BRIEF LOCAL MATTERS.

The best assortment of Christmas goods at Nickelsen's. Wm. Yates, P. M., is authorized agent for all newspapers and periodicals. All the choicest vegetables of the season at the Columbia Packing Co.'s market. One Minute Cough Cure cures quickly. That's what you want! Williams & Brosius. A fine assortment of rocking chairs for Christmas, all sizes, from $1 up, at the furniture store. Mrs. Stewart came up from Portland last Friday and will visit with relatives during the holidays. Mrs. Geo. P. Crowell arrived home Monday, after a three-months' visit with relatives and friends in Minnesota. H. W. Wait brought a carrot to this office last week that weighs nine pounds. Now, let's hear from Hardscrabble. Miss Rose Ries of Mount Hood graduated as nurse in the St. Vincent hospital, Portland, December 16th, along with four other ladies. This time we have a hog story worth publishing. Mr. Wm. Ellis butchered a six-months' old hog, last week, that dressed 220 pounds. Who can beat it? Matt Russell came down from Wasco last Monday. It was his intention to take his sister Ada back with him to Wasco, but she is sick and couldn't go. Robert Leasure of Mt. Hood made final proof of his homestead at The Dalles land office Tuesday. His witnesses were D. C. Cooper and William Rodenhiser. F. H. Waits, general agent for the Monumental Bronze Co., Dufur, Or., will make periodical visits to Hood River. See his work in the cemeteries and then see him for terms. Some light-fingered person swiped a lot of handkerchiefs from the counter in Woodworth & Hanan's store last Thursday. The handkerchiefs were worth probably two or three dollars. Mr. C. J. Hayes last week purchased four boxes of W. J. Baker's finest Yellow Newtown apples, which were sent by T. S. Wright of Portland to Oregon's congressional delegation at Washington.

The Advent Christian church at Tucker's is nearing completion. It will be completed far enough to hold services in it on Christmas. Two ministers from Portland are expected to be present on that day.

Don't spend all your money buying Xmas presents for others but save it and buy yourself something needful, useful as well as ornamental by having your teeth fixed up by Dr. E. T. Carns on his next trip, January 1st. Office at Mt. Hood hotel.

Write to Davenport Bros. Lumber Co. for delivered prices on all kinds of lumber, rough or dressed. They have a large and good assortment of finishing lumber on hand, good and dry. Call and get our cash prices before purchasing elsewhere.

Mrs. Stark, Pleasant Ridge, O., says: "After two doctors gave up my boy to die, I saved him from croup by using One Minute Cough Cure." It is the quickest and most certain remedy for coughs, colds and all throat and lung troubles. Williams & Brosius.

The citizens of Frankton are in dead earnest about starting a cannery and say that if no move is made soon to start one in town it will be put up at Frankton. They are tired of shipping green fruit for the benefit only of commission men and transportation companies.

R. M. Hunt is putting up a fine quality of grated horseradish in the best of cider vinegar, which is for sale by the Columbia Packing Co. Mr. Hunt will go into the business of preparing this wholesome appetizer on a larger scale if he meets with the encouragement he deserves.

At the Frankton school house last Friday, in Prof. Neff's room, a literary programme was rendered, including a debate on the subject, "Resolved, That England had a right to attempt to suppress the rebellion in the colonies in 1776," which was decided in the negative. Thos. Calkins, Mel Foley and Roy Ellis spoke in the affirmative, and Walter Isenberg, Walter Hull and Elmer Campbell in the negative.

The editor couldn't afford to buy his wife any new furniture for Christmas, but fortunately he reads the ads in the GLACIER, and noticing that E. H. Pickard, the artistic painter and decorator, was prepared to renovate old furniture, he at once saw a chance to nudge his home look brighter with a small outlay. Mr. Pickard was called and did a neat job on the old furniture, which now looks like new. Call on Pickard, and you will be surprised, not alone at the transformation he will make in your home but also at the small cost to you.

Last Saturday morning Mr. S. W. Arnold went hunting. Soon after he left home a big wild cat came along and grabbed a chicken and with it crawled under the house. Mrs. Arnold tried to save the chicken and frighten the wild cat away by throwing sticks at it and finally punched it with a scuffling. The wild cat only curved his back and growled, while he held fast to the chicken. Mr. Friedly, the nearest neighbor, was called, who dispatched it with a gun. Mr. Arnold failed to sight any game on his hunting trip.

Mr. D. Bradley will give an entertainment on the graphophone next Monday evening, December 27th, at A. O. U. W. hall. One-half the receipts at the door will go to the Hood River library. The graphophone is something new to Hood River, and should draw a full house, especially as one-half the proceeds of the entertainment will be used for the library, which is in need of funds. Tickets will open at Nickelsen's store. Doors will close at 7:30; performance will commence at 8. Admission, 25 and 15 cents.

"I should like to say to the congregation before Christmas is upon us," said the good old country parson, "that if the ladies who so generously supply me with slippers every year will kindly meet together and consider the advisability of pooling their efforts so as to provide me with one pair of high-topped gum boots instead of 30 pairs of slippers, I shall be very grateful."

