FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 11, 1898.

Hon. T. R. Coon has been in correspondence with berry growers' societies in the East and has gathered much valuable information in regard to how they do business and their prospects for the future.

From the Lancaster, Ark., union it was learned that 6,000 crates of strawberries were shipped last season and they expect to have 20,000 the coming season. Growers realized last year over $1 per crate. Acreage has been increased and the patches, having been well cultivated, were not affected much by the drouth of last summer. All growers belong to and ship with the Lancaster horticultural association. The association does not employ any agents to go out and hunt up markets. Their first car last year was shipped April 28th.

Sarcoxie, Mo., horticultural association reported that 232 carloads of strawberries were shipped last season and the average net price received by growers was 38 cents per crate. The drouth affected the strawberry patches in this locality and not more than half a crop is expected next season, but the increased acreage will bring the shipments up to about the same as last year. Sarcoxie sent out ten agents last season.

The secretary of the Columbus, Ky., association writes that 50 carloads of strawberries were shipped from that place last season, and although the drouth killed out many of the old patches, the increased acreage will bring the shipments up to about the same as last year, when growers realized from $1 to $1.25 a crate. This union does not send out agents. Their shipping season begins about the first of May.

From Milton, Oregon, it was learned that growers were very much dissatisfied with last year's returns and many have plowed up their patches, and very few new plants have been set. No statistics concerning number of cases shipped nor prices received could be obtained.

The congressional committee on pensions of the senate and house have agreed upon seven rules designed to lessen the number of private pension bills that can receive consideration. No private bill is to be considered if the claimant has a pensional status under existing laws. Only invalid soldiers and sailors, pensioned by special act, can ask increase by further special legislation. No arrears of pensional bill is to be considered. Persons not enlisted as soldiers or sailors may not ask for special legislation unless disabled in action. Bills for original pensions exceeding the legal rate will not be considered, nor will bills pensioning children of soldiers or sailors be considered. The seventh restriction is to the effect that dependency must be shown by affidavit, except when members of congress introducing a bill can state in writing that they have personal knowledge of the dependency. The congressman must put his statement in writing and the outsider must take oath.

Our townsman, Dr. W. L. Adams, was a delegate to the first republican state convention held in Oregon. The convention was held February 21, 1857. Very few of the members of this convention are now living. Leader Holmes, who, along with Dr. Adams and W. T. Matlock, represented Clackamas county, was afterwards elected a delegate to the national convention that nominated Abraham Lincoln for president, and sent his proxy to Horace Greeley. Greeley used his influence and his vote against Seward and Lincoln's nomination was thereby secured. Holmes met Lincoln in the white house, and after explaining how he was instrumental in making him president, Lincoln said: "May the Lord forgive you, Mr. Holmes, for what you have done."

A church member in Virginia refused to contribute anything towards purchasing coal to heat the church. Upon being remonstrated with he said he thought it a low-down trick to try to fool the people by pretending to buy coal when everybody knew the church was heated by steam.

The city council of Portland has passed an ordinance to prohibit women from wearing their hats in a theater. This law has been in force in Eastern cities for a year or more. Men are gradually getting equal rights with women in this country.

At Fremont, Ohio, Addie M. Smith was awarded $7,500 for permanent injuries received in a runaway accident caused by a dog belonging to the estate of ex-President Hayes having frightened the horse.

The democratic central committee for Wasco county will meet at The Dalles tomorrow.

Our delegation in congress has been heard from. Congressman Tongue answered three Jerry Simpsom in a speech of three stickfuls and compared the times under the Wilson tariff to our "prosperity" under the Dingley tariff, charging all the hard times to the former. These odious comparisons, heard every day in the debates in congress, make gold-standard democrats wonder where they are at.

A horticultural institute, under the auspices of the Oregon agricultural college, will be held in Hood River March 4th and 5th.

A story is going the rounds about a hog that was taken to Tennessee before the war dying in that state at the age of 38 years. This must be a mistake. Old soldiers who served in Tennessee will tell you they left no hogs there to die of old age.

The date for the state encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic at The Dalles has been fixed on the 19th, 20th and 21st of April, 1898. Committees, consisting of prominent citizens, have been appointed to make all arrangements for the gathering of the old soldiers.

