The Crook County Journal says a man from The Dalles brought a wagon load of wormy apples to Prineville and disposed of the greater part of the load before the purchasers discovered the apples were wormy. When it was discovered that the apples were wormy, the purchasers demanded their money back, which the man was quick to refund after learning he was violating the law, and soon after left town. Crook county orchards have heretofore been free from codlin moth and other fruit pests, and the taking of that load of diseased apples into the county was an outrage that called forth a vigorous protest from the Journal. The man should have been arrested and fined to the full extent of the law.

The Pacific Farmer came last week pasted but not trimmed. Editor Lee threatened when he commenced to bind and trim his pages that if subscribers didn't pay promptly he would go back to the old style, and we presume they are not paying up very well. When Bro. Tozier was running the Weekly World he found a good many delinquent subscribers throughout the state titled Judge, Hon., Col. and Capt., and after sending them duns time and again without getting any remittances, he took sweet revenge by leaving off the handles to their names in addressing their papers. It's a cold day when an editor gets left.

It is announced that the committee of the social democracy which was appointed to select the place to plant the first colony left Nashville last Monday for the state of Washington. The plan is to select a state of which the social democracy can gain control at no very distant day and direct all the colonization to that state until the desired control is secured, when the work of peaceful conquest can be extended to other states.

The State bank of Davenport, Nebraska, closed its doors September 24th. The reason assigned was that it could not secure borrowers enough for its large surplus of deposits. It couldn't stand prosperity. It is said Nebraska banks have more than 70 per cent of their deposits in their vaults because of the great surplus in the state.

The Hood River fair will open next Thursday. Every exhibit must be in place on that date. We are all interested in a good display being made, and every one is expected to bring or send in samples of their fruit and vegetables.

If you are thinking of going to the city to purchase anything required on the farm, it will pay you to first call on our own merchants and see if your needs cannot be supplied as cheaply here at home.

Reports indicate that the wave of prosperity now flowing all over the United States, all on account of the Dingley law, has also reached Canada, and business is booming with our neighbors across the border.

Fred W. Wilson, lawyer, has hung out his shingle at The Dalles. Fred is one of the most talented young men in the county and will make a success of the law.

The Oregon press association meets at Baker City October 14th.

No picnic traveling on a pass in Alaska.

Betrothed.

The many Salem friends of Rev. Earl Wilbur of Portland will be pleased to hear that formal announcement has been made of his betrothal to Miss Dorothea Eliot, daughter of Dr. T. L. Eliot. They will be married this fall.—Salem Statesman.

Sad Accident at Mosier.

Wednesday of last week, Willie Waud, son of W. E. Waud of Dufur, while going home with his grandfather from the store at Mosier, started in a run toward the railroad track to see a train go by. Just as he reached the track he stumbled and pitched forward under the wheels of the engine. The train was stopped and the train hands got the boy out from under the wheels as quickly as possible. He was terribly mangled and was taken to the home of his grandparents, who at once summoned Dr. Brosius, and in accordance with his advice the boy was sent to The Dalles for treatment. Dr. Brosius called to his assistance Drs. Hollister and Logan, and it was found that every member of the boy's body was injured and he died next day. The accident, though a deplorable one, was one for which no one could be blamed, as the engineer could not have avoided it under any circumstances.

Freaks of Nature.

There will be a table at the fair devoted to abnormal growths of both fruit and vegetables. This is likely to be a very interesting feature of the fair, and farmers are requested to bring in any odd or curiously shaped potatoes, carrots or other vegetables, double apples, prunes, etc. Overloaded branches of fruit will help to grace the table.

Mrs. Mary A. Porter died at her home three miles south of The Dalles September 24th, aged 57.

Congregationalists Enjoy Chickens.

HOOD RIVER, Sept. 29, 1897.

Editor GLACIER: In times past it has been understood that Methodists, particularly ministers, have as a class a peculiar partiality for chickens of the yellow-legged variety. In this they are certainly not alone. The Congregationalists, ministers included, can hold their own if their conduct at the grouting tables in the A. O. U. W. hall at noon to-day, spread by the hospitable ladies of Hood River, is any evidence of their gustatory powers. One home missionary superintendent took a large supply of every thing in sight, chicken being the first course, and then finished with more chicken pie; it would sound scandalous if the number who followed his example was given. In numerous cases it seemed as if individuals had been living on quarter rations for some time, so that upon arriving here they might show how keen an appreciation they had of the good things provided to satisfy the wants of the inner man.

"The Bridge of the Gods."

Mrs. Gertrude Balch Ingalls writes from Hood River to the Pacific Farmer asking to make some corrections in the editor's review of her brother's book, "The Bridge of the Gods," by Rev. F. H. Balch. She says: The scene of the story is laid at least 200 years ago. "The Bridge of the Gods" is founded on an Indian legend which had been handed down in all the Columbia river tribes, of an actual, natural bridge which at one time spanned the Columbia, not at The Dalles, but at the place where the Cascades are now. The fall of the bridge is supposed to have caused the present obstruction of the river at that place, and as there are a great many proofs of this bridge having existed, it is accepted by many as a historical fact. I am glad to have this opportunity of saying the above, because it answers questions frequently sent to me concerning the book.

Rev. Henry Moys, the new pastor of the Prineville Methodist church, accompanied by his wife and father-in-law, Dr. N. H. Clark, arrived here from his late charge at Belmont, Hood River, on the 10th and addressed his new flock Sunday morning and evening. The storming of the discourse was a very practical and interesting relation of the mutual duties of pastor and people and was based on the motto text from 1st Samuel 17, 45, being the words of David to the haughty champion of the invading Philistines: "I come to thee in the name of the Lord of hosts."—Journal.

