FRIDAY, JANUARY 7, 1898.

Mr. G. D. Woodworth has bought the mortgage on the dam site and 18 acres of land owned by the Winans Bros. near town. The mortgage is foreclosed...

It begins to look like Senator Hanna will not be elected to succeed himself in the senate from Ohio. The bolting republicans have fused with the democrats and organized the legislature...

The O. R. & N. Co. is encouraging the starting of creameries along its lines of railroad and will test the growing of cotton and tobacco in Eastern Oregon and Washington.

Remedies Suggested. HOOD RIVER, Jan. 3, 1898.—Editor GLACIER: In your issue of December 22d some one signing himself "Question" asks "why it was that the man who shipped poor fruit last season received not only what his fruit sold for but also a portion of that for which the good fruit sold."

Regarding the poison to use, will say that at present I can recommend nothing but Paris green, and I am sorry that that cannot always be recommended. A law is needed making it a heavily fineable offense to offer for sale adulterated spraying substances.

The Man Who Doesn't Laugh, Unless He Has a Laugh Coming. HOOD RIVER, Jan. 1, 1898.—Editor GLACIER: In your last issue I noted with considerable interest an article under the heading of "The Man Who Laughs."

interests to serve but that of the growers themselves. Such a union will give correct returns and full information; but a private corporation may not do either.

In the Interest of Harmony. HOOD RIVER, Jan. 4, 1898.—Editor GLACIER: I have noticed a series of communications in your columns recently, the import of which was to advise all berry growers to work for and ship through "one union" and incidentally urging all to attend the annual meeting of the union to help attain that object.

Sprays for Codlin Moth. CORVALLIS, Or., Dec. 28, 1897.—Hon. E. L. Smith, Hood River: Replying to your letter will say, first, that I have no faith in malodorous substances as a preventive of codling moth injury.

A Veteran Writes on Pensions. HOOD RIVER, Jan. 4, 1898.—Editor GLACIER: I would like to say a few words about this great howl being made in regard to the "stuffing" of the pension roll.

A Hot Time at Klondike. DUKE'S VALLEY, Jan. 3, 1898.—Editor GLACIER: I see in your issue of December 31st an article headed "Roads at Mt. Hood," dated Klondike, Dec. 28, 1897, giving a mischievous misrepresentation of facts.

The Man Who Doesn't Laugh, Unless He Has a Laugh Coming. HOOD RIVER, Jan. 1, 1898.—Editor GLACIER: In your last issue I noted with considerable interest an article under the heading of "The Man Who Laughs."

draw from either faucet that the situation calls for, is, in my estimation, more calculated to make a roaring success of the farce of life than he who is loaded with hilarity only.

Some grin naturally, others don't; some are optimistically inclined, some the reverse; temperament, character, education, environment, all go to make up what we are; mental, moral, physical and financial conditions all have an irresistible influence on our lives and actions.

The clown is a pleasant fellow, but the kicker is of more benefit to humanity. Life is real and earnest, theory is far removed from fact, and what sounds fine in a school boy's composition may be far from being applicable to practical life.

Now, let the howlers suggest any fair, practical test by which the integrity of the pension roll can be determined, and every veteran will welcome it and give every possible assistance to make the test thorough and satisfactory.

But times have changed. Now, let the howlers suggest any fair, practical test by which the integrity of the pension roll can be determined, and every veteran will welcome it and give every possible assistance to make the test thorough and satisfactory.

But if people will keep on opening new roads every half mile apart, we will soon find that we will have no roads at all. "Which is misleading and inconsistent." "One new road now on foot, if successful, will cost the taxpayers many a round dollar."

A Word

At the beginning of the New Year. We wish to assure you that our policy of CLOSE PRICES FOR CASH is a permanent departure from the time-honored methods of the trade.

The idea of two prices may be distasteful to some who might otherwise be customers, to whom we only can say, that in a drug store experience of 13 years we have failed to arrive at a policy which would be just to all save by the exclusively cash system.

We cannot promise to continue this list beyond the sundries department for the reason that several items have to be taken into account when we come to drugs, especially liquids.

Kindly remember our prescription department, in which we are exceptionally well fitted with materials and experience to give you the best drugs correctly put up and at the smallest profit consistent with the service.

has been over the ground time and again; no road there. There was no road to Mt. Hood by his ranch until it was built. But enough of that. Myself and several others are living in what is known as Duke's valley. We are all the way from 14 to 14 miles from any public road, and some of us poor devils who have no school fund to run to when we want a sack of flour have to haul wood to Hood River, a distance of ten miles; have to haul part of a load to the top of the hill, unload, go back for enough to finish out the load, and then go east to the Mt. Hood road before we really get started to town.