The GLACIER was in error last week in stating that C. L. Morse would be a candidate for the nomination for representative on the union ticket. Mr. Morse is a populist and will seek the nomination on the populist ticket; but he is in favor of union of forces with the populists, democrats and silver republicans.

A Prolific Family.
HOOD RIVER, Feb. 8, 1898.—Editor GLACIER: I have just received a letter from Kentucky, giving the statistics of the offspring of my mother, who is still living at the age of 87, hale and hearty. The score stands thus: Seven teen children, 8 girls and 9 boys; 110 grand children, and 76 great grand children, making the grand total of 203. If any mothers in Wasco county can beat this record let them speak right out in meeting. W. H. PERKY.

Farmers' Institute.
At a meeting of the city council, held on the evening of the 8th inst., the mayor was instructed to call a meeting of citizens to arrange for a farmers' institute to be held at Hood River on March 4th and 5th, under the joint direction of the state agricultural college and the industrial agent of the O. R. & N. Co. Agreeably to the above instruction, the citizens of the town of Hood River and the farmers, fruit growers and all others interested are requested to meet at A. O. U. W. hall on Saturday, the 19th inst., at 2 p. m., to arrange for the meeting of the above proposed institute.

E. L. SMITH, Mayor.
Aid for Cuba.
It is a well known fact that there are thousands of our fellow beings in our neighboring island of Cuba that are literally naked and starving, and that we may and can help them. The Junior League of the M. E. church have taken the matter in hand and have appointed Anna Jackson and Maggie Nickelsen as collectors. Please help them with what you can.
Mrs. W. H. BISHOP,
Junior Supt.

The Prodigal Daughter.
The prodigal son may return, but how about the prodigal daughter? As far as the world is concerned, there is no mercy for the prodigal daughter. The son may wallow in the mire and filth of pollution, feed upon the husks of sin and infamy, and he will come back in becoming raiment and knock at the door of society; he is eagerly received within its portals; marriageable daughters simper and smile sweetly, and fond mammas are very gracious and kind in feeling it their womanly duty to encourage the fellow to do better now that he has sown his wild oats. But the prodigal daughter—ah, hush! Breathe not her name within the precincts of society. Keep her out; push her to a suicide's grave, appeasing your righteous indignation, return to petting and caressing the "dear boy" who has made a start to get back to the path of rectitude. Ten to one he never comes back. He knows he can sin and still keep his place in society.

An Expensive Luxury.
We wonder if the men who denounce the administration for suggesting the retirement of the greenbacks have ever given a moment's thought to the enquiry, "What have these greenbacks cost us?" There are three hundred and forty-six millions of them. To create the gold reserve for redemption in 1879 bonds had to be sold to the amount of $35,000,000. During 1894-95 $292,315,400 more bonds were sold to protect the same reserve. Thus to keep $346,000,000 of greenbacks in circulation we pay interest on $357,000,000 of indebtedness incurred by them. Not only this but we have already, since 1879, redeemed the whole sum nearly twice over while, practically, they are all unredeemed and outstanding yet.—Hooked County Journal.

Written for the GLACIER.
Columbia.
Columbia, Columbia, thou theme of many lays;
Columbia, Columbia, again I'll sing thy praise.
Thy face, O fair Columbia, art wreathed in smiles today;
I could not choose but praise thee, thou art so gay, so gay.
Thy rugged shores, Columbia, decked out in autumn's hues,
All penciled on thy bosom, in colors clear and true—
The red, the green, the yellow, and rocks of sombre gray,
And the haze about thy mountains, all charm my heart today.
An azure dome above thee, a limpid flood thy breast,
And thy low, sweet humming cadence that lulls the soul to rest;
The white sea gulls above thee, the loon upon thy tide,
And the stately swan that's fishing so near thy farther side—
Combined, all form a picture of beauty, peace and grace
No poet's pen might picture, no artist's brush might trace.
But ere we part, Columbia, thou for the distant main,
I'll tell to thee a secret, my daughter bears thy name.
And may He, fair Columbia, who points thee on thy way,
Make her life fair and peaceful, as is thy flood today.
SHABDIEU.
