FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 10, 1897.

Saturday, the Oregon congressional delegation, after a week's consultation at Portland, agreed upon the following recommendations for appointments to federal offices:

United States district attorney—John H. Hall of Portland.
United States marshal—Zoeth Houser of Umatilla county.
Appraiser of customs, Willamette district, at Portland—Colonel Owen Summers of Portland.
Register of United States land office at Oregon City—T. T. Geer of Marion county.

These appointments seem to have been made with a view to strengthening the political fences of our congressmen more than the fitness of the men named for the different positions. The selection of John H. Hall for United States district attorney shows that ex-Senator Mitchell is still a power behind the throne if he don't set there himself. Zoeth Houser, a comparatively new man in the race, gets the marshalship, while Col. O. Summers, one of the leading applicants for marshalship, is selected for appraiser of customs. Col. Summers' appointment is expected to satisfy the Grand Army, while Houser will make Ellis solid in Umatilla county, where Judge Fee, his rival for congress next spring, resides. T. T. Geer, who has been an aspirant for collector of customs, is given the insignificant plum of register of the Oregon City land office, which it is not likely he will accept. Mr. Geer is one of the strongest men in the state before the people, and if he doesn't get the collectorship, which it is supposed is being reserved for Senator Patterson of Marion, his chances are good for being the next congressman from the district now represented by Thos. H. Tongue.

Bank clearings evince the proof of business improvement in the Pacific northwest. In the reports for the past two weeks Portland has been either first or second of all the cities of the country in the percentage of gain in clearings. The reports show that the amount of business done in Portland is equal to and in excess of that of three cities, Seattle, Tacoma and Spokane. For the week ending September 3d the bank clearings of Portland amounted to $1,927,126, while the combined clearings of the three cities mentioned amounted to only $1,913,354.

A gentleman at present a resident of Hood River, and who is one of the grand army of independent voters, in discussing in Crowell's store, Monday morning last, the good times that seem to have come suddenly upon the country, remarked that it was tiresome to hear men claim it was all on account of the Dingley law. "The man who can claim all this on account of the tariff," he said, "is like the cock that crows in the morn taking upon himself all the glory of the coming day."

The Church Record, published in the interests of the First Congregational church of Portland by Geo. H. Himes, closed its first volume with the issue of September 6th. The Record is small, but it gives every week, in the best style of the printer's art, news that is valuable to members of the church.

A meeting of the new board of directors of the O. R. & N. Co. was held in Portland last Friday, at which A. L. Mohler, present manager, was elected president of the company, to succeed E. McNeill.

"The Country Is in No Danger."
William McKinley, president of the United States, and therefore commander in chief of their armies and their navies, addressing at Buffalo a great congregation of the grand old veterans of the civil war, of whom he is worthily one, exclaimed: "What defenders, my countrymen, have we now? We have the remnant of this old, magnificent, matchless army of which I have been speaking and then as allies in any future war we have the brave men who fought against us on southern battlefields. The army of Grant and the army of Lee are together. They are one now in faith, in hope, in fraternity, in purpose and in an invincible patriotism, and, therefore, the country is in no danger. In justice strong, in policy secure, and in devotion to the flag all one."

"The country is in no danger."
Were it menaced by any foreign foe there would spring to its defense, like Minerva from the brain of Jove, full armed, not alone the surviving legions of Grant and Lee, but also soldiers in twice that number, for America has now a population twice as large as when this country engaged in internecine strife in the most stupendous war of history.

"The country is in no danger."
Let us bear this calm and truthful remark of President McKinley full in mind. "The country is in no danger." Taught by the events of the civil war, all civilization learned to look upon the republic of North America as a great military nation. This lesson learned thirty years ago is more impressive

now. The United States, increasing in population, have increased in resource, and if they stood naked to the world, yet they are invincible. This country is in no danger.

President McKinley never uttered a truer statement. It was said in the presence of men who know what the dangers of war are and who, though they may have passed the time of active service, have begotten for their country men who would be swift to rush to its defense. The country is in no danger. This glorious truth carries with it an important lesson.

