BRIEF LOCAL MATTERS.

Wakelee's squirrel poison, 25c a can, at Williams & Brosius.
 Mr. R. Pealer has been afflicted with la grippe for the past seven weeks.
 Wm. Yates, P. M., is authorized agent for all newspapers and periodicals.
 Bring your butter, eggs and vegetables to Copley's store and get the highest market prices.
 Bromide of Quinine Compound, cures colds while you sleep. 10 and 25c at Williams & Brosius, pharmacists.
 E. H. Peckard, painter and decorator; estimates gratis; prices moderate; satisfaction guaranteed. Leave orders at Glacier pharmacy.
 Mr. J. C. Boggs brought in some sweet cider made from Gravenstein apples, last week, and remembered the GLACIER with a liberal allowance.
 Mrs. Barmess has canned with the Acme Steam Canner over 100 quarts of fruit, peas, beans and fish without the loss of a single jar. Call and see the canner at S. E. Barmess.
 A lively thunderstorm passed over our town Wednesday evening. The storm center seemed to be about Mosier. There was a slight sprinkle of rain, enough to lay the dust on our streets. Two miles west of town no rain fell.
 The box factory has lately put in a fan that carries away from the different machines all dust and shavings and gives the rooms good air. The conduit troughs were designed and built by O. P. McFall and show much mechanical skill.
 A serious accident happened August Benz, in camp at Gilmer, Wash. He was making preparations to go bear hunting when his gun was accidentally discharged and the shot badly lacerated his hand. Dr. Shaw was called and amputated two fingers.
 Henry Thomson of Mosier was in Hood River Monday, soliciting money with which to purchase a cork leg. He recently lost his left leg from the effects of a cancer. He has a wife and four children and is deserving of the aid extended to him by our citizens.
 Mr. W. J. Smith returned last Sunday from a trip to Idaho. He says that for fruit Hood River is not in it compared with the Snake river country. The steamboat lands at fruit ranches along the river and takes on carloads of peaches and other fruit.
 Mr. W. H. Weston of Wyeth, who is engaged extensively in the cordwood business, was in town on Monday. Mr. Weston is a professional auctioneer and came to this coast six years ago in search of the blessing of health and found it in his bachelor home in the Cascade mountains.
 Hood River is to have another store. Mr. F. E. Denzer is fitting up the store room in the Odd Fellows' building and opening up a line of general hardware, saddlery, doors, sash, moldings, paints, oils, bike supplies, shoe and harness supplies, and a good assortment of farm harness.
 A marriage license has been issued to Benjamin L. Davison and Miss Edith T. Potter, and we learn that the happy couple will be married this (Thursday) evening. Mr. Davison is a theological student in the Methodist church. Miss Potter is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Potter of Belmont.

The Davidson Fruit Co. is putting up a superior quality of canned goods. After experimenting with several different ways of canning and passing the product around for sampling the company is satisfied that they have struck the right process. A can of blackberries brought up from Portland proved to be much inferior to the Davidson Fruit Co.'s brand of the same fruit.
 About one month ago my child, which is 15 months old, had an attack of diarrhoea accompanied by vomiting. I gave it such remedies as are usually given in such cases, but as nothing gave relief, we sent for a physician and it was under his care for a week. At this time the child had been sick for about ten days and was having about 25 operations of the bowels every 12 hours, and we were convinced that unless it soon obtained relief it would not live. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy was recommended, and I decided to try it. I soon noticed a change for the better; by its continued use a complete cure was wrought about and it is now perfectly healthy.—C. L. Boggs, Stumptown, Gilmer Co., W. Va. For sale by Williams & Brosius.

