for war has been intense all over the country during the past week. Mass meetings are being held in many places vices in the army if necessary. Jas. R. Campbell, democratic congressman from Illinois, has placed his resignawill raise a regiment if war is declared. Preparations are under way in the Preparations are under way in the There were 28 active teachers pres-treasury department looking to the ent. Sixteen of these were from The raising of revenue, and congress will Dalles. Lunch was served to about be called upon to levy taxes on tea, coffee and beer, and other measures will be adopted to raise large sums of money for war purposes. The legislature of Iowa has voted $500,000 to be used in case of war, the money to be placed at the disposal of the governor. Ohio's legislature follows suit with a bill to appropriate $1,000,000. The outbursts of patriotism throughout the country are repetitions of the days of '61.

The Prineville Review, independent, endorses the nomination of Hon, W.L. Bradshaw for circuit judge of this judicial district. It says: "No better nomination could have been made. For several years he has presided over our circuit court, and the people of this county, regardless of party, want him re-elected. Crook county will give him a rousing majority next June against any man that can be pitted against him. His decisions have been just and equitable; he dispatches business promptly; he is courteous and obliging to all, and in consequence the voters of this district would like to see him elected. This is not a political office, and when a man has been tried and has met the test it is not the best to make a change."

Our Dumb Animals for April, edited by Geo. T. Angell, the great humanstarian, is full of pleadings for peace. He thinks the whole trouble between the United States and Spain should be settled by arbitration and not by more murder; that abundant provisions should be sent to the starving Cubans, thereby doing more for our national honor than the killing of a hundred thousand men.

If we have war, young men now holding good positions in the counting rooms and workshops of the country will be the first to enlist. Industrious men make the best soldiers; loafers and hoodlums, when they do enlist, are of no more use in the army than they are at home.

It is stated from Washington that enlistments in the navy are a disappointment to the authorities. They wanted 1,500 able-bodied seaman, and

The subjects of King Kotton are in anything but an amiable mood. The continued low price of the staple don't set well on their "stummicks" by any means, and all sorts of plans are suggested to force higher prices. All are agreed that "suthin' must be did;" just what that suthin' is is not so clear. The attempts of enthusiasts to so unify the sentiment among cotton raisers to the extent that only one-half the usual amount will be planted is, to my mind, au idle dream. It is impossible to hold the millions of cotton producers in any or a large reduction in acreage. Supposing some section could be largely held by any such agreement it would, as many argue, but be the incentive and stimulus to greater acre-age in other places, and the grand total age in other places, and the grand total of cotton bales would roll up the same as before. But the condition of the South under the pall of 5-cent cotton is being vigorously discussed from every standpoint, and this extra ventilation will certainly accomplish some good, even if the present status be not materially changed. A settled conviction is worth a great deal in bringing about a more or less contented pursuit of business. All the various leagues of renters, land owners, separate or in combination, rebellious or otherwise, with the discussions of crop diversification (now considered, I think, by most persons as the greatest factor of relief), all these are but the different agencies, from different standpoints, sometimes bitterly opposing, preaching the gospel of the industrial emancipation of the South, even as Christ was preached through bitter contentions, jealousies, pretense as well as sincerity and truth It makes "we uns" down in Texas smile when we think of the attempt about to be made to raise cotton by "you uns" up in Oregon and Washing-ton, especially when we are trying to cut loose from cotton and all say it costs more to produce it than we get out of it. But those laugh best who laugh last, and if you bide your time you may laugh and crow, too-probably. After two weeks of good summer weather a norther swoored down on After two weeks of good summer weather a norther swooped down ou Texas last Tuesday and Wednesday, paying his compliments to all portions of the state, showing his hand in sleet snow, frost and furious blizzard as suit ed his fancy, leaving many sickly look-ing corn fields and garden spots in his wake. Corn planting began in this section the middle of February, and after three weeks of drumming secured some of it had been plowed over when eame along and blew hi icy breath on it. The Institute. LATEST NEWS BULLETINS.

Washington, April 6.- It can be stated authoritatively that after a conference with the members of the foreign affairs committee of both houses, the president has decided not to send in his message until Monday.

The cause of this decision was a dispatch from Consul General Lee, received at the state department this morning, saying that it would be im-

The cablegram said that General Lee was loading 2,500 Americans, and that it would be impossible to get them out the visiting teachers to the local teach-ers and patrons of Hood River for the of the island before Sunday. He said the condition of affairs was inflamed, might cause trouble. The president frankly explained the General Lee's cablegram. The safety of Americans in Havana, and especially General Lee's personal safety made the delay imperative. The democrats school. A number of good suggestions were offered along this line by other teachers present.

"Language in the primary grades," by Miss Ida Foss, developed the necessity of more active work along the line of observation and reproduction. Valuable suggestions were offered by other teachers, especially one by Mrs. Rob-erts, that of "talking the new words"

erts, that of "talking the new words" by teacher and pupils until their uses are comprehended. ""Music in the public school," by Miss Anne Smith, brought out some good ideas about the teaching of music in the public schools, and why; teachers agreeing that more or less singing should be done each day where prac-ticable. Principal Gavin thought it well, when the time should arrive for a well, when the time should arrive for a musical education to be required of all teachers.

Lunch was served in one of the lower rooms of the building. The room, which had been in the hands of a spewhich had been in the hands or a spe-cial decorating committee consisting of pupils of the seventh and eighth grades, was beautifully decorated with wild flowers, Oregon grape and fern. The tables were very pretty and contained an abundance of good things to eat. The ladies of Hood River are noted for their excellent cooking, and this junch their excellent cooking, and this lunch was no exception.

At 1:30 p. m. the meeting was called to order and "Penmanship" was pre-sented by H. L. Howe, who brought forth some pertinent points upon the teaching of this branch in the public methods.

Prof. A. P. Armstrong was not pres-ent to lead in the discussion, as busi-ent to lead in the discussion, as busi-ness detained him in Portland. The humorous song rendered by Messis. Melville Foley, Seely Rand, M. W. Bartmess, E. K. Bartmess and P. C. Logsdon was fine. Hood River Apples at Seattle.

SEATTLE, Wash., March 30, 1898. Mr. H. Prigge, Hood River, Or .- Dear Sir: Enclosed please find account sales and check, which we hope will prove satisfactory. Your last lot of apples have not come to hand as yet, but we hope they will be in good condition. Some of your neighbor's apples are go-ing to pan out very poorly on account of there being such a prejudice and the second of there being such a prejudice against the Ben Davis. People will not buy Canton Clipper chilled and steel them. We are glad that yours turned out so well and hope we shall have more from you. J.M. HIXSON & Co.

No Factions.

HOOD RIVER, April 5, 1898 .- Editor GLACIER: Your article regarding republican primaries is misleading. We do not recognize any factions in the republican party, and the delegates elected do not recognize any faction but stand squarely with the national republican party.
