The continued low price for cotton is quality, ordinary yield and with fair prices, we are accordingly prosperous. A failure in either one of these points and we must suffer. Now, I am not going to say that this condition is as it should be. I believe it is as it should not be. No country that depends upon one or two kinds of crops can be prosperous. A number of applications are now on file in the office of the commissioners for the purchase of lands naturally adapted for landings, but the board has deferred action upon them until the attention of the legislature is called to the necessity of reserving for all time such landings for the free marks were entirely too previous if not sooner. The drouth is on apparently sooner. The drouth is on apparently to stay. One mile west of here is, or was, a well known spring which was always known as a never-failer, no mattensibly for repairs, two months ago. I passed by it a few months ago. The creek bed was dry as a bone. I took out my paraphrasing time piece and uttered: gives a report on Oregon weather of There was a little branch flowing nicely in its bread. If their wheat and corn failed they had oats, rye, barley, potatoes, timothy, clover, etc. These states never yielded the enormous crops of corn that Iowa, Kansas and Nebraska could raise, but, unlike these three sister states, they were independent.

There is a hint here that Hood River should take with profit. If this valley is peculiarly adapted to the raising of Clark's Seedling strawberries and big red apples, by all means use it for that purpose, but not that exclusively. If I was sure that hogs would be a good price next year it would not be policy to put all my resources into hogs, for they might die with the cholera.

Defining a Mugwump.

While attending the world's fair in Chicago, Mr. Richard Croker was introduced to an Englishmen, and in the conversation which ensued something tell you what a mugwump is. A mug-wump is a man in politics who never votes for anybody, but who is always voting against somebody." Mr. Croker went on to explain that it was the mugwumps who by voting against Blaine elected Mr. Cleveland to the presidency in 1884. He cited other in-stances in which mugwump opposition to a particular candidate had elected the man on the opposite ticket. the man on the opposite ticket.

A Cash Drug Store?

and the property of the second second

Can it be? Has it come at last? It has.

We will give you a show for your money, and credit customers can see how they like it. Our new plan is this: We will save you from 25 to 50 per cent of the present cost of all your Drugs, Medicines and Druggists' Sundries when you pay cash, and charge you the old prices when you have them charged. We are no cut rate (cut throat) Pharmacy; we aim to do a legitimate business at a profit, but the credit yampire is more than any business can stand forever, or even a small part of so long a time, and we wish to prove to you that the spot crsh plan pays, and to ourselves that you can appreciate its advantage. We shall not cut the prices of the so-called "Patent Medicines," as the "cut rate" stores do, and then palm off or persuade you into buying some imitation of them put up by ourselves or some other body, if you must dose yourselves with them; you pay your money and take your choice; but we will give you better medicines under that popular form, under the rightful manufacturers' labels, at such prices as will convince you that profits are not all made off of physicians' prescriptions.

Speaking of prescriptions, that's our business; we were educated to write them and know how to fill them, and guarantee that the ingredients shall be of the purest qualities only. And price! We will simply astonish you for cash. This is no bluff, but simple business. If we do not quote you a price, after you have ascertained elsewhere their probable cost, that will bring your proscriptions to us, we will take our medicine (not yours.)
