FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 4, 1898.

The national committee of the sound money democrats, with headquarters at Indianapolis, recently issued an address to the national democrats of the country, in which principles of the party are embodied to which every democrat of the old school ought to be able to subscribe. The theory of so-called protection, it claims, is dishonest and an incentive to trusts and monopolies. It has driven our merchant marine from the seas and has forced us to the humiliation of paying vast and constant tribute to foreign nations to do our carrying trade. The widest freedom of trade is favored. How can we expect to gain foreign markets unless we trade with foreign nations? The declaration on the money question is unmistakably clear, being expressed in the following manner: "We are unreservedly for the gold standard and opposed to international bimetalism, so called, as both impracticable and undesirable."

American shipping has been on a steady decline since the beginning of the civil war, and it is now at a lower point than ever before known. Statistics collected by the navigation bureau of the treasury department show that in 1859 American vessels carried 63.8 per cent of the total imports of the United States, and of the total exports 70 per cent, or a combined per cent of imports and exports of 66.9. Since the civil war the decline has been rapid, until, in 1897, when the per cent of American imports and exports carried in American ships fell to bedrock—11 per cent. In 1859, with exports and imports aggregating $695,557,592 American vessels got 66.9 per cent of the carrying trade. In 1897, with exports and imports amounting to $1,714,829,043, American vessels got but 11 per cent of the carrying business.

The Salem Journal shows up the laborious work of the committee clerks at the late special session. Nine committees that never had a bill before them employed a clerk each at $3 a day. Five committees with only one bill each had each one clerk. The ways and means committee had one bill and employed two clerks—one at $3 a day, the other $4—to look after it. The judiciary committee had 26 bills sent to it and employed but one clerk at $5 a day.

The patriotic citizens of Hood River were liberal in their donations of Christmas goods to the soldier boys. The time given for sending off the packages was short and many who wanted to give were unable to do so in the limited time. Another steamer is expected to sail for Manila November 15th, on which packages for the soldiers may be sent. The Regulator company generously furnished free transportation to Portland.

Spain's commissioners at Paris are skilled in diplomacy. They are about to succeed in unloading a big white elephant, the Philippines—which they have discovered they could no longer govern—on Uncle Sam for a money consideration; that is, the United States will reimburse Spain for her "pacific expenditures," dilapidated and antiquated improvements she has made in the 300 years she has misgoverned the islands.

A Washington editor complains of a saloon man who waters the editor's whisky, and he threatens to pull the law on him. The man who would water an editor's mental pabulum is about as mean as the man who takes a paper till he owes a big bill for subscription and then writes asking the editor to stop it and he will soon send him part of the bill.

Every letter from the Oregon boys at Manila expresses a desire to come home. It is hoped the Paris peace commission will soon conclude its labors and allow the president to proclaim the war over. Oregon will give the brave boys of the Second regiment a big reception, and everybody wishes the day for their return may speedily come.

A lively campaign is in progress in our sister state of Washington. Populists and democrats have fused, or rather the latter party has gone bodily into the populist camp. Many democrats refuse to vote the fusion ticket, and everything points to a land slide for the republicans.

The war with Spain has cost the lives of 3,000 American soldiers and sailors up to date. But the mortality is not up to the average of that of the civil war, in which 40,000 men were killed in battle and 300,000 died from disease.

In the list of widow's pensions granted is the name of Doris F. Clegg. If Mrs. Clegg is the relic of Si, who had failed to get a pension at last accounts, it shows that our republic is not altogether ungrateful.

Portland has a new daily paper. The Daily Times, an evening paper, made its first appearance last Saturday. It is neat and newsy and republican in politics.

Brother Turner of the Dufar Dispatch is getting out a neat little daily, which shows enterprise on the part of its publisher.

From the Boys Who Captured Manila.
MANILA, Sept. 21, 1898.—Dear Mother: I have not heard from you for some time, but I suppose it is the fault of the mail service. I hope you sent the canonical rights. I am expecting it every day. I hope we will be ordered home before Christmas. The government, I think, will be obliged to discharge us within 60 days after peace is declared. Bert Brazee is sick in the hospital with malarial fever. I am afraid he is dangerously sick. Dave Gibbons has charge of a ward now at the hospital, and Howard Isenberg is clerk for the chief surgeon. Dr. Brosius is here with us at our regimental hospital, and Mattie Dukes is still at Cavite. Mark Robertson is all right, and also both of the Dinmick boys, who are in Troop G, Fourth Cavalry, and quartered in a big cigar factory, about a mile from here. All of the Hood River boys are in good health, and all manage to keep out of the guard house, which is more than I can say for some others.

I hear that all kinds of reports are going around at home about the boys of the Oregon regiment getting drunk and breaking into a church, or something of that kind at Cavite. There is no truth whatever in any such report, as we have been complimented several times by the general for our good behavior at Cavite and here in Manila. The only trouble we had at Cavite was caused by some drunken soldiers getting into a fight with some natives about town, and the man who started the row was a regular from the Twenty-third or Fortieth. We have about half a dozen hard cases in our regiment, but they are in the guard house most of the time and don't get a chance to do much harm.

I enclose a couple of street car tickets. The cars are hauled by little horses about the size of a large sheep, and the doors and steps of the cars are on the ends, in front and behind. Instead of stepping off beside the track you have to get off between the rails. I had a ride in a native's cab the other day. A person can ride all over the city in a hack for 25 cents in our money. I have a friend in the Spanish marines who was on the Rena Christina, which Dewey sunk off Cavite. He was on the Visaya three years ago and was in Cuba before coming here. He is going to get me a Mauser rifle and I will try to bring it home. I suppose you are eating peaches at home now. We can eat all the oranges, coconuts and bananas we want. With love to all, etc.

