The School House Flag.

When our new school house was built it was found that no provision was made for a flag staff on the building. Mr. C. J. Crandall, the architect, at his own expense had a pole 33 feet long dressed and painted at The Dalles and shipped here for a flag staff for the school house, but in unloading the pole it was broken, and the pieces have since laid right where they were dropped from the wagon on the school grounds. A temporary staff was put up on the building, but it was never satisfactory, as the flag could not be raised without some one climbing to the roof. Recently the teachers of the school applied to the Grand Army and Relief Corps for assistance in getting a flag staff, permission being granted by the school directors to have one erected. Special meetings of the G. A. R. and W. R. C. were held last Saturday, at which a committee was appointed to take charge of the matter. The committee consisted of J. W. Rigby, L. Henry, A. S. Blowers and O. L. Stranahan from the G. A. R., and Mrs. J. H. Dukes, Mrs. George Crowell and Mrs. T. J. Canning from the W. R. C., who went to work at once and made arrangements for the flag raising. The original pole was brought to town and spliced and made strong with iron bands. Tuesday it was hauled to the school house, where O. L. Stranahan gave it a coat of paint and cut a hole in the roof where it will be set and braced in the gable of the building. The pole will be raised tomorrow (Saturday) at 10 o'clock, by members of the Grand Army and others, and at 2 o'clock the flag will be raised with appropriate exercises conducted by the W. R. C. and the teachers and pupils of the school. Everybody is invited to the flag raising at 2 o'clock.

Meeting of Executive Committee.

The executive committee of the Hood River fair held a meeting last Saturday, at which the following proceedings were had:

It was decided to have a baby show, and to award a medal to best baby.

Three additional names were added to the awards committee, as follows: P. F. Bradford, sr., F. H. Button and Wm. Boorman. This will relieve those who have exhibits of their own from passing on the merits of their own fruit.

The dates of holding the fair were changed to Thursday, Friday and Saturday, October 7th, 8th and 9th. Thursday will be entry day, and all exhibits must be in place on that day.

The chairman of the different committees are invited to meet with the executive committee at its next meeting, Saturday, at 2 p. m.

The secretary was instructed to invite the fruit growers of Mosier, White Salmon and Mt. Hood to make exhibits, individually or collectively, and space will be reserved therefor.

Classified Assessments.

At the last session of the grand lodge, A. O. U. W., there was adopted what is known as the classified assessment plan, dividing the membership into groups or classes of five years each and charging each class the mortality rates of its class, based upon the American expectancy tables. The membership advancing from one class to the other until they reach their fiftieth birthday, when the rate remains level thereafter, giving protection at current cost. The Oregon grand lodge also provided for reducing the number of assessments upon members over fifty years of age who have been continuously in the order for twenty years, thereby reducing the cost to the old man when his earning power decreases. This plan is a radical departure from the beaten paths of co-operative organizations, and the result will be watched with interest by all.

Surveyors Returned.

Capt. C. J. Hayes, Scott Boorman and Elijah Udell arrived home Sunday from Eastern Oregon, where Captain Hayes is examining government surveys. They came home sooner than they expected on account of the illness of Mr. Boorman, who was taken sick with malarial fever while the party was engaged in examining surveys in the Blue mountains, near Grand Ronde valley. Mr. Boorman was quite sick, but with good treatment at home he will soon be able to return to work. The party will leave The Dalles next Monday, going south to Warm Springs, where there is some work to do, and from there they will go to Southern Oregon.

Got in Its Work.

An explosion occurred in Bartness' store last week, which caused considerable excitement but was without fatal results. It appears that Mr. Bartness bought a keg of fresh cider and stored it away in the store, and then forgot all about it. After he had started for Eugene, last Friday, Mrs. Bartness and Alice Cleaver decided to have some cider. The premises were searched for the family faucet, which, like all family faucets, could not be found when wanted, and Mrs. Bartness concluded to tip the keg and draw the stopper while Alice held the cup. When about ready to draw the stopper the bung flew out, something like the illustration in the ad of Williams & Brostus, and about a gallon of the cider escaped and covered the two ladies and everything in reach. The cider got in its "work."

Our Fair.

Arrangements have been completed for holding a fair at Hood River on October 7th, 8th and 9th. It will be a repetition of the fair held there in the fall of 1895, which was one of the grandest fruit exhibits ever held in the state. Hood River has the material with which to get up a magnificent fruit fair, and the coming one promises to be something worthy of attention, for there will be exhibited the finest apples, peaches and pears produced anywhere in the world.—Mountaineer.

Bryan in a Collision.

EMPORIA, Kan., Sept. 8.—Three miles east of this city tonight occurred one of the worst wrecks in the history of the Santa Fe road. At least twelve men are killed and ten or twelve badly wounded. The wreck was the result of a collision. The Mexico and California train was pulled by two engines, and when they struck the fast mail the boilers of all three engines exploded and tore a hole in the track so deep that the smoking car of the west-bound train went on top of the wreck of the three engines and two mail cars. There it balanced without turning over. Passengers in this car, in escaping through the windows, came very near turning the car over, in which event the fatality would have been increased. The car caught fire and was burned to ashes in no time. The front door of this car overhung a terrible volume of smoke and steam, and the rear door was so tight that it would not open. In jumping out of the windows two or three passengers fell into the wreck underneath, and it is impossible to tell what happened to them. The west-bound train carried five coaches, all crowded. William J. Bryan, who had been speaking at Burlington, was in the rear car.

Mr. Bryan was one of the most active men in the crowd of rescuers. He helped to go through the wreck, braving the most terrible dangers, assisting in carrying out everyone of the dead and wounded men, and paying the greatest attention to their care. His cool head was valuable in pointing out dangers and directing how to avoid them. One man who was badly wounded called for Bryan and said: "I want to hear you today. I am dying now and want to shake your hand and say God bless you. If you possibly can, Mr. Bryan, get me a drink of water." Mr. Bryan went into the fast mail car, the end of which was burning, and got the water. He went into a car and brought out a cushion seat to make a pillow for another dying man. He was everywhere and assisting everybody, and was perfectly cool during all the terrible scenes.

What is reported to be a rich quartz strike has lately been discovered on Willow creek, near Heppner.