Certainly you don't want to suffer with dyspepsia, constipation, sick headache, sallow skin and loss of appetite. You have never tried DeWitt's Little Early Risers for these complaints or you would have been cured. They are small pills but great regulators. Williams & Brosius.

Col. Sinnott of the Umatilla house, The Dalles, has gone to St. Vincent hospital, where he will undergo treatment for a rupture of long standing that has lately given him trouble.

To heal the broken and diseased tissues, to soothe the irritated surfaces, to instantly relieve and to permanently cure is the mission of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. Williams & Brosius.

Moments are useless if trifled away; and they are dangerously wasted if consumed by delay in cases where One Minute Cough Cure would bring immediate relief. Williams & Brosius.

A bad wreck occurred on the O. R. & N., eight miles east of Grant, at 1 o'clock Monday morning. Engineer Charles Johnston was killed and Fireman Hockman so badly injured that he died next day. The accident was caused by sand drifting and covering the track.

Running sores, indolent ulcers and similar troubles, even though of many years' standing, may be cured by using DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. It soothes, strengthens and heals. It is the great pile cure. Williams & Brosius.

One of the features of the Hood River fair, October 9th, will be a baby show, at which will be awarded two medals. After advertising this show one week the GLACIER has chronicled six births. Who says judicious advertising does not pay?—Eugene Register.

If you have ever seen a little child in a paroxysm of whooping cough, or if you have been annoyed by a constant tickling in the throat, you can appreciate the value of One Minute Cough Cure, which gives quick relief. Williams & Brosius.

The "Bicyclist's Best Friend" is a familiar name for DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve, always ready for emergencies. While a specific for piles, it also instantly relieves and cures cuts, bruises, salt rheum, eczema and all affections of the skin. It never fails. Williams & Brosius.

Small precautions often prevent great mischiefs. DeWitt's Little Early Risers are very small pills in size, but are most effective in preventing the most serious forms of liver and stomach troubles. They cure constipation and headache and regulate the bowels. Williams & Brosius.

No man or woman can enjoy life or accomplish much in this world while suffering from a torpid liver. DeWitt's Little Early Risers, the pills that cleanse that organ, quickly. Williams & Brosius.

The Wholesome Peach.

"Rounder" in Sunday Welcome.

Our city fruit stores, and most of our grocery stores, too, have recently been showing goodly quantities of fine peaches, and selling the same at reasonable prices. I rejoice because the peach, the luscious, juicy, fragrant fruit with its once again, and grave is the error of the woman who does not at least make one meal a day that is incomparable fruit. And why? Truly, for her complexion's sake. A basket of peaches contains more beauty-giving qualities in its depths than the contents of half a dozen cosmetic shops of the "beauty forever" type. They are good for the blood, good for the stomach and good for the liver. They are easily digested, that is, when ripe and yellow, and are an excellent tonic for the whole system at this time of the year; otherwise, indeed, we should not have them at this particular season, as Mother Nature never makes a mistake in her materia medica.

RULES AND REGULATIONS.

1. The general supervision of the building and entire exhibition is vested in the president of the board.
2. The fair building will be open to receive exhibits on Thursday, October 7, from 7 a. m. to 7 p. m., and nothing received later than this will be allowed to compete, as the awarding committee will begin their work Friday morning, October 8th.
3. Every article must be entered in the name of the grower or owner. Placards and advertising of localities will be allowed to a limited extent upon application to the secretary. Five silver medals will be awarded: One each for the best general exhibit of the following articles: Green fruits of all kinds; dried and canned fruits; vegetables of all kinds; flowers, both cut and potted; art and fancy work.
4. The committee on awards will attach premium cards to best entry of all classes and report their decision immediately to the secretary, and names of successful contestants will be published.
5. No exhibits will be allowed to be taken away until after the fair closes.
6. All exhibits will be at owners' risk, but the officers will use every precaution that none are lost.
7. All entries will be free, as heretofore.
8. Admission, 25 cents for the entire fair; ladies and children free.
9. Each committee will confer with the executive committee and incur no debts or obligations without their approval and consent.

The O. R. & N. will give a rate of one fare for the round trip, both from The Dalles and Portland, including intermediate stations. Tickets will be on sale from October 5th to 7th inclusive, with a return limit of October 8th. The Regulator company will sell round-trip tickets from The Dalles at 50 cents; Portland, $2.

Admission—Season tickets, 25 cents.

H. C. BATEHAM, Secretary.

His First Chance.

"Is there a man in this audience," fiercely exclaimed a Kansas female orator, "that has done anything to lighten the burden resting on his wife's shoulders? What do you know of woman's work? Is there a man here," she continued, folding her arms and looking over the audience with superb scorn, "that has ever got up in the morning leaving his tired wife to enjoy slumbers, gone quickly down stairs, made the fire, cooked his own breakfast, sewed the buttons on the children's clothes, darned the family stockings, scoured the pots, filled the lamps, and done all the rest if necessary, day after day uncomplainingly? If there is any such a man in this audience, let him rise up!" And in the rear of the hall a poor, thin, middle-looking man in spectacles, in obedience to the summons, timidly arose. He was the husband of the eloquent speaker. It was the first time he ever had a chance in his life to assert himself.

On the Skagway Trail.

"It's pretty tough, old man; but brace up, and don't cry, or you'll never get through."
"No; I'm not going to cry, but when I get home and tell my wife and children of this trip, if they don't cry I'll whip—out of every one of 'em."