The new road on the East Side, leading from Reynolds' place along the bluffs fronting Hood River to Foss' spring, on the old county road, is going to be a great improvement for the East Siders and will open up a fine body of land along the east side of the river, near town, that has heretofore been inaccessible for the want of a road.

Riverside lodge A. O. U. W. and D. of H. christened their new kitchen at their last meeting. The sisters found it very convenient and appeared quite at home. The wonder is how we did without it for so long a time. We anticipate having good times this winter. Come, see and taste.

A letter has been received at The Dalles from Will Langille. He arrived with his party at Dawson City Sept. 28th, all in good shape. They got through with 4,000 pounds of supplies. The letter was written Oct. 1st and did not reach its destination till Dec. 19th.

A Christmas tree entertainment will be given at the Congregational church on Christmas (Friday) eve, at 7 o'clock. All the children will be remembered with candy, nuts, oranges, etc. Santa Claus will do his best to please everybody. A good programme will be rendered.

The weather has been cloudy and cold for the past week, with the thermometer ranging from 25° to 30° above zero. A thin covering of snow is on the ground, but not enough to protect strawberry plants. Strawberry growers are wishing for snow.

The county commissioners' court will meet January 5th. At this meeting the reports of road supervisors will be received and their accounts settled, supervisors and election boards will be appointed and other county business will be transacted.

Grass Valley Journal: Rev. C. D. Nickelsen preached one of the best sermons last Sunday evening that ever was heard in Moore. His subject was, "Where Art Thou," and was surely handled in a masterly manner.

Mr. Ed Williams came home Wednesday to spend the holidays. He was accompanied by Mr. Charles McNulty of Berkeley, Cal., a classmate who returned to San Francisco today on the steamer.

Dr. Hines' address at Pendleton, on the life of Dr. John McLoughlin, was published in full in Sunday's Oregonian. It is eloquent and full of reminiscences of the early days of Oregon.

Some person without the fear of the law as provided in the statutes of Oregon entered the root house of R. J. Ellis, one day last week, and stole a box of apples and a sack of potatoes.

Obituary.

Helen B. Palmer Bradford was born in Danville, Vermillion county, Illinois, in 1835, and died suddenly of heart disease in her comfortable home in Hood River, on Tuesday evening, December 21, 1897, aged 62 years. Her mother died when she was quite young. Her father, three brothers and one sister, with herself, crossed the plains in the early pioneer year 1851, and settled at the Cascades of the Columbia. She, with other members of her father's family, passed through the stirring and exciting Indian episodes of those early years, one brother being killed at the cruel massacre at the Cascades in 1856. The other brothers saved their lives by escaping to the woods. She was united in marriage with Mr. P. F. Bradford at the Cascades, March 28, 1852, and for over 45 years this happy pair were permitted to share each other's joys, sorrows, disappointments and successes. Her sister, Luna, was married on the same date to Mr. B. B. Bishop, who died about one year ago at Pendleton. Her oldest brother settled at White Salmon, where he died. The remaining brother, Gordon Palmer, died in Hood River nearly three years ago. An older sister, Mrs. Emily Seane, and mother of Mrs. A. B. Canfield, came to Oregon in 1853 and died at McMinnville some years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Bradford lived at the Cascades for 16 years from the date of their marriage, Mr. Bradford being interested in those busy days in a steamboat line on the Columbia river. For the last 25 years, until nearly two years ago they lived in and near Portland, save short intervals spent in New England and California. Nearly two years ago they bought their present home in Hood River, where they hoped to spend, in the peace and quietude of their declining years, the balance of their days. Five children were born to their union, four dying in infancy, leaving but one son, Mr. P. F. Bradford, Jr., to mourn the irreparable loss of a kind and loving mother.

Mrs. Bradford became a member of the Presbyterian church in 1864, and since then, wherever residing, identified herself with either the Congregational or Presbyterian churches; at the time of her death being a faithful member of the Congregational church in Hood River. During her residence in Hood River Mrs. Bradford endeavored herself by her cheerful and affable disposition, her kindly words and honest simplicity of life, to a large circle of friends, who deeply mourn her sudden departure.

After a brief prayer offered by her pastor, Rev. J. L. Hershner, at her late home on Thursday noon, all that was mortal of Mrs. Bradford was taken to the Congregational church, where appropriate public services were conducted, after which she was laid to rest in Idelwilde cemetery.

We mourn her loss as a kind neighbor, a true friend, a loving wife and an affectionate mother. Her memory will abide with us in peace and love.

How to Prevent Pneumonia. At this time of the year a cold is very easily contracted, and if left to run its course without the aid of some reliable cough medicine is liable to result in that dread disease, pneumonia. We know of no better remedy to cure a cough or cold than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. We have used it quite extensively and it has always given entire satisfaction.—Olagh, Ind. Ter. Chief.

