Dr. Benjamin, dentist, will be in Hood River Friday and Saturday, Jan. 20th and 21st. He has moved his Portland office to room 314 Oregonian building.

Mrs. J. R. Galligan is in Portland for treatment for her eyes, but the doctors give her no encouragement. She is almost entirely blind. The failure of her sight was caused by measles, which she had 24 years ago.

Hood River in winter, with snow hanging to the trees and covering the houses and lawns, makes a very pretty picture. Mrs. M. F. Shaw has secured a good many views with her camera of winter scenes, among them the three churches, private residences and street scenes, and the whole are tied in a neat tablet which she has entitled "Pictures of Hood River." The views are a work of art and show that Mrs. Shaw is skilled in the use of the camera. The views of the churches are fine, and the artist succeeded admirably in picturing some of our noble oaks. The views can be seen at Williams & Brosius' drug store.

"Any umbrella to mend?" was the salutation of the umbrella man as he made his rounds in Hood River Monday. He takes his home in Portland and his name is William Powell. He unfolded part of his history to the editor and we learned that he soldiered under the flag of Great Britain and afterwards put in four years in the Union army during the civil war. He was in all the great battles with the army of the Potomac, and few men have seen more of war than William Powell. When this old soldier mends your umbrella, bear in mind that you are looking into the face of a man who helped to hurl back Pickett's charge at Gettysburg and saw Sheridan at the end of his famous ride rally his army and snatch victory from defeat at Cedar Creek.

T. H. Clark, the old veteran who gave an eye for his country during the civil war, had an unusual experience last Sunday evening. While engaged in reading his glass eye popped and bursted into several fragments. He says this is the fourth glass eye he has had to act in the same manner. It is known that at times when the atmosphere is charged with some element that makes the right combination for breaking glass that lamp chimneys will burst and fall to pieces when nothing has seemed to disturb them.

The Oregonian's annual number for 1899 is a great paper. It consists of 64 pages, including a handsomely illustrated supplement. The different sections of the state are well written up, and Wasco county comes in for a good write up by Hugh Gourlay. Everybody will want to secure a copy of this valuable number and send at least one to some Eastern friend. S. E. Bartness has them for sale in Hood River for ten cents a copy. To mail this immense paper costs 4 cents postage.

The reported promotion of Dr. F. C. Brosius of Hood River to the position of second assistant surgeon of the Second Oregon Vols., with the rank of captain, has been confirmed. Surgeon Brosius was regimental surgeon of the third battalion O. N. G. and was one of the first to offer his services to the government in the late war. His well deserved promotion will be gladly received by his many friends.

A literary society was organized last Saturday evening at the Barnett school house. The following officers were elected: E. N. Benson, president; L. Leinberg, vice president; R. T. Hubler, secretary; George Strathman, treasurer. The society will meet Saturday evenings at 7 o'clock. The first meeting will be January 21st. Everybody is cordially invited to join the society and take part in the programme.

The coasting in town was fine until the rains came and spoiled the fun. Boys would start from the top of the school house hill and coast to the depot, a distance of fully half a mile. They took fearful chances of running into teams while turning the sharp corners. No one was seriously hurt, but older persons breathed a sigh of relief when the coasting came to an end by the change of weather.

"Is this a young turkey?" said a rising Primitive lawyer to a farmer who had brought to town a box of birds. "Yes," said the farmer. "Will you take an oath to that effect?" "Certainly I will," the lawyer administered the oath, charged a dollar for his services and took a turkey for his pay.

The fine sleighing played out last Saturday, when the weather changed to rain, with drizzle for several days. The snow has turned to slush and the roads are too heavy for wagons or sleighs. Wednesday was a beautiful springlike day.

Mr. O. P. McFall and family returned to Hood River Saturday. Mrs. McFall and son William have been visiting in Portland and Mr. McFall has been engaged with W. J. Smith at Cascade Locks.

Among the cases of grip in the valley and town we learn the following: Samuel Kopla and family, Willie Warren and little Edith Burke. The cases of whooping cough are recovering.

Miss Meta White has been sick several days, and unable to teach her room at school. Miss Agnes Dukes took her place in the school room Tuesday and Miss Hester Howe Wednesday.

Elan Frost, aged 69 years, died at Canby, January 15, 1899. Deceased was the father of Mrs. D. A. Turner of Hood River. He was buried at The Dalles Tuesday.

Mrs. W. G. Cleland and children went to Moro last week where Mr. Cleland is engaged in building the depot for that place.

Rev. Chris Nickelsen and bride came down from Aloha, Wednesday, and went out to visit his parents at Belmont.

Common Council.

The common council held an adjourned meeting last Monday evening. Present, Mayor Smith, Marshal Olinger, Recorder Nickelsen; Aldermen—Dukes, Ferguson, Woodworth and Yates.

The financial committee reported back the reports of the recorder and treasurer and recommended that they be approved.

Resignation of M. H. Nickelsen as treasurer was accepted and Geo. P. Crowell elected to fill the vacancy.

Bond of Marshal Olinger, with C. R. Bone and S. J. LaFrance as sureties, approved, and Mr. Olinger was sworn into office.

A committee consisting of Yates and Woodworth was appointed to secure a place for the meeting of the council for the coming year.

Adjourned.

Home Literary.

