing, but I'd much rather have her sister." This so incensed the bride that she jerked away from him and refused to have the ceremony go on. The friends of both parties then interceded, and after much coaxing the ceremony was proceeded with.

Jno. Griffin of Zanesville, O., says: "I never lived a day for 30 years without suffering agony, until a box of DeWitt's Little Early Risers cured my piles." For piles and rectal troubles, cuts, bruises, iteet, eczema and all skin troubles, DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salva is unequalled. Williams & Brosius.

Spencer Wilbur of Hawleytown, N. Y., hit upon a novel method of getting rid of his neighbors' chickens. He wrote a number of cards: "I am likely to be shot," "Keep me at home," "I've been scratching up my neighbor's garden," &c. To each of the cards he attached a thread and at the other end a kernel of corn. The hens swallowed the corn and returned home labelled with the cards, every one having a sign hanging out of its mouth.

Burning, itching skin diseases instantly relieved by DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salva, unequalled for cuts, bruises, burns. It heals without leaving a scar. Williams & Brosius.

Remarkable Cure of Chronic Diarrhoea.

In 1882, when I served my country in a private in Company A, 167th Pennsylvania Volunteers, I contracted chronic diarrhoea. It has given me a great deal of trouble ever since. I have tried a dozen different medicines and several prominent doctors without any permanent relief. Not long ago a friend sent me a sample bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy; and after that I bought and took a 50 cent bottle; and now I can say that I am entirely cured. I cannot be thankful enough to you for this great Remedy, and recommend it to all suffering veterans. If in doubt write me. Yours gratefully, Henry Steinberger, Allentown, Pa.
