The resignation of President Chapman of the state university will deprive that institution of a man whose place will be hard to fill. He is eminently fitted for the position, and students and patrons of the university generally regret that he is to leave it. He is a man of too much independence of character to court the good will of any faction in any lines other than that of duty. It is hoped the good sense of the board of regents will fill Mr. Chapman's place with some one outside the rings which have been working for his removal.

Hon. J. W. Morton, being asked by the Portland Telegram how he stood on the state fair question, replied as follows: "I am no longer in favor of state aid for the Salem fair, nor for any of the district fairs. I do not believe these fairs accomplish the objects for which they were created. I certainly should not object to the state fair being held at Portland, if, as you state, no appropriation will be asked or given said fair."

The town council of Wasco has granted a saloon license in spite of the earnest protest of 80 per cent of the citizens. The Republic, the populist paper of Sherman county, scores a point when it prints, with pointed comment, the nine reasons in favor of "Direct Legislation by the People," written by Martin Rittinghouse nearly half a century ago.

Representative Brigham H. Roberts, elected to the next congress from Utah, is a Mormon with three wives. It is said he will take his three wives to Washington, and an effort will be made to prevent his taking his seat. It would be a national disgrace to have a member of congress with three wives attending all the social festivities of our gay capital.

The Heppner Times endorses the suggestion of W. P. Watson that a law be enacted to provide for the confiscation of one half the possessions of the man who kills another in mistake for a wild animal, and says it should receive the attention of legislators.

The general business of the post office department shows an increase of over $6,000,000 in the last fiscal year. This department of the government is always a good index to the state of trade.

If Hood River gets a big saw mill in its Christmas stocking Santa Claus will be doing the fair thing by us. And there will be no kick if she gets two big mills.

The Dufur Dispatch has changed its form and done away with the patent outside.

Prospects Good for the Big Mill. Hood River has been considerably agitated of late over the advent of capitalists from Wisconsin who desired to establish a saw mill at the mouth of Hood river, inside the corporation, and improve Hood river so that the valuable timber at its headwaters might be floated down the stream to the mill.

Capt. P. S. Davidson, a practical saw mill man and owner of a large mill at La Crosse, Wis., will move part of his mill to Hood River and set it up on F. H. Button's land, on the East Side, where the mill can receive logs also from White Salmon and other points along the Columbia. Obstacles that at one time threatened to prevent the establishment of this mill now seem in a fair way to be removed and the work will go ahead.

The Hood River Lumbering Co., a corporation that obtained a franchise from the county commissioners two years ago to control the river, claim that their franchise is still good and that they will go ahead and build a boom and drive the river. This company, it is stated, also claim to be ready to put in a saw mill and that their plant is already on the way here. On the other hand, it is claimed that the Hood River Lumbering Co. has forfeited all rights to the river by not fulfilling their part of the contract, which required a certain amount of work to be done every year, the building of a dam or boom, securing right of way, etc.

The Hood River Transportation and Boom Co. organized last Saturday. The incorporators are: P. F. Davidson, Jr., F. H. Button, G. D. Woodworth, A. S. Blowers, E. L. Smith, S. E. Bartness, C. A. Bell, Geo. P. Crowell and D. McDonald. The directors elected at the organization on Saturday are as follows: P. F. Davidson, Jr., G. D. Woodworth, E. E. Savage, F. H. Button and Geo. P. Crowell. The board elected as officers: G. D. Woodworth, president; F. H. Button, vice president; E. E. Savage, secretary; Geo. P. Crowell, treasurer. Executive committee—G. D. Woodworth, chairman ex-officio; F. H. Button and P. F. Davidson, Jr. The capital stock of the company is $10,000, of which $5,800 has been subscribed.

Why We Take the Philippines.

We are taking the Philippine islands from Spain because we have the right. They are spoils of the victor and a victor's rights are coterminous with his power. We are taking them from the Philippines because we want them. Our action has no other character than pervasiveness to our own desires. Why should we not candidly say so, and free ourselves from the charge of sneiveling hypocrisy? All this talk about our new responsibilities, thrust upon us by the fortunes of war, and so forth, is for talk. For what we do or don't do over there we are responsible to nobody. We could let go if we chose, and if other nations chose to take hold, and should come to blows over what we left, that would be their own affair, not ours. Nothing has been thrust upon us; we had not been pitchedforked into the van of the landgrabbers; we have deliberately entered into the squabble and allowed our way to the front. If we are really concerned about the fate of Great Britain, France, Germany and Russia—if we fear that in precipitating themselves headlong upon what we leave they may crack their precious skulls, and in their greed to grab it scratch one another's hands, we can do as we propose to do in Cuba—give the natives self-government under our protection. It does not greatly matter what we do, but it greatly matters how we do it. If we want the Philippines let us hold them, but let us do so with dignity and self-respect, giving no reasons or true ones. It is well enough to understand that national magnanimity is a lie; that nations act from no higher motives than the desire to promote their own interest; that the basis of international relations is selfishness tempered by mistrust. The entire business of being a nation is as innocent of morality as that of a thief or a pirate. Diplomacy is the art of getting what you can in exchange for what you cannot.

