BRIEF LOCAL MATTERS.

W. S. Gribble returned to The Dalles Monday.
A bunch of keys was found and left at this office for the owner.
Early Rose seed potatoes for sale by W. E. Neff & Bro. at 1 cent a pound.
Fresh cow for sale. Inquire of or call and see B. R. Tucker, Tucker, Or.
Wm. Yates, P. M., is authorized agent for all newspapers and periodicals.
Miss Madge Warren commenced her school at Viento last Monday for the spring term.
In school district No. 7 D. G. Boardman was elected director and John Monroe clerk.
School will begin in Pine Grove district March 21st. Miss Leudocia E. Copeland, teacher.
The Dalles will be filled with politicians tomorrow, with three county conventions in session.
Mrs. Inez Broadbent will commence a term of school in the String-street district, near Goldendale, April 4th.
Bromide of Quinine Compound cures colds while you sleep. 10 and 25 cents at Williams & Brosius, pharmacists.
Mr. Jerome Wells, who lives on the divide between Neal and Rock creeks, says a regular blizzard of driving snow visited his place last Saturday.
Prof. Neff's school, in Frankton district, will close today, and next week he will go to The Dalles and act as principal of the high school while Prof. Gavin takes a vacation.
Samples of wheat grown on Mr. Wm. Thompson's Sherman county ranch have been left at this office, among which is a cluster of 60 stools from one grain of wheat.
F. H. Watts, general agent for the Monumental Bronze Co., Dufur, Or., will make periodical visits to Hood River. See his work in the cemeteries and then see him for terms.
Roy N. Woodworth and sister Ethel, who have been attending Philomath college, returned home last Saturday. Roy will now take a course in merchandising in his father's store.
Mr. C. H. Darling came up from Portland, Monday, to look after his strawberry patch at Belmont. He will start for Alaska about the first of May, and his strawberry patch is for sale.
A cow belonging to Clyde T. Bonney was found dead in Coe's pasture Monday. A rope had been left on the cow for convenience in catching her, and the rope got fast in the rocks, the cow threw herself and broke her neck.
Poultry fanciers of Hood River should call and see Mr. Imbler's fowls, at Frankton. His Light Brahmas are fine birds and thoroughbred, and Mr. Imbler is selling eggs for hatching at a very reasonable price. See his ad.
Miss Dorothy Elliot, who for the past two years has been giving lessons in vocal culture in The Dalles, gave a musical in that city March 16th, assisted by Miss Harriet Stevens and some of her pupils.
Mrs. J. L. Atkinson was recently chosen president of the ladies' auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A. of Portland. This is an excellent choice. Mr. Atkinson was one of the charter members of the association.—Church Record.
Mr. Bradley, photographer, who has been doing good work in his line here, left Monday for Eastern Oregon, where he will remain about two months. He has rented Neff's gallery here for the summer and will return to Hood River in time to take views of our Strawberry patches while the pickers are at work.
For the mining and irrigation convention at Baker City, March 29, 30 and 31, the O. R. & N. Co. will sell tickets at one and one-half fare. Delegates or others attending the convention, by paying full fare to Baker City on March 29, 28 and 29, will be returned at one-fifth fare on presentation of certificates, on or before April 2, to O. R. & N. agent at Baker City, signed by the secretary of the convention.
I have been afflicted with rheumatism for fourteen years and nothing seemed to give any relief. I was able to be around all the time but constantly suffering. I had tried everything I could hear of and at last was told to try Chamberlain's Pain Balm, which I did, and was immediately relieved and in a short time cured. I am happy to say that it has not since returned.—Josh. Edgar, Germantown, Cal. For sale by Williams & Brosius.