This is the only remedy that is known to be a certain preventive of pneumonia. Among many thousands who have used it for colds and grippe, we have never yet learned of a single case having resulted in pneumonia. Persons who have weak lungs or have reason to fear an attack of pneumonia, should keep the remedy at hand. The 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by Williams and Brosius.

Christmas vegetables fresh at Columbia Nursery grounds. Parsnips, carrots, vegetable oyster, rutabagas, potatoes and beans. If you are getting short of such provisions call on H. C. Bateham.

Mrs. M. B. Ford, Ruddell, Ill., suffered for 8 years from dyspepsia and chronic constipation and was finally cured by using DeWitt's Little Early Risers, the famous little pills for all stomach and liver troubles. Williams & Brosius.

Miss Allie Hughes, Norfolk, Va., was frightfully burned on the face and neck. Pain was instantly relieved by DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve, which healed the injury without leaving a scar. It is the famous pile remedy. Williams & Brosius.

Mrs. Mary Bird, Harrisburg, Pa., says: "My child was lost millions to me, yet I would have lost her by croup had I not invested 25 cents in a bottle of One Minute Cough Cure." It cures coughs, colds and all throat and lung troubles. Williams & Brosius.

It is easy to catch a cold and just as easy to get rid of it if you commence early to use One Minute Cough Cure. It cures coughs, colds, bronchitis, pneumonia and all throat and lung troubles. It is pleasant to take, safe to use and sure to cure. Williams & Brosius.

J. A. Perkins of Antiquity, O., was for 30 years needlessly tortured by physicians for the cure of eczema. He was quickly cured by using DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve, the famous healing salve for piles and skin diseases. Williams & Brosius.

Don't be persuaded into buying liniments without reputation or merit—Chamberlain's Pain Balm costs no more, and its merits have been proven by a test of many years. Such letters as the following, from L. G. Bigley, Hueneme, Cal., are constantly being received: "The best remedy for pain I have ever used is Chamberlain's Pain Balm, and I say so after having used it in my family for several years. It cures rheumatism, lame back, sprains and swellings. For sale by Williams & Brosius.

East Hood River.

Mr. Boardman and son Charles returned from Sherman county last week.

Mrs. Porter and Miss Gladys Sears will spend Christmas with their parents in Hood River.

Mr. Hardin's team of large bays are dangerously ill with a disease resembling pink eye. Mr. Charles Wells lost a horse last week from some similar disease.

The Christmas tree at Pine Grove school house will be an enjoyable affair. A good programme of speaking and singing, with an abundance of sweet meats and nuts for all.

The residents of East Hood River have for periods ranging from five to twenty-five years been hauling their produce to the top of the big hill and letting the load descend of its own momentum down the precipitous incline for a mile and a half, pushing the team along in front, as far as the team was concerned it was a very satisfactory proceeding, but hard on brake blocks and wagon tires. We have been warned from youth up to avoid the broad way that leadeth, etc. We are given our choice to follow it or a better way, but the unfortunates of the vicinity above mentioned have for a quarter of a century had no choice but were obliged to travel this typical broad way set with sloughs of unknown depths, piled with ragged rocks for unvarying feet, an abyss on one side, a mountain on the other. There are beautiful sights and pleasant anticipations to lure the traveler on, while the journey's end is not such a disagreeable or unsavory place to remain in as has been pictured to the youthful team. Still, a few hours there creates a desire to flee to the refuge of home and fire-side. Now, climbing a snow-capped mountain in summer for sport is one thing, but when one has for many years coaxed his jaded team to draw an empty wagon, or worse still, a loaded one, up the perpendicular (metaphorically speaking) side of a hill, over a path or trail called a county road, it is only natural that after years of taxation on his strength and patience, not to mention the wearing out of numerous horses and harness, and the drain on his pocket book necessary to keep this same hill road from being obliterated by the action of the elements and washed into the Columbia river, it is only natural that he should grow weary of not doing very well and wish for an easier route by which to leave the lower regions (of Hood River valley) for higher altitudes. So the powers that be are petitioned, his prayers are granted and a desirable path is located on which he can travel and by permission of the county court call it a county road as old as it is made as passable as the one. Whereas the grade on the old road ranges from 10 to 45 feet in 100, while the new road is graded to 8 feet per 100, with 50 foot levels every few hundred feet for rests and breakwater; and whereas it is less than a mile long, compared with a mile and a half, with the grading already under way, it will be but a short time until the long-suffering East Siders will have an easy road by which to descend into the world and a sure way of returning above when it pleases their fancy.

Born. In Hood River, December 18, 1897, to Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Smith, a son.

Dr. Jones made a professional visit to Stevenson last week.

After hearing some friends continually praising Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, Curtis Fleck, of Anaheim, California, purchased a bottle of it for his own use and is now as enthusiastic over its wonderful work as anyone can be. The 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by Williams and Brosius.

Prosperity comes quickest to the man whose liver is in good condition. De Witt's Little Early Risers are famous little pills for constipation, biliousness, indigestion and all stomach and liver troubles. Williams & Brosius.
