FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 18, 1898.

Minister De Lome, the Spanish envoy at Washington, in a private letter to Canalejas, the Madrid editor, who recently visited the United States and Cuba, wrote very disrespectfully of President McKinley. The letter was stolen by a Cuban "patriot" in Havana before reaching the person addressed and has since been made public. De Lome did not deny its authenticity, but telegraphed his resignation to Madrid and his successor has been appointed. Our government, of course, took steps to give De Lome his walking papers. Americans exercise the right to criticize and condemn the president of the United States when they see fit, but when a representative of a foreign government undertakes to abuse our chief executive it becomes an insult that is resented by the whole people.

All preliminary arrangements for the establishment of a Grand Army of the Republic colony in Matagorda county, Texas, have been made, and the first installment of eight hundred families from Minnesota and Dakota will arrive at their new home in about two weeks. The colony will occupy 22,000 acres of rich land. Some of the colonists will come from the New England States.

The Antelope Herald, after copying the remarks of the GLACIER of two weeks ago on county politics, adds: "Of course that section of the county is entitled to the commissioner and will get it, and if Mr. Ollinger is nominated for sheriff he will be elected, too."

Custom-house records show that shipments of American fruit to Germany have risen steadily from $178,421 in value in the fiscal year 1894 to $1,080,304 in 1897 and $1,217,439 in the first half of the current fiscal year.

The Wasco county central committee of the democratic and people's parties, at their meetings in The Dalles last week, adopted resolutions favoring fusion of all parties opposed to the republicans.

Loss of the Battle-ship Maine.

An explosion occurred on board the United States battle-ship Maine, lying in Havana harbor, on the night of February 15th. Over 200 of the crew were killed and many wounded and the ship is a total loss. The explosion is a mystery, but it is thought to have been caused by the accidental igniting of a magazine on board. Capt. Sigsbee and all the officers but two were saved. The explosion shook the whole city and broke every window. The ship was commissioned in 1895 and cost $2,588,000.

The latest telephone bulletin received at Williams & Brosius' drug store as we go to press is as follows:
PORTLAND, Or., Feb. 17, 8 a. m.—The number of dead in the Maine explosion is 254. Our government has ordered an immediate investigation. There are rumors of Spanish treachery. Capt. Sigsbee is reported as saying the explosion was not an accident. Spain has expressed regret.

The news of the loss of the steamer Clara Nevada is confirmed.

At Barrett School House.

EDITOR GLACIER: The Lincoln night at the Barrett school house, with the Cascade Gushers, was an overflow as far as numbers and a general deluge as to patriotic thought. At roll call the patriots responded to their names by giving a quotation from the great emancipator, and the readings and recitations were all on the same theme, until a good history of Lincoln could be learned at the short exercise. J. H. Shoemaker read an interesting paper on the downfall of slavery. C. E. Cople spoke entertainingly on the topic of the evening, and M. P. Isenberg captured the Gushers by his eloquence as to win a merited vote of thanks.

Walter Rice, the young man who forged F. E. Jackson's name to a check, about a month ago, has been sent to the penitentiary for one year.

The young man McBee, who was charged with purloining handkerchiefs from Woodworth & Hanna's store, was discharged by the grand jury.

The county convention of the people's party will be held March 19th and the primaries March 12th.

THE De Lome Letter.
LEGACION DE ESPANA, Washington.—Excmo. Sr. Don Jose Canalejas, My Distinguished and Dear Friend: You need not apologize for not having written to me; I have ought to have written to you, but have not done so account of being weighed down with work and nous sommes quittes.

The situation here continues unchanged. Everything depends on the political and military success in Cuba. The prologue of this second method of warfare will end the day that the colonial cabinet shall be appointed, and it relies on the eyes of this country of a part of the responsibility of what may happen there, and they must cast the responsibility upon the Cubans, whom they believe to be so immaculate. Until then we will not be able to see clearly, and I consider it to be a loss of time and an advance by the wrong road—the sending of emissaries to the rebel field, the negotiating with the autonomists not yet declared to be legally constituted, and the discovery of the intentions and purpose of this government. The exiles will return one by one, and when they return, will come walking into the sheepfold, and the chiefs will gradually return. Neither of these had the courage to leave an immense, and they will not have the courage thus to return. The message has undeceived the insurgents, who expected something else, and has paralyzed the action of congress, but I consider it bad. Besides the natural and inevitable coarseness with which he repeats all that the press and public opinion of Spain has said of Weyler, it shows once more what McKinley is: weak and catering to the public, and, besides, a low politician, who desires to leave a door open to me and to stand well with the jingoes of his party.

Nevertheless, as a matter of fact, it will only depend on ourselves whether he will prove bad and adverse to us. I agree entirely with you; without a military success nothing will be accomplished there, and without military and political success there is here always danger that the insurgents will be encouraged, if not by the government, at least by part of public opinion. I do not believe you pay enough attention to the role of England. Nearly all that newspaper canaille which swarms in your hotel are English, and at the same time that they are correspondents of the Journal, they are also correspondents of the best newspapers and reviews of London. Thus it has been since the beginning. To my mind the only object of England is that the Americans should occupy themselves with us and leave her in peace, and if there is a war, so much the better; that would further remove what is threatening her—although that will never happen.

It would be most important that you should agitate the question of commercial relations, even though it would be only for effect, and that you should send here a man of importance in order that I might use him to make a propaganda among the junta and others in opposition to the junta and to win over exiles.

There goes Amblard. I believe he comes too deeply taken up with little political matters, and there must be something very great or we shall lose. A delia returns your salutation, and we wish you in the new year to be a messenger of peace and take this New Year's present to poor Spain.

Always your attentive friend and servant who kisses your hand.
ENRIQUE DEPUY DE LOME.

Almost daily we hear the virtues of Chamberlain's remedies extolled by those who have used them. Va.) Pathfinder. For sale by Williams & Brosius.
