The public schools of Hood River open next Monday. An able corps of teachers has been engaged, and everything promises well for the school as it has in the past few years. Pupils should be given every encouragement possible by their parents and guardians, and during school hours they should be at school and excused from all other work. The teachers also deserve some consideration. If the pupils are kept from school any part of the time, the teachers are the first to regret their absence. Teachers take pride in the advancement of their pupils, and if they are kept from school without good reasons how can they be expected to advance and keep up with their more punctual classmates? Tardiness is another fault for which the pupil is not altogether to blame. If tardiness and absenteeism could be banished from our schools there would be a wholesome advancement among the pupils and the terrors of examination week would not be so keenly felt. Give the teachers all the assistance you can in helping to get the children off to school and by seeing that nothing but sickness prevents their attendance. Frequent visits to the school by the parents is appreciated by the teachers, and the pupils are benefited by the knowledge that someone is taking an interest in them.

The GLACIER is in receipt of a book from Hon. Binger Hermann, commissioner of the general land office, entitled, "The Louisiana Purchase and Our Title West of the Rocky Mountains, with a Review of Annexation by the United States." The book is full of information for the student of history. There are maps of America as early as 1804, and one showing the boundaries of the Louisiana purchase and all other territory annexed by the United States. The work was gotten out by Commissioner Hermann to correct a late map prepared by the interior department and to show that the Louisiana purchase extended westward only to the summit of the Rocky Mountains.

The incompetency of our quartermaster, commissary and medical departments of the volunteer army is being shown up by the press, and investigations and court-martials are promised. The glorious achievements of our armies in the field are for the time forgotten, and to read the charges and counter charges in the attempt to fix the blame for the suffering of our troops one might think we were the vanquished instead of the victors in the late war.

The reduced republican vote in Maine is another straw to show which way the political breeze is blowing. If the democratic party had not gone crazy on the silver question it would now have the dead wood on controlling the next congress and electing the next president. But, as Gen. Grant once remarked, the party can be relied upon to do the wrong thing at the right time.

The insurgents in the Philippines seem determined to make trouble for our troops. Their leader, Aguinaldo, is making every endeavor towards working up a sentiment for independence among the natives. If he has 67,000 men, as he claims, it may be necessary to reinforce our army in the Philippines, and the Oregon recruits may yet get to go to Manila.

Ex-Senator Mitchell is said to hold three acres in his canvass for re-election to the United States senate, viz: The backing of the administration, the Southern Pacific Railroad company and $100,000. But there is likely to be a gentleman in the game that will Corbett that his three acres are not worth a nickel.

Gov. Lord went to San Francisco to investigate the condition of the Oregon recruits. He reports their camp in good shape and the boys doing well but anxious to go to Manila. The governor has asked the war department to send them to their regiment or else send them home.

The chief of the bureau of statistics at Washington estimates the cost of governing our captured territory at $200,000,000 a year. That statistician must be a copperhead. Such figuring as that will show that Spain got the best of the bargain in the late war.

Hon. Emile Schanno will have charge of the exhibit of fruit from The Dalles at the Portland exposition. Hood River should send a good exhibit of apples, of which we can make a splendid showing this year.

The railroad war is over, and all Western roads have agreed to establish the old rates after September 21st.

The Grab Policy.

Hillsboro Argus.
It is very well for our expansionists to quibble about commerce and civilization, etc., but the real pusher of this scheme is the brute force fellow, the mind which sees in vast standing armies the criterion of the commonwealth. Colonial expansion is the twin creature of officialism and force, the two great incentives to and breeders of revolution. Napoleon was your true expansionist and he came to grief. England has bled her people to the extent of twice over the profit from the trade enjoyed to govern her colonial possessions. India today would revolt but for the thousands of armed men, hired by England, camped upon Indian soil. It is the grab policy. It is the policy that supports the springs from royalty and militarism. The American cannot be a colonial expansionist. He knows the Anglo-Saxon can never amalgamate with the inferior races, and he knows that America's true greatness lies in American institutions. The Latins and East Indians cannot be galvanized with Americanism. We can trade with them but we can't Americanize them. By holding Manila we gain commercial control; by holding the Philippines entirely we simply invite evil we want not. It is well that McKinley is a conservative, and it is hoped that he will not be swayed by the pennywise and pound foolish.

AN OPEN RIVER.

County Court Annuls the Lease Given to the Hood River Lumbering Co.