Mr. W. P. Watson will go to his possessions at Yaquina Bay in a few days. Senators Mitchell and McBride and Congressman Ellis will go with him to Newport, where he will present each of them a lot in a block of land in his townsite that he has reserved for congressmen and newspaper men.
 The editor of the GLACIER received a kind invitation to accompany the party and accept a lot in that pleasant summer resort. The only conditions exacted of the recipients are that they build suitable cottages on the lots and occupy them during the summer. Of course the editor of this journal could easily comply with the conditions, but he would find it inconvenient to go back and forth to his work of setting the type and other labor connected with getting out the paper; and so, for the first time in his checkered career, he declines to "take something."
 Bradley's photograph of the interior of the GLACIER office is an excellent picture, as is his photo of Clyde T. Bonney's store room. The cut of the Hood River Enporium in the GLACIER was made from one of Bradley's photographs. If the benign countenance of the gentleman who does the grand in the Enporium does not show plainly in the picture it is not the fault of the photo artist. The fault lies with our pressman, who has not yet caught on to working half-tone cuts.
 M. S. Ballard and R. H. Howell have traded residence properties. Mr. Howell will move to town, where he will be close to school for the convenience of his children, and Mr. Ballard will move to his place in the country, which adjoins the property he gets from Mr. Howell. His son-in-law, Mr. Fred Foster, will occupy the latter. Mr. Ballard recently moved here from Pasadena, Cal. He is a veteran of the civil war, having served three years and 18 days in the 81st New York.

Hood River sweet corn is in demand by campers and summer boarders. Like our strawberries, the sweet corn grown here is the best in the world, and every country family should always grow enough for its own use and some to sell. With irrigation, several plantings can be made during the summer and the delicious and wholesome roasted-corn can be served on our tables till frost comes.
 Dallas is constructing new canning apparatus for the Davidson Fruit Co., which will give the cannery three times the capacity it had during the strawberry season. This company is preparing to put up all kinds of fruit and vegetables. Mr. Wm. Kennedy has purchased the apparatus formerly used by the Davidson Fruit Co.
 C. H. Temple has moved his place of business from LaFrance's store to C. L. Copley's grocery store, where he has good quarters and is prepared to do good work in his line. He is receiving new goods every week and keeps none but a good quality of jewelry. Solid gold rings, watch chains, alarm clocks and other goods.
 Mrs. W. P. Watson returned Monday from a six-weeks' sojourn at Long Beach. She thinks this noted summer resort does not compare with Newport. The latter place, when it becomes better known, will be the great sea-coast summer resort of Oregon.
 Ed Williams is having the interior of his drug store enlarged, papered and painted and more shelving put in. Will Graham and Jas. Hunt are doing the work, and when finished it will be as neat a drug store as you will find in a week's travel.
 Billy Hay of Mosier was in town last week, visiting old-time friends. Mr. Hay is a pioneer of Hood River, coming here 40 years ago. For 15 years he lived on his ranch four miles below town and which is now part of Mr. E. Luck's place.
 Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Adams of Portland are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Russell Pealer and will make a lengthy stay. Mr. Adams is an attorney in Portland. His mother and Mrs. Pealer were schoolmates in Ohio way back in the forties.
 Wm. Rogers, wife and boy arrived Tuesday by the boat for a visit with their parents. Mr. Rogers is still located at Salem and has become one of the leading photographers in the capital city.
 The Davidson Fruit Co. is arranging to ship a few carloads of fruit in the near future. Those who have anything marketable should see them. The market quotations are good now.
 M. W. of A.—All members of Hobson camp, M. W. of A., are notified to be present at the meeting next Saturday night, Aug. 20th.
 M. F. SHAW, Venerable Consul.
 Associate Justice Brewer says that if he had read in the bible of such victories as those of Dewey and Schley we would scarcely bring ourselves to believe them.
 W. F. Bartlett, brother-in-law of E. E. Savage, died at his home in Brooklyn, N. Y., August 12th. Mr. Bartlett and family visited Hood River a year ago.
 Mrs. E. I. Holt of Seattle, in company with her cousin, Miss Lucy Shattuck, visited friends and relatives in Hood River last week.
 Miss Anna Parmenter of Portland spent Sunday with her sister, Miss Nellie, who is enjoying a few days recreation in Hood River.
 Persons who have kept files of the Oregonian during the past four months have a very complete history of the war.

The Yamhill Reporter says Henry Bills of Tillamook has sold his racket store to a Hood River man.
 Mrs. S. J. LaFrance and daughter Mary went to Astoria Monday to visit for two or three weeks.
 Elder J. W. Jenkins will preach in the Orrell school house at 3 o'clock on Sunday, August 21st.
 Richard Gibbons got back from New Mexico last Friday. His health is not much improved.
 The disease known as "pink-eye" is afflicting horses in the Duffer neighborhood.
 If you are doing your own cobbling you will find all kinds of supplies at Denzer's.
 Hop pickers are in demand in Yakima, and $1 a box will be paid for picking.
 Mrs. M. A. Cook left on Thursday's boat for Portland and Salem.
 Mrs. Louise Reed is still improving and is expected to recover.
 Miss Mary Frazier arrived home on Tuesday from the seaside.
 Apple box nails at Dallas & Spangler's.