Mr. E. E. Savage, who underwent a critical surgical operation for appendicitis at St. Vincent's hospital, Portland, was discharged from the hospital on Wednesday, and was expected to come home on yesterday evening's train.
The revival service held by the Methodists at Crapper school house closed last Sunday with an accession of 15 to the membership of the church. The meeting was in all ways a time of great interest.
Capt. Dukes is working C. R. Bone's ditching machine on the school-house house hill, and with a force of men and teams is trying to make that piece of road so that it may be traveled at all seasons.
Mrs. M. N. Foley, accompanied by her daughter Bernice, took her little grandchild to The Dalles last Saturday and on Sunday morning it was baptized in the M. E. church in that city.
Mrs. Inez Broadbent and Miss Melie Rigby received certificates to teach from the state superintendent of Washington.
Grandma Rogers, who has been quite ill for the past two weeks, is some better and the family is hopeful of her recovery.
Mrs. J. W. Connell and children returned Monday from Portland, after a pleasant visit of a week or more.
H. S. Galligan returned Monday from a trip to Eastern Oregon, having gone as far as Heppner.
The ladies of the M. E. church will give an Easter social on Saturday before Easter, April 9th.
Mr. J. F. Armbrust went to Portland Monday morning's train, returning on Tuesday evening.
Read the ad of LaFrance's store and take note of the laundry days.
Girl wanted to do housework. Apply at this office.
The Dorcas Supper.
"Quips and cranks and wanton wiles," "Nods and becks and wretched smiles." All these, together with much general fun and jollity, were on hand at the Dorcas supper and male entertainment given last Thursday evening. The sterner sex, whose capabilities in the entertaining line have heretofore been regarded in the light of an unknown, or at least doubtful, quantity, have been so successful in demonstrating the proposition of a delightful evening's enjoyment that we ladies stand awed and overwhelmed at the magnitude of their powers. The programme was excellent, the performers provoking so many "wretched smiles" from the audience that they were more than once forced to respond to the "nods and becks" for an encore.
Our colored brethren cranked an abundance of "quips and cranks," and were so well received by the "white gentry" that Mr. York's violin solo with Mr. Del Rand at the organ amounted to three captivating numbers. Mr. John Castner earned merited applause for his well-rendered recitation, as did also Dr. Brosius and Mr. Ralph Savage for their duet, the latter being something very novel and taking. Mr. H. C. Batham read an interesting paper upon the history of the now defunct "Fraternal Co-operative Association of Hood River Spud Bolders," and bewailed, in accents sad and tender, the gradual disappearance of these jolly bachelors from our peaceful valley. Indeed, when one thinks of the vast majority who have committed matrimony, it is sad—at least for the welfare of the club.
One of the principal features of the evening was the competitive quartette singing—Dr. Brosius, H. C. Batham, Ralph Savage and Maltie Dukes vs. J. E. Armbrust, C. J. Hayes, J. N. McCoy and G. R. Castner. The last named secured the coveted prize—a toothsome pie—and displayed their generosity by sharing their pie, if not their honors, with the vanquished foe.
Mr. Edward Benson was compelled to respond to an encore after his recitation, which was one of the gems of the evening. His style was inimitable. We regret that Mr. Harbison and his paper were not in evidence, but his list of excuses and remarks as to the whys and wherefores of his non-appearance were decidedly clever.
Mr. LaFrance delighted his hearers with a song, the refrain of which was most pathetic. The applause was deafening, but, alas, could win no repetition of that haunting melody.
Mr. G. R. Castner also bloomed out as an eloquist, and we think, gave proof of budding genius. Mr. C. J. Hayes showed himself equal to any emergency by responding to an unexpected call from the audience with a most realistic account of a bird of paradise sailing gracefully over a slab fence. It was a picturesque bit of word painting.
We do not know what to think of Deacon McVoy. We have always considered him a truthful man, but when Mr. Batham, master of ceremonies, announced that we would be favored with a recitation by "Jimmy" McVoy, and when the said Jimmy, in his most persuasive style, tried to impose upon our good nature by leading us to believe that an elephant could sit on top of a mosquito, we felt that he should so stain his hitherto spotless reputation. He insisted, too, that the "green grass grew all around." This we can readily understand, if the scene is laid in Oregon.
The purveyors of victuals—C. P. Ross, G. R. Castner and G. T. Prather—deserve great credit. The refreshments, consisting of hash, beans, pickled beets, coffee, ginger-bread, sandwiches (bologna and otherwise), pies, etc., followed, and it was perhaps here that the good things of the evening made themselves most felt. The waiters, Charles Castner, Ralph Savage, Maltie Dukes and Hervey Cook, assisted by the colored professionals, were expert, while C. P. Ross and Bert Graham, as cooks, could, we feel confident, command high salaries. This lavish repast sent the audience home in the best of spirits, and we felt that those who had failed to take advantage of the men's hospitality had missed a good thing.

A Piece of Vandalism.
Supervisor Campbell has done gone and done it. He has caused such commotion in Hood River and throughout the valley, during the past week, that the Maine disaster, the impending war with Spain, the war among the strawberry men and the "crime of '73" have been for the time forgotten. The piece of road running west from E. C. Mooney's corner to Lyman Smith's place, about one mile in length, has been the pride of Hood River. It was the favorite of bicycle riders, and was indeed the best piece of natural road in the valley. For twenty years or more it had been traveled and was never "improved" except by vandal supervisors who cut down the beautiful shade trees which lined the road and left them in ugly piles to be eye sores for years. The natural roadbed on a gravel foundation needed no work whatever. But, alas! it is now undone. The supervisor has been at work with a force of men and plowed up the center of the road, and with scrapers tumbled it, making a roadway just a little wider than a wagon track and with a deep ditch on each side. The grade in some places is barely wide enough to drive a wagon along, is uneven, and there being no turnouts, when two teams meet, one or both will have to get off into the ditch. The only way the matter can be remedied now is to complete the job by turning up the road its entire width, and we hope it will be done, but it will consume much valuable time and work that is badly needed on the roads in other parts of the district.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.
This remedy is intended especially for coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough and influenza. It has become famous for its cures of these diseases, over a large part of the civilized world. The most flattering testimonials have been received, giving accounts of its good works; of the aggravating and persistent coughs it has cured; of severe colds that have yielded promptly to its soothing effects; and of the dangerous attacks of croup it has cured, often saving the life of the child. The extensive use of it for whooping cough has shown that it robs that disease of all dangerous consequences. Sold by Williams & Brosius.
No-To-Bac For Fifty Cents.
Guaranteed tobacco habit cure. All makes weak men strong, blood pure. 50c. All druggists.