These things being so, and generally known to be so, what is the good of gilding our honest greed with glittering platitudes that deceive nobody, not even ourselves. To the Spaniards we owe no explanation; to the Filipinos we can make none; but to ourselves, in the privacy of the newspapers, we might with moral advantage admit that when the savage Philippine islands came running after us to bite us we could have got away from them if we had tried.—Ambrose Bierce in Examiner.

Talking Around the Earth.

With Edison all things in the electrical field seem possible. His latest prediction is that people will soon talk across seas and continents, he having evolved a new plan full of wonderful possibilities for a telephone around the earth. It is to have mid-Atlantic stations enabling conversation to be carried on around a 25,000 mile circuit. This statement coming from the great and successful electrical inventor and engineer has a great deal of weight and will be received with the consideration due one of the most wonderful men of all time. In this age of electricity, Edison's plan of carrying the human voice around the earth is not so surprising today as the short distance telephone was when introduced to the public. Today the human voice is telegraphed from Los Angeles by way of San Francisco and Portland to Spokane, a distance of about 3,900 miles. Had this been predicted fifty years ago the man making the prediction would have been credited with simply "talking through his hat." We believe the day is not far distant when a merchant can sit in his Portland office and talk to his agent in Hongkong or Yokohama. Indeed, this is a most wonderful age—more wonderful by far than the fabulous days of the ancients, whose strange and imaginary exploits pale into insignificance in comparison with the practical accomplishments and deeds of the nineteenth century.—Portland Times.

To Cure Constipation Forever.

Take Cascarets Candy Cathartic, 10c or 25c. If C. C. fail to cure, druggists refund money.

The Girl Soldiers of McMinville.

The members of company A, Second Oregon regiment, at Manila, are mostly McMinville boys, and they have done the handsome thing by their sisters and sweethearts who are members of the Manila Guards, the girl-soldier company of McMinville. The boys have made, at Manila and sent home a silver medal for each of the girl-soldiers. It is made from a new and shining 20-cent piece, one side of which is ground smooth, and has engraved on it crossed cavalry sabers and the letters, "M. G."—meaning either My Girl or Manila Guard. On the reverse side is the Spanish coat of arms and denomination of the piece. The pin is behind a silver bar, on which can be engraved the wearer's name, and the medal is suspended from this bar by a red, white and blue ribbon. It makes a very attractive and historically valuable medal. The Manila Guards are keeping right up with their drills, but have recently lost one of their number by marriage—Miss Mervy Flesher. They now have 40 girls in the ranks, and have received an invitation from Governor-elect Geer to attend his inauguration, which they will probably accept.

Beauty Is Blood Deep.

Begin to-day to banish pimples, boils, blotches, blackheads, and that sickly bilious complexion by taking Cascarets,—beauty for ten cents. All druggists, satisfaction guaranteed, 10c, 25c, 50c.

It pleases us to hear the GLACIER raise its voice against peddlers of wormy apples at the trains passing Hood River station. The Observer expressed its views on this topic last August. There is no objection to boys peddling fruit, but let them peddle good fruit, and there will be more money in the business for them and less disgrace for Hood River. A favorable impression made upon the writer 36 years ago by Father Coe, banding Hood River peddlers to passengers on the boat, was clearly dispelled when it came to apples this year.—Moro Observer.

There is at Hood River a little industry that has as yet attracted but little attention. It is the distillery started by Mr. Stutzler, which is being used to work up fruit that is not marketable. It will turn out several hundred gallons of apple-jack and brandy this season.—Mountaineer.

A death blow has been struck the so-called Salem state fair by the national trotting association blacklisting it for the nonpayment of purses. As horse-racing has for some years been the chief, if not the only, attraction at the state fair, this act will most likely rob it of its last particle of vitality.—Portland Telegram.

The Trout Lake correspondent of the Goldendale Sentinel says: "Messrs. Stadelman and Coate, viewers of the resurvey of the Trout Lake and White Salmon road, returned home Saturday. They report that the road will be an excellent one when built on the new survey; also will be much shorter than the present road."

Pains in the chest when a person has a cold indicate a tendency toward pneumonia. A piece of flannel dampened with Chamberlain's Pain Balm and bound on to the chest over the seat of pain will promptly relieve the pain and prevent the threatened attack of pneumonia. This same treatment will cure a lame back in a few hours. Sold by Williams & Brosius.

The editor of this paper enjoyed a very pleasant visit last week at University Park with W. W. Bracken, a comrade who served with him in the 22d Ohio during the civil war. Thirty-four years had elapsed since last we met, and reminiscences of the days of '61-5 were gone over with a zest. We also had the pleasure of visiting Dr. Hines and wife and found them cozily situated at the university.

A Sad Week.

The year had gloomily begun. For Willie Weeks, a poor man's son, he was beset with bill and dun, and he had very little. "This cash," said he, "won't pay my dues; I've nothing here but ones and twos." A bright thought struck him, and he said: "The rich Miss Goldrocks I will wed." But when he paid his court to her, she looked, but firmly said, "No." "Alas!" said he, "I must die!" "I'm done! I'll drown, I'll burn, I'll find them his gloves and coat and hat!" The corner upon them.