The topic of most interest in Hood River during the past ten days has been the case in the county court wherein petitioners asked for the annulment of the lease of Hood River to the Hood River Lumbering Co. The case was called for Monday, and a good many of our citizens were on hand to testify on behalf of the petitioners if called upon. Attorney W. H. Wilson appeared for petitioners and Huntington & Wilson for defendants. County Commissioner Evans had given the subject his whole attention for a week previous, and, together with G. J. Gessling and C. A. Bell, examined the river from the falls down to see what improvements, if any, had been made by the company claiming the river. They failed to find where a single stone had been turned or any sign made of improving the channel of the river. The county court promptly complied with the request of the petitioners and declared the lease null and void. If the matter is now taken to a higher court Wasco county is bound to defend the action of the county court. Below we give the findings of the court in full, which were signed by the county judge and the two commissioners:

In the county court of the state of Oregon for Wasco county. In the matter of the leasing of Hood river—Now, on this 12th day of September, 1898, this cause coming on for hearing upon the petition of C. R. Bone and others, praying that the lease of Hood river heretofore granted to the Hood River Lumbering Co. be set aside, the petitioners appearing by W. H. Wilson as counsel and the Hood River Lumbering Co. appearing by Audibon Winans, president of said company, and by B. S. Huntington as counsel; and it appearing that said petition was filed in this court on the 7th day of September, 1898, and that the hearing thereof was thereupon set for the 12th day of September, 1898, at the hour of 1 o'clock p. m., and that a citation was forthwith issued to said company requiring it to appear at said time to show cause why said lease should not be set aside and held for naught, which citation was regularly served upon said company on the 8th day of September, 1898, in Wasco county, Oregon. And the cause coming on for hearing at said time as aforesaid, B. S. Huntington of counsel for said company, protested against the hearing of said cause upon the ground that the court had no jurisdiction of the subject matter or of the person of the Hood River Lumbering Co., but stating that if the court would grant ten days that they would make a showing on behalf of said company as to its compliance with the terms of the contract between said company and said county. And the court deciding to proceed with the hearing of said matter, the president and attorney for said Hood River Lumbering Co. withdrew therefrom and from the court room, and the court having called witnesses and they having testified concerning the failure of said company to comply with the terms of the agreement between said company and said county, and being fully advised, finds as follows:

That on the 18th day of January, 1898, an agreement was made and entered into by and between Wasco county, party of the first part, and the Hood River Lumbering Co., a corporation, party of the second part, wherein the party of the first part leased to the party of the second part for a term of 50 years the stream of Hood river and the west fork of Hood river, also the middle fork of Hood river, all as described in a contract or lease of said date, reference to which for the particular terms thereof is hereby made, and also to the record thereof in the commissioners' journal of said county. That as a condition precedent to said lease the court required of said party of the second part to give a bond, within ten days after the date of said lease, in the sum of $2,500, to be approved by said court, conditioned for the faithful performance of the conditions of said lease and the covenants and agreements thereof on the part of said party of the second part. That said party of the second part never gave said bond as required or at all, and no bond was ever received or approved by said court. That said lease contained a provision to the effect that said party of the second part might abandon said business in said lease mentioned, and in such case that said lease should at once terminate. That said party of the second part abandoned said lease and said business, and said lease thereon terminated, if it ever had any existence or legal effect. That said party of the second part has wholly failed to do or perform any of the covenants or agreements of said lease upon its part to be done or performed, and has wholly failed to improve said stream or any portion thereof, or to secure the right of way therefor from the owners of the land along said stream, or made any necessary or any improvements thereon or therein, and the court being fully advised:

Therefore, it is ordered that said lease should be and the same is hereby declared to be null and void, and that this order is intended as a notice to said party of the second part, said Hood River Lumbering Co., that said county will not hereafter recognize said lease or that the said party of the second part has any rights therein or thereunder, or to any of the rights or privileges therein mentioned.

The Hood River Boys at Cavite.

Clarence English of Co. E writes to his mother from Cavite, under date of August 6th, about 10 days before the surrender of Manila, from which we glean the following:

We have some great wind storms here, but not much thunder or lightning lately. Lots of rain every day. Not very hot. We get a cool breeze once and awhile. I do not call this an unhealthy climate from what we have seen of it. It is about like some of the weather we get in Oregon in the fall, when the first rains set in. Lots of rain in showers, and in the regulation Oregon style, too. In fact, rain in any style you could wish.

There is a young man here named Lyons, from Hood River, at least he worked there for the Oregon Lumber Company. Also a friend of Frank Watson's—I just can't think of his name. He used to work at the Winans' fishery at The Dalles. All the Hood River boys are in good health. I have been through about 15 or 20 old Spanish dungeons so far and have not seen all of them around here yet. I was in an old Catholic church the other day, where there were several old oil-paintings of Spanish priests and the like, and one Spaniard who is a prisoner or friend of the natives, I don't know which, wanted to cut one of these big paintings out of the frame for us, but we stopped him from doing it after he had already stuck his knife into the edge of the canvas. All the boys are kicking themselves because they did not bring cameras with them.