The country is in no danger; therefore, there is no need of tremendous expenditure of the people's money for coast defenses that in time will become as obsolete and worthless as any of the defenses erected by the nascent republic at the beginning of the century and now totally useless for any purposes of defense. The country is in no danger; therefore, there is no need of an increase of its already puissant navy. The country is in no danger; therefore, all the need urged by strategists for seizing and holding Hawaii, 2,000 miles toward the setting sun, falls to the ground.

The country is in no danger; therefore, we ought fully to cultivate the arts of peace and concern ourselves not at all about the arts of war or about that territorial aggrandizement that breeds strife and burdens the people. The country is in no danger; therefore let us pursue the paths of peace that our people may be happier, the fruit of their toil more secure and that they may be true to themselves as to the teachings of the Prince of Peace and the dictates of humanity.

The country is in no danger nor will it be so long as all its ways are the ways of gentleness and all its paths are peace. So long as we are just to ourselves and just to others so long will there be no danger to the country from aggression from any quarter of the globe.—Chicago Chronicle.

Mrs. Mary C. Bills died at Mosier, September 1st, aged 87 years.
Certainly you don't want to suffer with dyspepsia, constipation, sick headache, sallow skin and loss of appetite. You have never tried DeWitt's Little Early Risers for these complaints or you would have been cured. They are small pills but great regulators. Williams & Brosius.

A suit of the receiver of the National bank of Arlington against the National bank of Heppner was decided last week in Judge Bellinger's court. The case involved a number of mortgages on sheep, that were ordered paid. Frank McFarland of Heppner held a mortgage to the amount of $2,513.55.
To heal the broken and diseased tissues, to soothe the irritated surfaces, to instantly relieve and to permanently cure is the mission of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. Williams & Brosius.
About two weeks ago J. B. Haverly of Boyd got into a dispute with Tom McCoy at The Dalles and was struck over the head with a billiard cue. At the time it was thought no serious damage was done, but it has since developed that Haverly received injuries of a serious nature, and it is reported that his skull was fractured and there is little hope of his recovery.

Boys' and men's suits from $1.50 up, at Wolfard & Bone's.
Did you notice how pure and white Soap Foam washing powder looks?
The Klickitat Agriculturist says forest fires have been so severe in the western end of that county that they interfered with travel on the roads. The stage driver between White Salmon and Glenwood had the hair scorched from his horses' sides in a successful effort to put the mail through on schedule time.

Moments are useless if trifled away; and they are dangerously wasted if consumed by delay in cases where One Minute Cough Cure would bring immediate relief. Williams & Brosius.
The Observer says farming in Sherman county is more profitable this year and far more preferable than chasing after gold in Klondike. The harvesters are turning out 25,000 sacks daily.

Running sores, indolent ulcers and similar troubles, even though of many years' standing, may be cured by using DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. It soothes, strengthens and heals. It is the great pile cure. Williams & Brosius.
If you have ever seen a little child in a paroxysm of whooping cough, or if you have been annoyed by a constant tickling in the throat, you can appreciate the value of One Minute Cough Cure, which gives quick relief. Williams & Brosius.

The "Bicyclist's Best Friend" is a familiar name for DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve, always ready for emergencies. While a specific for piles, it also instantly relieves and cures cuts, bruises, salt rheum, eczema and all affections of the skin. It never fails. Williams & Brosius.
Small precautions often prevent great mischiefs. DeWitt's Little Early Risers are very small pills in size, but are most effective in preventing the most serious forms of liver and stomach troubles. They cure constipation and headache and regulate the bowels. Williams & Brosius.

No man or woman can enjoy life or accomplish much in this world while suffering from a torpid liver. DeWitt's Little Early Risers, the pills that cleanse that organ, quickly. Williams & Brosius.
It Saves the Crony Children.
Seaview, Va.—We have a splendid sale on Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and our customers coming from far and near speak of it in the highest terms. Many have said that their children would have died of croup if Chamberlain's Cough Remedy had not been given.—Kellam & Ourren. The 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by Williams & Brosius.