Interesting Sights at Newport.
 NEWPORT, OR., Aug. 15, 1898.—Editor GLACIER: Here we are at Newport amid the fog and chill and dampness of this rim of the vast Pacific ocean. After getting as comfortably settled as circumstances would permit, our party consisting of fourteen persons, children included, went forth, joined by others on the way, to put in a day at Yaquina Head light house and at a gravel heap on the ocean beach. We were crowded in our two vehicles, but jolly and good natured. At the gravel hill we searched for about an hour for water and moss agates. One does not tire searching for these treasures of the deep, and mosses, pebbles and shells; but success depends upon the tides and winds. The Hood River contingent of the party will not be much the richer for finger tipping in this overworked gravel bed.
 In a short time we drove into the gate at the light house at Cape Foulweather, or Yaquina Head. Captain Plummer, the keeper, who has been there many years, escorted our party over the grounds and through the light house. He told us the light house was 82 feet high, the building being a steel frame with brick walls on the outside and inside. It requires 2200 gallons of oil of the best quality to run the lamp a year. The lamp is of 500 candle power, which by the lamp globe, or prism is increased to 10,000 candle power. These prisms, which in sections form the lamp globe, were made in Paris at a cost of $15,000. The light can be seen 19 miles at sea, and the reflection or glare, 45 miles. The very marked abnormal appearance these mirror prisms gave of the party, afforded the children great merriment. The tower was built in 1872. An official remains at the tower all night to see that the lamp burns in perfect order. Sometimes when ocean storms rage in the winter, the spray is thrown 100 feet higher than the top of the tower. We all registered in a book kept for that purpose, but we did not notice the names of any Wasco county people. At this tip end of Cape Foulweather, ocean pigeons and shags, seemingly without number, have their nests in the rocks. Their young will not leave these nests until pushed out by fond and wise mothers, when they must fly or be dashed to pieces by the raging billows beneath them. The officer of the lighthouse told us they never fall to fly. One should not miss Otter Rock, or the Devil's Punch Bowl, which is about 12 miles distant from Newport. We thought of our own Devil's Punch Bowl up on Hood river, but with the name the resemblance stops. Rising boldly out of the ocean stands a sand stone cliff, perhaps 100 feet high. The ceaseless washing of the waves at the base has worn the rocks into fantastic shapes. In order to see the Punch Bowl it is necessary to go back into the woods so as to climb around on the summit of the point. Almost without wanting one comes to an immense hole in the ground. The distance down must be 100 feet, and 60 or 80 feet across. In the bottom of this curious freak of nature are large boulders, and two entrances from the ocean. One can climb down a narrow pathway to a ledge of rock within 50 feet of the bottom. At high tide the waves dash into the entrance with terrific fury, significant of the name—Devil's Punch Bowl. From this high bluff one can see up and down the coast for miles, and other high bluffs are in view, at the base of which are ponderous rocks, over which the waves break in continuing rows. As the billows dash against some hollow place in these invincible rocky bluffs, and the spray is lifted hundreds of feet into the air, both ear and eye are rapturously entertained. From this solid masonry one passes on a natural bridge to some jagged rocky islands. Underneath this wonder of nature the ocean surges through a passage way about 20 feet wide, 30 feet high and 100 feet long.
 On another day we visited the Yaquina bay Life Saving station to witness a regular drill of the station's crew. Captain Wickland took great pains to explain both before and after the drill the operations of the station. Hundreds watched the running and turning, and overturning and righting of the lifeboat, and the accurate throwing of the lifeline, and rescue of imperiled men. The skill and alacrity with which the captain and his crew handled the lifeboat and lifeline won the hearty applause of all present.
 On returning up the beach we picked up a piece of kelp that had been cast up out of the ocean's bowels, and on the hard sandy beach we enjoyed a skipping-of-the-rope contest.
 It is not easy to realize while on this verge of such a wide expanse of water, that over 9000 miles across, on the further verge, are some of our own brave boys, doing valient soldier's service. May they soon come from the outer to the inner and deater, shore—home to our own dear native land. J. L. H.

