FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 25, 1898.

Hoon RIVER, Feb. 21, 1898 -Editor and not on the directors of the union. GLACIER: We have before us a copy of a Davidson Fruit Co. eircular, containposition before the people. We agree and will handle the strawberry crop for 8 cents per crate this season. with his first assertion, that all of the profits that can be secured belong to the growers, and we practice this if others have not. The personal animosities and prejudices they speak of are entire-ly in the minds of themselves and the few growers whom they claim say they will not ship with the union. This was the trouble last year: After the management of the Davidson Fruit Co. utterly failed in their illegal attempt to secure control of the union, they set up their opposition, the results of which became too plain to be be forgotton so soon. At the annual meeting the growers did show, most of them, a very marked desire to create harmony, and, as we understand the harmony, and, as we understand the matter, the greater part of them voted last evening the people began to gather for H. F. Davidson for director for the entry-five tickets were sold. At 8 o'clock last evening the people began to gather at Lauterbach's hall to dance until express purpose of doing away with the opposition, namely, the Davidson Fruit Co. We, and others, the Davidson Fruit his friends—who, by the way, had can-vassed the valley—that this would pro-mote harmony. Mr. Morse was asked if this would create harmony. He said he thought it certainly would; "at any rate, it would make Davison show his hand, whether he really wanted har-mony or not." He has clearly shown it, for the directors have repeatedly asked him if there was any position the union could give him, except secretary, that would induce him to not run the Davidson Fruit Co. He said the union had no position that he would entertain. The secretary told him that it he (the secretary) was causing the dis-sention, and he thought we could possibly secure harmony by such a course, he would resign in his favor. Mr. Davidson said he did not think we could;

in fact, he knew we could not.

As to the resolutions he presented to the board, they unanimously decided they could not morally or legally entertain them, especially coming from a private concern. If they did, they would for like cause have to treat with every two or three growers who might see fit to demand it, as well as any firm, a condition that would simply be this: The union, which is really its patrons, would have to protect every comer who wanted protection, but who does not want to pay his proportional part of the expense of keeping the union up; besides the unnecessary competition this course would naturally bring on by such distribution. The union does not make a practice of put ting one part of a car in competition with the rest, which would nat-urally be the case if more than one party controlled the fruit in the car. The Davidson Fruit Company have the cart, before the base in have the cart before the horse in all of their propositions in their effort to place the union in the position of the opposition. That company was nothing more nor less than an opposition last year, as the union shipped to the same principal markets that it had beto:e, and to the same houses, as a general thing; the opposition having, or taking, new houses in these markets, and in most cases they ship-ped an excessive amount when they had them, when the proposition of holding up prices was taken into account. They kept this up until they friend Dad Eastabrook will manipulate (we say "they" because it clearly was the Davidson Fruit Co. that rumously) broke the Montana markets. the union commenced supplying Mon-tana by car lots on refrigeration, and raised the price because they could, from the fact of one party having con-trol of all the berries in the car. Yer they had double the amount that had ever been shipped there before in one arriving in so much poorer condition, this stopped the opposition to a great extent in Montana. The result was they got the same price for their later shipments that they got in Milwaukee for two cars of berries, namely, "about nothing." This was what was referred to when Mr. Davidson was asked by a director how long he supposed his growers (as he seems to consider some to be) would stay with that kind of an object lesson. That part of the circular stamped Davidson Fruit Co (why did they not sign this part of the circular?) is no doubt in regard to this and has the facts turned round. As they state it it is wholly contrary to the truth. Now, the entire circular can be stated in a few words: The growers ought to compet the union to let the Davidson Fruit Co. put its berries into union cars, especially those for Montana, by which means it can put up a good opposition throughout the entire season, and they would like to have the union use their agent there. Growers certainly ought to do this for the benefit of those dear people who say they will proved effectual. Almost daily we hear not ship by the union but want union the virtues of Chamberlain's remedies tainly ought to do this for the benefit protection.

board, February 15th, by A. P. Bate-ham, secretary, it is stated that Davidson took advantage of the first opportunity to state to the board that he was convinced that the better plan would be for the Davidson Fruit Co. to continue in business. Now, we know that he had been corresponding with Mon-tana people in Helena and Butte with the had been corresponding with Montana people in Helena and Butte with a view of arranging for agencies for the Davidson Fruit Co. prior to this, as one of its last-year's correspondents so stated. This correspondent wanted to arrange with the union this year, if possible. It was on this account that the board insisted upon knowing from him if he proposed to run the Davidson. him if he proposed to run the Davidson Fruit Co. this season. He finally said he intended to. Then, when asked if he could morally and legally sit on the board of the union and run his opposition, the Davidson Fruit Co., he he thought he could, as he could assist us in many ways. His food for candid minds, when correctly and plainly stated, is rather thin, or would be if stated, is rather thin, or would be if one took it for a year.

One word to the growers: Let us all stand by the union, its articles and bylaws. As we have sworn to act for the best interests of the fruit growers of the first growers of the growers of the first growers of the first growers of the growers two forwarding companies will be the death of the strawberry business, if continued, we decline to enter into any combination with any company whereby fruit shipped in the same car to the same market will enter luto competition with itself. None know better than we that two shipping cou-cerns are not for the best interests of the producer. We feel that those who make it possible for a company in op-position to the co-operative company The Question of Strawberry Shipments. fault, and the blame must fall on them

In 1896 the union ran behind $92, and in 1897 it gained $190 over expenses, a Davidson Fruit Co. circular, contain-ing incorrect and misleading state; that the union charges should be only ments which place the union in a false enough to defray running expenses,

The Ball at White Salmon.

WHITE SALMON, Feb. 23, 1898 .- Editor GLACIER: The adage that the "unexpected always happens" was exemplified by the unprecedented rush and last evening the people began to gather at Lauterbach's hall to dance until they could dance no more.

The steamer Regulator from The Dalles came down, bringing about 40 couples, and soon the question was, What are we to do with them all? It was feared the building might collapse under the immense crowd, there being about 300 couples in the hall; but there proved to be room for all, and the building proved all right and was able and willing to hold 300 more just such a fine lot of people. A fine collation was served at mine inn, the Myers howas served at mine inn, the Myers hotel. Oyster soup, chicken salads, hothouse lettuce, ples and cakes galore, astore, tili you could not hold any more. One could hardly notice that the Hood River boys had ever been away before to a public ball, and it is gratifying to the White Salmon people that our sister townsmen know how to be such nice gentlemen when they get. be such nice gentlemen when they get a chance.

The White Salmonites now point with derision and scorn at the mud anding of Hood River, with our $3,000 wharf, built by the people here with a population of about one-tenth of the town of Hood River; one church, one secret society, one strawberry union, one saw mill and one people, united in heart and hand, tells the story. "Go thou and do likewise." XION.

[Our correspondent makes a good showing for his side of the river in comparison with ours, and we are glad to note that Hood River blood has infused new life into that community, Maybe when their "one union" ships its own berries our side may have but one union, too.—ED.]

The Moro Observer says Frank Menefee is spoken of by his many friends in connection with the republican nomination for prosecuting attorney for this judicial district. Mr. Menefee has numerous friends in Hood River who will be glad to see him placed in nomination.

Excitement in Hood River for the past week has been divided between the disaster to the battle-ship Maine and the trouble here at home over the question of shipping our fruit. It would be hard to decide which has called forth the most talk. The situ-
