About one month ago my child, which is 15 months old, had an attack of diarrhoes accompanied by vomiting. I gave it such remedies as are usually given in such cases, but as nothing gave relief, we sent for a physician and it was un-der his care for a week. At this time the child had been sick for about ten days and was having about 25 operations of the bowels every 12 hours, and e were convinced that unless it soon obtained relief it would not live. Chamberiain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy was recommended, and I decided to try it. I soon noticed a change for the better; by its continued use a complete cure was brought about and it is now perfectly healthy—C. L. Boggs, Stumptown, Gilmer Co., W. Va. Mr. John Leland Henderson swam the Columbia river last Saturday eventhe Columbia river last Saturday evening and again on Monday evening. Saturday evening, at 6 o'clock, when Harry Hansberry started in his small boat with the mail for White Salmon, Mr. Henderson plunged into the river and swam with him to the Washington shore, coming out about 200 yards below the mouth of White Salmon, a distance of about 1½ miles. Monday evening Mr. Henderson started from the steamboat landing above town and swam to Rankin's landing and without stopping turned and swam back to Oregon, landing on the sandbar below town. The Columbia is supposed to be a dangerous river for swimming, as it has swirls and under-currents and streaks of ice-cold water. The feat of swimming the river at this point has never before been accomplished since the settlement of the country. A section of Cuban weather floated in from somewhere last week and remained with us till Tuesday night, about 12 o'clock, when a good strong breeze came up from the sea and cooled the atmosphere. The hot spell com-menced on Thursday of last week and the theorems are the spell comthe thermometer ranged in the nineties every day. Even the nights were warm, something unusual for this country. Apples and blackberries were badly damaged by the hot spell.

The Glacier drug store is now owned York having sold to him his entire in-terest. Mr. Chas. Clark of The Dalles, a thoroughly reliable and competent druggist, will have charge of the store. Mrs. Cradlebaugh has returned to Hood River and will make her home bere and look after her husband's business interests. The many patrons of the drug store will receive the same fair, honest and courteous treatment as they have in the past.

C. L. Copple returned Friday morning from a trip to LaGrande. His son Benthel came home with him. He found his old neighbors all well. Several parties there have recently sold out and will come to Hood River. The sugar beet crop promises well and farmers will realize about $4.50 a ton. Mr. Copple bought two cars of flour and feed at LaGrande—one for his store the other for Woodworth's store, the other for Woodworth's,

"A Subscriber" writes from New Whatcom that "H. A. York was here three days and enjoyed himself among the young ladies of this town. All thought there must be something wrong because he was in such a hurry to get away, and ever since he has been gone one of our local young ladies has been missing; so we have it in our mind that some one has lost a $25 suit of clothes."

The Moro Observer compliments the GLACIER on its well-earned reputation or tru hfulness and then proceeds to tell this whopper: It says Sam Camp-tell and S. Cox of Hood River recently put their teams in a Moro livery stable, where they were so well fed that when he team came out a bay mare had been changed to a sorrel horse.

Mr. Scott Boorman met with a painful accident one day last week. He and his son George were cutting down a big fir tree with a cross-cut saw, and while George was driving in a wedge a piece of iron from the wedge flew off and penetrated Mr. Boorman's arm, severing a small artery and making a painful wound.

Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Hodge left yes-terday for their home at Pueblo, Col., where Mr. Hodge is extensively engaged in stock raising, having large herds of cattle in Utah, Colorado and Kansas. Mr. Hodge was surprised at the growth in population of our little valley since his first visit here in 1887.

Mr. Jas. Cooper came down on the steamer Sarah Dixon Wednesday morning when the wind was blowing and his best summer hat went overboard. Luckily his felt hat was in his so fortunate as to have an extra hat instructor in entomology department, went on down the river bareheaded.

Travers Book and Curio Club.

Pursuant to a call issued by Prof. R. R. Allard, principal of the Hood River large circle of neighbors and friends as schools, a goodly number of the young Grandma Hodge, was born at Litchpeople of the community gathered at field, Conn. Sept. 20, 1807, and died at the school house last Saturday night the home of her daughter, Mrs. Dr. and proceeded to organize the Travers Book and Curio club. The meeting was called to order at 8:30 by Prof. Allard, and temporary officers chosen.
Prof. Allard then stated the object of the meeting pamely the correling out the meeting, namely, the carrying out of a work for the young people of Hood River, begun three years ago by Mrs. Travers of England, who spent six months of her life as a resident of our little town. It will be remembered that her husband died here, thus compelling her to return to her old home in England. Mrs. Travers made many pleasant acquaintances during her sojourn among us, and in remembrance of the few happy days of her life spent here, she asked that a literary society, and in connection therewith, a book and curio club for the young people, be organized and given the name of "Travers," after her husband who thought so much of our beautiful mountain country. The literary society has been running now for about three years and has met with good success, but that part especially designed for the interest and instruction of the for the interest and instruction of the young people has so far met with indifferent success. To carry out that part of the plan is the object of this organization as a club. Competitive essay writing for books, and the gathering of geological and botanical specimens for prizes will be the work of the members. Mrs. Travers furnishes the books and prizes.

Permanent organization was then

Permanent organization was then effected and the following officers were elected for the first year's work: General supervisor, Prof. R. R. Allard; advisory committee, Mrs. E. L. Smith, Rev. J. L. Hershner, S. E. Bartmess, president, Clara Blythe; vice president: Percy Logsdon; secretary, Meigs Bart-mess; corresponding secretary, Agnes Dukes; treasurer, Fay LaFrance, assist-ant treasurer, Earl Bartmess; chairman library committee, Anna Smith; librarian, Grace Howell; assistant librarian, Nellie Clark; instructor in botanical department, Eliza Stevens; instructor in Another passenger who was not geological department, C. M. Wolfard; Grace Graham.

A committee of three was appointed to adopt a constitution and by-laws for given many years here in peace and quietude. Her husband died in 1892. they having enjoyed the almost un-precedented period of 64 years of mar-ried life, sharing each others joys and sorrows, defeats and successes. Nine children were born to this union, of whom only three remain. Two chil-dren met their death by accidental drowning at the same time, in 1840, when the fond mother exhibited a sense of complete resignation. Indeed all her life, from her 18th year when she became a member of the Baptist church, she reposed in calm confidence upon God, being conscious of His love and strength in the varied experiences of life, and never murmuring with his dealings. In the lengthened declining period of her life she was blessed with unusually cheerful and happy surroundings in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Barrett, to which, by her unim-paired faculties of mind and saintly paired faculties of mind and saintly qualities of soul, she contributed much of the good and Divine, so that she will be greatly missed. It seemed to be a special guidance that brought her son, Mr. F. A. Hodge from his home in Pueblo, Col., to visit his aged mother three or four days before her death. Another son lives at Buffalo, N. Y. Funeral services were conducted at the home of Dr. Barrett on last Saturday, after which she was laid to rest in the family cemetery beside her husband.