The meeting of the Home Literary society, as announced in last week's paper, was well attended and the subject brought forth many interesting discussions. Besides the programme announced, the meeting was opened by singing "America," after which the roll call was read to which the members responded with quotations as their respective names were called. It was decided by the members of the society that each one should select his own subject for next meeting, Thursday, January 19th, 10 a. m. The meeting closed with the song "Tenting on the Old Camp Ground" by H. H. Bailey and T. J. Canning. The next meeting will be held at Mr. Markham's and will be conducted by C. E. Markham.

E. N. BENSON, Secretary.

The silent watches of the night are those we forget to mind.

A New Broom

Will be needed when this snow is gone. You know why.

We have them, and good ones, too, at 20 to 30 cents; made at The Dalles.

We pay the freight and drayage and then sell them 5 cents less than Dalles merchants do. So you see you need not go there to buy brooms.

They have some very good "bait" at The Dalles, but on the whole, we undersell them on everything we handle.

THE PEOPLE'S STORE.

Death of George C. Jones, Jr.

Appleton, Wis., Daily Post, Jan. 9, 1899.

Friends of the deceased, and of the family of which he was a member, have been very much shocked today to hear of the death last night of George C. Jones, Jr., son of George C. Jones, and brother of Dr. F. W. Jones and E. G. Jones.

Death was the result of a stroke of paralysis sustained at about 6 o'clock last evening. The young man lingered until 12:30 o'clock when the spirit took its departure. George Jones had been away from home for the past eight years, having been located in Oregon, where he was engaged in looking after large tracts of timber land, making his headquarters at Hood River and White Salmon. For many years he had not been in rugged health, and his going to the west in the first place, was as much as anything in the hope that the out door life which he expected to lead would be of benefit to him. Yesterday afternoon George went down town twice, once at about three o'clock and again at about five o'clock, and it was shortly after his return home from the second trip that he was stricken down. His brother E. G. Jones came home with him, and noticed that he seemed to be weaker than usual. Upon arriving home he said he would have lunch and would then retire. He sat down at the dining table with his father, but had scarcely commenced to take nourishment when his head was drawn to one side and his father noticed that he was about to fall. He was unaided at this time to the end and medical skill was unable to do anything for him. The deceased was in his thirty-ninth year. He was a graduate from Lawrence university in 1883.

Digging Up Orchards.

Mr. W. C. Lucy, who returned last week from a visit to Southern Oregon, informs the Heppner Times that times down there are much harder than they are anywhere in the northern part of the state. The chief industry of Jackson county, he says, is fruit raising, but this has become unprofitable owing to the destructive influence of a pest called the San Jose scale. Spraying seems to be the only remedy for it, and even this seems to render nothing but discouraging results, many orchards having been dug up and the ground turned to agricultural purposes during the past few months. Prices for farm products do not bring good prices, the people generally are gloomy, and altogether you will not find there the contented, prosperous and satisfied class of citizens that you will find in Eastern Oregon.

Portland is overrun with tramps. O. D. Taylor has been acquitted of the charge of obtaining money under false pretenses, in the court at Saginaw, Mich.

Small-pox has broken out in the 161st Indiana regiment at Havana. One soldier has died and others are down with the dread disease. Efforts are being made to have the regiment sent home.

The Missouri opossum has been introduced into Oregon, and now a bill is before the legislature asking protection for this savory animal. If they are protected the growing of sweet potatoes should be encouraged by a bounty.

A man in the state of Washington who took a city paper because he considered his house paper too small for his price read an advertisement of a pocket fire escape. He sent a dollar, and in due time received a New Testament.

The man who won't take a paper because he can borrow one has invented a machine by which he can cook his dinner by the smoke from his neighbor's chimney. The same fellow sits in the back pew in church to save interest on his contributions, and is always borrowing a ride to save the wear and tear on his own horseflesh. Yes, we know him. He is first cousin to the man who never winds his watch for fear of breaking the spring. He is undoubtedly a relative of the man who went into the yard last winter to soak his hair in water, let it freeze and then broke it off in order to cheat the barber out of a hair cut.

The report of the United States land office at The Dalles for the month of December shows that was one of the most active months for business in the history of the office. The receipts from all sources were $54,665.00. There were 74 homestead entries filed, covering 11,270.07 acres; 30 final homestead entries, a final timber culture entries, 5 original desert land entries, 100 cash entries, covering 25,655.51 acres, and 24 contents served. Testimony and other fees collected amounted to $80.00, and unexpended fees collected on cases suspended were $5,283.11.

The amount of assessable property in the different school districts in Hood River and vicinity is shown in the following table:

1	$ 418.84	7	$10,582.00
2	119,098.00	8	$1,429.00
3	14,906.00	9	300.00
4	2,900.00	10	30,025.00
5	14,610.00	11	2,338.19

Announcement.

We have re-engaged in the mercantile business and would be pleased to meet our friends at our new location. We will not quote prices here, but will just say that we will allow no firm in this town to undersell us. Come in and examine our goods and get our prices, and if we can't save you money don't buy. We will be glad to show the goods and will not expect you to buy if it is not to your advantage.

A. S. BLOWERS & SON.

Fancy apples, such as Spitzenbergs and Jonathans, are selling in Chicago for from $1.75 to $2 per bushel box.

How to Prevent Pneumonia.

You are perhaps aware that pneumonia always results from a cold or from an attack of la grippe. During the epidemic of la grippe, a few years ago, when so many cases resulted in pneumonia, it was observed that the attack was never followed by that disease when Chamberlain's Cough Remedy was used. It counteracts any tendency of a cold or la grippe to result in that dangerous disease. It is the best remedy in the world for bad colds and la grippe. Every bottle warranted. For sale by Williams & Brosius.