CAMP SHEENEY, Aug. 15, 1898.—Editor GLACIER: Having a standing invitation to visit the camp with such an euphonious name, we took advantage of the privilege and left Hood River Friday morning for Stevenson, where a couple of sheeneys with a horse and carriage were waiting to take us to their camp, about 12 miles from town. On our arrival at camp we were very much surprised to find quite a city of tents built in the heart of the forest, where the trees are so tall and thick that the sun scarcely shines all day long, in consequence of which it is cool and pleasant. About 60 Hood River people are here, and it is hardly necessary to say they are having a good time. Bonfire entertainments, wading and bathing in the lakes near, and an occasional trip to Geer's lake, are a few of the modes of passing time, not to mention fishing, which is the great attraction for the men, who say "the lakes and creeks are full of fish but we can't catch them."
 Yesterday, being Sunday, everybody staid around camp and read the bible and other religious works usually found in all well-regulated camps. The children spent the afternoon in preparing for a grand entertainment to be given at the opera house, a large rustic shed, which was converted into a bower of beauty by decorating it with mosses, ferns and maple bows; even Chinese lanterns were not omitted, and the shed was transformed into a fairy palace. At the appointed hour, 7 p. m., the programme prepared by Belle Wolford, was commenced and carried through without a single hitch in the performance, and the whole camp voted it the best impromptu entertainment they ever attended. Songs and recitations were given by Belle Wolford, Eva Brock, Florence Hanna, Laura Johnson, Jennie Edgington, Ruth Hanna, Lydia Crow, Harry Evans, Geneva Wolford, Grace Edgington, Percy Logsdon, Earl Barmess and V. C. Brock.

Today the camp is somewhat like Deserited Village, almost every one having accepted the kind invitation of the purser of The Dalles City to spend the day at Cascade Locks. The only regret we have is that we must leave this cool retreat so soon and return to the heat of the city, but we will give three big cheers for Camp Sheeney and its inhabitants, hoping that we may be as fortunate another year. SHEENEY.

Hood River M. E. Church.
 Dr. Hines will speak Sunday evening next at 8 o'clock on "Hood River Valley: physically, intellectually, socially and religiously considered. On Monday night he will speak on "Above our heads." On Tuesday night, on "Broad Men." On Wednesday night, on "Contrasts of Life." On Thursday night, on "Business and Christianity." On Friday night the ladies' aid society invite the members of the church and congregation, and all the people of the community in the town and in the valley to a farewell benefit to Dr. and Mrs. Hines at their residence. A short programme will be rendered, and a most enjoyable time is anticipated.
 On Sunday night, the 28th of August, will be the closing service of the year, and the last of his labors in Hood River. His theme will be, "Last Words; or, The Church my Mother." A cordial invitation is given to everybody to attend these services. The addresses will be of a practical and popular character, and of special interest and importance to young people.

Church Notices.
 Rev. Troy Shelley will hold services at Hillstrom school house next Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock. No religious services of any kind have ever before been held here.
 There will be preaching in the Valley Christian church on Sunday, both morning and evening, by the pastor. All not worshipping elsewhere are invited to attend.
 The Rev. W. B. Costley of Stockbridge, Ga., while attending to his pastoral duties at Ellenwood, that state, was attacked by cholera morbus. He says: "By chance I happened to get hold of a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and I think it was the means of saving my life. It relieved me at once." For sale by Williams & Brosius.

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR.
 General Land Office, Washington, D. C., May 27, 1898.—Notice is hereby given of the following Executive Order, restoring certain lands in the Cascade Range Forest Reserve to settlement and entry: "EXECUTIVE ORDER—WASHINGTON, D. C., April 28, 1898. In accordance with the provisions of the Act of June 4, 1897 (30 Stat. 83), upon the recommendation of the Secretary of the Interior, the tract of Township one South, of Range ten East, Willamette Meridian, Oregon, within the limits of the Cascade Range Forest Reserve, is hereby ordered restored to the public domain, after sixty days notice beyond its publication, as required by law, it appearing that said tract is better adapted to agricultural than forest purposes. WILLIAM MCKENLEY." The above lands will be subject to entry at the United States Land Office, The Dalles, Oregon, on and after October 17, 1898. Binger Hermann, Commissioner.