The duties of the several committees are defined as follows:
Music committee shall prepare music, both vocal and instrumental, and in conjunction with the executive committee shall arrange for evening entertainments.
Hall and tables committee shall secure the use of the armory building, secure lumber and construct such tables and benches as may be necessary.
The potted plant and cut flowers committees shall procure and furnish such plants and flowers as they can, and in connection with the decoration committee, shall see to the arranging of the same.
The decoration committee shall see to the decorating of the hall with bunting, flags, evergreens, etc.
The art and fancy work committee shall solicit exhibits in these lines and shall have charge of the same.
Reception committee shall solicit attendance at the fair so far as possible, and shall welcome all strangers and spectators.
Awards committee shall examine and compare all entries and award blue ribbons to the best of each kind. They shall have power, if disposed, to appoint sub-committees on vegetables, class B, and fancy work, class C.
Transportation committee shall do their utmost to secure the lowest reduced rates by boats, trains and livermen.
Advertising committee shall have full charge of all printing and advertising deemed necessary by the executive committee.

The several soliciting committees shall solicit exhibits of green fruits, dried and canned fruits, flowers and potted plants, art and fancy work, vegetables of all kinds, in their several localities and of others so far as opportunity affords.

RULES AND REGULATIONS.
1. The general supervision of the building and entire exhibition is vested in the president of the board.
2. The fair building will be open to receive exhibits on Tuesday, October 5, from 7 a. m. to 7 p. m., and nothing received later than this will be allowed to compete, as the awarding committee will begin their work Wednesday morning, October 6th.
3. Every article must be entered in the name of the grower or owner. Placards and advertising of localities will be allowed to a limited extent upon application to the secretary. Five silver medals will be awarded: One each for the best general exhibit of the following articles: Green fruits of all kinds; dried and canned fruits; vegetables of all kinds; flowers, both cut and potted; art and fancy work.
4. The committee on awards will attach blue ribbon to the best entry of all classes and report their decision immediately to the secretary, and names of successful contestants will be published.
5. No exhibits will be allowed to be taken away until after the fair closes.
6. All exhibits will be at owners' risk, but the officers will use every precaution that none are lost.
7. All entries will be free, as heretofore.
8. Admission, 25 cents for the entire fair; ladies and children free.
9. Each committee will confer with the executive committee and incur no debts or obligations without their approval and consent.
The O. R. & N. will give a rate of one fare for the round trip, both from The Dalles and Portland, including intermediate stations. Tickets will be on sale from October 5th to 7th inclusive, with a return limit of October 8th. The Regulator company will sell round-trip tickets from The Dalles at 50 cents; Portland, $2.
J. W. MORTON, Superintendent.
H. C. BATEHAM, Secretary.

Low Rates to the Fair.
The O. R. & N. Co. will make a one fare rate from all points on their lines in Oregon to the Oregon state fair, which opens September 30th and closes October 8th. A big harvest and a big fair. A clean, vigorous, delightful and comprehensive exposition of everything pertaining to the farm and the farmer. Good races and amusements of all kinds. Special attractions every day.
With the present crop prospects and the extremely low railroad rate of one fare for the round trip, the people of Oregon can afford to patronize the state fair that benefits all classes. Popular admission of 25 cents.

In Memoriam.

Whereas, Death has recently removed from our fraternal fellowship our beloved brother, John Parker; therefore,
Resolved, That we, the members of Riverside lodge, No. 68, A. O. U. W., sincerely deplore the loss of one of our oldest and most highly esteemed members, whose loyalty to our order never wavered and whose association to us will ever remain a pleasant memory.
Resolved, That we tender to the bereaved family our heartfelt sympathy and assure them that the protection of our noble order will not cease with Brother Parker's death, but will continue so long as we, his brothers, may survive him.
Resolved, That the above resolutions be spread on our journal and published in the GLACIER, and that an engraved copy be presented to Sister Parker.