Christmas Goods for the Soldier Boys.
The boys who went out from Hood River to defend the flag in the late war have been kindly remembered for Christmas by their friends at home. On Wednesday morning last the Oregon Emergency Corps and Red Cross Society shipped by express to Portland twelve boxes of Christmas goods for our boys at Manila. Tuesday, the relatives and friends of the boys met at Mrs. Thompson's to address the packages and pack the boxes. The following named were generously remembered:

- |                    |                      |
|--------------------|----------------------|
| Dr. F. C. Brosius, | E. Lyons,            |
| M. H. Dukes,       | Fred Hilton,         |
| Howard Isenberg,   | Arthur Frank,        |
| David Gibbons,     | Arthur Roper,        |
| Clarence English,  | L. K. Morse,         |
| Joe Dinmick,       | Striker,             |
| Fisher,            | Capt. Parkman, Co. M |
| John Dinmick,      | "Best boy in Co. M," |
| Mark Robertson,    | "Unremembered,"      |
| James Muller,      | "The overlooked,"    |
| "Spud Murphy,"     |                      |

The packages contain food for both body and mind, and the aggregate weight of the 12 boxes was 600 pounds. Owing to the great distance to the Philippines, the goods are not expected to reach the boys much before the holidays.

A Sure Sign of Croup.
Hoarseness in a child that is subject to croup is a sure indication of the approach of the disease. If Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is given as soon as the child becomes hoarse, or even after the croupy cough has appeared, it will prevent the attack. Many mothers who have croupy children always keep this remedy at hand and find that it saves them much trouble and worry. It can always be depended upon and is pleasant to take. For sale by Williams & Brosius.

Every Thursday the Year Round.
In more than half a million homes the Youth's Companion comes every week, the warmest of friends and old-time friend with equal interest in every member of the household. The best of fiction, poetry, sketches of travel, instructive articles, comment on current events and selected miscellany and anecdotes fill its columns. Among the 200 distinguished contributors for 1898 are Hon. John D. Long, secretary of the navy; Edward Everett Hale; Henry M. Stanley; Sarah Orne Jewett; W. D. Howells; Pauline Bigelow; Herbert E. Hamilton; Hon. Carl Schurz; Rt. Hon. James Bryce; John Burroughs; Robert Barr; Thomas Nelson Page; Bret Harte; William Black; Alfred Austin; Andrew Lang and Dr. William A. Hammond. The paper will be given free from the time subscription is received until January 1, 1899, then a full year for Jan. 1, 1900. Address: The Youth's Companion, 211 Columbus ave., Boston, Mass.

A Storehouse of Information.
This is an age of encyclopedias, and their value is not to be questioned, but the average person is far too busy to spend time in poring over encyclopedias and will consult a dictionary a hundred times to an encyclopedia once. Nor will much be lost, either, if the dictionary is Webster's International Dictionary, which contains a wealth of information, making it really an encyclopedia, condensed, it is true, but all the more valuable for that very reason. For the information already contained in Webster's International Dictionary, condensed, it is really an encyclopedia, condensed, it is true, but all the more valuable for that very reason. For the information already contained in Webster's International Dictionary, condensed, it is really an encyclopedia, condensed, it is true, but all the more valuable for that very reason.

Imperialism Concisely Stated.
To sum up, I hold that we violate our solemn declaration if we retain the Philippines, either under full sovereignty or under a protectorate. 2. That even if we violated no faith, their incorporation into the body of our territory is a step pointing directly to a central government with absolute power. 3. That no just argument can show the material gain of such an acquisition.—Donald Caffery.

Ten Years Hence.
"And what is your name?" the new teacher said.

To the dear little boy who stood at the head of the very big class she was going to teach, with a winning smile to all to each.

"Dewey's name," said the dear little lad, who looked as if he could never be bad.

"A beautiful name," the teacher said. "With it you are sure to be always ahead."

"The class in geography," then she said. "May rise to recite." From her book she read: "The lesson is about the Philippine islands. 'Tis far from here by ten thousand miles."

"Dewey, my dear," the new teacher thought. To that little boy who stood at the head, "Go to the blackboard and draw for me a map of Manila for all to see!"

What do you think that new teacher thought when all those sixty small boys she taught sprang to their feet with one single accord and rushed right over to that blackboard! —Frances Aymar Matthews.

THE GERMAN SPECIALISTS
FROM PORTLAND, OREGON.
Will be at Mt. Hood Hotel, Hood River, Nov. 5th and 6th.

If you have chronic catarrh, consultation is free of charge. Do you blow mucus from the nose? Are your nostrils obstructed, making breathing difficult? Are you hoarse at times? Is the mucus dropping down from the back of nose into the throat? Is your nose stopped up? Is your hearing affected? Is your throat sore at times? Do you spit a good deal when rising in the morning? Do you hem and hawk to clear your throat? Catarrh is a dangerous disease, which leads into consumption.

Weak eyes need cross eyes straightened without operation; cataracts removed without a knife; glasses fitted where all others have failed; rupture and hernia cured without trusses or operation—new line; sure cure for kidney. Chronic rheumatism cured.

Do not fail to see the German Specialist. A friendly talk will cost you nothing and is bound to result in a great deal of good to you. He will return to Hood River monthly.
